SOLD IN THE NEW ENGLAND STATES IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHECTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Huckins,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WATLAND, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, and was fast gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

AUCTIONS.

By virtue of a License from the Hon. Judge of Probate.

Will be sold at PUBLIC AUCTION, On SATURDAY, Mar. 27, 12 o'clk, M., ON THE PREMISES, Seven-Twelfths, in common and undivided, of the well-known

Jacob Sheafe Farm,

Formerly owned by JACOB SHEAFE, Esq., deceased. The other portions can probably be obtained, if desired.

Said Farm lies on both sides of the new Sagamore Road, contains about 296 ACRES, well divided into Mowing Fields, Tillage and Pasture Land, and Salt Marsh, &c., together with a large and valuable growth of Wood and Timber.

It possesses advantages for obtaining large and inexhaustible supplies of SEA-DRESSING, probably unequalled by any other Farm in this vicinity.

The extensive OCEAN VIEW which it commands, with its fine sites on Sagamore Creek, and easy access to the City, make this a rare opportunity for a safe investment.

The quality of the Land, heavy growth of WOOD and facilities for obtaining Sea-Dressing, offer inducements in this sale to the Farmer, seldom to be found.

Terms made known at time and place of Sale.—For further particulars, apply to FAMILY MORTALITY.—The Haverhill, Ms. Banner, contains the following obituary.

Died, in Haverhill, Mass., Feb. 27, Mr. William Pecker, aged 49 years.—March 2, Mary B., widow of Wm. Pecker, aged 42 years.

Our readers will recollect the death of Miss Mary Eliza Pecker some three weeks since. Her father, Mr. William Pecker, contracted a cold at the time of her burial, and after a short but severe illness, died on Saturday last. Mrs. Pecker, who has lain at the point of death during the time, died on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Pecker was well known in the business community in this vicinity, and more generally to the public by his efficient and gentlemanly course as Superintendent of the Cochecho Railroad; also as connected with the Boston & Maine. The surviving members of the bereaved family have the sympathy of their friends, for these sudden and irreparable losses.

☞ Attempts were made to rob the Hutchinsons, while on their way from Saccarappa to Portland, Me., on Monday evening of last week, after a Concert.—Three times the villains made an assault, but did succeed in their efforts for plunder.

☞ The Oxford, Me., Democrat states that a young man named Decoster was frozen to death, in Buckfield, last week.—When last seen he had been drinking to excess.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the cheerfulness that makes life a kind enjoyable is one of these, and consequently these Pills are found to cure many varieties of disorder.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC

From Dr. L. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"YOUR PILLS are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities are appreciated by our people. They are mild, but very certain and efficacious in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Dell, of New York City.

"NOT only are your PILLS admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked. In Jaundice, they are powerful yet mild, and I have witnessed more benefit from the use of Ayer's Pills than anyone remedy I can mention. I sincerely wish that we have at hand a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the public."

DYSPEPSIA—INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Jeffery S. Ware, of St. Louis.

"THE PILLS you sent kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have exhibited one that they are truly an invaluable addition to our materia medica. They eradicate the disease of the stomach without, that they seem to work more than other. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia with them, which, I believe, I could not have done by other remedies so speedily and so perfectly. Indeed I have expectantly placed them to be relied on almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. Jas. Evans, of Chicago.

"YOUR PILLS have had a long trial in my practice and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy when given in small doses in the bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Wm. L. Stuart, who practises as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent promoters of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are to me the best physic we have that I recommend to other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Crooks, Montreal, Canada.

"TOO much cannot be said of your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. If others of our brethren find them as effectual as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, alas! are so numerous in this climate. I do not generally prescribe aperients, but when I do, it is to relieve costiveness in the first place, for your PILLS affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TUMORS — TETTER — TUMOR — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Wm. Wright, of Philadelphia.

"YOUR PILLS are doing more than your PILLS ought to do, I think, for they are curing some of the worst cases of scrofula that come in my way. Indeed, I have seen some of the most obstinate cases of scrofula yield to the influence of your PILLS, when all other means had failed. The alterative effect of your PILLS is wonderful."

From Dr. Edward Bond, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your PILLS better than by saying I use them in my practice more than any other medicine. I place great dependence on the efficient cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your PILLS afford us the best we have, of course rather more than highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skillful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every dose of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is tested and pronounced by law from comrade, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, which is all important. It applies the most remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for COLDS, COUGH, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, CONSUMPTION, and relief for the relief of confirmative patients in advanced stages of the disease. As time moves these facts wider and better known, this medicine has gradually become the best reliance of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American pioneer to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every station certify it has done for them it is on testimony of this kind, when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it, if we can depend on the answers of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know what is best, if there is any reliance upon a good thing, then is it undeniably manifest that this medicine does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unblemishable character of its thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $30,000 are offered their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prize are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if persons be sent to them, their money is generally thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison with the price of tickets. In such instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legalized by the laws of the State where it is drawn, and all Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all parties have the right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. Persons ordering drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the operation. Prizes varying from $20 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and results of drawing forwarded to all purchasers

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Union, etc, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes. Money refunded if desired. All communications strictly confidential. m21y

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRANCE & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as the lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

A PROCLAMATION TO THE LADIES.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are last fading away, and WHEREAS, the sacrificers are daily taking advantage of the profound and learned. BELT KNOWN THEREFORE, to all, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that Dr. CRENES celebrated PILLS are the most certain process for the troubles incident to female disorganization; they ALONE correcting all painful menstruation, managing properly of the body, disturbed sleep, pain in the side, and ensuring health and happiness to whole sex; more especially to the MARRIED PORTION, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity. AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mineral, therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and unlike other medicines thrust upon the public, purporting to effect, the objects already detailed. THEREFORE, as it KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS can do the CHRENES will warrant the desired object, when DISAPPOINTMENT has been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Lady may safely assume the Proclamation to spread amongst them, to their own everlasting benefit—always promising that said Proclamation in one case must be considered null and void; that, nor any other, will be taken when any female is in an INTERESTING SITUATION, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the State Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges Halls, &c. When used with the pianoforte, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by the use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument, without the Pedal Bass Pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instrument to hire without risk, or to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties themselves were present, and an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

OLD PSALM TUNES.—Blackwood says of old psalm tunes:—"There is to us more of touching pathos, heart thrilling expression, and feeling, displayed in some of the old psalm tunes, than in a whole batch of modernism. The strains go home, and the 'fountains of the great deep are broken up;' the great deep of unfathomable feelings, that lies far, far below the surface of the world hardened heart; and as unwonted, yet unchecked tears start in the eyes, the softened spirit yields to their influence, and shakes off the load of earthly care, rising purified and spiritualized into a clearer atmosphere. How many glad hearts, in the olden time, have rejoiced in these songs of praise—how many sorrowful ones sighed out their complaints in those plaintive notes that now, cold in death, are laid to rest around that sacred church, within whose walls they had so often swelled with emotion."

SHUN THE WINE-CUP.

"Lest I make my brother to offend."

Shun the wine-cup! See the tears
Of wives, mothers, children, flowing
O'er the guilt, the strife, the fears
To the selfish drunkard owing!
Shun the wine-cup, generous heart!
Have in woes like theirs no part.

Shun the wine-cup! Not for self!
Make not thine own health the reason;
Thine own health, or thine own pelf,
Weighed 'gainst public good, were treason;
Nobler motives call on thee,
Christ's true follower if thou be.

Shun the wine cup! Not from fear,
Not because the world thou fearest;
Is thy brother's welfare dear?
Is it for his soul thou caresst?
Shun the wine cup! as each sip
Would with poison taint thy lip.

Shun the wine-cup! Shall they daunt,
Though their thoughtless mirth assail thee?
Witlings' jest, or Willings' taunt?
Yelding, will it aught avail thee?
Let thy firm example prove
Thou dost dare thy brother love.

☞ The New York Post publishes an ode, semper victrix Roma, by an Italian organ grinder:—

"Eternal Rome, who sat on seven hills,
Big with vast conquest and ambition's lust
Sent forth her legions, thick as Egypt's ills,
To grind opposing nations to the dust.
And Rome still stands, immortal and sublime!
Nor is there city where ye may not find
Her legions now, as in the ancient time;
They still go forth—their mission still is grind!!!"

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT, PORTLAND.—William Decker, of Casco, indicted as a common seller of intoxicating liquors, plead nolo contendere, and the case was continued to next term for sentence.

David S. Henderson. Indicted for keeping a drinking house and tippling shop.

Benjamin C. Libby. Indicted for keeping a drinking house and tippling shop.

In these two cases demurrers were entered by counsel for defendants. The demurrers were overruled, and defendants except.

☞ Mrs. Charlotte Stover, of Bluehill, Me., was arrested for selling spirituous liquors, and had a trial before Justice Hinckley. She was fined $10, and for want of the rhino to pay up was committed to jail.

Speaking of children, a Western New York correspondent mentions a very neat little speech of a "four year old." His mother was hugging and kissing as mothers will, and said to him, as mothers will say, "Charley, what does make you so sweet?" Charley thought a minute; he had been told that he was "made of the dust of the earth;" a happy thought struck him, and he answered, with a rosy smile, "I think, mother, God must have put a little thugar in the dust; don't you?"

NEW NAME FOR AN OLD THING.—A colored woman was called to testify in court in this city, on Friday, in the trial of damages by the collision of two carriages on the highway. To the question whether one of the parties was intoxicated, she answered that she did not know; but "he went as though he had a bill of sale of both sides of the road!"—Worcester Palladium.

A clergyman was endeavoring to instruct one of his Sunday scholars on the nature of a miracle. "Now my boy," said he, suppose you were to see the sun rising in the middle of the night, what should you call that?" "The mune, please sur." "No, but," said the clergyman, "suppose you knew that it was not the moon, but the sun, and that you saw it actually rise in the middle of the night—what should you think?" "Please, sur, I should think it was time to get up."

Hon. S. S. Cox, Representative from Ohio, writing home to his constituents, says that those men who undertake to read out the Western Democrats for opposing Lecompton, "might as well attempt to read the hickories out of the western woods."

From Hon. Chas. Mason, Commissioner of Patents.
U. S. PATENT OFFICE, Feb 23, 1855.
I take great pleasure in stating that during the time I have been acting as Commissioner of Patents, Samuel Cooper, Esq., of Boston, has been engaged as Solicitor, and has been in that capacity in constant correspondence and intercourse with the office; he has evinced a thorough acquaintance with the Patent Law, and with the rules and practice of the office, a close attention to the interests of his clients, and a marked candor and courtesy that has rendered the transaction of business with him a pleasure. I have no hesitation in stating that I regard him as one of the very best agents for the transaction of business with this office with whom I am acquainted.
From the Examiners of the Patent Office.
The undersigned, Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, late a principal Examiner in this office, and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, MARCH 20, 1858.

NEW YORK RIOT.—New York, March 18. A fearful riot occurred in Eleventh Avenue this forenoon. An Irishman attempted to jump from one of the cars of the Peekskill train, but fell between the breaks and was crushed to death. The occurrence, which was wholly attributable to the deceased's own carelessness, created the most bitter feeling against the Railroad Company. Thousands of Irish laborers immediately gathered, and all threatened vengeance against the company, and a total annihilation of the track. The 22d ward police interfered to quell the disturbance, and were driven off with stones and brickbats.

A telegraph despatch being sent to the Deputy's office, Mr. Carpenter and a force of about 200 police were sent as soon as possible to the scene of riot. Before they arrived, however, the rioters, who had increased to upwards of 5000 strong, refused to let the West train, due at half-past 10 o'clock, pass. The train was attacked by showers of stones from the mob, and had to back up the road for some distance. Horses were then brought and attached to the cars, and in this way the cars were allowed to pass; but when the engine attempted to come down it was attacked most fearfully. The engineer, to save himself, had to take shelter inside, and let the locomotive take its course. By the time the 12 o'clock train had arrived, the excitement had somewhat abated. Numerous arrests have been made of persons concerned in the riot.

[Of such stupid and brutal people as these, it is used to make a crowd of new voters every year in New York City—and in our own New Hampshire, this very year, "Patrick Raftery, Esq.," has been praised for urging such people up to the polls, to help us regulate our finances!]

☞ The believers in a speedy end of the world, are again fixing the time for the event. We have before us "An Address from the Advent Church in New York and Newark, to the churches scattered abroad:"—which contains an argument, that, in the words of the circular—"establishes the end of the 69 weeks or 483 years of the vision in the Julian period, 4754, leaving 1817 (the remainder of the vision), which would end in 6571 of the Julian period, or 1858 A. D."

The paper contains a treatise on "the Two Witnesses," closing thus:—

I have only one thing more to say, and that is this; I believe the Lord is coming this spring; and, let others do what they may, I intend, by the help of the Lord, to prepare to meet Him with joy.

ABRAHAM FLAVELL, Newark, N. J.

It also contains an article on "The 1335 Days," with a close as follows.

The 1335 years, therefore, or the month and a half added thereto, will end in 1858, the present year, which we believe will be verified by the coming, in the clouds of heaven, of our Lord Jesus Christ, the second time, without sin unto salvation.—Amen, even so, come Lord Jesus.

A. DECKER.

☞ The Revival in New York, is making great progress—and Burton's Theatre is used for prayer meetings, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association.—Ministers occupy the Stage, and the proceedings are reported in the Herald.

On Wednesday, a young gentleman in the middle aisle of the dress circle was anxious for the conversion of actors and actresses. He said that Mr. Edwin Forrest, whom he believed to be one of the greatest actors in this city, had experienced religion.

☞ An attempt was made on Saturday night, near the bridge at East Albany, to throw a train of passenger cars from the Albany and Boston Railroad. A switch was misplaced by some unknown rascal. The cars left the road and came within a few yards of plunging down the embankment and falling into the creek, in which case the loss of life must have been fearful. To replace the locomotive and cars on the track, the man connected with the road had to work all night.

NEW YORK STATE INEBRIATE ASYLUM.—The Board of Trustees of the State Inebriate Asylum met at Albany, on the 23d ult., when it was announced that the Asylum would be located and commenced in May next. A memorial in the Legislature was adopted by all the members of the Board, asking an appropriation of fifty per cent of the license money for the Asylum. Subscriptions to the amount of fifty per cent have already been received.

HOW SLAVES ARE MARRIED.—A correspondent of a New Orleans paper, in a description of the marriage of two slaves on a neighboring plantation, remarks that the minister, instead of the words, "until death do you part," used the words, "unless you are unavoidably separated."

THE CLERGY AND THE SPIRITS.

Messrs. Editors.—Your correspondent "Truth Seeker," in making one exception among the clergy of this place from his sweeping charge against that body, does what he should have done before. But he does not show very clearly, to my mind, their duty, or mine, or anybody's, to investigate Spiritualism. I don't feel called upon to defend the clergy; I have not heard their denunciations of spiritualism, or of the spirits or media; and denunciations on either hand don't go far with one.

Among the clergy there is, no doubt, a vast deal of bad theology and monstrous doctrine: I wait, with some interest, and much patience, to see whether the spirits and media will, on the whole, be any more harmonious, reasonable, and satisfactory.

And this leads me to say where I stand, in this waiting posture. I am not afflicted with infidelity, in the least. I have no more doubt of the existence of God, than of my own; no more doubt of his goodness than I have of my own desire for happiness; no more doubt of his creative power, than of the great fact of creation itself; no more doubt of his universal providence and mercy than of the multitude of his handy works; and no more doubt of the future and eternal life than of the present and the past.

Believing in God as a spirit, I regard him as my Father, and as the God of the spirits of all men: and believing in the existence of myriads of other spirits, as invisible to me now as he is, I have yet no knowledge of the manner in which they subsist, nor any great anxiety to know at present. In the usual course of nature, I shall be among them before the lapse of many years,—and I have not the slightest misgiving in my confidence that the same Heavenly Father who sustains me now and here, will sustain me then and there.

I receive with thankfulness the old revelations which God made to his servants who wrote as they were moved by the Holy Spirit;—I hail with joy the excellent things I find in them; and I am ready to receive with the like thankfulness any new revelation of things profitable, from any quarter.

I have seen much testimony, from credible witnesses, to the fact that tables have been tipped and lifted, raps made, answers given, and many other wonders shown, without any apparent human agency, or without much of it. And this testimony I believe. Further, as I do not know positively that those wonders were wrought by mesmeric power, electricity, or any form of animal magnetism, and as my friends the spiritualists, the media, and others who have investigated, say that the spirits of the departed do these things, give these answers, and write or send these letters, I have no particular objection to offer. Be it so;—and what then?

I should wish, in their communications, to get some valuable information, some fresh thoughts, which I did not possess already. It might be true that a document came across the Atlantic, or from the unseen world; and it might be brought by the Leviathan steamer, or by an angel or spirit, with or without a medium. But if it contained nothing new or interesting, I should not care to receive or read more of the same sort.

Somewhat so I stand, in regard to the spirits and their communications. I read a large number of spiritual papers, containing arguments against objections which I never make and do not feel, with other matter, which I read till I was tired of reading.

Then besides, I was presented with a document, purporting to be a communication from a dear departed spirit, and to be sent into this world partly for my benefit. I do not undertake to say it did not come from the source above indicated,—but it certainly fell far below the alleged author's style, manner, and fervor of spirit, when dwelling in the flesh, and shedding sunshine on all around.

Now I am for progress—and if the spirits go backward and fall off so much after they leave us, I don't care about hearing from them. In short, the internal evidence of my document from the spirit land, was against its genuineness.

"Truth Seeker," speaking of the clergy, says: "Their uninformed opinions are worth no more to me than those of any other persons of equal culture and intellect, either for or against it." Now, Mr. Editor, I treat the opinions of the clergy in the same way. If any of them talk nonsense, it is nonsense still, and as such I let it pass. So when angels, or spirits, come to me with revelations,—I will judge as well as I can, of their worth,—gather the wheat, and garner it up, but let the chaff blow into a heap, where it will burn up with unquenchable fire. TRUTH.

EXETERIANA.

FRIDAY, March 19.

Dear Chronicle:—If Pickwick be good authority, then the Blues and Buffs did not strive harder to make their election sure, than did the two opposing parties in our town at the late election. A small number of voters, the majority of whom are known as old line whigs, were dissatisfied with Republican rule in town matters, and accordingly nominated a set of candidates which they termed the "Citizen's Ticket." Though the pill was wholly compounded of anti-Democrats, yet it was sugared over with the title of "Citizens," and our Democracy swallowed it without a wry face. The struggle for Moderator was a fierce one, but it terminated in a Republican triumph. Prof. Jos. G. Hoyt was elected by a majority of 26, and filled the office with marked ability. The other candidates on the Republican ticket received large majorities. Among other appropriations, $75 was voted for the Town Library.

The American Republican lodge, known as the "Rat Hole," on Tuesday evening, was the scene of great exultation over the result of the day. Congratulatory speeches were by Messrs. Silas S. Fletcher, Elbridge Marston, and other gentlemen. The meeting adjourned to meet at the old Town Hall, on Thursday evening, and partake of a Grand Supper. At an early hour the Hall was filled—anxious expectants sitting three deep all around the room. The bill of fare was nearly as follows—Oysters;—Oyster sauce; Bond's crackers, 2 1-2 inches in diameter; Pickled cucumber, ad nauseam; More oysters (if you can get say). Everything was to be had in liberal proportions, except the last. 'Twas a successful affair, and reflected great credit on the cuisine in charge, the New England Oyster Co. of Boston, who furnished the bivalves, and the gentleman elect who paid for them.

The Granite State Bards sang at the Town Hall, on Thursday evening. Though but little previous notice of the performance had been given, the Bards were greeted with a respectable audience. The programme, which was a capital one, was faithfully rendered by each of the performers. "Old Ironsides" was most admirably sung by Mr. G. M. Goodrich. "Juno at the gate," and "Only nineteen years old," called forth great applause. Our citizens must have the Bards repeat their Concert here.

The revival has not yet reached Exeter. Rev. Mr. Lasell of the 1st, and Lamphear, of the 2d Cong. Church, have united with Rev. Mr. Archibald, of the Elm St. Baptist, in holding evening meetings for prayer. Mr. Archibald preaches this evening.

The Piscataqua Association held a meeting on Tuesday. Rev. Mr. Colby, of Hampton, was appointed to preach, but being unable to be present, his place was filled by Rev. Mr. Archibald.

On Monday evening, "Monsieur Touson comes again" in the shape of a Fair, asking for money to benefit the Cornet Band. It is announced to be given in regular antiquarian style, and in fact nothing has got to be more antiquarian among us than these Fairs and Festivals.

Father Kemp's Old Folks' Concert Troupe will perform here on Tuesday evening next. Of course they will draw a crowd.

Benj. D. Laighton, the Republican candidate for Register of Deeds, is elected. His majority over Smith is more than a hundred. Yours, T. G.

☞ Thomas Copeland, of Cuylerville, N. Y., suddenly died of heart disease, while riding with a lady, a few days since. The lady observing the relaxation of his muscles, leaped from the sleigh, and with one hand supporting his head from falling backwards, managed the horse with the other, hastened to the nearest house, where she fainted, on being assured that he was dead.

☞ The Congregationalists of a late date says that of four hundred and seventy-five Orthodox churches in Massachusetts, not less than one hundred are unable or unwilling to pay a fair compensation for the services of a pastor. Thirty of these churches are vacant, and thirty-five receive aid from the Home Missionary Society.

A MAN STABBED TO THE HEART BY HIS BROTHER.—In Brooklyn, N. Y., about half-past nine o'clock, on Wednesday evening, a man named Christopher Reynolds stabbed his brother Dennis Reynolds, in the breast with a carving knife, while under the influence of liquor, causing his death instantly.

THE NEW PETTICOAT.—The Belvidere woolen company is now engaged in the manufacture of flannel for the new Balmoral or scarlet petticoat.

☞ Crabb, the prison guard at Alton, Ill., who was so badly stabbed by the convict, was alive on Thursday, and hopes were entertained of his recovery. Hall, the convict, was also alive and doing well.

☞ Peterson's Ladies National Magazine, for April, a fine number, filled with readable matter, is received by J. P. Morse, Portsmouth, and by John J. Dyer & Co. 35 School st., Boston.

☞ A gentleman from Lowell states that last week a morning prayer meeting was commenced in that city, and now it is attended by from 600 to 800 daily.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The Republicans in caucus last night arranged the programme in reference to Kansas. A move will be made by Mr. Stephens when the bill comes from the Senate on Wednesday next, to refer it to the Committee on Territories. Mr. Harris will then move that it be referred to the Select Committee of fifteen, that said committee be increased to seventeen, and that the two members be elected by the House. The combination intend to carry the latter proposition by six to eight majority. The South Americans agreed in caucus to sustain the Republicans in this movement.

(Times Correspondence.) — The select committee on the expulsion of Matteson received the defense of the latter to-day.—It is understood that they will report, on Saturday next, against expulsion.

(Tribune Cor.) — The anti-Lecompton forces in the House count to-day 120 votes, including those of six Southern Americans and of Messrs. Owen, Jones, Dewart, Chapman, Pendleton and Burne—of all, in short, who profess a purpose to co-operate. My own estimate is less sanguine; but I feel hopeful, unless a new defection occurs. The result in the House may turn entirely upon the shape in which the bill comes from the Senate. If Senator Pugh's amendment be adopted, and Minnesota be tacked on to Kansas, then the present indications warrant the belief that eight Southern Americans, and perhaps nine, will oppose the bill.

PITTSBURG, March 18.—This morning, at 4 o'clock, the extensive cannon foundry of Knapp & Wade was entirely destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $100,000, on which there is $37,500 insurance. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, March 18.

SENATE.—Mr. Foot of Vermont, in moving that the Senate take up the bill for the admission of Kansas, said he had resigned the floor to Mr. Toombs.

Mr. Toombs of Ga. then addressed the Senate. He said he agreed with Mr. Crittenden that this was not a sectional question. It involved the right of fifteen States, and a principle worth more to the others than the union of these States.

Mr. Bell of Tennessee said the Senator from Georgia had promulgated doctrines such as no one can pass without notice.—He says he has weighed the value of the the Union, and thinks the South has loved it too well. This is the issue. The Senator openly states that it is an issue for victory. There is time enough, said Mr. Bell, to estimate the value of the Union, when the powerful North takes a belligerent step —when, for instance, she refuses to admit a Territory in which slavery already exists unless it should liberate its slaves. He must see such an issue actually before us, before he would credit it. But he believed it would never come, if the South were prudent. He (Bell), like the Senator from Kentucky, would not take a sectional view of the question. He then proceeded to trace, at some length, the facts connected with the foundation of the Territorial government of Kansas, to show that there had been a misapprehension of the statistics. Thence turning to the Kansas Nebraska bill, he said it was a struggle for victory carried on with a spirit unequalled in fervor, except in revolutionary France.

How, he asked, shall we cut the Gordian knot of Kansas politics—by the sword, or more peaceful means? The President, he said, recommended the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution, maintaining the legality of that instrument and its accordance with the organic act. Mr. Bell here entered into an examination of the organic law, to see if it conferred power on the people of Kansas to form a constitution whenever they pleased, without reference to time or population. He was sure it conveyed no such power.—If it did, it would have a most mischievous effect. Utah, New Mexico, Nebraska, Washington and Dacotah Territories might all come in during this session, under such a principle.

Here, then, said Mr. Bell, is heresy put forth at the threshold by the President.—Next, as to the legality of the Lecompton Constitution. He referred to the authenticated records of successive frauds, and expressed his surprise that Senators, in the face of such evidence, could argue for the legitimacy of that instrument. It would, he said, take twice two thousand troops to force that Constitution upon the people of Kansas. Mr. Bell then went into a lengthened resume of the Presidential campaign of 1852, showing the relation to the Missouri Compromise. The successful candidate of that campaign, on coming into office, pledged himself to maintain the peace of the country; but, within eight months, by the agency of some diabolical magic, the aspect of the political sky was changed, and a tempest arose that is still raging. The Free Soilers in the Senate and House had largely increased, and will continue to increase. Do Southern gentlemen wish to multiply them still faster? He thought one of the worst results of the Kansas Nebraska bill, was to cement and lay the organization of this sectional party. Referring to the assertion that the admission of Kansas would allay the excitement, he prophesied that it would take three years at least before it would subside. In conclusion, he commented severely on Mr. Seward's threat that agitation must continue until the South ceases to seek the extension of slavery under the federal Constitution, and expressed his (Bell's) own unalterable attachment to the Union.

The House debated the Army bill, and is evidently disposed to employ volunteers against the Mormons.

Mr. Savage, of Tennessee argued in favor of volunteers, and against the recommendation of the Secretary of War, for a permanent increase of the army.

Mr. Washburn, of Illinois, referred to the attempted rebellion of the Mormons in that State. They defied the whole power of the government, and it was then supposed, as it is now, that a large military force would be necessary to operate against them, but a few noble citizens drove them off.

Mr. Humphrey Marshall, of Ky., responding to a remark by Mr. Faulkner, said that the President cannot move the troops while Congress is in session. Congress will regulate their departure, and furnish volunteers for the purpose. Congress also, he contended, could countermand a movement of the regulars, if it was necessary, in their judgment. The attempt to send them would be a clear usurpation of power on the part of the President. As a member of Congress he was prepared to control the movements of the troops, and to let the President know of the determination of Congress and to compel obedience.

ALBANY, March 18.—After the close of the morning session of the Assembly, Messrs. Chatfield and Delancy, members from New York, got into words on the floor, when Mr. D. struck Mr. C. The latter immediately clinched him by the throat, but was prevented from striking him by the bystanders. It was some time before Mr. Chatfield's hold could be loosened, Mr. Delancy in the meantime growing black in the face. The combatants were eventually parted. There was much excitement.

TORONTO, March 18.—At the dinner of the Saint Patrick's Association last night at the National Hotel, Thomas Darcy McGee made a speech. The hotel was attacked by a mob, the windows were smashed, and arms freely used, but without fatal effect. The police quieted the disturbance.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being just dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tinliest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents; As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Huckinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

AUCTIONS.

By virtue of a License from the Hon. Judge of Probate.

Will be sold at PUBLIC AUCTION, On SATURDAY, Mar. 27, 12 o'clk, M., ON THE PREMISES,

Seven-Twelfths, in common and undivided, of the well-known

Jacob Sheafe Farm,

Formerly owned by JACOB SHEAFE, Esq., deceased. The other portions can probably be obtained, if desired.

Said Farm lies on both sides of the new Sagamore Road, contains about 296 ACRES, well divided into Mowing Fields, Tillage and Pasture Land, and Salt Marsh, &c., together with a large and valuable growth of Wood and Timber.

It possesses advantages for obtaining large and inexhaustible supplies of SEA-DRESSING, probably unequalled by any other Farm in this vicinity.

The extensive OCEAN VIEW which it commands, with its fine sites on Sagamore Creek, and easy access to the City, make this a rare opportunity for a safe investment.

The quality of the Land, heavy growth of WOOD, and facilities for obtaining Sea-Dressing, offer inducements in this sale to the Farmer, seldom to be found.

PERSECUTION IN MADAGASCAR.—The latest intelligence from this ill-governed and miserably oppressed island is eminently sad and disheartening. A persecution followed the expulsion of the Frenchmen in July last, which has proved to be unecomonly severe. Thirteen Christians have been put to death; more than fifty have been subjected to the ordeal of the "tangues" (poison water), with fatal results in the cases of eight; more than fifty have been bound in chains, two having died; and many others are reduced to slavery.—There seems to be no hope, therefore, that those who have embraced the doctrines of the Bible will be tolerated during the reign of the present Queen. Whether her son will escape a death of violence, as he is known to be friendly to "the new way," is quite doubtful.

☞ On the evening of the 22d ult. a mulatto woman, intoxicated, went into a church at Vandalia, Ill., where a protracted meeting was going on, and becoming noisy, was ejected from the house. She went home, but in a few minutes returned with a revolver, which she fired at the congregation through the window. The ball struck and dangerously wounded a man named James Mitchell. The woman was in danger of being lynched at the latest accounts.

Ayer's Pills

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"YOUR PILLS are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities commend themselves to every family. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

"Not only are your PILLS admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the liver amount to a wonder. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Rose, of St. Louis.

"The PILLS you were kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the disease of the human system, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally found them to be efficacious in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Comly, of Chicago.

"YOUR PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy when combined with the bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Rev. E. Sturt, who practises as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent promoters of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. If children of our family take them, they are as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint—which, although not fatal in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. Costiveness seems to originate in the liver, but your PILLS affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Lawton Hall, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice, and agree with your estimate of their efficacy. They stimulate the excretories, and carry off the impurities that stagnate in the blood, engendering disease. They stimulate the organs into healthy action, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—FILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS—FITS—&c.

From Dr. Edward Engel, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your PILLS better than to say of all we ever treat with a purgative medicine, I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your PILLS afford us the best we have, I shall continue to use them."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every ounce of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is tested and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, and INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has gradually become the best reliance of the affliction it cures, from the cottage of the humble peasant to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the assurance of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know what is true, if we dare, if we may reliance upon any thing, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, confirmed benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

Maryland State Lotteries.

R. FRANCE & CO.....MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar, and $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is as very reasonable to suppose the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance these have proved swindles offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates. If he does it, he sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and to see that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send money for tickets in the Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize drawn and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published in the papers of this city, the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

All communications strictly confidential. m181y

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRANCE & Co are the managers, are chartered by the State of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything pertaining to the drawing is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another feature which deserves special attention is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by the laws of that State. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100'000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

MINISTERS' WIVES.—One of our exchanges proposes the somewhat alarming inquiry "whether ministers' wives are as long-lived as those of other men?" It mentions as an instance that the wives of twelve ministers of its acquaintance "died young," and says that several years' observation confirms the impression that ministers' wives generally die prematurely.

Another newspaper, in taking up the subject, says that in addition to the ordinary domestic duties of minister's wives, a large part of the duties universally discharged by the husband in other callings, is necessarily devolved upon them; moreover, the financial embarrassments which so frequently press upon a minister's family, tend to touch the keenest susceptibilities of the wife. "A wounded spirit who can bear?"

It cannot be doubted that if we had a history of the uncomplaining meekness with which, in unnumbered instances, beauty, refinement, and all accomplishments have been offered on the altar of a husband's usefulness, it would bring tears to the eyes of the most thoughtless taskmaster who ever exacted labor from the muzzled ox.

So discourses the Morning Star, of the Freewill Baptist denomination. It is worthy of serious consideration, whether many of the young wives spoken of are not sacrificed on the altar of a fancied or fictitious usefulness, rather than of anything really and substantially good.

Pure, calm, steadfast religious trust in God, and active good will to men, would tend, we think, to longevity.

Undue anxiety or excitement, overweening desire to please, and such like, break the spirits, destroy the health, and shorten the life.

AN ODD MIXTURE.—The New York Sunday Atlas rejoices in the religious revival, acquiesces in the revival of the slave trade, and expresses great pleasure in anticipation of the passage of the Lecompton swindle by Congress, all in the same breath.

☞ Mr. J. J. Astor, Jr., of New York, has published a note in the newspapers stating that his name was used as an officer of the Lecompton meeting without his consent and against his wishes. Mr. Arthur Leary's name was similarly misused.

LONG IMPRISONMENT.—A man has been discharged from jail in Charlottetown, P. E. I., who had been imprisoned nine years for debt.—The Charlottetown papers are calling loudly for an alteration of the law that permits such tyranny.

We learn that the Essex Agricultural Society have leased their farm in Topsfield, for the year ensuing, to Mr. Nathan W. Brown, of Newburyport. Mr. Brown has for some years past been engaged in farming in Hampton Falls, N. H., one of the best farming towns in all that state. It is to be hoped that the enterprise manifested by the young farmers of that town, may be exhibited in the management of this experimental farm in our own County, so that we may all feel a local pride in it.—Salem Gazette.

Permission is asked to run a steam omnibus in the streets of New York. When this species of vehicles shall roll over the Russ, and the compressed air cylinder shall propel the cars on the street railways, the day of real progress will have come. All these things are coming for New York.—The ingenuity of American mechanics will not rest till it has accomplished both these things; and Art in this case, works at the side of humanity.

GOUGH VS. LEES.—We learn that the action, J. B. Gough vs. Dr. Lees, is not actually commenced, but only threatened.—The proceeding, if entered upon, is to be by indictment. In such case, by English law, it is understood the truth cannot be given in evidence. Dr. Lees, it is said, has charged Mr. Gough with excessive use of opium, and visiting low places; and the Dr. offers to prove what he charges, before twelve persons who will receive the testimony.—Portland Advertiser.

HOW TO RUIN YOUR HEALTH.—Punch gives the following rules for ruining your health: 1st. Stop in bed late; 2d. Eat hot suppers; 3rd. Turn day into night, night into day; 4th. Take no exercise; 5th. Always ride when you can walk; 6th. Never mind about wet feet; 7th. Have half a dozen doctors; 8th. Drink all the medicine they send you; 9th. Try every new quack; 10th. If that does not kill you, quack yourself.

NOBLE SENTIMENTS.—Condemn no man for not thinking as you do. Let every one enjoy the full and free liberty of thinking for himself. Abhor every approach, in any kind or degree, to the spirit of persecution. If you cannot reason or persuade a man into the truth, never attempt to force him into it. If love will not compel him to come, leave him to God, the judge of all.—John Wesley.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

MONDAY, MARCH 22, 1858.

THE BLACK RASCALS.

The Concord Patriot of March 3d contains the following statements.

The "black rascals" are playing the brag game, but it is accompanied by acts and facts which plainly show that they do not feel the confidence they profess. Their State committee have issued a secret circular giving the result of their canvass of the State, which stands as follows: For Haile 37,057; for Cate 32,346; doubtful 2,160. They say that "dividing the doubtful votes equally between the two candidates, Gov. Haile will have a majority of 4,711," but they express the opinion that their majority will "even exceed 5000."

Now does any intelligent man believe the black leaders really think they are going to carry the election by such a majority? * * * No sensible man believes that any such vote is to be cast on the 9th of March; and of course no sane man thinks that Haile will recieve anything near the vote given him by this pretended canvass.

Stick a pin here, for one moment. The pretended canvass gave Haile 4,711 majority. Now please to read the following single line from the Patriot of March 17.

"Haile's majority over all, 4,714."

The Patriot's own figures here give the "black rascals" just three votes more than their brag and pretended canvass claimed.

☞ The number of births in Boston last year was 5881, of which little rising 34 per cent. were from native parents, while 47 per cent. were from Irish, and 64 per cent. where one or both parents were of foreign origin. There is an offset in the mortality of the city, that puts the date of its becoming an American Dublin more distant, for it is found that the average life of the American born is 27 1-2 years, and of the foreign born 17 1-2 years. Nothing, however, is likely to prevent the mass of the population from being foreigners or the immediate children of immigrants, at no distant day.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 18.—The bill repealing the acts passed by the last Legislature, to prevent kidnapping in Ohio, and refusing the use of the jails for the confinement of fugitive slaves, which passed the Senate some time ago, passed the House night before last, the former by 42, the latter by 21 majority.

The Boston Courier, in publishing the above, calls it, Ohio "keeping step to the music of the Union." We should call it keeping step to the clanking of the chains.

☞ We have published an item from a New Orleans lady, who was shocked at hearing a minister vary the marriage ceremony, as he performed it for a couple of slaves, so as to make allowance for their separate sale. Remarking on this case, the editor of the Boston Bee says:—

We have known fathers to sell their own daughters, and not merely to hopeless slavery, but to a fate worse than either slavery or death,—that of deliberate prostitution; and we have within the last five years, twice aided the daughters of slaveholders in their escape to Canada, when the chief motive for their running away, was to escape pollution.

Since our election, it seems that the people of Kansas are not suffering such awful wrongs as they were before. In their rejoicing for their own victory they forget poor Kansas. The Republicans have most signally triumphed, and now will some of their journals tell us what effect the victory has upon slavery in Kansas or anywhere else? Will it nullify the Lecompton Constitution, or prevent the admission of Kansas under it? Will some one tell us what the effect has been?—Dover Gaz.

It weakens the hands of the Lecompton slavery propaganda, at Washington and elsewhere.—It strengthens Giddings and Seward, Hale and Clark, Douglas and Houston, Bell and Crittenden, in their contest with tyranny and oppression. Whether they will be strong enough to prevail against the executive power and patronage, now wielded by and for slavery, is yet to be seen.

☞ Gov. Banks, of Massachusetts, by and with the advice of the Council, and in accordance with an address from both houses of the legislature, has "removed Edward Greeley Loring from the office of Judge of Probate for the county of Suffolk." Mr. Loring, as U. S. Commissioner, remanded the last fugitive slave who was sent back into slavery from Boston, on the strength of very poor documents.

TOWN ELECTIONS IN NEW YORK.—The town elections for Supervisors throughout the State of New York are always contested on strictly partizan grounds. The "footings" thus far make the following exhibit of the number of towns carried by the political parties respectively:—Republican 434, Republican and American 81, Democratic, 221.

☞ The bark Adriatic, that escaped from the French, has arrived at Savannah.

HEARING ON THE LIQUOR LAW.—The Mass. Legislative Committee on the subject of amending the present liquor law, held a meeting at the State House, at which the business and policy of the present liquor agencies were more particularly inquired into.

Mr. Wm. Deblois of Boston was called upon to testify in regard to the purity of liquors sold at the State agency, and stated that the liquors there sold were made up just as they are in other liquor stores, and perhaps more so. The customers of the liquor agency are necessarily a class of people who have no acquaintance with the trade, and are easily shaved and deceived.

The witness had seen brandy sold from the State agency for $4.50 a gallon, which he could manufacture for 70 cts., and gin sold for $1.50 a gallon, which never cost more than 33 cts. He considered that the liquor agents never sold a gallon of pure liquor unless he was obliged to, and offered to show samples of their liquors to substantiate his story.

Mr. Asa D. Pattee of Boston, stated that he did not believe the law had done any good in the State, and at any rate the trade in Boston had greatly increased, and the importation of liquors had largely augmented. He held that in Boston, the only thing that would help the Temperance cause was a proper license law. A public house in Boston would not be supported unless it sold liquor, and as far as his own house (the Commercial) was concerned, he repeatedly entertained ministers, physicians, good deacons of churches, from abroad, who would not stop with him unless he sold liquor.

The Chairman of the Committee asked Mr. Pattee the denomination of the ministers.

Witness replied that the one he had more particulary in his mind was of the Orthodox Church, but the remark was true of most of his customers—the traveling public.

The Committee adjourned to Tuesday at 3 o'clock, in the Hall of the House of Representative, when B. F. Butler will appear for a number of Boston dealers, who ask for a license law in place of the present statute.—Boston Journal.

The above is decidedly rich. The concern of the keeper of a rum tavern in Boston, for the temperance cause, to be promoted by a license, is too broad a joke to be treated with argument. And then the kind of ministers that would put up at the Commercial, must be a remarkable kind. Though the same veracious witness is so sure that a public house in Boston could not be kept without liquors,—yet it happens to be a fact that some such houses are supported without it.

At the same meeting, Rev. Edwin Thompson, happening to be present, made a few remarks, in the course of which he stated that the opposition to the liquor agency happened to come principally from men who were concerned in the rum traffic, well knowing that if the agency was abolished, they would have an opportunity to monopolize the trade, and injure the law by deceiving the town agents and others who might wish to purchase for useful purposes. He also remarked that it must be manifest to every reflecting man, that if the law stood, there must be a place to buy for medicinal and mechanical purposes, without breaking the laws of the Commonwealth. Mr. Thompson was asked if the agency was generally satisfactory, which he answered in the affirmative; that there had been statements made that liquor had been sold by the State Agent to town agents, of a spurious character; but when such cases had been investigated, it was found that such bad liquor was not purchased of the State Agent, but of some liquor dealers in Boston. He said, that the temperance people of Massachusetts wished to have the law remain as it is, without alteration. One fact, it was remarked, must be manifest to every member of the Commitee, and that was, that every legislature of the State, from 1852 to the present, was on the side of the law; and that of itself seems to make it certain that the sentiment of the people in favor of prohibition, and the extermination of the rum traffic.

Mr. Asa D. Pattee asked Mr. Thompson whether there was not more liquor sold in the State than before the law was passed. He replied there was not.

After the adjournment, Mr. Thompson remarked to Mr. Pattee—'As I understand you, you are opposed to the law because it increases your business.' Mr. Pattee said in reply, that he was in favor of breaking up the low grog-shops. Mr. Thompson said, 'We regard them all as low.'

At the subsequent meeting, Mr. Asa D. Pattee stated that the parties who engaged Benj. F. Butler, Esq., to appear, had withdrawn and would not appear. Mr. Pattee made no appearance on his own account, and three or four more who had asked leave to be heard then, also backed out.—The chairman, Senator Usher, called for friends of the law.

Mr. Mudge, of Lynn, said that the State Temperance Committee did not feel it necessary that they should say anything, provided the other side, opponents of the law, had nothing to say. Mr. John C. Cluer said that the liquor sellers had changed their mind, and that as there was now a prospect that some would soon be convicted, temperance men were satisfied.

CONGRESS.

FRIDAY, March 19.

SENATE.—Mr. Gwin's resolution of inquiry concerning the massacre of German emigrants in Utah, was passed,

Mr. Foster of Connecticut, spoke on Kansas affairs, expressing himself in general terms against the bill.

Mr. Clay, of Ala., said inasmuch as the Legislature of Alabama had passed resolutions to call a Convention to decide upon a course of action, in the event of the rejection of the Kansas bill, he felt bound to defend the course of that State. After reviewing at length the events in Kansas, with the strife of parties there, which, he maintained, was not a struggle between two geographical sections, but between the party opposed to the administation and that favorable to it, he proceeded to enquire into the validity of the Lecompton Constitution.

Mr. Houston, of Texas, animadverted upon some remarks of Mr. Clay, against the opposers of the Kansas bill.

Mr. Clay said he intended no personal disrespect. His remarks had only a political bearing. He complimented Mr. Houston on his courage in the field as well as wisdom in council.

Mr. Houston replied that every American citizen had courage, and if he had ever displayed any in an eminent degree, it was when he stood up here against the opinions of his friends, and opposed the Nebraska bill. He regarded that bill as a fatal measure, fostered by demagogues, originated by ambition, and intended only to unite the South with a new Northern State to make a President.

Mr. Clay answered that the Missouri restriction placed a badge of inferiority on the slaveholding States. The Legislature of Texas had condemned Mr. Houston for voting against that bill.

Mr. Houston said he made the State of Texas, but did not make the people—they came there anyhow. But their condemnation of his vote did not dishonor him.

Mr. Durkee of Wis., said that he intended to make a speech, but his health being poor, he would get his colleague to read it for him. He took strong ground against the Lecompton Constitution, and reiterated the arguments generally urged on that side. Force that creature of fraude, forgery, and spurious results upon Kansas, he said, and no one can foretell the results.—

Numerous extracts from letters from Messrs. Wise, Walker and others, were read supporting Mr. Dukee's views. In adopting the Lecompton Constitution we abandon the ballot box, and resort to the principle of tyrants, that might makes right. If the people of the North submit to such outrages, he should think Mr. Hammond right in saying they were slaves. He concluded his speech at 5 o'clock.

In order to close the debate to-morrow, the Senate decided to meet at 11 o'clock Saturday. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—The bill for the increase of the army by the enrollment of four regiments of volunteers, was taken up.

Mr. Faulkner of Va., from the minority of the Military Committee, offered an amendment: rejected—yeas 43, nays 143.

Mr. Quitman's bill for the raising of five regiments of volunteers, was then ordered to be engrossed for a third reading—yeas 128 against nays 74—and was finally passed by 124 against 73.

The bill, as passed, authorizes the President to receive into service one regiment of Texas mounted volunteers, for the defence of the frontier thereof; and for the purpose of quelling disturbances in Utah, and for the protection of supply and emigrant trains, and the suppression of Indian hostilities on the north and northwestern frontier, the President is authorized to accept the services of any number of volunteers, not to exceed in all four regiments,—the same, or any portion thereof to be organized into mounted regiments or infantry, as the President may deem proper. The volunteers are not to be accepted in bodies of less than one regiment, whose officers shall be appointed in the manner prescribed by law in the several States and Territories to which such regiments shall respectively belong.

The House Deficiency Bill was taken up.

Mr. Montgomery, of Penn., spoke on the Kansas question. He said, disguise the question as gentlemen might, it was whether the Constitution could be forced on the people of Kansas against their will. Not a member had come to the defence of the President. He remarked, and thought, with all due deference to the Executive, that no man would undertake it.

HARPER'S NEW MONTHLY MAGZINE for April is at hand. This number opens with "Tropical Journeyings en route for California," and is followed by "Pictures from Siberia and Tartary," "An American at Sinai," each profusely and elegantly illustrated. The remainder of the list of contents is, as usual, made up of interesting and instructive articles. The comicalities are equal to Punch, and have a significance which usually attach to some prevailing extravagance in society. From the Editor's Table, Chair and Drawer, we invariably find a fund of wisdom and amusement, that richly compensates us. For sale by J. H. Foster, Portsmouth, and A. Williams & Co., Boston.

A LEGISLATIVE PRAYER.—The following laconic prayer was delivered in the Iowa House of Representatives the other morning by the Rev. Mr. Shine:

Great God! Bless the young and growing State of Iowa, her Senators and Representatives, her Governor and State officers! Give us a sound currency, pure water, and undefiled religion, for Christ's sake. Amen."

☞ The Norfolk Herald says: "We are informed that $65,000 in Treasury notes of 500 and $1000, sent from Washington to pay off the employees of government in the Navy Yard here, were returned yesterday, in consequence of the amount being so large that the Purser could make no use of them."

The safest and surest way to settle a difficulty, is not to get into one.

TRIUMPHANT SUCCESS OF
Buchan's Hungarian Balsam of Life,
THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR Colds, Coughs, Asthma, and Consumption.

REMARKABLE CURE OF DISEASED LUNGS

The following cure was reported by H. G. O. Washburn, Esq., Agent for the Hungarian Balsam, at Belfast, Maine, who will give any further information respecting the case that may be desired:

D. F. BRADLEE—Dear Sir: Mr. Clark of Palmyra, Me., was taken sick about a year ago, with a bad Cough, pain in the side and back, and troubled with general debility. He consulted several Doctors, who prescribed for him—but was finally TOLD THAT HE COULD NOT GET WELL. He stopped taking medicine, but continued to grow worse, until he was so weak that he could scarcely sit up. He saw a notice of the Hungarian Balsam, procured a bottle, and continued to take it according to the directions—and strange to say, in a few months he was a strong man, and, as he believes, permanently cured.

Yours, respectfully, H. G. O. WASHBURN.

☞ Many of our most respectable and intelligent citizens are visiting Prof. Foster, the Spiritual Medium, daily. Though all are not convinced that their departed friends are communing with them; yet many perceive signs and wonders which they can account for in no other way. We spent a few minutes there very pleasantly, a few days since. Various questions we asked mentally were answered correctly, &c. But of all the wonders, none so astonished us as as to see a heavy table rise more than knee-high, with nobody touching it. We also received a smart blow on the knee, when no person was near enough to have given it. What was that? P.

PACIFIC RAILROAD.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Mr. Phelps of Missouri, the Chairman of the Committee on the Pacific Railroad, to-day introduced a bill which was referred to that Committee, to aid in the construction of a railroad from St. Louis to San Francisco. The following is a synopsis of the bill.

It proposes to pass through Albuquerque, the Zuin villages and the Tejon pass. One half of the road is to be built by the State of California, and the other half by the State of Missouri. The United States to grant money and lands to aid in building it. After 20 miles are built, five per cent. United States 30 year bonds to be issued to the State building it, at the rate of $7,500 per mile, and so on for two hundred miles west from St. Louis, and east from San Francisco. Then for two hundred miles further, bonds to be issued at the rate of $10,000 per mile. Then for one hundred further, at the rate of $12,500 per mile, and for the remainder of the way at the rate of $15,000 per mile.

Missouri is to begin to build at St. Louis, and California at San Francisco, and proceed continuously. They are to meet on the 108th meridian of longitude, near Zuni. The aid of money is given upon the same principle as the land: for two hundred miles at each end, only $7,500: for the next two hundred miles, $10,000 per mile: for the next hundred miles at each end, $12,500. Thus, for 500 miles at each end, in all 1000 miles, aid is given only to the amount of $9,500,000. The balance of the $30,000,000 is devoted to the remaining eleven hundred miles.

There are to be four branches to the road, two North and two South. No aid but land is given to these. One southern branch to begin at Vicksburgh, running by Fulton, and the other at Fort Smith, running up the Canadian, until they connect with the Pacific Railroad at or near Auto Chico. One northern branch beginning at the mouth of the Big Sioux, on the Missouri, and running by the way of Fort Kearney, and the other at St. Joseph's, on the Missouri river, and both to connect with the Pacific road at or east of Albuquerque. These four branches are so located, it is asserted, as to well accommodate every important road in the United States with an easy connection with the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad.

☞ The Washington Republic says, in speaking of the report of the Kansas Investigating Committee: The report was drawn up Mr. Stephens, and is precisely the same report which he would have made as Chairman of the Committee on Territories, if the subject had been referred to that committee, as it might as well have been. There has been no investigation, the will of the majority of the House, in that particular, having been completely balked by the Speaker.

Nothing has happened beyond what Mr. Giddings forewarned the anti-Lecompton Democrats would happen, if they were weak enough to assist in electing a Lecompton Speaker.

☞ The criminal prosecution against Jacob H. Mott, who is charged with having been an accomplice of Brotherson, the defaulting book-keeper of the Union Bank, New York, has been withdrawn, and civil proceedings instituted instead. Mr. Mott is locked up in the Eldridge street jail, and held to bail in $141,000, the alleged amount of the defalcation.

3 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARABIA.

Continued Arrests in France—Earthquake in Corinth—Later from Australia.

The steamship Arabia, from Liverpool March 6, arrived at New York on Saturday.

The condemned French conspirators have not yet been executed. Numerous arrests continue to be made throughout France.

No date had been fixed for the execution of the condemned conspirators. A rumor was current that the Empress was exerting herself in their behalf.

It is said that in consequence of a conspiracy with extensive ramifications, Changarnier refuses to return to France until she possesses laws protecting the dignity and safety of the inhabitants.

An earthquake had laid Corinth in ruins. A fire at Constantinople had burned 300 houses.

Dr. Livingston and his companions in the African exploring expedition, were on board the steamer Pearl in the river Mersey, whence they were expected to sail for Africa on the day the Arabia left.

The Journal des Debats publishes an account of the capturo of Canton which gives all the glory to France, and says the English had nothing to do but occupy the positions won by the French troops.

Ships bearing upwards of 120,000 ounces of gold, had sailed from Australia for England during the latter part of December and the commencement of January.—The total shipments of gold for the year 1857 amounted to two millions seven hundred and fifty-seven thousand and forty-seven ounces.

THE FRENCH EMPEROR.—The shells recently thrown at Louis Napoleon, were made to order by an ingenious English mechanic, named Taylor. From the peculiarity of the screws, which were simply gun nipples, Mr. Taylor concluded that the bombs were to be fired from a cannon. It was not until after he heard of the attempt upon the life of the Emperor, that he had the least idea for what use they were intended.

ROOST ROBBING.—On Thursday night, some hen thieves visited the Plains, at the north part of Newburyport, and stole thirty hens from the coop of Mr. John Ordway, and fifteen from Mr. Moses Ordway. The track of wheels were seen in the road, but the thieves escaped.

More than 500,000 Bottles

SOLD IN THE NEW ENGLAND STATES IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 8 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

AUCTION.S.

By virtue of a License from the Hon. Judge of Probate.

Will be sold at PUBLIC AUCTION, On SATURDAY, Mar. 27, 12 o'clock, M., ON THE PREMISES, Seven-Twelfths, in common and undivided, of the well-known

Jacob Sheafe Farm,

Formerly owned by JACOB SHEAFE, ESQ., deceased. The other portions can probably be obtained, if desired.

Said Farm lies on both sides of the new Sagamore Road, contains about 296 ACRES, well divided into Mowing Fields, Tillage and Pasture Land, and Salt Marsh, &c., together with a large and valuable growth of Wood and Timber.

It possesses advantages for obtaining large and inexhaustible supplies of SEA-DRESSING, probably unequalled by any other Farm in this vicinity.

The extensive OCEAN VIEW which it commands, with its fine sites on Sagamore Creek, and easy access to the City, make this a rare opportunity for a safe investment.

The quality of the Land, heavy growth of WOOD, and facilities for obtaining Sea-Dressing, offer inducements in this sale to the Farmer, seldom to be found.

Terms made known at time and place of Sale.—For further particulars, apply to

GENERAL CASS.—The Detroit Advertiser reiterates its assertion that General Cass contemplates leaving the Cabinet, and remarks:—"If Buchanan's policy is rigidly carried out, in a strict party sense, we repeat that it is more than probable that Gen. Cass will leave the Cabinet. We gave currency to the subject on no idle rumor."

☞ Mr. Hawkins, while lecturing in Burlington, Vt., recently, exhibited a book of receipts prepared by Lacour, a chemist, of Bordeaux, after twenty-seven years of experiments, by which every variety of liquor may be manufactured without distillation; and any kind of ale, porter, &c., without using a single hop.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood, by far the largest part of all the complaints that afflict mankind, in one of these, and consequently these PILLS are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Cutbertight, of New Orleans.

"Your PILLS are the prince of purgatives. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

"Not only are your PILLS admirably adapted to their purpose as aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely relieve that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Knox, of St. Louis.

"The PILLS you were kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the diseases of the human system, that they seem to work upon them almost as a charm. I have cured cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally proved them to be effectual in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"Your PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them a acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Mrs. B. Stuart, who practises as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion, when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual in expelling the stomach and bowel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

"You must be convinced by your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have the same experience as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although not dangerous itself, is the prolifer of others that are worse. I believe costiveness to originate in the liver, but your PILLS affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Ezekiel Bell, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that, I have seen too many cases to doubt it. They have in my practice, and agree with your statements of their efficacy. They stimulate the excretories, and carry off the impurities that originate in the blood, and expel them from the system. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such medicines as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE — SICK HEADACHE — FOUL STOMACH — PILES — DROPSY — PLETHORA — PARALYSIS — FITS — &c.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you other complaints I have cured with your PILLS, lest you should think I exaggerate; but I can write with a perfect conviction. I place great dependence on an efficient cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and anything as I find, that I can safely afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every ounce of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints as COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has proved, and still proves the best reliance of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peasant to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet is contained some CHERRY PECTORAL, known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the testimony of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then it is irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrown upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

Maryland State Lotteries.

R. FRANCE & CO.....MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus schemes, swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 down to $500 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is as much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large, or, compared with the price of tickets—In every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchasers in the Maryland State Lottery, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates, if he does, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have seven commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the drawings are held under a charter authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same come to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing published in all papers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Dry Dock. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

All communications strictly confidential. m18ly

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRANCE & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and are conducted under the direction of persons sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all prizes are paid in full without any deduction for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If any particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket; after the Havana plan, and Ternary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $40 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the Baltimore Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,
No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., and the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to them, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tone full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave lower than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the hands only. This combined with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that will contain 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and chamber use. The construction is similar to the Church instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used separately, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any other manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our establishment and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS, we, the Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Fort Manufacturers of Boston, who have examined our instruments and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons,	Hallett & Cumston,
Fullerton & Co.,	Wm. P. Emerson,

GEN. REED'S CONTRACT.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post says:

"A very extraordinary affair has recently come to light, which, with other transactions lately developed, and still others soon to be unveiled, go to show conclusively that business in the War Department, has been conducted by the present Secretary without the slightest regard to economy in the disbursement of the public funds.

It was ascertained a short time since that three thousand head of cattle were wanted by the Commissionary's Department for consumption by the Army in Utah. Upon inquiry at the Quartermaster's Department by various parties who desired to secure a portion or the whole of the contract, they were told that the Secretary of War had transferred the power to contract to Fort Leavenworth. This naturally created a stampede on the part of those who wished to engage to furnish the cattle, to Fort Leavenworth. After they were thus shrewdly disposed of, the order transferring the contract, it it had ever been issued, was countermanded, and the contract was let to the distinguished General Reed of Platte City, Missouri, and to Gen. Armstrong of Va., at the following rates: 6 cts. per lb. for all cattle delivered at Fort Leavenworth. 8 1-2 cts. per lb. for all cattle delivered at New Mexico. 11 1-2 cts. per lb. for all cattle delivered at Salt Lake City.

The cattle are to be taken at their gross weight, are to be delivered at these different points at the risk of the government, and the latter engages to furnish the contractors with an escort of troops! So exorbitantly extravagant is this contract considered, that parties now in Washington assert that they would be willing to give fifty thousand dollars bonus and take the contract off the hands of Messrs. Reed and Armstrong."

The General Reed, referred to above, is no other than the commander-in-chief of the Missouri forces (stated at two thousand seven hundred) which invaded the territory of Kansas in 1856, during Governor Geary's administration, with the avowed intention of destroying Lawrence and subduing the citizens. Governor Geary intercepted him in person, at Franklin, five miles distant from Lawrence, and ordered them to retreat, informing them if they did not he should repel them forcibly with United States troops. Reed ordered a retreat, and while his forces were about to return, a portion of them sallied out, and committed a series of depredations upon the peaceable Free State citizens in the vicinity of Lawrence, and murdered a poor defenceless cripple named Buffum, because he refused to be robbed.

CHAPLAIN ON THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD.—There was something said a few months ago about the appointment of a Chaplain on the Illinois Central Railroad, but everybody considered it a hoax. It seems, however, that there is really such an office, faithfully filled by the Rev. J. W. Osborne. At a recent ministerial meeting he gave a sketch of the result of his labors along the line of the road.—Schools have been established at all the stations, and are in a flourishing condition, and the means of much good. Bible classes are large and numerous. Some of the children walk several miles to the schools. So far as the road is concerned, it is a wise business operation, by which the prosperity of the settlements along the road is advanced, and the lands of the company rendered more attractive to the most desirable class of settlers.

☞ The Liverpool Albion gives an account of a fugitive slave who arrived at that port stowed away in the hold of the ship Metropolitan, from New Orleans. He is called Tom Wilson, is 45 years old, and says he belonged to Mr. Henry Fustman, cotton presser, by whom he was owned seven years.

☞ Charles Bodman of Cincinnati, recently received a bequest of $60,000 and a valuable slave, from a relative who died at Baltimore, Md. The negro Mr. Bodman took to Cincinnati and made him free, and the $60,000 he divided among other needy relatives of the deceased. It is worth while to have such relatives as Mr. Bodman.

OIL FROM A NEW SOURCE.—An important branch of manufacturing at Marseilles, France, is the production of oil from peanuts, and for making soap it is said to be preferable to the other seed oils. The shell is not removed, but is crushed with the kernel.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remmitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

TUESDAY, MARCH 23, 1858.

INCREASED PRODUCTION

Is an element which seems to be little thought of by our currency tinkers. They are very wise and full of statistics about the enormous expansion of the currency, apparently assuming that the same amount of business can be done on a doubled production, with the same volume of currency, or else ignoring the fact that our productions have doubled within a few years.

We have said before(remarks the Boston Journal) that our currency has not increased faster than the absolute wants of the country have required; and although it is difficult to show exactly the increased value of our productions from year to year, we can offer facts and figures which will be near enough to the mark to sustain our assertion, by making comparisons between two different points of time. We take for this purpose 1845 and 1857.

In the first named year we find the aggregate of imports and exports were $232,000,000, against $724,000,000 in 1857, an increase of more than 300 per cent.

The Bank loans in 1845 were $288,000-000, against $684,000,000, in '57, an increase of nearly 250 per cent.

The amount of deposits in 1845 was $88,000,000, against $230,000,000 in '57, an increase of more than 250 per cent.

The circulation of bank notes in 1845 (in the hands of the public) was $74,000,000, against $178,000,000 in 1857, an increase of about 150 per cent.

Supposing the average of paper in banks to be three months, it will appear that the amount discounted in '57 was	$3,726,000,000

In 1845	1,152,000,000
An increase in 12 years of	$1,584,000,000

This statement indicates an increase of production in twelve years of 140 per cent, supposing that the same proportion of mercantile paper passed through the banks in each year; but inasmuch as sales for money have been growing larger all the time—many articles of importance having been gradually taken from the credit and placed upon the cash list—it is fair to presume that the amount of paper which passed through the banks in 1857 was not so large in proportion to all the business done as in 1845, and we shall not be far from the mark in putting down the increase of our own productions in twelve years at 150 per cent. Evidently this increase required a corresponding increase in currency, and so far as bank notes are concerned, we find a corresponding addition, but nothing more. That a larger addition has been made to the gold currency, we have no doubt; but this also was necessary in consequence of the vast increase of our foreign trade, which requires and uses more gold than is wanted in other business.

The mercantile paper discounted by the Banks,—over $2,700,000,000 in 1857, as we have shown—represents but a small part of our business transactions. The whole amount of sales made for money and paper in the same time may be safely set down at four times that sum. There probably was no period in the year when there was not in circulation—including that held by the Banks—$2,000,000,000 of mercantile paper.

It is the expansion and contraction of this currency—for currency it is—which produces the ups and downs of business; and not that of bank notes, which, in fact, have very little to do with it. The bank loans, as a whole, may be quite as high when the amount of bank notes in circulation is small as when it is large. As some evidence to the soundness of this assertion, let us look at the facts, as they stand recorded for the last year:

	Loans.	Circulation
Jan. 1, 1857	684,000,000	178,000,000
" 1, 1858	674,000,000	134,000,000,000
Decrease in the year	10,000,000	44,000,000,000

Thus it appears that a contraction of currency amounting to the very large sum of forty-four millions has had little or no effect upon the discount line. We may say it has had none whatever; for it is well known that the city banks of New York alone could have easily extended their discount line ten millions in December, if the money had been wanted, without adding a dollar to the circulation.

HAMPTON.—The Newburyport Herald says:

In Hampton, N. H., all the liquor-sellers have been converted and closed up their business, the hotel landlord among them. We wish the grace of God could so touch some hearts this side of the Merrimac river.

Ther are four hotels in Hampton, and except at these there has been little or no liquor sold in Hampton for some time. It is not improbable that some recent prosecutions at the Exeter court aided in the conviction that it was prudent to close the bars.

THE CANVASS.—The N. H. Gazette of March 6 says:—"As it is, no one doubts that we shall make large gains everywhere. Will they be enough to redeem the State? We hope so, and think the chances are with us. We have seen the Black Republican State canvass; it is not complete, 28 towns not being heard from. Reckoning them as last year, they claim a majority of 4711.——Don't believe tales of defection from the Democracy—the changes of the masses are all in our favor!"

The result shows the Democratic party's vote about the same as last year, 31,000—the Republican majority 4700 or 4800, and a vote of 36,000. The changes were probably not in favor of Lecompton, nor were the young men's votes—but the newly naturalized Irish vote probably went that way.

☞ The Manchester Mirror says:

We are astonished to find some among the foreign population disposed to persecute and to mob those who differ from them in politics. A few foreigners here, particularly in Ward Four, elected to vote the Republican ticket, and they have been singled out and set upon, threatened with stripes and beatings without number if they did. Last evening the dwelling of M. F. Shehan on Elm street was entered, the lights blown out, and he and his wife unmercifully beaten. One of the perpetrators was arrested, and the other got away in the dark, after he was caught.

Joseph Bell's house was entered with an intent to assault him, but he was able to ward off the blows and got away without injury. Several other places were marked for the same object, but men were kept all night by them to keep guard. Such proceedings are marked with the finger of scorn, come from what quarter they may. It is a high-handed offence; one that would send a man to State Prison.

[Uncle Toby thinks there is no need to be astonished.]

☞ Some country journalist thus discourseth concerning taking opium, and its effects in his own case:—

"We never could understood how people can get a taste for opium fastened up on them. We tried a small quantity of it the other day, for a pain internally. We were ordered to take two pills a day for four days. The first dose was really delicious. It gave us a pink tinged sleep, filled to the brim with girls made of rose leaves. We indulged in dreams of the most oriental character. In one of them we had a mother-of-pearl hand-sled, with golden runners. With this we glided down a rainbow made of ice-cream, and brought up on a terrace, the supports of which were great spars of emerald.

The second night the scene began to change. About the supports of the terrace anacondas began to appear; while in the distance, a lot of green monkeys, with their tails burned off, were quarreling about the propriety of making a pin-cushion of us!

The third evening matters grew appalling. The terrace had gone, and so had the rainbow and the girls made of rose leaves; in their stead we had a bed filled with rattlesnakes, and on the head-board four grizzly bears pulling at a hawser, one end of which was fastened to our neck and the other end to an iceberg."

There must have been a "tendency of blood to the head," in that vision.

LONGEVITY OF CLERGYMEN.—It is stated that of 80 clergymen who died in the year 1855, more than one-half had passed the age of three-score and ten.

Died where? and how many more died within the same limits? The statement that the half of 80 clergymen, being all who died in any State or country in a year, were over 70 years old, is simply incredible!

A HANDSOME DONATION.—Nathan Jackson, Esq., of New York, has celebrated his 78th birthday, by making a gift to Williams College, Massachusetts, of $14,000 in cash, and nine acres of land, with suitable buildings thereon, adjoining the College grounds in Williamstown, for which he paid $6,000 in addition; the land is worth more than its original cost. The particular object to which this munificent donation is to be applied, is to found a Professorship for teaching Christian Theology, and branches of knowledge in harmony therewith, and also to aid the education of the sons of missionaries and others who are desirous of entering the Christian Ministry. Mr. Jackson has previously made several other liberal donations to the College.

☞ The London Quarterly Review, in an article on Religion in Germany, says:

Forty years ago, the Gospel could hardly be said to be anywhere preached in Berlin; now it is delivered with more or less distinctness, from many pulpits. Still the religious condition of this grand capital is deplorable in the extreme, and on the whole was never worse. There are 500,000 inhabitants; but there is only church accommodation for 40,000 hearers, and, except in some churches, in the winter season, there is only one service on the Sabbath.—A Lutheran Sunday is often worse than a Popish.

☞ A letter from Constantinople of the 12th of February, to a mercantile house in Boston, states that the weather had been uncommonly cold in that vicinity, and that 70,000 sheep had been frozen to death.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(Correspondence of the Boston Journal.)—Senator Wilson spoke about two hours and a half yesterday. His speech was replete with valuable facts, and was listened to with great interest.

On Monday morning, Mr. Stuart will speak at ten o'clock; Mr. Bayard next. Mr. Douglas will commence about two. Mr. Fitch will probably reply to him. Mr. Broderick will speak on Tuesday, and Mr. Green will close the debate—making about fifty speeches on Kansas by forty-five Senators.

An amendment will be offered; it is doubtful if the main question is taken in the Senate Wednesday.

Edmund Burke has obtained the appointment of A. S. Marshall of Concord as District Attorney for New Hampshire, in place of John H. George, partner of Pierce.

In the House, in committee of the whole, Mr. Farnsworth, the new member from Chicago, Illinois, spoke forcibly in opposition to the Lecompton Constitution, commencing by a comparison between the Russian emancipation of serfs and Southern enlargement of the area of slavery.

James Watson Webb was before the Tariff Committee. It is rumored that strong proof exists that the money was retained by private individuals and not paid to Congressmen.

Each party is confident of success in the House on the Lecompton Constitution, and bets are freely made on each side.

(Times correspondence.)—The administration men are working desperately to control the stampede in the House against Lecompton. When the bill goes to the House, I shall not be surprised if its opponents move the previous question at once, as the present count makes defeat certain.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Republican minority of the select committee on the Lecompton Constiution, are about to publish their report. They say that the assumption of the majority that the record is complete, is a confession that a thorough investigation would be fatal to the extraordinary document. The illegality of and irregularity of the Lecompton Constitution are asserted upon these grounds, viz: because Congress refused legal authority to the Territorial Legislature to call a convention; because the legislature itself was the creature of fraud and invasion; because the act of that Legislature was not fully and fairly carried out, the majority being prevented from participation in the election of delegates by nefarious apportionments and the threats of violence; because a portion of the convention was elected upon pledges to submit the Constitution to the people; because the Constitution is not the act of a majority of the convention; because the power that was vested in John Calhoun transcended the power of the convention, and their exercise was null and void; because the Constitution was rejected by the people on the 4th of January.

The committee challenge investigation to test the accuracy of the statement upon which they ground their argument. They think the President has been greatly misinformed and deluded as to the state of parties in Kansas; that Congress ought to resume entire control of the Territories; that the Topeka Constitution expresses the will of the people better, and deserves more respect at the hands of Congress than any other; that the plighted faith of the nation that any constitution which might be made for Kansas should be submitted to the people; that the copy of the Constitution presented by John Calhoun is not genuine; and that the Constitution was illegal in inception, and even if it were not, the people have voted to reject it. The President over estimates the docility of the people, especially those of Kansas, when he says that "domestic peace" will be obtained by admitting Kansas into the Union, with the Lecompton Constitution, thus trampling on their rights.

Signed by Messrs. Justin S. Morrill, Edward Wade, Henry Bennett, David S. Walbridge, and James Buffinton.

WASHINGTON MATTERS.—The New York Times correspondent says:

Senator Toombs, foreseeing the defeat of Lecompton, supposes that the time has come to strike his blow for disunion. The effect of his speech to-day is already apparent. It has startled the conservative Union lovers of the South, who begin to appreciate the dangerous designs of the special champions of Lecompton. The latter now, having lost confidence in the men, begin to examine the measure itself, and its doom is sealed.

It seems to be generally conceded that Lecompton is dead. There are one hundred and twenty-one votes in the House against it. Any statement that Dewart, Owen Jones and Chapman of Pennsylvania will support Lecompton, is false.

THE INDIAN WAR in Florida, which has existed almost as long as you can remember, is likely to be ended at last. Billy Bowlegs, it is now ascertained is not a mythical personage, as you have apprehended, nor a man of fancy or of straw; but a real stalwart, flesh-and-bone-and-muscle Indian, bearing, in proof of his human verity, the mark of perverseness which is indicated by his untoward name. Billy has agreed, it is said, to give up and sell out and go out West, with the tide of emigration. He has given another proof of his reality by demanding a little cash in hand, as an earnest of the bargain; and the sum of one hundred and twenty thousand dollars has left the treasury this very day for that purpose.

IMPORTANT TO TOBACCO CHEWERS.
DR. GUSTAV LINNARD'S
TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES,
The Great Substitute for Tobacco.

IT is a well known and incontrovertable fact that the use of Tobacco is the promoting cause of many of the most severe
MENTAL AND PHYSICAL DISORDERS
to which the race of man is subject, as careful analysis and long and painful experience have clearly proven that it contains certain narcotic and poisonous properties most dangerous in their effects, which by entering into the blood derange the functions and operations of the Heart, causing many to suppose that organ to be seriously diseased.

TOBACCO affects also the entire nervous system, manifesting itself—as all who have ever used the noxious weed will testify—in Lassitude, Nervous Irritability, Water Brash, Dyspepsia, and many other disorders of a similar character.

THE TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES are designed to counteract these baneful influences, and have proved entirely successful in a multitude of cases, and wherever used. Being harmless in themselves they exert a beneficial effect upon the system, restoring the taste which has become vitiated or destroyed by great indulgence, completely removing the irritation and accompanying tickling sensation of the Throat—which always consequent upon abstaining from the use of Tobacco, and by giving a healthy tone to the Stomach, invigorate the whole system.

Persons who are irretrievably undermining their constitutions and shortening their lives, should use these Troches immediately and throw off the injurious and unpleasant habit of Tobacco Chewing.

These Troches or Lozenges are put up in a convenient and portable form at the low price of 50 Cents per Box. A liberal discount to the Trade.

A CARD.

The subscriber would acknowledge with gratitude that he has received from Miss Hall's school, as the result of the Fair held by them last week, the sum of ninety dollars and fifty-four cents "to be appropriated as he may see fit for the relief of the suffering poor among us."

Great credit is certainly due both to Miss Hall and her pupils for their untiring efforts in getting up this Fair and for the skill and taste manifested in the execution of every article prepared, as well as in the general arrangement and management of the sale.

The relief came in good time, as the calls upon him have of late been increasingly numerous and urgent. May their labors of love be the means not only of imparting good to others, but of bringing a still richer blessing into their own bosoms.

He would also acknowledge that he has within the last few weeks received for the benefit of the poor from one benevolen gentleman one dollar, from another five, and from another ten, making in all sixteen dollars. N. MEDBERY.

Portsmouth, March 22.

☞ The new City Government will be organized to-day at ten o'clock, in the Court House.

☞ Mr. George W. Haven gives another of his lectures on Political Economy this evening, in the Hanover street Chapel.—The lecture of last Tuesday evening, on the uses of machinery, was admirable.

☞ We learn that Mr. Richard Locke, of Rye, has been appointed Keeper of the Light House at New Castle, commonly called Portsmouth light, vice Thomas Marston, resigned.

☞ There is to be a Calico Ball at the Ocean House, Rye Beach, on Wednesday evening.

☞ The Old Folks' Concert, to-morrow night, will be the attraction of the season, to many. Father Kemp's troupe have given more concerts than almost any similar organization, and always "with the greatest applause." Respecting a late concert in Boston, the Journal says:

The old folks drew, as they always do, an audience as large as could be comfortably seated in the Temple; and their singing and grotesque costumes excited the people to alternate applause and laughter, which made the evening pass away gayly. Mr. Kemp, the leader, delivered a speech at recess, in which he took occasion to point out several of the costumes worn, as, for instance, a dress that had been worn by some noted lady (the name escaped our hearing) at her wedding, and had served the same purpose three times since; also a coat once owned by a Governor of Massachusetts, and a "cocked-hat" worn at the battle of Bunker Hill. After these remarks were concluded, the members of the choir arranged their bonnets and hats and promenaded around the aisles, amid shouts of laughter from the audience.

AN OLD OFFICER DEAD.—Died in Pelham on the 11th inst., GEN. SAMUEL M RICHARDSON, aged 82 years. Thus death has cut down at last the youngest of a trio of distinguished brothers—the late Chief Justice Richardson of this state—the Hon. Daniel Richardson, long a prominent citizen of Mass., and the subject of this article.

In the military service, he was a Major of the battalion of the drafted N. H. militia that served at Portsmouth in the war of 1812. In this capacity he acquitted himself, it is said, much to the admiration of the U. S. officers in command of that place. He afterwards rose to the command of General of Brigade in the State militia. Although known and honored abroad; yet those who knew him best, loved and honored him the most.

He died at the old Richardson homestead. He has lett no children.

☞ "On the Wing," a Polka Brilliante, by F. W. Smith,—received from Chas. C. Harvey's Book and Music Store.

☞ Mr. Collamer, of Vt., said in the Senate, Tuesday, that the only question whether the people of Kansas are allowed to decide by the Lecomptonites is, "whether they will have slaves or be slaves."

TO MINISTERS IN ROCKINGHAM CO.,

OF ALL DENOMINATIONS.

Gentlemen:—The alarming growth of drunkenness among the young men of our State, and the long neglect of the old defence,—the pledge—against it; move us to entreat you to call together the youth and children in your parochial care, for the purpose of restoring among them the use of that original and strong guard against youthful drinking.

These reasons for doing so, please to consider:

1.—Few children are tainted by the taste of alcoholic drinks; or have habits which lead to the use of those poisons.—They need but to be kept by moral and other means—as now they are,—the determined friends of temperance.

2.—The enormous spread of drunkenness is from the ruin of the young. Drunkards are commonly DRINKING YOUNG MEN GROWN UP. If not ruined young, they probably never would be. So they must be saved while young, or in most cases not at all.

3.—Children pledged against the use of these fatal drinks, will do much towards drawing and keeping parents from the use of them.

Other reasons may occur to you. Will you, Sirs, as Friends of Humanity,—on next Fast Day, or as soon as you can,—call together the children;—lay the Pledge with its uses and benefits, its solemnities and meaning, before them, and in some judicious mode, give to every child and young person in your Church a chance to set their name to it:—pledged against rum drinking. They in turn may carry the pledge to those older and more endangered.

Gentlemen: do you need any exhortation to arise for the succor and protection of the beloved children and youth of the State, who so rapidly are seeking homes in our cities and large towns, where they find such elaborate and dreadful seductions to the use of deadly drinks and the crimes they lead to? Do they not need principle, fixed by early practice, to keep them from being a prey to these fatal allurements?

Our appeal is from the well-known awful progress in this sin, and from the dismal future it sets before us, if not stopped,—and also from the great success in Scotland and begun in this country, of this effort for the young.

Will you join with others in lifting up your hand to gather in the beloved children—while they are children?

More than 500,000 Bottles
SOLD IN THE
NEW ENGLAND STATES
IN ONE YEAR.
THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the finiest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.
O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Huckins,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangemsnt, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.
Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.
PROF. O. J. WOOD & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.
Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

AUCTIONS.

By virtue of a License from the Hon. Judge of Probate.

Will be sold at PUBLIC AUCTION,
On SATURDAY, Mar. 27, 12 o'clk, M.,
ON THE PREMISES,
Seven-Twelfths, in common and undivided, of the well-known
Jacob Sheafe Farm,
Formerly owned by JACOB SHEAFE, ESQ., deceased.

The other portions can probably be obtained, if desired.

Said Farm lies on both sides of the new Sagamore Road, contains about 296 ACRES, well divided into Mowing Fields, Tillage and Pasture Land, and Salt Marsh, &c., together with a large and valuable growth of Wood and Timber.

It possesses advantages for obtaining large and inexhaustible supplies of SEA-DRESSING, probably unequalled by any other Farm in this vicinity.

The extensive OCEAN VIEW which it commands, with its fine sites on Sagamore Creek, and easy access to the City, make this a rare opportunity for a safe investment.

The quality of the Land, heavy growth of WOOD, and facilities for obtaining Sea-Dressing, offer inducements in this sale to the Farmer, seldom to be found.

"You're no wife; I believe," said Mr. Blank to his near neighbor. "No, sir," was the reply, "I never was married." "Ah," said Mr Blank, "you are a happy dog!" A short time after, Mr Blank, in addressing a married man said, "You have a wife, sir?" "Yes, sir—a wife and three children." "Indeed," said Mr Blank, "you are a happy man." "Why, Mr Blank," said one of the company, "your remarks to the unmarried and the married seem to conflict somewhat." "Not at all—not at all, sir. There is a difference in my statements." Please be more observing, sir. I said the man who had no wife was a "happy dog" and the man who had a wife was "a happy man." Nothing conflicting,—sir—nothing at all. I know what I say, sir!"

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these Pills are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"YOUR PILLS are the prince of purgys. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very powerful and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of diseases."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

"I feel only my duty when I inform you of the astonishing benefit to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more efficacious for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely regret that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry I. Ross, of St. Louis.

"The Pills you were kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. No peculiarity are they adapted to the diseases of the bowels, but in them, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and bad health with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have every essentially found them to be efficacious in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"YOUR PILLS have been a long tried in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best cathartics I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious diarrhœa and dysentery. Their unparalleled success makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of my family and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Mrs. E. Stuart, who practices as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I feel one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion which at times are so obstinately suppressed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. If others of our numerous have found them as valuable as I have, they should be unremitting in their efforts in the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although not much in itself, is the procreator of other and more serious ills. I have continued to originate in the liver, but your Pills affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Rudolph Bell, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice, and agree with your statements of their efficacy. They eradicate corruptions, and purify the blood, the impurities that stagnate in the blood, engendering disease. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system."

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—PILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS—FITS—&c.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your PILLS better than to say all that we ever said in purgatives. Wherever, I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your PILLS afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its injudious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every course of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of advanced consumptives in the early stages of the disease. As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has gradually become the best resource of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American pioneer to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it, if we can depend on the assurance of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, there is irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of disease it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could thus originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted in every direction, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

Maryland State Lotteries.

R. FRANCE & CO.....MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets. The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets at one dollar. In instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the slightest chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Kentucky College, under my management, is the only Lottery in the United States where it is fairly decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other schemes which pur port to be decided by the Maryland Drawings are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, it you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. FRANCE & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates, if he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have seven commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a rare opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. They offer no chance of deception, but call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of Georgia. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $20; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $20,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Picayune, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

Persons paid in full, no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

All communications strictly confidential. m13ly

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRANCE & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a competent check is held on them, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combinations. Prizes vary from $40 to a capital prize $100 000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,
No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connects and with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of a coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner, having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an instrument equal, if not superior, to any other manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in Music, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at our Warerooms.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following:

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston, who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent thus divided as part payment of the purchase money. This method is recommended, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain a fair test, and yet not injure the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

THE OLD PSALM TUNE.

MRS. H. B. STOWE.

You asked, dear friend, the other day,
Why still my charmed ear
Rejoiceth in uncultured tone
That old psalm tune to hear.

I've heard full oft in foreign lands
The grand orchestral strain,
Where music's ancient masters live,
Revealed on earth again;

Where breathing, solemn instruments,
In swaying clouds of sound,
Bore up the yearning, tranced soul,
Like silver wings around;

I've heard in old St. Peter's dome,
When clouds of incense rise,
Most ravishing the choral swell
Mount upward to the skies.

And well I feel the magic power,
When skilled and cultured art
Its cunning web of sweetness weaves
Around the captured heart.

But yet, dear friend, though rudely sung,
That old psalm tune hath still
A pulse of power beyond them all
My inmost soul to thrill.

Those tones that halting sound to you,
Are not the tones I hear;
But voices of the loved and lost
Then meet my longing ear.

I hear my angel mother's voice—
Those were the words she sung;
I hear my brother's ringing tones,
As once on earth they rung;

And friends that walk in white above,
Come round me like a cloud,
And far above those earthly notes
Their singing sounds aloud.

There may be discord, as you say;
Those voices poorly ring;
But there's no discord in the strain
Those upper spirits sing.

For they who sing are of the blest,
The calm and glorified,
Whose hours are one eternal rest
On heaven's sweet floating tide.

Their life is music, sweet accord;
Their souls and hearts keep time
In one sweet concert with the Lord—
One concert vast, sublime.

And through the hymns they sang on earth
Sometimes a sweetness falls,
On those they loved and left below,
And softly homeward calls:

Bells from our own dear fatherland,
Borne trembling o'er the sea—
The narrow sea that they have crossed,
The shores where we shall be.

Oh sing, sing on! beloved souls;
Sing cares and griefs to rest,
Sing, till entranced we arise
To join you 'mid the blest.

☞ The Boston Bee gives specimens of the prayers offered for Rev. Theodore Parker, at the prayer meetings in that city.—The prayers are said to be reported verbatim:

"O Lord, if this man (Parker) is a subject of grace, convert him and bring him into the kingdom of thy dear son; but if he is beyond the reach of the saving influence of the gospel, remove him out of the way and let his influence die with him!"

"O Lord, send confusion and distraction into his (Parker's) study this afternoon, and prevent his finishing his preparation for his labors to-morrow; or if he shall attempt to desecrate thy holy day by attempting to speak to the people, meet him there, O Lord, and confound him so that he shall not be able to speak!"

"Lord, we know that we cannot argue him (Parker) down; and the more we say against him, the more the people flock after him, the more they love and revere him. O Lord, what shall be done for Boston, if thou dost not take some of these matters in hand!"

CONVERTED.—Rev. H. C. Haven communicates to the Chronicle an account of a series of meetings lately held in Cannon City, Min., with very striking results. He says: "Dram-drinkers, card-players, and even rum-sellers have been made to tremble before that God with whom they have to do. On Thursday evening, one of the rum-sellers arose and expressed his determination to seek Christ, and invited the congregation to come to his liquor establishment and help him burn up his entire stock. We accordingly proceeded to the spot after meeting, and saw between two and three hundred dollars' worth of liquor turned into the fire, together with the cards; the fire was built expressly for that purpose. After the conflagration, I was elevated upon the head of one of the empty casks, being at the same time requested to deliver an address, with which I complied."

COMMON SENSE has its synonym in the word tact. Without it, any amount of talent only disfigures its possessor. Both tact and common sense are indefinable, and yet, however paradoxical it may seem, everybody knows what they are. Those who plod forever, without accomplishing anything valuable, may have talent, but they have no common sense. They do not discover how they may become effective, and consequently fritter away their lives in abortive enterprises.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unexcelled by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL. AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.

INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 24, 1858.

THE CONFLICT AND CRISIS.

Under this head, our old friend, Dr. Cheever—(who once wrote a Dream about Deacon Giles's Distillery, and was put into jail for his reward)—our old friend Dr. Cheever, we say, has recently written a stirring article in the Independent, on a Standing Army, a Falling Freedom, and a Silent Ministry. We copy his remarks on the latter topic:—

"We have reason to fear that under the conspiracy of the Church and the Ministry to maintain a sworn and absolute silence in regard to these monstrous crimes, in regard to any crime of government for the support of slavery, however monstrous, and to prevent the thunder of God's Word from breaking out; we fear that under the policy of churches to muzzle the ministry, and under the miserable submission of the ministry to have the pulpits and their lips thus muzzled, the conscience of the people really is too far debauched and broken to hope for any real resistance, any effectual opposition, against the iniquity of slavery in itself, or the tremendous sin of fastening a slave-constitution on the government and people of a new State.

"In proportion to the boldness and remorselessness with which the defenders of slavery advance, is the shrinking [cowardice with which many in the ministry retreat; and in proportion to the thoroughness with which slavery fills the whole field of politics, is the anxiety and determination of many ministers to keep religion out of it, or not to apply the Word of God to it. They are afraid of it, they are distressed by it, they denounce its reprobation from the pulpit as fanatical, agitating, radical, exciting, exasperating, disturbing, breaking the peace. Their maxim is, Purity if convenient, and Truth if not troublesome; but Peace at all hazards and at any rate. And so, in that time, and that place, country and crisis, of all history the most important, the most solemn, in that conflict of all others in the world demanding the Word of God and its ministers in the field, fearless and powerful in God, they have drawn back, have proved timid men and time-servers, have deserted their guns, and let them be spiked, and entered into a mutual compact not to bring the Word of God into pulpit action, but to leave it slumbering in the dead, wind-broken testimony of half a century ago. And they will meet in council to propose insisting on the claims of the Sabbath, and at the very same time time will denounce as a profanation of the Sabbath any presentation, on that day, of the claims of four millions of their fellow-creatures in bondage to the freedom given them by the Word of God.

"Just so, when our Savior was on earth, there were such sticklers for the Sabbath, and the highest orthodoxy, that they denounced even him, the Lord of the Sabbath, for the for the healing of the people on the Sabbath day! It was Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, that thus proclaimed their zeal for the Sabbath, by their inhumanity to man. Perhaps our modern Pharisees are no whit nearer to God, nor more acceptable to him, when they also strain at a gnat and swallow a camel;—proclaim the obligation to keep the Sabbath so holy, that all mention of the miseries of those who are in bonds, all prayer for them, all preaching on their behalf, all demonstration by God's Word of the wickedness of treating them as chattels and brute beasts, is itself a violation of that holiness, and a sin against God! While the church and the ministry thus continue basely to belie and betray the Word of God, and refuse its application to one of the greatest forms of iniquity that now lays waste the world, who can wonder at the gigantic uncontrolled sway of that iniquity, or at the swiftness and comprehensiveness of its advance, or that, opposing and exalting itself above all that is called God, or is worshipped, it should be enthroned as the dearest idol known of politicians and of Christians, sitting in the temple of God, and parading itself if not actually as God, at least as God's Missionary Institute and Vicegerent! Let the people look to it, and let the churches and the ministers awake!"

☞ The punishment of parricide, to which Orsini, Pierri and Rudio are condemned, consists in being led to the scaffold to be guillotined, with a black veil over the face, a white shirt covering the clothes, and the feet naked, being previously exposed on the scaffold to the view of the people while the officer reads the sentence of the court.

THE FINANCES OF VIRGINIA.—An impression seems prevalent, even with our own people, says the Portsmouth, Va. Transcript, that the financial condition of Virginia is a most hopeless one. This opinion has its origin, in part, in the reckless imprudence which our State legislators have displayed in appropriations to works of internal improvement of an unproductive and worthless character, and by the omission to complete such enterprises as would become profitable and yield revenues, before authorizing additional ones. But even under these disadvantages, the old Dominion is not in the wretched condition supposed. From a recent report on the present condition of the State's finances, we learn the gratifying fact that there is no other State in the confederacy where monied affairs are in a healthier condition, notwithstanding Virginia, for some years has been leading the van in the matter of deloping her resources by the construction of internal improvements, which, when finished, as very few of them are yet, will go far towards relieving her citizens from any taxation whatever.

SOUTH BERWICK, March 22.

The annual Town Meeting was held in this town to-day, and the following officers were elected:

Moderator, John N. Goodwin, Rep.
Town Clerk, W. A. Cromwell, Dem.
Selectmen, Paul Stone, Dem.; Isaac P. Yeaton, Rep.; Daniel W. Gordon, Dem.
Town Treasurer, Edward Hayman, Rep.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Judge Crawford of the Criminal Court admitted Col. Wolcott to bail last evening, on the recognizance of William Willlard, of Willard's Hotel. The bail is $2000, and it is thought that the bail will be paid unless legal proceedings are found to be effective. Mr. Wolcott left this morning for Boston.

The Republican Senate caucus agreed this morning to withdraw all amendments, but to vote for Crittenden's.

Senator Green is speaking, and reviewing the debate, especially Mr. Douglas's speech.

Mr. Fitch will make some remarks, and then voting will commence.

Mr. Douglas is in his seat, none the worse for his speech.

Mr. Sumner is at the Capitol.

In the House, after some unimportant action, Mr. Kellogg of Illinois spoke an hour in opposition to Lecompton.—Special Despatch to Boston Journal.

DEATH OF MR. WILLIAM TUKEY.—This venerable man died in Portland, on Friday morning, in the 93d year of his age. He was born in Portland, Dec. 2, 1765, and was the oldest native resident in that city. His health has been feeble for several years. He was the son of John Tukey, who had fourteen children—of which the deceased was the tenth. He was in service there in the Revolutionary war, and was intimate with Talleyrand when he made his visit to that city. Mr. T. was a mason by trade, and built the first brick house erected in Portland. He was a man of high moral worth and much respected.

☞ The Bath, Me., Organ informs us, that during the past season 220 families, consisting of 739 individuals, have received aid from the Overseers of the Poor outside the alms house. Of these families not over 50 are American. The total expenditures for the Poor, for the year ending March 1, was about $5,000.—The foreign paupers then cost $3,863,—the home born, 1136.—The pauper tax is mainly a rum tax.

☞ Dinsmore & Co. of New York have just issued No. 1 of the Tricks & Traps of New York, illustrated by Hoppin. This is a series of illustrated works upon the vices and follies of the day, perfectly unexceptionable in language and sentiment, and having a serious object in view; but written in an amusing vein in order to fix attention, and thereby incilitate instruction. The first number contains a good exposition of Peter Funk shops, Peter Funk's victims, patent-sale swindlers, pick-pockets—both sexes, garrotters and highwaymen, gamblers and gaming-houses.

There are to be 9 numbers. Each will be mailed, postpaid, on receipt of 10 cents. They will be live works. The first is interesting and valuable for any one going to New York, who wishes to avoid being cheated or injured.

BEHAVIOR.—A correspondent, in commenting, a few days since, on the ill manners of some of those who attend concerts and lectures here, said that Newburyport was altogether ahead of us in this respect. Per contra, the Herald, in a long, earnest and sensible article on this subject, says the audiences gathered in Newburyport "are habitually noisy and inattentive, manifesting the utmost indifference to the feelings of the speaker, or of those who really wish to listen."

HOW TO DO GOOD.—It is not by attacks on the false, but by the calm exposition of the true, that good is to be done.

CONGRESS.—On Saturday, both houses debated the Lecompton swindle. On Monday, in the Senate there was a protracted discussion of the Kansas question. Mr. Stuart of Michigan opened the debate, and Mr. Douglas closed it in behalf of the anti-administration party. He was followed by Mr. Green of Missouri, who advocated the Lecompton Constitution. The throng during the day was great; but in the evening it became so compacted, that from half-past seven o'clock to half-past eleven, the telegraphic messengers were unable to reach the reporters' desks. The Senate adjourned without taking the question on the Lecompton Bill.

HOUSE.—Mr. Stephens of Ga. offered a resolution to discharge Mr. Wolcott, and turn him over to the law for trial at the criminal court on the indictment which had been found against him.

Mr. Stanton moved to lay the resolution on the table. Disagreed to—yeas 59, nays 123.

Mr. Hughes of Indiana offered an amendment for Mr. Wolcott's unconditional discharge. Rejected—yeas 22, nays 161.

Mr. Stephens' resolution was adopted by yeas 125, nays 67.

[The House donkeyized itself by keeping Wolcott a single day after he had testified that he paid no money to members of the House, directly nor indirectly.—Their remaining questions were impertinent, and he did right not to answer them. The criminal court and its jury have behooled themselves also, in getting up an indictment against him—as the event will show.]

The Kansas question occupied the House during the remainder of the session.

The Select Committee in the case of Mr. Matteson, conclude their report with a resolution that it is inexpedient for the House to take any further action in regard to the resolutions proposing his expulsion. The report is signed by Seward, Grow, and Hayler.

THE CLOTH OF GOLD.

You ask us it by rule or no
Our many-colored songs are wrought;
If on the cunning loom of thought
We weave our fancies so and so?

The busy shuttle comes and goes
Across the rhymes, and deftly weav
A tissue out of autumn leaves,
With here a thistle, there a rose.

With art and patience thus is made
The poet's perfect Cloth of Gold:
When woven so, nor moth nor mould
Nor time, can make its colors fade.
[T. B. Aldrich, in the Home Journal.

A WINDFALL.—In Lowell, Thursday, a carpenter engaged in shingling a house was somewhat surprised by a gust of wind that lifted the house from its foundation, and carried it several feet, and then upset it—in a shattered condition. The same day the roof of a shop was taken off by the force of the wind.

LOCAL.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

The new City Government was inaugurated at the Court House, in this city, on Tuesday, March 23. At half past 10, the members elect came in, in civic procession, led by the Marshal.

Common Council.—Called to order by F. G. Beal, Clerk of last year.

Joseph G. Cate was chosen Chairman pro tem.: he declined, and Wm. H. Dennett was chosen.

On Mr. Hoyt's motion, voted to inform the Mayor and Aldermen that we are ready to meet them in Convention. The Mayor and Aldermen came in.

In Convention.—The oath of office was administered to Mayor Morrison, by ex-mayor Jenness.

The members of the Boards of Aldermen and Common Council, then presented their credentials, and were sworn in by the Mayor. Convention rose.

The Common Council balloted for President. Whole No. 22, nec. for choice, 12. Israel Kimball had 10. Alfred H. Hoyt had 12, and was elected.

Mr. Hoyt made a brief address, in which he alluded to the fact that the legislature kindly relieved the council of many of their former duties,—but hoped the two boards would cooperate, and so wisely administer the finances and perform other duties, as to secure the approbation not only of their consciences, but of their constituents.

In Convention, proceeded to ballot for City Clerk.

Whole No. 31; Nec. for Choice, 16; J. Walden had 1; John Bennett, 30.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Patterson.

The Mayor then delivered his inaugural Address, in which he briefly alluded, in a business-like way, to health, finances, schools, police, &c.

The Convention rose. Common Council adj. to Thursday evening.

MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the City Council:—At the commencement of another municipal year, we have assembled agreeably to the requirements of the City Charter, to organize our City Government, and to pledge ourselves to discharge our several duties with fidelity.

I should do injustice to my feelings on this occasion, not to thank my fellow citizens for the recent tokens of their confidence, in again calling me to assume the duties and responsibilities of so important an office in the city government. I can but regard it as an approval of my official conduct during the past year; and if it shall please a kind Providence to carry us thro' our municipal duties the ensuing year, with as much harmony and with as happy results as the last, it will form an epoch in my life to which I shall ever refer with pleasure.

The welfare of the city being confided to our trust, we have laid ourselves under obligations to guard its interests and to promote its prosperity; and whatever relates to its common interests will be fit subjects for your deliberation.

While the past year has been one of financial embarrassments, it gives me pleasure to refer to it as a period of general health in our city.

I would invite your early attention to the state of our finances; the condition and wants of our public schools; the importance of the fire department, the safety of your streets, roads and bridges; the wants of the poor; the duty of having a discreet, as well as efficient police; and to whatever may promote or endanger the health or morals of the community.

As reports have been made by the chief officers of each of these departments, and are being printed, and will soon be distributed to every family, a detailed account of any of them, at this time, is deemed unnecessary.

THE POOR

The increased calls for assistance from the suffering poor, occasioned by the general financial embarrassments, have drawn heavily upon the city funds. The suspension of labor in the Steam Factory which gave employment to a large number of operatives, and the depression in every branch of industry, have thrown upon the charities of the public and the city, a population who would, otherwise, never have needed assistance. This has greatly increased the number of inmates in the Almshouse, and occasioned heavy expenditures for fuel and provisions among numerous destitute families in the city.

While the expenses of the Overseers of the Poor have been thus greatly increased, the receipts from the income of the City Farm have been considerably reduced, on account of the low price of hay, the staple product of the farm.

The Alms-house has been kept neat and in good order, its inmates well provided for, and the crops of the farm have been good. For a more particular account of the department of the Overseers of the Poor, including the Alms-house and Town Farm, I would refer you to the Overseers' and the Superintendent's Reports.

FINANCE.

Although the financial troubles which have pervaded the country have not affected the mercantile portion of this city so disastrously as in most other places, yet they have fallen heavily on every branch of business and have been seriously felt by the laboring population. This has operated unfavorably on the city finances, not only by increasing the expenses, but in greatly retarding the collection of taxes.

No trust committed to you will require a stricter scrutiny than the appropriation and disbursement of the city finances. I would beg leave now to repeat what I recommended a year ago, that while every expenditure should be made with regard to strict economy, the appropriations should be amply sufficient for the purposes to which they are to be applied. Every expenditure should, if possible, be limited to its specific appropriation.

The sum of $4750 has been paid of the city debt, which became due the last year. And to meet all claims against the city due on the 1st of April next, a loan of $8000 was authorized; and $5500 of this sum was obtained at 5 1-2 and the Firemen's Fund of $500 at 6 per cent. interest, which, with the overdraft of $2000 at the Bank of New Hampshire, completes the loan. The balance of the city debt, March, 1858, was $69,183.48; and the balance in March, 1857, $65,280.42;—showing an increase of the city debt of $3903.06.

When it is considered that $3010.71 was expended for which no appropriation had been made; and that in the department of the Overseers of the Poor alone, the sum of $2210.62 was unavoidably expended beyond the appropriation, it is believed that the condition of the city finances is as favorable as could be expected.

ROADS.

The public roads have been much improved, new culverts have been constructed, and considerable repairs have been made on Lang's, Sagamore, Liberty and North Mill Bridges, which are now in safe condition. In addition to the usual repairs on the streets, a part of Pleasant street has been paved; and more than double the sum appropriated for that purpose has been expended in grading and constructing or relaying sidewalks.

As these are of such public utility, and as the owner of the premises abutting the side-walk incurs half the expense, the attainment of such desirable improvements seemed justifiable.

SCHOOL HOUSES.

By the statutes of this State, the Public Schools are placed under the supervision and control of School Committees, chosen by the citizens of their respective districts, who appoint the teachers, and control their prudential affairs. But it belongs to the City Council to furnish suitable buildings for their accommodation and the means for their support.

The building for the two High Schools is elegant in proportions and architectural taste, and has been kept in excellent condition.

The Franklin, Bartlett and Haven school houses have undergone thorough repairs. But the accommodation for the Grammar Schools in district No. 2, is not so fortunate. Neither rooms are what they should be, and one is kept in the basement of the Court House, which is low, and must, from its position, be damp. A plan was made the past year, by order of the Finance Committee, for a building that would accommodate both Grammar Schools of this district, which will be submitted to you for your consideration.

SCHOOLS.

Our Public Schools, the just pride of our city, never appeared in so prosperous condition. The neatness, order, and modest deportment of the scholars, as well as their intellectual attainments reflect great credit on the teacher and pupils. Ample provisions should be made for their support.

A Philosophical Apparatus has been purchased and placed in the High School for Boys, the good effects of which are already visible among its members.

It is earnestly recommended that a small sum be appropriated annually until the studies taught in the High and Grammar Schools, can be illustrated and made more interesting to the pupils; for upon that point depends very much the success of the teacher.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

I have the satisfaction to believe that the Fire Department of this city was never in better condition than at the present time. It has an able Board of Engineers and a body of reliable and efficient firemen who take a deep interest in its affairs, and whose good discipline is deserving high praise.

No fire has occurred the past year that has not been confined to the building in which it originated. The sums expended for this department considerably exceed what was appropriated. A new engine, 500 feet of hose, and a carriage for the same, have been purchased; and the six engine houses have been put in complete repair.

To give greater security to that part of the city, it is recommended that a reservoir be constructed on or near Haymarket Sq.

CORNET BAND.

By the liberality of the friends of the measure, a Fair was held last year, and contributions were made to aid in the purchase of a set of instruments for the use of the Portsmouth Cornet Band; and to secure them permanently for its use, it was proposed that while others contributed about $800, the City should pay $200, and come into possession of the instruments.

As this request was accompanied by a petition of many among the heaviest taxpayers, it was granted; and the instruments were accordingly transferred to the city, "to be held in trust forever, for the use of a Band in Portsmouth."

POLICE.

In the selection of your Police, firmness and resolution are indispensable requisites; yet address is a qualification not to be overlooked. It often performs greater achievements than mere force; and in a quieter way.

The City Marshal has managed the affairs of the Police Department in a discreet manner. When causes of excitement have existed and popular impulses have put on a threatening aspect, they have been calmed by timely and judicious measures.

Instances of disorder have occurred, and will occur again; yet it is believed that few, if any cities of like population can be found, so free from disorder and tumult.

Laws were instituted for our common protection; and while they remain on the statute book, must be respected. But their rigid enforcement when not sustained by the co-operating influences of public sentiment, cannot be otherwise than prejudicial to the cause for which they were enacted.

Force may overpower, but it does not convince. All the fires of Smithfield never made a convert to the cause for which they were lighted. The great Jewish Lawgiver was true to human nature, when he described our first parents eager to partake of that which had been the most strictly forbidden; and against which, the heaviest penalty was pronounced.

A healthy public opinion is the best security against the infraction of our municipal laws; all measures, therefore, that tend to so desirable an object, should be encouraged.

In conclusion, gentlemen, permit me to hope that harmony will preside in our councils; that a single aim to the good of the city will prevail over private or party considerations; and that the same watchful Providence who has protected us the year past, will continue to bless our city.

☞ The only way for people to learn how to sing, is to go where singing is taught. A new Term of Mr. Pearson's long-established Afternoon Singing School commences to-day at half-past 2 o'clock. We are glad to learn that a little more effort seems of late to be directed to the instruction of the youth of our city generally in singing; but if the proper degree of interest desirable, was evinced in this matter, all the channels which run in this direction would be crowded.

☞ The Concert to-night is attractive in various ways. Some of the choicest of old continental harmony, will doubtless be brought out in the best style—and to hear Auld Lang Syne sung by such a choir, is for us a rich programme in itself. Many of the performers are really fine musicians and will, we presume, present other music besides the old tunes. This troupe it is generally admitted, have never been equalled by any similar choir: and their long-continued success is sufficient proof of the merit of their performances. Their outre costumes, &c., we dislike; but very few object to it—while most see in it much to excite mirth. However, we expect more enjoyment at this concert than we have derived from any entertainment since the Old Folks Choir here hung their harps on the willows; and we have no doubt that a house-full of others will gather with the same expectation.

More than 500,000 Bottles

SOLD IN THE NEW ENGLAND STATES IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being last dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

Morning Chronicle.

"Must I then Abandon All!"—When the famous actress, Madame Rachel, was lying on her sick bed, it is said that she beguiled many weary hours in looking upon her fine clothes and jewels; and when death drew near, she cast upon them a last, longing look, heaved a deep sigh and exclaimed:—"Must I then abandon all?" Poor, wretched, gifted woman! She had melted the hearts of thousands in the theatre; she had accumulated much wealth; but, alas! her treasures were all in this world. She had paid no attention to Jesus, who says, "Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven."

Cleanliness.—A late writer says:—

Many a city wants apostles of water; missionaries armed with towels instead of tracts, soap instead of sermons, and water instead of words, wherewith to get at the kernels of children within. They will be surprised to find how much intelligence and beauty a little earth can hide; they will be astonished to learn how much of the raw material of a most excellent humanity, Society and the State are losing; they will prove discoverers of no barren land, but of a whole town within a town—a town of ever so many souls, positively buried in the rubbish, like the people of old Pompeii.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these Pills are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

As a Family Physic.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"Your Pills are the prince of purgatives. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

For Jaundice and all Liver Complaints.

From Dr. Theodore Dell, of New York City.

"Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely congratulate you here at New Orleans upon a medicine which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

Dyspepsia — Indigestion.

From Dr. Henry S. Knox, of St. Louis.

"The Pills you were kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the diseases of the human system, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally found them to be effectual in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

Dysentery — Diarrhœa — Relax.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found, while their effects upon the liver and bowels are an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

Internal Obstruction—Worms—Suppression.

From Wm. B. Stuart, who practises as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent promoters of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual in clearing the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

Constipation — Costiveness.

From Dr. J. P. Temple, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your Pills for the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the many who suffer from that complaint, which, although had enough itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe costiveness originates in the liver, but your Pills affect that organ and cure the disease."

Impurities of the Blood — Scrofula — Erysipelas — Salt Rheum — Tetter — Tumors — Rheumatism — Gout — Neuralgia.

From Dr. Ezekiel Bell, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your Pills purify the blood. They do that, and do it thoroughly. I have tested them in my practice, and agree with your statements of their efficacy. They stimulate the excretories, and carry off the impurities that accumulate in the blood from neglect. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

For Headache—Sick Headache—Foul Stomach—Piles—Dropsy—Plethora—Paralysis—Fits—&c.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

"Dear Dr. Ayer: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your Pills better than by saying that I never treat with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an efficient cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believe that I do my patients more than any other agent we have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every ounce of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has proved itself to be the best reliance of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American pioneer to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, Cherry Pectoral is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the assurance of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then it irrefutably proves that this medicine does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefits conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been foisted upon the confiding public, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

Maryland State Lotteries.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $30,000 are the high schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are fraudulent, if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets.—In every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the County Courts, under our management, is the lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which pretport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything is done with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $5; halves, $2.50; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize is drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. France & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything is done with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another feature which recommends the Maryland Lotteries is that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state, and drawing held every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100 000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C. Address J. H. HUBBARD & CO.,

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.

No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c., to be arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedals, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument, when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of Melodeons for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon Instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced workmen and skilful women. In short, we will promise our customers an Instrument which shall not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee entire satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine and test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the superiority of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following who have examined our Instruments, and will bear testimony to the excellence of our Melodeons:

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special attention to those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing. To obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

THE NEWSPAPER.

The old farm-house wore a quiet, pleasant look, as the setting sun gilded its small windows over which the luxuriant grape vines were carefully trained. In the open door sat the farmer, with a little morocco-covered book in his hand, on which his attention had been fixed for the last hour. He was a man of method and order—old Richard Heath—and aside from his regular account books, which he always keep with scrupulous care, he always set down in this little book, in the simplest manner possible, all his expenses (no very complicated account by the way;) and all he had received during the year, in the metal, as he said, not by the way of trade.

The last account he had just reckoned up, and the result was highly satisfactory if one might judge from the pleasant expression of his face as he turned to his wife and addressed her by her pretty old fashioned name.

"Millicent," said he, "this has been a lucky year. How little we thought when we moved to this place, twenty-five years ago, that we should ever get five hundred a year out of the rocky, barren farm."

"It does pay for a good deal of hard work," said she, "to see how different things look from what they did then."

"Now I am going to figure up how much we have spent," said Mr. Heath, "don't make a noise with your knitting needles, cause it puts me out."

The wife laid down her knitting in perfect good humor; and gazed over the broad rich fields of waving grain which grew so tall around the laden apple trees, that they looked like massive piles of foliage. Hearing her own name kindly spoken, led her own thoughts far back to the past; for after the lapse of twenty-five years, the simple sound of the name she bore in youth means more to a wife than all the pleasing epithets of dearest love, and darling, so lavishly offered in a long past courtship.

Very pleasant was the retrospect to Millicent Heath. The picture of the past had on it some rough places and some hard trials, but no domestic strife or discontent marred its sunny aspect. There were smiling faces on it—happy children's faces, without which no life-picture is beautiful. Soft blue eyes shone with unclouded gladness, and wavy hair floated carelessly over unwritten foreheads. She forgot for a moment how they were changed, and almost fancied herself again the young mother, and tiny hands stole lovingly over her bosom, and young heads nestled there as of old.

The illusion vanished quickly, and she sighed as she thought of her youngest born, the reckless boy who had left her three years before for a home on the sea. Once only had tidings reached her of the wanderer. The letter spoke of hardships and home-sickness, in that light and careless way that reached the mother's heart more surely than repining and complaint. To know that he suffered with a strong heart, with noble and unyielding resolution, gave her a feeling of pleasure, not unmingled with pride.

"He surely will come back," murmured the affectionate mother to herself; "and I read the paper so carefully every week, that if it says anything about the ship Alfred sailed in, I shall be sure to see it."

"Mrs. Heath," said her husband, interrupting her meditations somewhat rudely, "we have spent thirty dollars more than usual this year; where can it have gone too?"

"The new harness," suggested Mrs. Heath, "that don't come every year, you know."

"Well, there's twenty dollars accounted for."

"We had the carriage fixed up when you bought the harness," continued the wife.

"Well, that was eight dollars, that's twenty-eight we don't spend every year—but the other two, where can they have gone?"

Glancing his eye over the pages of the memorandum book, he continued—

"I'll tell you what 'tis, the newspaper costs just two dollars, and we can do without it. It isn't anything to eat, drink or wear. I don't do anything with it, and you only lay it away up chamber. It may as well be left out as not, and I'll stop my subscription right away."

"Oh;" said his wife, "you don't know how much I set by the newspaper. I always have a sort of glad feeling when I see you take it out of your hat and lay it on the kitchen mantlepiece, just as I do when some of the children come home; and when I am tired I sit down with my knitting work and read. I can knit just as well when I am reading, and feel so contented. I don't believe Queen Victoria herself takes more solid comfort than I do sitting by the east window, on a summer afternoon, reading my newspaper."

"But you are just as well off without," answered her husband, for want of anything else to say.

"I never neglect anything else for reading, do I?" asked Mrs. Heath, mildly.

"No, I don't know as you do," answered her husband; "but it seems an extra like—I shall stop it;" he added in a tone that showed plainly enough he wished to stop the conversation.

"I shall take the paper," remarked his wife, "if I have to go out washing to pay for it."

This was not spoken angrily, but so firmly that Mr. Heath noticed it, though by no means remarkable for discernment in most matters. It sounded so different from her usual quiet "as you think best," that he actually stopped a moment to consider whether it was at all likely she would do as she said.

Mr. Heath, was a kind husband, as that indefinite description is generally understood; that is he did not beat his wife, and always gave her enough to eat. More than that he had a certain regard for her happiness, which already made him feel half ashamed of his decision, but like many other men who have more obstinacy than wisdom he couldn't bear to retract anything, and above all to be convinced he was wrong by a woman.

However with a commendable wish to remove the unhappiness, he caused, he suggested that as the papers were carefully saved, and she had found them interesting, she could read them over again, beginning at January, and taking one a week through the year—they would just come out even, he concluded, as if it were a singular fact that they should do so.

Notwithstanding this admirable proposition he still felt some uneasiness. It followed him as he walked up the pleasant lane to the pasture, and it made him speak more sharply than was his wont, if the cows stopped while he was driving them home, to crop the grass where it looked greener and sweeter on the sunny slope.—It troubled him till he heard his wife call him to supper, in such a cheerful tone, that he concluded she didn't care much about the newspaper, after all.

About a week after this, as Mr. Heath was mowing one morning he was surprised to see his wife coming out, dressed as if for a visit.

"I am going," said she, "to spend the day with Mrs. Brown—I leave a plenty for you to eat," and so saying she walked rapidly on.

Mr. Heath thought about it just long enough to say to himself, "she don't go visitin' to stay all day, once a year hardly, and its strange she should go in hay time."

Very long the day seemed to him; to go in for luncheon, dinner and supper, and have nobody to speak to; to find every one so still. The old clock ticked stiller than usual he thought, the brood of pretty white chickens, that were almost always peeping round the door, had wandered off somewhere, and left it stiller yet; he even missed the busy click of the knitting needles, that was apt to put him out so, when he was doing any figuring.

"I am glad, he said to himself, as he looked down the road at sunset, "that Millicent don't go a visitin' all the time, as some women do—there she is just coming."

"How tired you look," said he, as she came up; "why did't you speak about it, and I'd have harnessed up and come after you?"

"I am not very tired," she answered, but her looks belied her; indeed her husband declared she looked tired like for a day or two after.

What was his amazement to see her go away the next Tuesday in the same manner as before she started.

To his great dissatisfaction everything seemed that day to partake of his wife's propensity for going from home. A man don't want cold feed in hay-time, said he, as he sat down to dinner. In the same grumbling mood, he recounted the mishaps of the morning, which seemed to have been much after the manner set forth in a certain legend of olden time; for he embellished his recital by allusion to

"The sheep's in the meadow,
The cows are in the corn," adding that they wouldn't have been there if Mrs. Heath had been at home, because she'd seen them before they got in, and hallooed. She would have seen the oxen, too, before they got across the river, and saved him the trouble of getting them back. But after tracing all these untoward events to her absence, he said to himself consolingly, I guess she won't go any more, she always was a home body.

Concluded to-morrow.

A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, MARCH 25, 1858.

ONLY TWO PARTIES IN THE COUNTRY.—The last Worcester Bay State has a very explicit editorial, of which the substance may be gathered from this extract:

It is impossible that, with reference to the great sectional question now paramount in the country, there can be more than two political parties in the Union, organized for obtaining control of the federal government.

The Boston Journal remarks:

The editor, therefore, very logically reasons that "the man who separates from one party on that issue necessarily falls into the other." If the administration organs take this view of the matter at the present time, we do not know why the opposition organs should exert themselves to dispute it. It is refreshing also to see the same organs admitting that the Democratic party is organized simply for "obtaining the control of the federal government." We have often thought so.

FRAUD IN COTTON.—The Providence Journal states that the Southern planters are in the habit of sprinkling cotton with sand, which not only increases the weight, but injures the machinery and deteriorates the fabric. A prominent Rhode Island manufacturer states that a lot of handsome cotton of high grade, which he lately opened, deposited nine pounds of sand, per bale, under the picker. Besides this there was, of course, sand that the picker could not take out, and which went, more or less through the whole process of manufacture, grating upon the delicate machinery and roughening the threads of the fabric. What makes the matter worse, is the fact that it is very difficult to recover damages, for such frauds, on account of the prejudices against manufacturers at the South.

☞ The dwelling house of J. P. Elkins, Esq., of North Hampton, N. H., was entirely destroyed by fire on Monday, the 22d inst. The fire was discovered about half past 1 P. M., on the roof; and the wind blowing a gale, it was soon in flames. The building was nearly new, and Mr. Elkins had not been in it quite a year. Part of the furniture was saved; but about 150 lbs. of butter, 100 lbs. of pork, and some potatoes in the cellar were destroyed. Loss about $1000; building insured for $500, furniture for $100, in the Farmers' Mutual, Exeter.

MASSACHUSETTS.—On Monday, in the State Senate, the report, granting leave to withdraw, on the petition of the Mayor of Boston, for a modification of the liquor law, led to some discussion. Mr. Bonney of Middlesex said that the Mayor and Aldermen of Boston did not wish to see the law enforced, and he thought it a singular coincidence that on every jury to try a liquor case, there should happen to be at least one liquor dealer. The report was accepted. Mr. Ellis of Plymouth proposed a substitute, viz., a bill to repeal the act known as the Maine Liquor Law. Four votes were given in favor of his proposition.

☞ Hall, the Alton Penitentiary convict, died on Saturday morning. For sixteen hours previous to his death he was paralyzed and insensible. From the time he was shot till he died, paralysis made slow but certain work upon him. His two confederates, the convicts who have been missing since the calling of the roll last Friday morning, were found on Wednesday. They had dug a hole some six feet deep in the loose earth underneath the dining-room floor, and had so closed the entrance as almost to defy detection. When found they had a supply of provisions with them, though almost perishing for want of water. They were absent six days, and it is supposed they never left their hiding-place.

☞ The Bath Organ says. We learn that Rev. Dr. Sheldon of the Unitarian Church, and Rev. Mr. Dike of the New Jerusalem, are actively engaged in promoting the interests and usefulness of the daily meetings in Central Church. Who knows but our general exchange may yet be brought about? Surely the "signs of the times" are hopeful, and great good will be the result.

BILLY BOWLEGS YIELDS TO MANIFEST DESTINY.—The Savannah News states that a gentleman just from Florida reports that Billy Bowlegs had been into camp at Fort Meade, and agreed to leave with his entire tribe, "lock, stock and barrel," for the West, on the terms proposed by the government. He left Fort Meade for the purpose of collecting his people and making arrangements for a speedy departure.

He who thinks his place below him, will certainly be below his place.

A SUNDAY ROW.

Our "adopted Irish fellow-citizens" at Manchester, got up one of those riots for which they are so distinguished, at Manchester, on Sunday afternoon. They are doubtless the same set of men who made the election riots there on the 9th, and beat their own brethren there on the following day. The American says:—

Some one hundred Irishmen collected in an alley between Park and Central streets just before sunset, and raised a drunken row. Mr. Harlow attempted an arrest of one of the leaders, but was beaten off, and the fellow escaped. The police arrived soon after, and on arresting one Robert McNally, there was a general rush of the Milesians from every direction. In passing up Chestnut and down Hanover street to the lobby the noise was hideous, and could be heard in every part of the city. When the crowd reached the City Hall it numbered not less than a thousand men, women, and children. At one time, stones, clubs and bricks flew briskly, and not less than six persons got severe blows. We hope the next Legislature will give our police additional power for exercising authority and protecting themselves when making arrests.

The Mirror gives an account which shows the origin of the trouble was drink, and the first attack on an orderly man, quite unprovoked.—It says:

On Sunday, P. M., about 5 o'clock, Wm. C. Chase, foreman of J. B. Chase's tannery, was coming up the lower end of Elm st., and near Park st., when he was assailed with Irish brickbats, and one of his hands badly hurt. There seemed to be a crowd there in bad temper, and a fighting mode. * * * * * *

Sometime afterward, an American was standing talking up by the corner of Chestnut and park st., and an Irishman hit him in the face. Officers Patten and Foss were close by and arrested him. After they had led him on a short distance, an immense crowd started after, increasing in numbers till they reached Hanover st., which they filled full, and followed after till he was put in the lobby. They evidently intended to rescue him, but saw no favorable opportunity. A brickbat flew and took the City Marshal's son Henry on the top of his head, and cut a gash an inch and a half long, which Dr. Buck had to sew up. Stones flew and several persons were hit, but not seriously hurt. As the infuriated crowd came down Hanover st. it looked as if Bedlam had broke loose on Sunday, and discharged its contents then and there.

Such scenes of violence should be nipped in the bud. The city authorities will have no excuse for a repetition of it, as all property holders know of no security but good order, and an entire freedom from riotous proceedings.

Only a few evenings since an old gentleman was surrounded in this same locality and thrown down, for no cause.

The American informs us that McNally, the criminal above mentioned, for an assault on Wm. C. Chase on Saturday evening, was fined $10 and costs, $5.08, and put under bonds of $100 to keep the peace till next Sept.

SUICIDE OF A N. H. GIRL IN BOSTON.—Miss Clara Clifford, a young woman, 23 years of age, from Goffstown, took arsenic Wednesday afternoon, and died Thursday morning. Immediately after she had taken the poison, the fact became known, and medical aid was rendered, but either that or poison previously taken ended her existence. Her betrothed died some weeks ago, since which time she has been partially, it is thought, insane. Her remains have been sent to her former home in Goffstown. The Journal says the testimony before the coroner's inquest developed the fact that the deceased had borne three different names during a brief residence in that city, and had been living rather an irregular life—that she had deceived her friends as to her position in Boston—had seen much trouble, and had no desire to live longer.

☞ Orville (late "Awful") Gardner was present at the John street Methodist Church, New York, Friday. He is a powerful man, nearly six feet high, and well built. He has a strong voice, which was distinctly heard in every part of the house. He said he was not ashamed to declare that his past life had not been what it should have been. He had tried all the amusements and pleasures of the world, but never found any real satisfaction in them, and had enjoyed himself more in one hour since his conversion than in all his former life. He wished it understood that he was on the Lord's side. The audience, he said, knew how faithfully he had served Satan heretofore, and he was determined to serve the Lord as faithfully in the future, as he had the devil in the past.

☞ In the Maine Legislature, on Tuesday, the House passed the liquor bill to be engrossed, by a vote of 101 yeas to 26 nays. The bill was then sent to the Senate, which body at once concurred in the House amendments, and as amended passed it to be engrossed. It now goes to the people.

CONGRESS.—The question of the admission of the State of Kansas, under the Lecompton Constitution, was further debated in the Senate on Tuesday. The bill originally reported on behalf of the Committee of Territories by Mr. Greene, of Missouri, was amended in several particulars,—the most important of which was the insertion of a provision "that nothing in this Act shall be construed to abridge or infringe the right of the people assembled in Convention of Kansas, at all times to alter, reform or abolish their form of government in such as they may deem proper,—Congress thereby disclaiming any authority to intervene or declare the construction of the Constitution of any State, except to see that it is republican in form and not in conflict with the United States Constitution." This amendment was incorporated by a vote of 31 to 23.

Mr. Pugh withdrew his amendment of March 2d, and substituted another—"That the Federal laws, if not inapplicable, be extended into the State of Kansas—a judicial district be formed, and a Judge, Attorney and Marshal be appointed and paid as in Iowa."

Carried—yeas 37, nays 19.

Mr. Crittenden moved a substitute for the bill, in substance—That the Constitution be submitted to the people, and, if approved, the President to admit Kansas by proclamation. If rejected, the people to call a Convention and frame a Constitution. The substitute makes special provisions against frauds.

Mr. Kennedy of Md., as a conservative middle man, would vote for this amendment, Mr. Crittenden reserving the right afterwards of voting for Lecompton.

Mr. Houston of Texas, voted for Lecompton in obedience to the resolutions of his State.

Mr. Pugh of Ohio, reluctantly voted against Lecompton for the same reason.

Mr. Iverson of Ga. defined his position.

The question upon Mr. Crittenden's substitute was then put and lost—yeas 24, nays 34.

The bill as amended, to admit Kansas with the Lecompton Constitution, was then put, and passed, by yeas 33, nays 25.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Broderick, Chandler, Clark, Collamer, Crittenden, Dixon, Doolittle, Douglas, Durkee, Fessenden, Foot, Foster, Hale, Harlan, King, Pugh, Seward, Simmons, Stuart, Sumner, Trumbull, Wade, and Wilson.

ABSENTEES—Bates, Davis, and Reid.

PAIRED OFF—Mr. Cameron.

Applause and hisses. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—The House went into Committee on the Deficiency Appropriation Bill, but the debate was on Kansas.

FROM WASHINGTON, March 23.—[Times Correspondence.]—At the Democratic Senatorial Caucus this morning, it was agreed that after Kansas, was disposed of, the Pacific railroad bill should be taken up immediately and discussed, so as to prevent the consideration of the admission of Minnesota until after the House acts on the Kansas bill. The Lecomptonites claim an improvement in their stock to-day. They base their hopes on the supposition that the South Americans will sustain the bill in the shape in which it has passed the Senate. The first question in the House will probably be on the motion to refer the Senate bill to the select committe with special instructions to investigate the facts, and adding one South American and one anti-Lecompton Democrat.

☞ The citizens of Timmonville, N. C., recently formed a vigilance committee to suppress a notorious resort for drinking and other vice, at Windham settlement.—They went out armed on the 4th, to the number of 75, when the Windhamites fired upon them and the fire was returned. Caleb Freeman and Abraham Windham, of the settlement, were instantly killed, two others badly wounded, and one of the vigilance committee was mortally wounded.

☞ A letter from the University of Virginia, dated 18th inst., says that a very serious and fatal epidemic, somewhat similar to typhoid fever, has been prevailing fearfully at that institution for some weeks past. Quite a number of the students have already died and many are still sick. Of the 624 students in the University at the commencement, there were only 300 left, the remainder being sick or deceased or departed for their homes. The number of deaths is not mentioned.

☞ At Newburyport, the Herald understands that a baptism of converts connected with the Christian Church will take place in two weeks from next Sunday, when it is expected that one hundred persons will be immersed by Elder Pike. That is what was never done by one man in one day, in these parts, if it has been in New England, and many will be there as witnesses.

☞ The Manchester American learns that the government advertising and publishing the laws has been taken away from the N. H. Patriot. It will probably be given to the Union Democrat, or to the Democratic Standard (Burke's organ) at Concord. The Patriot of the 24th does not mention it.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE. — Harrisburg, March 23.—The Lecompton resolutions passed the Senate to-day by a vote of 18 to 11. Only one Democrat voted in the negative.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

FORTUNE FAVORS THE BRAVE.—Man's life hangs upon the most brittle thread—so it is with fortune. A dime luckily invested, has often been the basis of an ample fortune, whilst years of toil and privation have been repaid with a meagre subsistence. How uncertain are all things earthly—a beggar to day, a prince to morrow. We have just learned some good news; A friend of our youth—a poor, God forsaken printer—has drawn a prize of $16,000 in SWAN & Co's Lottery, Augusta, Georgia. Bob, you're a lucky dog!—[Middlesport (Ill.) Press.

How all important is it then that the fountain head of life should be kept pure in order that we may enjoy health and comfort, "Myers' Extract Rock Rose" is not only a certain cure for all diseases arising from impure blood, but if taken in time prevents their appearance. It changes the vicid humors, imparts life and vigor to the digestive organs, and nourishes the body, keeping it in a pure and healthy condition.

MEETINGS THIS EVENING, &c.

Union Prayer Meeting in the Methodist Church, from 8 to 9 o'clock this morning, to which all are invited.

Union Prayer Meeting at Advent Chapel, this afternoon at half-past 5 o'clock.

Prayer and Conference meeting at the Vestry in the Temple, this evening at half past 7 o'clock.

The Class meetings of the Methodist Church will assemble at half past 7 o'clock this evening.

For the Chronicle.

MORNING UNION PRAYER MEETINGS.—It is presumed that Christian hearts rejoice in these efforts for good. But a few things must be observed, or they will fail of that good they might and should accomplish.

1. Those taking a part, vocally, must be short. Sixty minutes are all that the gathered hundreds have to occupy at a session. The spiritually minded want not more than a minute, at most, to talk or pray—then but a small part of the audience only can have a part. Those who want more time than this had better visit their closets oftener and stay in them longer, that they may be fitted to work in these gatherings.

2. It being God's work, none should have the vanity to think that it will not go forward if they do not take an active part.

So far, the same persons have occupied the time in nearly all the meetings. Two or three times a week, considering the many to talk or pray, or both, are as many times as brethren and sisters can improve. Let brethren in the ministry set the example—others will follow it, and much more good will be the result. ADELPHOS.

☞ The alarm of fire on Wednesday afternoon, was caused by the slight burning of the roof of the house occupied by Mr. Ephraim Jackson, corner of Hanover and Sudbury streets. It is supposed to have caught from a spark from an engine.

SUICIDE IN ANTRIM.—On Saturday, Mr. Benjamin F. Boutwell, of Antrim, committed suicide under unusual circumstances. Mr. B. was about 29 years of age, active and energetic, and bore an unexceptionable reputation. He was married four months since, and was preparing to move upon a farm he had recently purchased.—In the forenoon he started on business for Hillsboro' Bridge; and having driven two miles fastened his horse by the roadside, walked a mile to a thick wood, where late in the afternoon he was found suspended by the halter which he had taken from his wagon.—Manchester American.

FIRE IN ANTRIM.—On Thursday the tannery and sawmill of Mr. Thomas Poor of South Antrim was burned. The loss is reported to be $5000; partially insured.

PAUGEEN KILLED.—Patrick McLaughlin, alias Paugeen, who spat in Bill Poole's face when the latter was killed, was shot on Saturday morning in a dance house in Howard street, New York, by the keeper, Daniel Cunningham, and mortally wounded. Paugeen was in the act of assaulting Cunningham when he was shot.

☞ Frank Leslie's New Family Magazine, for April, contains an interesting Trip to Australia, some valuable contributions to Natural History, and much interesting literature besides, with many pictorial illustrations.

☞ A new house in Manchester was burnt on Tuesday morning, by incendiary hands. Loss $2000, insured $1400.

☞ Senator Hammond, of South Carolina, who donkeyized himself by calling all Northern laborers slaves, is said to be the son of a Yankee who emigrated to Southern Carolina, and carried on the trade of a butcher.

☞ A Capt. Travis having advertised extensively that he would, on a certain day, shoot, on a wager, an orange from the head of a boy, at Louisville, the Mayor of that city has forbidden the experiment, and ordered the police to arrest the parties.

A VALUABLE REMEDIAL DISCOVERY.—So many of our friends have derived benefit from the Oxygenated Bitters, in cases of Dyspepsia and Indigestion, that we cannot too strongly recommend it. It seldom fails to cure. Z.

☞ It is calculated that 30,000 persons had themselves bled at Naples after the earthquake. The operation is connected with a Neapolitan superstition.

☞ Gov. Morrill, of Maine, has proclaimed Thursday, April 16, as the annual Fast Day.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR.

When man remembers his entire dependence upon the Supreme Ruler of the universe, and the multiplied blessings which are so constantly bestowed upon him, and reflects upon the ingratitude which he has manifested in return, it is certainly proper that one day, at least, in each year, should be appointed and observed, when, in a limited capacity, all may confess their unworthiness before Him who is the source of all our mercies, and seek the continuance of his blessings in the future.

That such a day may be observed by the people in this State, in accordance with the religious example of our Pilgrim Fathers, with the advice and consent of the Council, I appoint THURSDAY, THE EIGHTH DAY OF APRIL NEXT, to be observed as a day of FASTING, HUMILIATION AND PRAYER throughout this State.

And on that day I would most earnestly invite the people of this State to lay aside their daily labors and customary pursuits, and each and all, with one accord to assemble in their usual places of public worship, and with sincere hearts acknowledge our entire dependence upon our Heavenly Father, and confess our unworthiness, and sincerely and devoutly seek His forgiveness for manifold sins and transgressions which we as individuals and as a people have committed; may we with one voice supplicate and beseech Him that he will so direct in the councils of our National Government, that the present darkness and gloom which surrounds us as a nation may be dissipated, and that truth, justice and righteousness may prevail; that he will hasten the day when the bondmen shall be set free, and the reproach and curse of slavery no longer be fastened upon us as a nation; that He will bless and prosper the cause of education, temperance, morality and religion; that he will continue to bless the branches of trade and industry, and abundantly crown with success the labors of the husbandman; and that he will in an especial manner bless the efforts which are made to spread the knowledge and influence of the Bible throughout the land and world, that all may be governed by its Heavenly wisdom, and become the happy people whose God is the Lord.

Given at the Council Chamber, in Concord this seventh day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, and of the Independence of the United States the eighty-second.

WILLIAM HAILE.

By his Excellency the Governor with advice of Council:

LEMUEL N. PATTEE.
SECRETARY OF STATE.

TORONTO MARKET REPORT.

Front Street, Corn Market Square,
TORONTO, C. W., Mar. 22, 1858.

FLOUR.—Much activity has prevailed in our markets, and since the date of my last report, prices have advanced fully 25c a barrel on the lower grades, and 30 and 35c on extras. Two causes operating simultaneously tended to create quite an exciting demand—viz, a reduction of ten cents a bl in through freight by the Grand Trunk, and the activity noted in the New York Market.

WHEAT, has come to market in greater abundance than the state of our roads warrant us to expect. Farmers appear willing to accept current rates.

Rates to Isl and Pond, Northumberland, Danville Junction, are same as to Portland.

More than 500,000 Bottles

SOLD IN THE NEW ENGLAND STATES IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHECTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Huckluson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WATLAND, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

AUCTIONS.

By virtue of a License from the Hon. Judge of Probate.

Will be sold at PUBLIC AUCTION, On SATURDAY, Mar. 27, 12 o'clk, M., ON THE PREMISES,

Seven-Twelfths, in common and undivided, of the well-known

Jacob Sheafe Farm,

Formerly owned by JACOB SHEAFE, Esq., deceased.

The other portions can probably be obtained, if desired.

Said Farm lies on both sides of the new Sagamore Road, contains about 296 ACRES, well divided into Mowing Fields, Tillage and Pasture Land, and Salt Marsh, &c., together with a large and valuable growth of Wood and Timber.

It possesses advantages for obtaining large and inexhaustible supplies of SEA-DRESSING, probably unequalled by any other Farm in this vicinity.

The extensive OCEAN VIEW which it commands, with its fine sites on Sagamore Creek, and easy access to the City, make this a rare opportunity for a safe investment.

The quality of the Land, heavy growth of WOOD, and facilities for obtaining Sea-Dressing, offer inducements in this sale to the Farmer, seldom to be found.

Terms made known at time and place of Sale.—For further particulars, apply to

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these Pills are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"YOUR PILLS are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Dwight, of New York City.

"Not only are your Pills a most valuable adjunct to their purposes as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved a more effectual remedy for bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Bigelow, of Boston.

"The Pills you were kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the diseases of the digestive organs, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and obstipation with them, which had resisted the other remedies I had used for months. Indeed I have repeatedly found them to be effectual in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Grant, of Chicago.

"Your Pills have been a great boon to my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Your purgative pill makes those very scientific and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Mr. E. Stuart, who practises as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when used for my patients, and I find them also very useful to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Vanpin, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they will join with me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although not enough in itself, is the prolific of others that are worse. I believe costiveness to originate in the liver, but your PILLS affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Rudolph Hoff, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice and agree with your statement of their efficacy. I consider them the safest and most efficacious of the impurities that stagnate in the blood, engendering disease. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system."

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—TIRE—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS—FITS—&c.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you other complaints I have cured with your PILLS better than to say all that are ever from such a purgative. Your PILLS are the most powerful one on an efficient cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your PILLS afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

Mr. Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a powerful medicine, leaves a salivating behind, in a pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every one of it unlike the spurious imitations, accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has gradually become the best reliance of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American pioneer to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every station certify it has done for others; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the assurance of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon anything, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does the thing it is intended for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could attain such a stability and reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

Maryland State Lotteries.

R. FRANCE & CO.,.....MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets. The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every Independent World cut to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered in all schemes. All cheat, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a Prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Blind Asylum of Louisville, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings are swindles.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates, if he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have been commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The managers are constantly on the spot to see that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the Lottery of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the order is received. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sold less than quarter. They forward the drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRANCE & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner from that State is always on the spot to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all prizes have been paid in full on all orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day in the month. If no particular scheme is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, after the Havana plan, and Tropical combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100 000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.
No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave lower than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by one of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. They have every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in the musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following:

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston, who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons, Hallet & Cumston,
T Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,

Newhall & Sons.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent allowed on the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the cost of getting a Piano, the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent directed to the manufactory, with the money, cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

THE NEWSPAPER.

Concluded from yesterday.

Mrs. Heath did go again though, and again, and the day she went for the fourth time her husband took counsel with himself as to what he should do to "stop her gadding." Seated on the door step, in the shade of the old trees, he spent an hour or two in devising ways and measures, talking aloud all the time, and having the satisfaction of hearing no one dispute him.

"It is very hard to think of her getting a visitin' woman," said he, "and it's clear it ain't right. Keep her at home, I've read in the Bible, (old Richard's Bible knowledge was somewhat confused, quotation varied slightly from the scriptural phrase, "keepers at home,") but it says, too," he added, "with the true sincere man, that husbands must set great store for their wives, and treat them well." I won't scold Millicent, I'll harness up and go for her to-night, and comin' home, I'll talk it all over with her, and tell her how bad it makes me feel, and if that won't do, I'll—something else."

In accordance with his praiseworthy resolution, he might have been seen, about sunset, hitching his horse at Mr. Brown's door; for, strangely enough, Mrs. Heath's visits had all been made at the same place. Going up to the door he stopped in amazement at seeing his wife in the kitchen, just taking off a great woolen wash apron, and putting down her sleeves, which had been rolled up for washing. He listened and heard her say, as she took some money from Mrs. Brown, "It won't be so that I can do your washin' again."

"It has been a great favor to have you do it while I have been poorly," said Mrs. Brown, "and I'm glad to pay you for it. This makes four times, and here's two dollars. 'Tis just as well that you can't come again, for I think I shall be well enough to do it myself."

"Two dollars—just the price of the newspaper," exclaimed Mr. Heath, as the truth flashed across him. Rather a silent ride home they had, till at last he said—

"I never was so ashamed in my life!"

"Of what?" asked the wife.

"Why, to have you go out washin', I ain't so poor as that comes to."

"Well, I don't know," replied his wife, "when a man is too poor to take a newspaper, his wife ought not to feel above going out washing."

Nothing more was said on the subject at that time, though some ill feeling lingered in the hearts of each. The making up was no mawkish scene of kissing, embracing and crying, such as romance writers build their useless fabrics with, but as Mrs. Heath was finishing her household duties for the night, she said quietly—

"I don't think I did quite right, Richard."

"I don't think I did either," responded the husband; and so the spark was quenched which might have become a scathing flame blighting all domestic peace under their humble roof.

At last the long voyage is almost ended, and the sailors talk only of home now.—They talk of those they are to meet, of their wives and children, to whom their thoughts have so often wandered during these three years' absence. They wonder if the young sailor, Alfred Heath, who lies so sick, will ever see his home again, and with their rough tones subdued almost to gentleness, they speak of his anxiety to see his mother.

He is so hopelessly ill that his heart is now where the worn spirit ever turns in its hour of bitterest sorrow or its approach to the unseen and—to God and his mother. Faintly as his heart beats, it still throbs with earnest desire for life. Dim as his keen eye has become, he fancies it would brighten once more at the sight of his mother, and his failing mind become cleared could he lean on her breast.

With folded hands the young sailor prays; his words are confused and indistinct to those who listen, but all clear and earnest are they to the Great Listener above. And when the ship had reached her distant port, and mingling voices are allaround the sick sailor, his comrades bear him comfortably to a home—a miserable home—but better to him than the rocking vessel in the midst of the sounding sea. Now if I could see mother, he murmured to the strangers around him.

She is sitting by the vine-covered window, patiently reading the shipping journal, and thinking, meanwhile, of her absent boy; thinking it was time for him to return, and hoping that he will never go to sea again. How quick the words catch her eye,—Arrived, ship Banner, Lovell.

And it was a week ago: he could have been home by this time; he will come tonight, she said, joyfully, as she went to communicate the good news to her husband.

They watched for him in vain that night and then Mrs. Heath suggested what no mother ever failed to suggest when the long absence of a child was unaccounted for—he must be sick; when night after night passed, and they neither saw nor heard anything of Alfred, her anxiety would let her rest no longer.

"We will go for him, or at least go where we may hear from him," said Mr. Heath, who now, as well as his wife, readily assented.

Their simple preparations for the journey were soon made, and with heavy hearts they proceeded in search of their son, with little hopes of gaining anything more satisfactory than definite intelligence of his death.

It was a dark and rainy evening when they entered the city, and after an hour spent in fruitless enquiries, they found the place where Alfred had been carried. Little care had he received in the crowded boarding house. There was none of the neatness and order that shows better in a sick room than anywhere else. Rough hands had roughly tended him, and pale and death-like as he looked it seemed as if it mattered little what care he had now.—In the agony with which the parents bent over the unconscious sleeper, and marked the sunken cheeks and wasted form, there was but one ray of comfort; they could watch over him—they should not hear of his death with the sad thought that none but a stranger had smoothed his dying pillow.

The sufferer awoke from a troubled dream to find his aching head supported by his father and see his mother's eye resting on him with a look of unutterable tenderness. So faint was the smile of recognition with which he greeted them, that only a parent's eye could have caught the flitting expression.

"Can't live, can't live," said the doctor, with a professional carelessness, as he entered the house the next morning.

"But his mother has come!" said the landlady.

"That alters the case; he may get up again," answered the doctor, than whom none knew better how much a mother could do.

But how frail seems the thread that held that young and promising life. For days it quivered and trembled with the slightest breath, and the mother tearfully prayed that it might not be broken. A gentle care and kindly watching as ever blessed a sick bed, had young Alfred Heath, and not in vain; gradually he grew better, and was able to talk with his parents and asked them how they chanced to come to him in the hour of need.

"It was the newspaper," said Mr. Heath, "just three words in the paper told us your ship had come. You didn't arrive at home, and so we came to see if you were sick. You'll soon be well enough to go home, my boy—God be thanked, he added fervently for sending us to take care of you."

At length Alfred was pronounced well enough to ride, and in a few days the pleasant old homestead gladdened his sight. How beautiful it looked as the sun shone on the vines in which it was embowered, with their wealth of grape, just purpling in the autumn sunshine.

No one so joyful as Mr. Heath, who after being gladdened by hearing Alfred say he would never go to sea again, expressed his opinion of newspapers in general, and his own newspaper in particular on this wise:—

"I am so glad, Millicent, that you took that paper, for I count a paper just the most necessary thing in a family. We should never have had a boy here strong and well, if it had not been for it. It is an excellent thing and I shall subscribe for it as long as I live."

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Research made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the most informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
"August 11, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of an quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

MYER'S EXTRACT OF ROCK ROSE, is peculiarly applicable, and if freely used will not fail to protect the constitution against the sudden and extreme changes of our variable climate. It purifies the blood, strengthens the stomach, and invigorates the whole system, thus fortifying against the insidious attacks of unwonted frosts and debilitating heats. See Circulars.

CONSTITUTIONS.

The New York Journal of Commerce says:

The people of a State can change its constitution at any time, even though there may be a provision in it that it shall not be altered until the expiration of a certain time. The principle has been acted upon in the different States, and is too well established to admit of question. * * *

The power to create—to enact—necessarily involves and includes the power, at any time, to change and destroy. No Legislature of this year, in law-making, can control the Legislature of the next year, in law-making. The power of the people to-day, in constitution-making, cannot control the power of the people to-morrow, in constitution-making or constitution-changing.

The N. H. Patriot endorses these sentiments. And Mr. N. G. Upham writes, in the same Patriot, as follows:

The will of a sovereign people as to the fundamental laws adopted for its own government, is no more binding than that of an individual over his own voluntary acts. If the individual binds himself to-day, by a last will and testament which he declares shall be irrevocable, he may revoke it to-morrow. The action of a sovereign people is equally potent. The objection is wholly unfounded; and Kansas, admitted as a sovereign State, can at once change her constitution.

It will not do for us to argue against such authority as this, which is the Democratic party's doctrine in 1858, according to the Journal of Commerce, the Patriot, and Mr. Upham. The doctrine is, we understand, that a majority of the people in a State can at once, at any time, change their constitution as they please.

Now let us bring this doctrine home to New Hampshire. A very large majority of the people have just voted not to call a convention to alter her constitution. Very well, for to-day. But to-morrow, in June, the State legislature will meet. It will contain a large Republican majority. That majority can form a new constitution, providing that no person shall vote in this State, except those who are now citizens, native-born males when they arrive at 21 years of age, and all others who have lived in it 21 years, and have taken the oath of allegiance, &c. They may send this out to the people, and if a majority vote for it, presto change, we have a new constitution!

This is in strict conformity with the new doctrine as above laid down. Suppose we try it. Wouldn't there be "a shriek" somewhere?

AN ITEM OF COST.—The keepers of Jails and Houses of Correction, in their returns to Massachusetts for eleven months ending Sept. 30, 1857, says that of 7903 persons in that time committed to the jails, 3492 were intemperate; and of the 5169 sent to the House of Correction, 4214 were intemperate; giving a total sent to the Jails and County Houses by rum, 7706. The cost of these convicts—the rum tax upon the State—was $105,000. Besides that the expense of convicting these persons was more than $70,000. It would be a curious item of information, could we know how many of the remainder who are not put down as intemperate were total abstinents! We doubt if there was 1 in 10 or 20. They were mostly temperate or moderate drinkers.

COLONIZATION.—An act of the Maryland Legislature, passed at its late session, appropriates five thousand dollars per year, for the space of four years to the managers of the Maryland Colonization Society, for the general purposes of said society. It also authorizes the Comptroller to pay seventy dollars for each emancipated slave or free negro, male or female, above the age of ten years, sent by said society to Africa, and thirty-five dollars for each negro, &c. under ten years of age. The payments made per capita are not to exceed an additional sum of five thousand dollars per annum appropriated by the act for four years.

☞ The Legislature of Virginia has passed a bill appropriating $80,000 for a loan to the Covington and Ohio Railroad. Appropriations have also passed the Assembly amounting to $1,200,000, divided between the Orange & Alexandria, and Manassas Gap, Alexandria, Hampshire & London, and Norfolk & Petersburgh roads. It is believed there will be no difficulty in passing these through the Senate.

THE RIVERS.—Cincinnati, March 24.—The water in the channel of the river at this point, is falling slowly.

Louisville, Ky., March 24.—The water in the river here is stationary; it measures eight and a half feet at the falls.

Toronto, C. W., 24.—The regular line of steamers between Collingwood and Chicago will commence running on the 1st of May, and the regular line between Toronto and Niagara, on Monday next.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, on Wednesday, Mr. Wilson of Massachusetts introduced a bill to facilitate communication with the army in Utah, which provides that Secretary Floyd of the War Department be authorized to contract for the extension or use of the American electro-magnetic telegraph from the frontier of Missouri or Iowa to such western military posts as is necessary for the public service, and that he be further authorized to appropriate a sum not exceeding $50,000 for this project. The bill was read and ordered to be printed.

After disposing of some minor matters, Mr. Gwin of California proposed that the Senate take up the Pacific bill, but yielded, and the bill to admit the State of Minnesota was read a second time. On motion of Mr. Pugh of Ohio the bill was amended by providing that the federal laws, so far as applicable, be extended to the new State, and that a judicial district be formed, and a judge, attorney and marshal be appointed and paid as in the State of Iowa. Pending a question as to the number of representatives to be allowed to the new State, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—The House went into Committee on the Deficiency Appropriation bill.

Mr. Clark, of Missouri, replied to Mr. Blair, who, he said, ought first to set free his own slaves, before accusing slaveholders of being an oligarchy to strike down free labor. Such a course must have a most disastrous effect where slavery exists. He then adverted to the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution.

Mr. Blair of Mo., gave notice of his intention to reply to Mr. Clark's assault, and reminded him that there were other interests in Missouri besides slaveholding.

Mr. Granger, of N. Y., argued against the Lecompton Constitution and the extension of slavery.

Mr. Clark, of N. Y., said the voice of the people of Kansas comes in unbroken tones, protesting against the admission under the Lecompton Constitution. She ought not to be dragged into the Union as a convict in chains. He would vote for any measure which would secure justice and peace to Kansas, and exonerate the Democratic party and the administration of their choice from the implication, unjustly made, that they are seeking to impose upon the people of Kansas, a Constitution they abhor. He doubted all the claims of Kansas for admission. He distrusted the sufficiency of her population, and was not satisfied that the proceedings attending the formation of her Constitution were regular. While he had no pride in her history, and no sympathy for her scenes of fraud and violence, he would yield his reluctant consent to her admission, provided the bill can be so framed that no permanent mischief will result to Kansas, and the country, until her people can form, without wrong and violence, the institutions under which they and their children are to live.

The House was so much interested in the speech of Mr. Clark of New York, to-day, that they gave unanimous consent to him to continue his remarks beyond the hour.

This looks a little as if the House would like to amend the Senate bill materially, so as to admit Kansas, but to defeat the Lecompton swindle.—It is not certain that they can do so;—but if they can, and send it back to the Senate, it must put the latter body to its trumps. If all the power and place of the federal executive can buy votes enough in the House, the bill will not go back, but go through.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser says:

"Some calculations make the Lecompton majority to be only one in the House. If sure of this, they would take up the bill from the Senate on Tuesday, and pass it under the previous question. But absenteeism affects the Lecompton ranks. Mr. Douglas thinks it a fatal sympton. He had to contend with it, he says, when he managed the Kansas-Nebraska bill; but now, he says, he is with a party that is never troubled with that complaint."

"X," of the Baltimore SUN, writes:

"There will be a vote in the House on the Senate bill towards the end of this week—say by next Saturday; and mark my words—the bill will pass."

The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post says: "The funeral oration of the Lecompton Constitution has been pronounced in the Senate of the United States. Senator Crittenden was the orator."

WASHINGTON, March 24.—(Tribune correspondence.) A conference was held this morning, regarding the basis of opposition to Lecompton. It was agreed to move the adoption of Mr. Crittenden's substitute, with a slight modification affecting the qualification of voters, whenever the question was raised. The Southern Americans and co-operating Democrats can accept no other arrangement, and they tender this as the best mode of testing the sincerity of the administration upon popular rights.—If this proposition be declined, the Lecompton bill will inevitably pass, as votes enough will recede to make it certain.—Should this substitute be adopted, the Senate will disagree, and insist on the original bill, then the House can give it a final quietus, while putting the responsibility of declining a fair adjustment on the Senate. Mr. Horace F. Clark's speech fully committed him against Lecompton, while reserving a place for retreat, which will hardly be furnished by the administration.

☞ Rev. Mr. Kendall, of Bradford, Mass., has been unanimously called to be pastor of the 1st Congregational Society in Milford, N. H.

For the Chronicle.

SPIRITUALISM—SKEPTICS.—Messrs. Editors:—I have not written a word on this subject for your columns, though sometimes I have thought of doing so. And now my pen is not taken up to write either a defence or censure of it.

The manifestations are so astounding and continuous, that none may doubt them. Are they supernatural? We have nothing to do about what this or that Spiritualist believes. Two propositions, and two only, underlie the whole structure of Spiritualism. 1. All who have past away from earth have now a spirit existence. 2. They can and do communicate with mortals.

Now what is there about these propositions that the holiest Christian in the land would repudiate? That some persons calling themselves Spiritualists, in some instances, have embraced great errors, is probably all true—but has not that, all that, been true with those professing the religion of our ever-blessed Redeemer? We cannot condemn Christianity because some wicked men have taken it as a cloak. Let all examine this subject candidly, prayerfully, and with the spirit of meekness.

One word to Spiritualists. Give us the manifestations—these are better for working conviction than perhaps all other means.

CANDOR.

FROM NEW MEXICO.—St. Louis, March 24.—The Santa Fe mail arrived at Independence on the 22d inst.

Capt. Marcy was to leave Fort Union for Utah on the 25th inst., with 1000 head of mules.

Lieut. Beale came passenger from Santa Fe. He left Los Angelos, California, Jan. 10, with twenty-two men and mules, having sent the camels back from the Colorado river. He adhered strictly to the 35th parallel of latitude, which he pronounced to be the best natural route for a railroad in the world. He shortened Whipple's route 500 miles, and used no tent all the way from Los Angeles, kept comfortable every night, and found not over three inches of snow at any point while on the route. He discovered no relics of ancient civilization, but met a tribe of Indians hitherto unknown. He says that white men could travel the route in parties of five as safely as twenty.

ST. LOUIS, March 24.—The Democrat publishes a card from J. H. Lane, in reply to a proclamation of Gov. Denver.—In this card Mr. Lane says that one J. W. Denver accuses him (Lane,) of arrogantly usurping and ruthlessly trampling under foot the Legislative department of the Government, and characterizing his (Lane's) acts as tyrannical and perfidious. Mr. Lane then brands the Governor as a calumniator, perjurer, tyrant, and pet appointee of the oligarchical administration which disgraces the nation.

NEW YORK, March 24.—James B. Finley, alias N. A. Howard, a Canadian, and his reputed wife, have been arrested, for an attempt to kidnap and sell as a slave in Washington, a free negro girl, of this city. The girl has been returned to New York.

☞ Gov. Banks is announced to lecture in Lowell on Monday next for the benefit of the poor of that city.

LOCAL.

FIRE.—On Thursday, about half-past 12 o'clock, the cabinet furniture manufactory of Messrs. Lord & Folsom, 58 Market st., was set on fire in the third story, by some accident about the stove; and in a few moments the shavings and other combustibles were so kindled as to fill the whole upper part of the building with fire and smoke, creating a general alarm, as the wind was high. A prompt assembling of firemen soon drowned the fire, which did not go below the upper floor; but the water did, making it needful to clear the spacious furniture room in the second story. This removal was done in a hurry, and of course not quite so carefully as if more time had been allowed. The stock of clothing was removed from the store of Messrs. Green & Co., on the lower floor.—Mr. J. H. Wells did not remove his groceries from No. 56.

The building is owned by Moses H. Goodrich, Esq., and others, and we understand is insured at the Ætna office, as were also Messrs. Lord & Folsom and E. Green & Co. It was a happy escape from a large fire.

☞ The Concert by the "Reading Opera Chorus Club," on Wednesday evening, was excellent. The troupe, comprising 32 ladies and gentlemen,—all middle-aged and younger,—sang in Exeter, with good success, Tuesday evening; and on their arrival here, Wednesday forenoon, created no little amusement by marching about the city in their ludicrous, not to say ridiculous costumes. They complimented the originator of Old Folks Concerts in this section of the country, by pausing a few moments in the Chronicle Counting Room, and singing the "Song of the Old Folks" —Auld Lang Syne, with which they open all their concerts. That song was first sung from Albert Laighton's manuscript, in Exchange Hall; and never has been performed more feelingly and appropriately, if with more brilliancy, since.

The Concert, as a whole, was admirable —though in some points, the Portsmouth Old Folks Choir much excelled this troupe, —which is certainly one of the best choirs we ever listened to; so fresh, powerful, well-balanced, prompt, accurate in time and true to the key. They came on the stage with hats and bonnets on—the men's hats not so unlike our hats now; but the ladies wore chaise-top calashes, cavernous hoods, and coal-scuttle bonnets. On uncovering, such a display of high-backed combs and puffed hair, and powdered wigs; huge sleeves, ruffled shirts, &c., was presented, as throws a shadow of ridicule on the shifting fashions of a century or two.

In the intermission between the parts, "Father Kemp," in a very neat speech, stated that their dresses were nearly all actual articles of costume, and from thirty to two hundred years old, and that they had sung in them so long, that they had begun to think they 'looked pretty well when they were dressed up." And as these clothes had been worn by their grandfathers and grandmothers, they saw no reason for being ashamed to wear them when they sang the good old songs. By his well-timed pleasantry, Mr. Kemp did away entirely with any idea of buffoonery, or the making light of sacred or serious things—and kept the audience in the best of humor. All the choir promenaded the aisles, and gave the audience opportunity to examine their costumes a little more closely. "Father Foss," the double-bass player, alone remained in his seat—as he "was too much fatigued to walk about." His whole appearance was patriarchal, but those who saw his hands, could not fail to observe that time had dealt lightly with them.

The programme was singularly varied—but brilliant and attractive to the large and deligted audience—and performed almost to perfection. They commenced with Auld Lang Syne,—and the mention of the author of the Song of the Old Folks was received with hearty applause. Of course they sang this correctly and with spirit; but it did not fall half so pleasantly on our ear—did not seem so much like Auld Lang Syne, as when sung by those who had passed through many varied scenes since youth's unclouded day.' The music they sang was mostly or all of a brilliant character, and we missed the rich old chorals and minors, which last it is almost impossible for modern singers to perform—it takes the veritable old folks to do that in true style. The programme, however, was composed almost entirely of music of about the age of the continental fugue tunes—the chorals and minors of course being much older; and was very satisfactory. One of the most pleasant features was the audience rising, and singing America and Coronation, with the choir, at the invitation of Father Kemp,—who is a talented and popular leader.

Some of the pieces were very fine, with the excellent orchestral accompaniment—especially Strike the Cymbal, Star Spangled Banner, Sound the Loud Trimbrel, &c.—The bass of this choir was not heavy enough to base so strong trebel, tenor, and alto on—according to Billings et al. But take it all in all, it is rare to hear so nice an entertainment; and we fear it will be long before we look upon the like again. We hope they may favor us with another visit ere they return home.

The interest of the entire large audience was shown by the fact of the unexceptionable good order kept throughout.

BOLD ROBBERY.—The rear of the house of William H. Hackett, Esq., on Congress street, was entered on Thursday morning, and a quantity of lead and copper stolen. The robbery was a particularly bold one, and though probably perpetrated by boys, was yet the work of rogues of experience. The thieves carried their booty to one of our stores, exchanging them for cash. The police are on their track, and will probably secure the offenders.

The four boys who broke open the station of the P. S. & P. R. R., at Eliot, Me., and were apprehended in this city, were on Wednesday, sent into Maine, Gov. Haile having, in compliance with a requisition from Gov. Morrill of Maine, ordered them to be delivered over to the officers of that State. These boys were, in default of bail, committed to jail at Alfred, to await trial at the next term of Court in York county.

TRAVELLING IMPOSTORS.—The public are repeatedly imposed upon by a class of beggars who are always "in distress"—having been shipwrecked, burnt out, or afflicted by some extraordinary mishap; and have succeeded by their pitiful stories in extorting considerable money from the honest and unsuspecting. A day or two since, three able-bodied men visited the outskirts of our city, and stated that they were sailors, and their vessel had taken fire and burnt to the water's edge, and they, after paddling seventeen miles with their hands, were picked up by a schooner and brought into Kennebunk, from whence they walked to this city. Also, that twenty-four of their number were stopping at the City Hotel, unable to walk, and they wished to raise means to get home. By this story, they swindled considerable money out of our citizens; and we believe they are still in this vicinity. We would caution the public against such impostors, and trust those who have been "bled" will learn a a lesson—never give until they learn the truth of their statements.

More than 500,000 Bottles

SOLD IN THE NEW ENGLAND STATES IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being last dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

AUCTIONS.

By virtue of a License from the Hon. Judge of Probate.

Will be sold at PUBLIC AUCTION, On SATURDAY, Mar. 27, 12 o'clk, M., ON THE PREMISES,
Seven-Twelfths, in common and undivided, of the well-known

Jacob Sheafe Farm,

Formerly owned by JACOB SHEAFE, Esq., deceased. The other portions can probably be obtained, if desired.

Said Farm lies on both sides of the new Sagamore Road, contains about 290 ACRES, well divided into Mowing Fields, Tillage and Pasture Land, and Salt Marsh, &c., together with a large and valuable growth of Wood and Timber.

It possesses advantages for obtaining large and inexhaustible supplies of SEA-DRESSING, probably unequalled by any other Farm in this vicinity.

The extensive OCEAN VIEW which it commands, with its fine sites on Sagamore Creek, and easy access to the City, make this a rare opportunity for a safe investment.

The quality of the Land, heavy growth of WOOD, and facilities for obtaining Sea-Dressing, offer inducements in this sale to the Farmer, seldom to be found.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood, a large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these PILLS are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"YOUR PILLS are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

"Not only are your PILLS admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects are such as to leave no doubt of their utility. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at last a purgative pill which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Knott, of St. Louis.

"The PILLS you were kind enough to send me have been all used and have proved so well satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the disease of the human system, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally found them to be efficacious in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"Your PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. They always do their duty well. I make them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Rev. E. Stuart, late practicing M.D. of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other in my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Pomphe, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. If others of more popular fame, but less efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complicated evil. Prejudice should give place to the incontestable proofs that are worse. I believe costiveness originates in the liver, but your PILLS affect that organ and cure the disease."

INFLUENZA OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Enskin Bell, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. I have no doubt of their efficacy in the cases named in my practice, and agree with your statements of their efficacy. They stimulate the excretories, and carry off the impurities that stagnate in the blood, engendering diseases. They eliminate the cause of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—PILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS—FITS—&c.

From Dr. Edward Bogel, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your PILLS, because I have used them for every ill we can treat with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with diseases, and believe I do not beat your PILLS afford as the best we have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every dance of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeiting. The community can be relied on as genuine without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, and INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has grown into become the best reliance of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peasant to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the assurance of intelligent physicians, whose business it is to know, and to tell the truth, without respect to any thing, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of disease it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unquestionable character of those who recommend it, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

Maryland State Lotteries.

E. FRANCE & CO.....MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of $20,000 to $60,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. 1000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it has been thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which report prizes decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed and have the lithographic signature of E. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates, if he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent, unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none need be at a loss to understand them. There is no combination of numbers or mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Dew Dash. Write your orders plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

All communications strictly confidential. m18 1y

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRANCE & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and commissioners appointed by the Governor, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular lottery is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan) of ternary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100 000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers: Baltimore, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,
No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The solution is simple, and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring his tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time, by one of the lowest pitch. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of a great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Building

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skillful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Room at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS, from this Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Fortes Manufacturers of Boston, who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons,	Hallett & Cumston,
J. Gilbert & Co.,	W. H. Emerson,
Brown & Allen,	A. W. Lad & Co.,
George Hewes,	Woodward & Brown,
	Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. It is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire to try one of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory references, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

FEAR OF INJURING THE CHURCH.—The liquor traffic was going on, and misery and ruin spreading in every direction. The matter of executing the law was considered, but a few trembled almost down into their boots. "It will injure our church," they said, as they thought that great wrath would come down upon some who might be engaged in carrying forward the prosecution, from those who wished the traffic continued.

But the dealer was prosecuted, and lo, behold, one of the members of the church, who feared that it would be injured, was summoned as a witness, and he testified that he had purchased there. This was back in the past time. I have been there since, and am happy to say that the church has not yet been broken to pieces, but still lives. I do not wonder, however, that this member and a few others who patronize liquor-dealers, have serious fears that the church will be injured and perhaps broken up. I advise them to hold it up with all their might, lest it fall with an awful crash. JOHN SMITH, 5th.

Cold Water Glen, March 20.

INDIA.—Despatch from Sir Colin Campbell.—Under date of January 5, Sir Colin Campbell, Commander-in-Chief of the army in India, then at Fort Futtehgurh, wrote to the Governor General, that the communication between Calcutta and Agra had been fairly established. Gen. Hope's brigade had swept away every vestige of Nana Sahib's property at Bithoor, and much treasure had been recovered from the wells belonging to his former palace. Making a detour by Akbarpoor through Etouah to Mynpoorie, Gen. Walpole had punished some notorious malefactors, and disaffected districts; and a complete sweep of the rebels and bad characters from the southern part of the Doab had been made, and police arrangements had been effected. The inhabitants have been made to understand that the Governor General will visit punishment upon the rebellious towns and villages. The rajah of Futtiah had abandoned the fort, which was destroyed by Gen. Windham, and several rebels belonging in the neighborhood were disposed of by the magistrates. Jan. 1st, some rebels who were engaged in destroying a suspension bridge at Kallee Nuddee, were dispersed, and the bridge repaired. On the 2d, the villagers made preparations to attack Gen. Hope at the bridge, and opened with muskets and cannon upon the British, but were soon repulsed and scattered, with the loss of all their guns. The nucleus of the rebel force consisted of several battalions of the revolted native infantry. On the same day, Futtehgurh was deserted by the followers of Nawab, and their flight was so rapid that they had no time to complete the destruction of the Government property, which was very valuable. Sir Colin caused Najir Khan to be executed by the inhabitants at the principal gate. The destruction of the Nawab's palace was in progress, and not a stone is to be left unturned in all the residences of the rebellious chiefs.

FREE TRADE.—While our government professes to be friendly to free trade, it permits its subordinate officers to hamper trade with minor regulation, that are often more vexing to business men, than an outright duty would be. We learn that the new Consul General, for British North America, W. S. B. Moor, Esq., has issued a circular requiring all goods, dutiable or free, passing from these Provinces into the United States, to be accompanied by a sworn invoice, certified by the consular agent; for which certificate, the sum of two dollars is to be charged. If this regulation is enforced, it will almost break up small shipments by railroad, and will make the official fees of the Consul General larger than the salary of President of the United States. We learn that there is great complaint respecting this new order, not only among our merchants here, but also in Canada; and we hope to see the government's attention called to this new tariff, levied for the benefit of officials only. A COMMERCIAL MAN.

RUM DID IT.—The Hon. Gerrit Smith, in a recently published letter, makes the following allusions to the late Preston S. Brooks:

"The nation would not have been deprived of the services of Charles Sumner, had Congress, before Brooks fell upon him, been willing to be moved by a temperance speech or by any other cause, to put a stop to the sale of intoxicating drinks in the city of Washington. Poor Brooks! I became acquainted with him in Congress, and found him to be a frank, pleasant man. He allowed me to speak freely to him of his habit of drinking liquor. He promptly confessed his sorrow for it, and added that he would be glad to subscribe a Congressional Temperance pledge. But for liquor he would never have committed his enormous crime."

If you would be loved as a companion, avoid unnecessary criticism upon those with whom you live.

WHAT MAKES A MAN?

Not numerous years, nor lengthened life,
Nor pretty children and a wife,
Nor pins, and chains, and fancy rings,
Nor any such like trump'ry things;
Nor pipe, cigar, not bottled wine,
Nor liberty with kings to dine;
Nor coat, nor boots, nor yet a hat,
A dandy vest, or trim cravat;
Not houses, land, nor golden ore;
Not all the world's wealth laid in store;
Not mister, rev'rend sir, nor 'squire;
With titles that the mem'ry tire;
Not ancestry traced back to Will,
Who went from Normandy to kill;
Not Latin, Greek, nor Hebrew lore,
Nor thousand volumes rambled o'er;
Not Judge's robe, nor Mayor's mace,
Nor crowns that deck the royal race;
These all united, never can
Avail to make a single man.

A beautiful soul, a loving mind,
Full of affection for its kind;
A helper of the human race,
A soul of beauty and of grace;
A spirit firm, erect and free,
That never basely bends the knee;
That will not bear a feather's weight
Of slavery's chain, for small or great;
That truly speaks of God within,
And never makes a league with sin;
That snaps the fetters despots make,
And loves the truth for its own sake;
That worships God and Him alone,
And bows nowhere but at his throne;
That trembles at no tyrant's nod—
A soul that fears no one but God.
And thus can smile at curse and ban;
That is the soul that makes the man.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.

INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a pin dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

A VISIT TO A SPIRITUALIST.

It is true now as in the days of the bard of Avon,

"There are more things in heaven and earth
Than dreamt of in our philosophy."

Among these strange things are the exhibitions of the Spiritualists of our day. There is little doubt that their doings are the same essentially as what was called witchcraft in former times. To the witches of old "a little learning was a dangerous thing." They knew so little of the sciences, that being unable to give any satisfactory explanation of the strange feats they were enabled to perform. There is no doubt that the witches of Salem, Hampton, and Newcastle were of the same class as modern Spiritualists. The little skill they possessed might have been of a more mischevious character, or the modern spirits may have assumed a more distinct resemblance of "angels of light."— The developments of the science of electricity, which as yet is in its first stages, may explain the whole mystery. We are rather more disposed to attribute the experiments being made to natural laws than to the agency of the spirits of the departed.

But to turn from speculation to facts. At the invitation of Mr. Foster, we waited on him at his room in Vaughan street, the present week. As we entered six were sitting around a table, and holding converse with the spirits of the departed.— Every "spirit" called upon responded. Every question was promptly answered, and in no instance that met our observation was there an error made in name or date. In two instances where the spirits were requested to write their names, pieces of white paper were taken by an unseen power from the hand of the medium, and carried to the floor. Soon after, in each instance, the table unaided rose six or eight inches clear from the floor, and when the paper was taken up the names were written in reverse. Having never before seen matter thus influenced by mind, it was an unaccountable novelty. We felt a heavy touch upon our hand, although nothing was visible, when what professed to be a spirit said, "Are you not conscious of my presence when I touch you?" There is in the communications made a great lack of such information as adds to our store of earthly knowledge. If any positive good is to arise from the strange phenomena the world will not be long kept from it. It is useless for men of gross lives, the debauche or the intemperate, to attempt to hold spiritual communications. Mr. Foster says that such can find no responses to their enquiries through him. We are not prepared to say that the inspiration of old by which holy men wrote was an influence such as is now being developed, but in many respects there is certainly a resemblance.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, MARCH 27, 1858.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

New York, March 20.

Dear Chronicle:—The ghost of winter,—and a literal ghost it has been,—at the approach of his fair sister, Spring, has this month shaken the vanishing folds of his white-laden garment in a spasmodic attempt to retrieve his old-fashioned reputation, and bestowed on the earth what an eccentric friend has called "a dash from Heaven in the shape of snow"—a testimonial sufficient to mark out in the memory of mankind the void in the year where winter ought to have come in. With the sun shining warmly and the air summer-like as it is this week, reflections on a snow storm may be somewhat out of place, but as present appearances preclude the possibility of another opportunity for six months at least for Nature to resume snowy garments, I will endeavor to give you some idea of a snow storm in the between latitudes, where winter never "goes the whole hog," but amply] works out the simile by making a wallowing trough of our streets.

It needs no weather-wise philosopher to divide a New York snow storm into three "cycles," the beautiful, the joyful, and the detestable. Let us draw a picture of the first from a real incident. I sit at my window at the hour of midnight, gazing out into the mass of whirling snow flakes, and listening to the wailing wind as it whistled a mournful requiem around the roofs and chimneys of the desolate city. No sound was heard but the occasional dull tramp of some unformed guardian of the peace who occasionally ventured from his snug shelter on the stoop of the corner grocery. But beneath my window, in the lonely street, was a scene that awakened deep reflections. An aged dray horse, wearied with the labors of a long life, had lain down at night-fall on the cold, hard ground. Like every earthly creation, the last thing he did here was to die. The eddying wind was mantling his dark form in a snow crested shroud of sparking white. Even in death that ancient pack horse had not been without a friend. By the dim light of the corporation's munificence, I could read in dark letters on an elevated card, his epitaph—simple, touching, and expressive,—"He died a true American!" No "Burleigh" was there to tear away that noble tribute to the departed, to tell us, in that still hour, of the intractable faults, of the deteriorating pains of that superannuated nag,—of the stumbling habits which aided in bringing him to his grave,—and of the sad example which he had, in his life just left behind, set to his fellow horses, and mules, and asses. The falling snow was hiding his rude outline in gentle curves and crested wreaths of spotless purity, Nature's own whitewash!

The second "cycle" is the sleighing carnival, a season whose advent is so great a variety that its pleasures are indulged in to an extraordinary extent. For a few days,—and nights also, should the moon favor, Broadway and the Bloomingdale Road from the Battery to King's Bridge are filled with swift flying vehicles, and the air resounds with the ringing of the bells of the sleighs and the laughter of the belles of the slayed. Here a modelled shell or swan-like cutter floats by like a fairy chariot; then a democratic institution, consisting of a large, handsomely built platform on runners, used by the stage companies, drawn by four or six horses, and made with two seats running lengthwise, sufficiently large to seat twenty passengers and crowd in as many more, and wherein the people can ride the whole route of four miles for sixpence; then, perhaps, we hear a shout of "the Turks," and the gorgeous turn-out of the St. Nicholas dashes by, bearing the observed of all observers, the Ottoman guest, his attendants and inseparable Mentor, Aldermen Van N——. At some sharp corner we may chance to witness a collision of two fast teams, driven by two fast men, resulting in the demolition of both, and the sprinkling of the unapproachable exquisites in small particles all over the pavements. Everything we see adds a new phase to the picture of life and gaiety.

But in a few days this is transformed into the detestable. Imagine, if you can, a huge trough, straight for three miles, eighty feet wide, and filled with an amalgamation of the elements of water, snow, and dirt to the depth of a foot; then place within it engine companies on the full run, all wading, splashing, and spattering, and you have a picture of Broadway three days after a snow-storm. The bogs of the Dismal Swamp and the Everglades of Florida would sink into insignificance in the estimation of respectable ducks, swine and mud-turtles. And our crossings—why, that picturesque lake which adorns your Market Square in April is a trifle compared to one of our street puddles. It would astonish any one but a New Yorker to see the admirable heroism and ancles displayed by our Metropolitan Belles in fording these apparently interminable depths, where ——the scattered waters rave

And the slosh was near knee deep.

The pedestrian is assailed at every crossing by swarms of ragged little apologics for girls, broom in hand, importuning "a penny for sweeping the walk." Scenes like these close the short history of a snow storm in the city. Islington.

Congress.—On Thursday, March 25, in the Senate, after disposing of minor topics, the bill for the admission of Minnesota was taken up and debated. In the House of Representatives, the Kansas bill was debated. All parties manifest a desire to take the question at an early day.

Mr. Reilly of Pa., maintained the legality of the proceedings attending the formation of the Lecompton Constitution. If Kansas is admitted into the Union, the Legislature can at any time pass an act providing for amending and submitting it to the people, and no power outside of the State can interfere.

[As this seems to be the new and approved doctrine, let us try it in New Hampshire.]

Mr. Davis of Indiana, said that he did all in his power to secure Mr. Buchanan's election, but that he dissented from his views on the Kansas question, believing that the executive had committed a great political mistake and fundamental error. The so-called Lecompton Constitution was a flagrant violation of the letter and spirit of the Kansas Nebraska act, and in direct conflict with the doctrine of popular sovereignty as enunciated by the Cincinnati resolutions—in the letter of Mr. Buchanan accepting the nomination—in his inaugural address—and in the letter of instructions to Governor Walker. He said the Lecompton Constitution was conceived in fraud, and that it was now sought to be forced on an unwilling and protesting people.

Mr. Moore of Ala., made a speech in defence of the South. There is something she loves more than the Union, and will defend to the last extremity—Constitutional rights, State equality, and independence.

[That is,—the Union if it will enslave the whole country, and crush out all freedom,—but not otherwise.]

Mr. Stephens announced that he will on Thursday next at one o'clock move to take up the Senate Kansas bill.

Mr. Stephens intended to move the previous question; if the majority want debate they could vote down the motion.

This seems to be agreed on all hands.

Hatred of the Press.—The Rev. Mr. Slicer, in a Baltimore Methodist Conference, stated, in objecting to a proposition to establish a new Church paper, that "had all the presses and editors been thrown into the Atlantic, it would have been better for the Church." We remember this Reverend Mr. Slicer very well. He was Chaplain of the U. S. Senate for a number of years, and made himself conspicuous, as well as ridiculous, when the slaves that attempted to escape by the Pearl were recaptured and sold to go down South.

☞ The Oxford Democrat says a young man named Decoster was frozen to death in Buckfield, last week. When last seen he had been drinking to excess. A young lady in Lovell came near sharing the same fate. A young man at the house severed an artery with an axe. With neither shawl nor overshoes she ran to the woods, where some men were at work, for them to go for a physician. They at once started. In the excitement it was not noticed that she had not returned, and when discovered she was so chilled as to be unable to walk, and was making feeble attempts to crawl.—Prompt attention soon placed her out of danger.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer says:—"The French spoliation bill is positively to have another chance with this Congress, and in the same shape in which it was vetoed by the late President. It is in good hands, those of Mr. Clingman of North Carolina, Chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs. If it again passes Congress, it is understood that Mr. Buchanan will sign it."

☞ Huldah Morrison, the wretch who set fire to the Ashtabula County, Ohio, Infirmary, by which seven persons lost their lives, plead guilty to the indictment, and was sentenced to the Penitentiary for twenty years.

☞ Samuel J. Farnham, a printer, who worked occasionally in the New York Herald office, died suddenly in the upper part of that establishment last Sunday, from the effect of blows which he had received from a bar-keeper named Hook.

☞ The Chicago Press has an advertisement, forty columns long, of lands in that city delinquent for taxes.

☞ The municipal election in Erie, Pa., was lately carried by the anti-Lecomptonites. Laird, an anti-Lecompton democrat, is elected Mayor by 315 majority. Erie is a Republican city. The significant part of this result is a union of the anti-Lecompton Democrats and Republicans, foreshadowing a general union throughout Pennsylvania.

☞ The Charlottesville, Va., Advocate, in view of certain disunion movements in some of the southern states, says that "Cotton is not King, and Alabama and Mississippi will have to be taught this truth by Virginia and Kentucky."

LOCAL.

☞ At the Old Folks' Concert, Wednesday evening, Father Kemp, in speaking of the singers' costumes, said there was one dress upwards of two hundred years old—which was first worn as the wedding dress of a lady of rank, and had served the same good purpose for other ladies on three similar occasions since. He requested the lady wearing it to rise, while he spoke,—which of course she did; and as she resumed her seat, she hid her blushes behind an old-times folding green paper Fan as large as an umbrella, or the huge palm-leaves displayed in the window of our good (Samaritan) neighbor Thacher.

Mr. Kemp also stated that a cocked hat worn by one of the gentlemen of the troupe was worn at the battle of Bunker Hill.—Some of the dresses of both ladies and gentlemen were really splendid—particularly Father Kemp's scarlet velvet coat, black breeches, and white stockings; and the black silk dress of one of the altos, with puffed sleeves and lace trimmings, in which she looked a very queen.

For the Chronicle.

A NEW FEATURE

In our city is the Union prayer-meeting, held between the hours of 8 and 9 in the morning. An attempt of this kind was made about thirty years ago, but signally failed; and the fact that such an one exists now, where all who bear the christian name unite around a common altar, discloses the two remarkable features of the present religious awakening in our land.

1st. That it moves on by prayer-meetings rather than preaching services; 2d. That the central truth of christianity, love and obedience to Jesus Christ, as the Great Redeemer of lost men, asserts its predominence over denominational disagreements.

And nothing, perhaps, can present more vividly the reality of that spiritual kingdom, everywhere recognized in the gospels, than to see men coming up from their workshops, counting-rooms and homes, at an hour when the mind is freest from distempered fancies, publicly to acknowledge their allegiance to the Lord of Life and Light, and testify to his spiritual power over their souls. It is a movement springing up, far back of rituals and creeds, the formal services and outward fortifications of our faith, from the great heart of the people, yearning for a more substantial good. And what wonder, when in the business crash of last year, men suddenly found themselves standing on the wrecks of the perishable, a cry for the imperishable should come up all over the land. The religious instincts of the soul will sometimes importunately plead for a treasure, which the world cannot take away even as it cannot give.

We are glad to learn that this meeting is to be held in the North Church on Sunday morning, because it is a larger house, the Methodist church having been already filled, and will afford room for greater numbers to attend a service, disclosing a religious movement singularly free from intemperance and fanatical heat. INCHES.

We have been requested to make some statements in relation to an unpleasant turn given to some matters connected with the rise and progress of the "union meeting" of this city. We have no personal knowledge of the facts; we have no personal connection with or responsibility for the meeting referred to, and we ask to be excused from any participation in the feeling which has grown out of the management. We will further say that such matters seldom improve by stirring, and that we should fear that positive evil might result, not to ourself but to others, from the publicity requested of us. If we receive any "official statement" we shall not decline it, but our columns will be freely open to "official" rejoinder.—Bath (Me.) Organ.

☞ The Weekly Chronicle for this day, is ready for delivery at the Chronicle Counting Room,—price 3 cts.—just the paper to send to a distant friend by mail.

☞ On Thursday, in the U. S. Senate, a resolution was adopted, requesting the Secretary of the Navy to inform the Senate of the condition of the ship Franklin, now at this station, to be converted into a screw steamer.

☞ The new Meeting House of the Free Will Baptist Society in this city, corner of Pearl and Hanover streets, is completed; and will be dedicated on Fast Day, Thursday, April 8th. Rev. F. W. Straight of Boston is expected to deliver the sermon on the occasion.

☞ Moneyed men and good farmers, would do well to look at the Auction Sale, this forenoon, of the Sheafe Farm, bordering on Little Harbor and Sagamore Road.

☞ "Burleigh," the New York letter-writer for the Boston Journal, says:—Many reports of the conversion of prominent men are fabulous.

3 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE NIAGARA.

HALIFAX, March 26.—The steamer Niagara, from Liverpool, 13th inst., arrived here this morning.

Sales of Cotton at Liverpool for the week 21,000 bales; all qualities have considerably declined. Breadstuffs generally dull.

The provision market was dull and prices generally lower.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

TWO WEEKS LATER.

NEW YORK, March 26.—The ship Moses Taylor, from Aspinwall on the afternoon of 18th, has arrived. She brings $1,408,749 in treasure.

The through trip has been performed in twenty days and fourteen hours, being th quickest on record.

The U. S. ship St. Louis was at Aspinwall, to sail on the evening of the 18th for New York.

U. S. sloop-of-war St. Mary's, Com. Davis, had arrived at San Francisco, in twenty-nine days from Honolulu, all well.

Lieut. Cohen is a passenger in the Moses Taylor, bearing dispatches from Com. Long of the frigate Merrimac, which had arrived at Callao.

During the past fortnight the weather has been remarkably fine throughout the State. The crops are flourishingly finely, and there being sufficient water in the rivers, and miners are able to work to good advantage, and in many instances are doing well.

There is nothing interesting to communicate to our Eastern readers.

There are only three Democratic papers in the State that sustain the President's views in relation to Kansas as enunciated in his special message; the balance, some twenty, are opposed to the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution.

James Nahir, aged fifty years, and formerly from New Hampshire, was suddenly killed on the 15th Feb. while at work in his hydraulic claim, near Dutch Flake.

On the 22d ult., an awful tragedy occurred at Grass Valley, in Placer County. Michael Brennan, late President of the Mount Hope Quartz Mining Company, killed himself and whole family, consisting of his wife Lorinda and three children, Ellen, Robert, and Lorinda.

The News is informed that on the 15th inst., the snow at St. Louis, Sierra county, was three feet deep, and still falling. All communication between there and La Porte, a distance of six miles, was on snow shoes.

PITTSBURG, PA., March 24.—An immense Democratic Anti-Lecompton meeting was held at the City Hall to-night. G. F. Gilmore, the editor of the Post, presided, assisted by 44 Vice Presidents, and 14 Secretaries.

Wm. A. Stokes made a bold and eloquent speech, asserting that the Lecompton fraud, if forced upon the people of Kansas, would cause the revolution to be acted over again, to establish the rights of self-government.

Resolutions, reaffirming the Cincinnati Platform, and the doctrine of popular rights, were passed be acclamation.

John W. Forney addressed the meeting at length with great ability on Kansas affairs. The meeting was one of the largest ever held by the Democrats in this city.

WASHINGTON, March, 24.—[Correspondence of the N. Y. Tribune.]—Mr. Mason significantly intimated in the Senate today that Minnesota would not be allowed to pass into the Union till the fate of Kansas should have been decided in the House.

Mr. Harris will be removed to Judge Douglas's house to-morrow, as it is more comfortable than his lodgings. He is far gone in consumption. His absence will be severely felt in the Lecompton debate, but his vote will not be lost, for he means to be carried to the House when the vote is taken, however ill he may be.

BOSH.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Courier and Enquirer says it is understood there, that the removal of Judge Loring will be followed by his appointment as U. S. District Judge or Assistant Treasurer. Better wait till there is a vacancy before appointing Loring to the Judgeship.

☞ We understand that the Newmarket Manufacturing Company are about to rebuild their Mill No. 2, which was destroyed by fire last fall. This was considered their best mill, and the loss of it has occasioned much inconvenience in their operations.

Mr. John Kimball, aged 91 years, and his brother, Mr. Joseph Kimball, aged 86 years, who both live seven miles from the polls in Canterbury, N. H., rode thither on the 9th, and voted the Republican ticket.

More than 500,000 Bottles SOLD IN THE NEW ENGLAND STATES IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Bestorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hutchinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation, I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

Morning Chronicle.

FREE NEGROES.—The Richmond Enquirer estimates the number of free negroes in Virginia at 65,000; the Whig puts them higher—at 80,000. At the present session of the legislature a bill has been introduced—and perhaps is undecided now—to remove this whole class, or sell them into slavery. Their removal is out of the question; to sell them would be the greatest game at kidnapping ever played in the world. We do not wonder that they are not acceptable to the whites, being generally thriftless and semi-barbarous; but they are one of the fruits of slavery.—Newburyport Herald.

AMUSEMENTS.—I doubt the validity of any amusement that is thought proper for the people, but improper for the minister. Let one ask himself, "What is there in this amusement which makes it right for me, but wrong for the minister?"—E. H. Chap'n.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these Pills are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their relation to their practice:

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Carswell, of New Orleans.

"Your Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Dell, of New York City.

"Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as cathartics, but I find them the most beneficial effect upon the Liver very marked indeed. During the time I have my practice proved them effectual for the cure of bilious complaints, and those of the Liver, in a manner so decidedly superior to anything previously known to me, that I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Ruer, of St. Louis.

"The Pills you sent me, were kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the diseases of the human system, that they seem to work upon them like magic. I have cured many cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally discovered them to be almost all the compliance for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Mr. E. Stuart, who practices as a Physician and Midwife in Jamaica.

"I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effective in dislodging the mucus and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Fonda, Montreal, Canada.

"Not great minded be will, who prefers any other cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming to the world of the benefit of a medicine free from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe coldness to originate in the liver, but your Pills effect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Enskin Bell, Philadelphia.

"You write me, that your Sarsaparilla and Pills purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice, and agree with you statements of their efficacy. They stimulate the excretories, and carry off the impurities that make the blood a source of disease. They also stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such remedies as you profure are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—PILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS—FITS—&c.

From Dr. Edward Bond, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot resist the urgent complaints I have met with your Pills better than to say all that we ever treat with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on them as an adjuvant in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the careful consequences that frequently follow its improper exhibition. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every course of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints. Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER, M.D., Chemist, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As this traffic annually grows more wider and better known, this medicine has gradually risen from the obscurity of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peasant to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every village and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what man of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the testimony of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon anything, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

Maryland State Lotteries.

R. FRANCE & CO.....MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 and upwards are sold with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are bogus. It is well known it is next to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all such Lotteries. Where the Capital Prize is usually large in comparison to the price of tickets—In every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to sell his individual certificates, if he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that the parties have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme the ticket holders everywhere must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the popular one number system, and cheap, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, offered by R. FRANCE & CO., managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to execute his trust faithfully, that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present. Managers would particularly call the attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages of tickets receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

FUNERAL OF A NEW YORK ROWDY.—The funeral of Patrick McLaughlin, or Paudeen, as he was called, took place in New York on Wednesday afternoon from John Lyng's drinking saloon. A great number of "fancy people," male and female, were out on the occasion, and the Express says made a flash demonstration that has not been equalled since the famous funeral of William Poole. Houston street and Broadway were crowded, and the house tops and windows were black with people, all manifesting the greatest interest in all the proceedings. When the undertaker notified the friends of the deceased that he was about to close the coffin, they surrounded it, and displayed the greatest emotion, many of them crying aloud. Some threw themselves upon the coffin and repeatedly kissed the features of the deceased, and the fanciest of the fighting men manifested the deepest grief at the loss of their friend.—The hearse was drawn by four white horses.

MURDERED BY HIS SLAVES.—The Louisville Democrat gives an account of the murder of Mr. James Maxwell, of Spencer County, Kentucky, by three of his slaves. Mr. Maxwell resided on the road between Bloomfield and Bardstown, a few miles from the Nashville railroad. He is stated to have had occasion to correct two of his negro women, and gave them a whipping. Business called him away an hour or two afterwards, and he did not return until late at night, when he was waylaid, about a mile from his house, by the three men slaves, who attacked him with clubs. He wounded two of them, but they finally knocked him down and killed him. The two who had been wounded then fled, and the other returned home, and claiming to be innocent, told of the deed which the others had committed, though he endeavored to prevent them. The informer is in jail in Springfield. Pursuits were undertaken as soon as the neighborhood could be aroused, and the two murderers were overtaken and arrested near Bardstown and lodged in jail in that town.

☞ The Milford Republican says of the suicide, Boutwell, at Antrim:

He started in company with his wife for Hillsborough Bridge, for the purpose of purchasing a stove, as he was about to commence housekeeping. On his way, he left his wife at his sister's, and started on until he came to a piece of woods, where he coolly tied his horse by the reins, took the halter, and went about twenty rods into the woods, and hung himself on a limb of a tree. It is evident that he died without a struggle. When found, he had hung there about four hours. The loss of property was probably the cause.

He was a young man of good habits, and notwithstanding the loss of about $1000, he had sufficient left to make life easy and pleasant. Up to the very afternoon he committed suicide, he laughed and talked with his friends, and appeared more cheerful than usual. He was 31 years of age; and about three years ago worked for Dea. Freeman Crosby, of Milford, on a farm.—He leaves a young and beautiful wife, and hosts of friends, to mourn his melancholy end.

Poor fellow! (says Uncle Tohy) to drop off in that fashion, for the loss of a little money! He did not "buy as though he possessed not."

HOME MISSIONARY ENTERPRISE. — The Manchester American states that a wealthy member of one of the Congregational churches in Boston, having had his soul stirred at the religious destitution of Coos county, has engaged eight young men of the senior class at Andover, to spend their spring vacation of six weeks in missionary labors in that region, and will bear the whole expense, nearly or quite $400, out of his own pocket.

☞ The new President of Mexico has written a letter to the Pope at Rome, informing him of the decrees in favor of the church, and assuring him that in Mexico there are neither unbelievers nor hardened infidels, but the entire nation are attached to him personally and firm in the faith. As a whole he lays the Mexican people at his feet, prays that he may deign to bless them, and closes with the most profound veneration of the Pope's most "devoted son"—Felix Zuloaga.

☞ In Crown Point, N. Y., recently, three men called at a public house for liquor. The keeper of the house tapped a new barrel to supply them; they drank, and two of them died, almost instantly; the other barely escaped with his life. There was probably a little too much strychnine put in that time.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The Senate Committee on Territories will report at once a bill for a judicial district in Arizona. They decided this morning. Senator Gwin will move his Senatorial bill as a substitute, and support it by a strong speech. He predicted the most disastrous consequences from the defeat of the bill, and accused the Republicans with keeping open the agitation to promote their Presidential electioneering purposes.

During the speaking in the House this evening, nearly all the seats were deserted, and when the adjournment took place, at nine o'clock, only three members were present.

Lewiston B. Harding, register and Disbursing Clerk of the Navy Department, a position he has held since 1830, died suddenly last night. He was yesterday in apparently good health.

The select committee raised by Mr. Florence's resolution to investigate the circumstances connected with the purchase of the site of the Bank of Pennsylvania for the post office in Philadelphia, to-day examined ex-Postmaster General Campbell, who entered into a minute history of the transaction and spoke of the care he took not to pay for the property more than it was worth. Several weeks ago a rumor reached him that a high officer of the government had received a fee from the bank, and he ascertained that John Miller, late Postmaster, of Philadelphia, was the person implicated the charge. Subsequently in conversation Mr. Miller informed him that after the purchase was effected, Mr. Allibone, president of the bank, gave him what he considered himself intitled to for services rendered in perfecting the sale.—Mr. Campbell said that until recently he knew nobody connected with the post office department that participated in such a transaction.

Col. John Oakford, late Chief Clerk in the Post-office Department, testified that it was not known or suspected, at the time of the purchase, that an officer was to have a pecuniary interest in the transaction.

Mr. Thomas Allibone was next examined. He said that after the property had been offered to the Government, Mr. Miller, instructed by the Postmaster General, called on him as to the price of the site, and was informed in response to his inquiry, $250,000 was the lowest sum without any commission. It was sold for that amount and it was paid by a Government check. Mr. Miller afterwards asked Mr. Allibone to give him what his services were worth, and he himself suggested $25,000. Mr. Allibone gave him a check for $8,000 and another for $13,000.—There was no previous agreement.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

REPUBLICAN FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

The United States shall give unto every State in this Union, a republican form of government.—Act 8, Sec. 4. Constitution of U. S.

Question—Is a State Constitution which tolerates slavery, a republican form of government? We hold that it is not. Suppose that a State Constitution tolerates or upholds despotic power, or an oligarchy, will any one contend that it would be republican in form? Wherein is the difference? If it tolerates slavery, it virtually upholds an oligarchy, the inevitable consequence of slavery, and an oligarchy (a many headed monster) is a more tyrannical and oppressive form of government than that of a single despot. The expression, "a republican form of government" was intended by the formers of the Federal Constitution to embrace substance as well as form. The verbal declaration must indeed be without meaning, unless it includes substance. What is our form of government—what is that of England, France, or other countries? The answer shows that it is free, monarchial or despotic.

That of the states is a democratic republican form of government—and it is very clear that the expression was inserted in order to invest the United States, or Congress, with full power to reject any State Constitution, when the people apply for their admission into the Union, unless the principles upon which it is based, be in conformity to the theory of our free political institutions. Otherwise the several States might become heterogenous masses in conflict with the structure of the Federal constitution. The guarantee may be applicable to States long admitted, in the event that any one should undertake to change its republican form to that of an arbitrary form of government. But it is not our present purpose to go into an argument upon the point, but merely call public attention to it. In 1820 in the debates upon the admission of Missouri, Northern members of Congress contended that because her constitution tolerated slavery, it was anti-republican in form. If the position was sound then, it must be so now. The same question was raised when Arkansas was admitted in 1836, as appears by Mr. Benton's "Thirty Years View," vol. 1, fol. 633. Among others the Hon. Caleb Cushing opposed the admission of Arkansas into the Union with a Constitution tolerating slavery "as anti-republican, as wrong in general principles of civil polity."

Surely the doctrine is equally applicable to the Lecompton Constitution, although the advocates of the latter contend that it is republican in form; and its opponents seem to pass in silence the radical objection that was raised against the constitutions referred to. X. Y.

THE KANSAS HERALD OF FREEDOM.—The editor of the Kansas Herald of Freedom thus effectually explains a recent report that his paper was supporting the Lecompton Constitution:

"The Washington Union has been copying some articles from the Leavenworth Herald, endorsing the Lecompton Constitution, and urging its passage through Congress, as the quickest way of settling the Kansas embroglio, and crediting them to the Herald of Freedom."

This exposure of its contemptible trickery places the government organ in a very unpleasant position.

☞ We copy on our 4th page, two very rich editorials from the N. H. Gazette of Saturday, touching the great Kansas question. These editorials show up the Lecompton swindle in its most disgusting aspects, and go rather beyond Douglas and the "Black Republicans" in reflecting dishonor upon the federal administration, which is using its energies to force Lecompton through the House.

CONGRESS.—On Friday, March 26, the Senate was not in session. The House debated the Lecompton swindle, and Mr. Smith of Virginia read Gov. Wise out of the Democratic party. Mr. Davis of Indiana did the same favor for Mr. Smith.

Mr. Davis said that Mr. Smith had no right to read him or any other out of the Democratic party. Nine-tenths of the Democrats of the free States stood with him against Lecompton. If the gentlemen from Virginia attempts to read them out, he will find they will read him out.

☞ Senator Pugh of Ohio occupies the "Ensign Stebbins" platform upon Lecompton. He made a speech for it on Tuesday, but announced that under instructions from his home legislature he should vote against it. "He believes in the law, but is agin its operation," which is what the immortal Stebbins said of the Maine law.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, March 20.

Wednesday was the day when all the genuine sons of "ould Ireland" join in a great jollification in honor of their patron saint. All the sectional feuds of Tipperary, Cork and Derry are drowned in the mutual mug of poteen which every mother's son must imbibe to the honor of "St. Patrick's day in the morning," and the merry greetings smiling on every Paddy's phiz beam out from under his best hat, decorated with a green twig in imitation of the national shamrock.

St. Patrick's day is proverbially stormy, like a New Hampshire election; but this year, to match everything in general, and financial affairs and the season in particular, this spontaneous custom was reversed, and a more genial atmosphere never reminded the wandering sons of Green Erin of their own dear island home. New York for this day if no other is pre-eminently Irish. The procession numbered 8000, consisting of Irish military companies and civic societies. Of the latter the Order of Ancient Hibernians was the most numerous, and the "Blue Greens" of Erin the most characteristic in their title. Broadway was lined for miles with Milesians of all grades and sexes. The bands discoursed Irish music, the flags and banners and uniforms were all of the deep national green with the emblematical harp, and the "rich Irish brogue" predominated everywhere in the throng. In fact, the general aspect of everything is so universally Irish, that the spectator is almost forced into the illusion that he is Irish himself.

The great event of the month is the visit of the Turkish Rear Admiral Mahommed Pacha and suite. They are the "lions," and are regarded as literally so in one respect, for they are treated by the sovereign people more like the tame curiosities of a menagerie than the representatives of the Sublime Porte. It is rumored that the Admiral has privately expressed himself in no flattering terms of the officials of the city government deputed to wait upon his excellency, they being certain members of the City Council who represent more faithfully a disreputable class of politicians, than the wealth and respectability of our enlightened community. At the mercy of this officious escort, they are dragged to all the institutions, while the populace turn out to see "the Turk," and the daily papers dilate over the details of his hourly proceedings.

An echo from the granite hills reached our ears early on the morning of the 10th. The facilities which the New York associated press have at command for transmission of intelligence from all quarters, enabled the daily papers on this occasion to present to their readers in the first morning issue—2 o'clock A. M.—election returns from 129 towns, showing conclusively the result. The sons of Portsmouth here were thus in receipt of the eagerly anticipated news some time earlier than it was known at home.

The religious revival proceeds with unabated vigor, the participants gaining in numbers and enthusiasm every week. Daily meetings are held in ten or twelve different places. The dull business season greatly favors the continuation of the religious excitement. The negro churches are, as usual on these occasions, particularly active. Prolonged meetings are held every evening. Their congregations are boisterous with enthusiasm, from sunset till a late hour at night. In the John street Methodist church, the most remarkable conversion is that of Orville, aias 'Awful,' Gardner, formerly a notorious gambler and blackleg, and at the present time under two indictments before the criminal court, for crimes sufficient to condemn him to the State Prison. This convict in future is now a convert and a promising minister of the gospel, drawing crowds every Sabbath to listen to his newly acquired inspiration, at a church in East 17th st.

Last week the old theatre building on Chambers street, long since deserted by the drama, was opened and appropriated to the use of a Union Prayer Meeting, held at noon-day; and notwithstanding it is the fourth down town assembly held at that hour for the purpose, it is attended by crowds of merchants, clerks and laborers. "Islington" spent half an hour yesterday a desperate effort to obtain admission, but even his reportorial sanctity was of no avail in making his way through the crowd further than the portals; so he was compelled reluctantly to relinquish, for the time being, his endeavors to squeeze thro' the narrow path, and went on in the Broad-way that leadeth to the place where he is accustomed to obtain his dinner.

Strongly as opposing opinions may disapprove of the particular nature and forms of this movement, it is undoubtedly productive of much good, and for that great object it should have the countenance and good will of all. It is fair to assert that a large majority of those who are the subjects of the present awakening are really sincere; and even if it had the effect of bringing but a small proportion to a consciousness of their previous sin, and drawing attention to the fact that they are immortal and self-accountable beings, and that a supreme being approves every act of self-reformation and improvement, the 'revival' will have fulfilled an inestimable mission of good. ISLINGTON.

DOVER COURT.—At the S. J. Court in Dover, last week, Timothy R. Perkins, was arraigned for breaking and entering the store of Thomas C. Davis of Rochester, last Summer, in company with Rogers and Bixby, and stealing a large quantity of clothing,—plead guilty, and was sentenced to hard labor in the State Prison for five years. Rogers and Bixby are still at large, having broken jail last fall.

Seth Rowe, indicted for selling rum, plead guilty, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50.00, and costs of prosecution, and stand committed until paid. Committed.

John Shields, (a young lad 13 years old,) for breaking and entering the dwelling house of George Mathewson of Dover and stealing therefrom one pair of boots of the value of $2.00; plead guilty, and was sentenced to one year's hard labor in the State's Prison.

Michael McGuinness, for selling rum, plead guilty. Sentenced to pay a fine of $50.00 and costs.

Samuel Quimby plead guilty to three indictments for the same offence, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50.00 and costs on each.

Arthur Hughes, James H. Jones, William H. Brown and Charles Murray, for breaking and entering Charles Twombly's Blacksmith's shop, in Dover, on the 18th of January, in the day time, and stealing tools therefrom, were sentenced:—Jones and Hughes one year each,—Brown three years and Murray four years in the State's prison.

Clark Wentworth, for breaking and entering the dwelling-house of Nathaniel Wiggin, in Dover, and stealing a quantity of fresh beef therefrom, was sentenced to three years in state's prison.

☞ In Newburyport, March 24, two loafers were fined each one dollar and costs for blockading the sidewalk, by standing thereon, day after day, (as some of their brethren do elsewhere,)—but as they did not muster the money, they went to jail for 30 days. The Herald says:

Patrick McNulty, for a violent assault with an iron bar upon the person of WM. Lockery, whereby an ugly wound of some inches in length was made upon the head of said Lockery, was the next victim. McNulty is the landlord of "Misery Row" den, and was "provoked" to make this assault by the excessive impudence of Lockery, who requested him not to sell his father any more rum. He was fined $12, from which he appealed. He gave bonds in $200 to prosecute his appeal. A cross action was then commenced against Wm. Lockery and John Muldone, for an assault at the same time upon Ellen, the wife of Patrick, which failed in consequence of the witnesses being unable to swear sufficiently strong to convict them.

☞ A letter from Lexington, Ky., says that there are three mulatto girls in the jail in that city, which a Cincinnati gentleman brought from Baltimore, and sold for $1000 apiece, though he pretended, when he took them from Baltimore, that he was taking them to Philadelphia to give them their freedom. They had been left to the Cincinnatian as a legacy by his deceased uncle; and one of the girls, who is very handsome, modest and intelligent, says he could easily have sold them in Baltimore, instead of getting praise by false pretences that he was to make them free. She finally said that all she had to ask of him was to give her a certificate of church membership, which he had in his pocket.

BEAUTY.

What greater torment ever could have been,
Than to enforce the fair to live retir'd?
For what is beauty if it be not seen?
Or what is't to be seen—if not admir'd?
And tho' admir'd, unless in love desir'd?
Never were cheeks of roses, locks of amber,
Ordain'd to live imprison'd in a chamber.

Nature created beauty for a view,
(Like as the fire for heat, the sun for light:)
The fair do hold this privilege as due,
By ancient charter, to live most in sight.
And she that is debarr'd it hath not right.
In vain our friends from this do us debort,
For beauty will be where is most resort.
—Daniel.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The Senate Committee on Territories to-day reconsidered the bill establishing a government in Arizona, which had previously been ordered to be reported, and unanimously defeated it. Mr. Douglas had put in an amendment preventing a repetition of Lecompton frauds, which the Southern members did not detect till recently, and then, finding popular sovereignty udpalatable, they repudiated their own offspring.

(Tribune Correspondence.)—The President has a War-in-Spain-Cuba-seizing message ready to be sent in on the passage of Lecompton.

(Times correspondence.) Col. Benton is confined to his bed with cancer of the stomach. He works upon his abridgement of the Congressional Debates as steadily as ever, and hopes to live long enough to finish it.

☞ The Chinese New Year, which begins on the 13th of February, was celebrated in San Francisco in becoming style by the Celestials. Any quantity of firecrackers were exploded, young pigs eaten, and strong tea drank from baby-cups.—"John" was out in holiday apparel, and rather astonished the "outside barbarians" by the width of his blue gown, and the length of the new silken addition to his tail.

☞ It was stated by Mr. Joseph Story, at the prayer meeting at the Old South Chapel, Boston, one day last week, that on the last Saturday evening fifteen thousand persons had visited the lager beer saloons of that city. This number was ascertained by actual count.

For the Chronicle.

"A NEW FEATURE."

Messrs. Editors:—"Inches," in a communication in Saturday's Chronicle, is evidently laboring under an erroneous impression concerning the "Union morning prayer meetings." "Inches" thinks:

The great "central truth of Christianity—love and obedience to Christ, as the Redeemer of lost men—asserts its predominance over denominational disagreements."

But the fact that the Pastor of a large Society "bearing the Christian name," has been forbidden to take part in these "Union meetings," because he does not believe in the dogma of endless sin and suffering—is quite conclusive evidence that creeds and rituals are not entirely forgotten; but that this one dogma is the centre around which the professed "Union" revolves.

We heartily wish that pleasant word "Union" could bear its largest significance, in this instance; but from our silent observation of the movement, we have discovered "a new feature" in the meaning of the word; and we honestly opine that the religious sentiment of Portsmouth will have to grow and expand several liberal inches, before it bursts the limitation of creeds.

May the time hasten, when the yearning heart of the people shall attain that bread for which it hungers—when there shall dwell within our gates, less Pharesaical bigotry, and more of "the fruit of the Spirit."

FEET.

THE MORNING PRAYER MEETING.—Messrs. Editors:—Please give the following a place in your paper, and oblige one of the originators of this interesting movement.

Be it known to all men that the morning prayer meetings held in this City, were got up and have, and will still be, continued by the business men of the city, without the aid of the clergy.

And it was the design and desire of all who feel an interest in the general welfare of the community, that no sectarian feeling should be allowed to disturb the harmony of the meetings.

And it is the request of all who have the general welfare of the cause of our Savior at heart, that all such persons, whether clergymen or laymen, as cannot meet without feeling it their duty to advance the cause of Christ by breaking down any person or society, to seek some other place to advance their views. But rather let us endeavor to hold up a better light, if we have it, and in such a manner as shall convince those whom we may address, of the truth and beauty springing from the religion of our Savior, which leads men to embrace that religion which imparts pleasure, joy and love, and fills the soul with glory;—such peace as the world cannot impart, nor disturb: it will remove all fear and anxiety in life, secure a triumphant death, and an unshaken confidence in the promises of the word of God, of an entrance into paradise to spend an eternity with our Savior in his kingdom of glory.

MELCHISEDEC.

THE SHIP FRANKLIN.—The following paragraph from the correspondence of the New York Post explains the resolution of inquiry introduced in the U. S. Senate on Thursday, relative to the conversion of the ship Franklin into a screw steamer:

"An appropriation of about $300,000 will be asked for in the Senate in a few days, to enable the large steamship Franklin, now on the stocks at the Navy Yard, Portsmouth, N. H., to be furnished with an engine, launched and equipped. This ship was built about two years ago, and is said to be the finest steam war frigate ever constructed in this country. She will carry ten more guns than the Wabash or the steamers of her class. Her model varies advantageously in many important points from the other fine steam frigates lately built. It is to be regretted that so fine a ship should be allowed to remain upon the stocks unfinished and unprotected from decay, as she cannot be so well preserved in her present position as when she is in the water and finished throughout. Her dimensions are as follows:—length over all, 320 feet: breadth 55 feet; depth 34 feet; tunnage 4000.

☞ All classes of traders are requested to meet at the store of Messrs. Jones & Mendum this (Monday) evening, at 7 o'clock, to consult about "shutting up time" after the 1st of April, as the present arrangement will then expire.

☞ The alarm of fire on Saturday afternoon arose from the burning of bushes on Christian Shore.

☞ It will be seen, we think, that our old friend Dr. E. R. Clarke, of Sharon, Mass., is yet "round amongst the rest of us;" and as the best means of letting folks know it, he has concluded to put himself in the Chronicle. The Dr. is a pretty good-looking fellow; and, by the rule that "handsome is who handsome does," he he will average very well—for he knows how to "do up the handsome thing."

Horrible Murder!!

Woman Killed, and Husband Wounded!!!

RUM DID IT!!!!

It becomes our sad duty this morning to announce the horrible murder of Mrs. Daniel H. Spinney, of this city, and the attempted murder of the gentleman himself, for whom the fatal shot was intended, and who was actually wounded in the arm.

It was impossible to obtain all the facts last night, but as near as we can learn, it appears that Mr. Daniel H. Spinney with his wife had taken tea at the house of Nelson N. Downing, (at Christian Shore,) who is a cousin of Mrs. Spinney. Early Sunday evening a difficulty arose between the two men, in which Downing, who had been drinking, was the aggressor, and in which he was overpowered. Spinney with his wife then left the house, amid the threats of Downing that he would shoot them. They started for their home, on White's Road, by way of the depot, and Downing was seen to leave his house with a gun for the Creek, via Jericho Road.

We hear statements that Downing was followed by Spinney's brother, who warned the pursued parties of their danger, but made no attempt to shield them from harm, or call for assistance to prevent the consummation of the murderous designs. As to the truth of the story we are unable to vouch. This much is known with certainty: Soon after 8 o'clock, when Mr. Spinney and his wife were opening the door of their house, the gun was fired from the opposite side of the road, and Mr. Spinney immediately exclaimed; "I am shot; My God! he has shot Sarah." Mrs. Spinney fell dead instantly, a buck shot having entered her brain. Mr. Spinney was shot through the arm. Several shot holes are to be seen in and around the door of the house. Downing immediately ran towards the woods and at last accounts had not been captured. Soon after he left another report was heard, leading some to suppose that he has committed suicide.

The excitement in the city, last night, was intense, and hundreds visited the scene of the brutal murder. Downing had been drinking deeply all day, it is said.

P. S.—Downing returned to his home a little before midnight, and was arrested by Officer Foote, and placed in jail. He did not seem to be aware of what he had done—at any rate, nothing was said respecting the murder, by him or the officers. He said he had shot at Spinney, and hoped he should have another chance.

Downing is not far from 40 years old, and has a wife and six children. He is a peaceable man enough when not under the influence of liquor. He was employed in running a sawmill at the Navy Yard, under Capt. Theo. F. Rowe. Spinney is a wood-dealer, and denounced Rowe as a rascal, stating that he owed him $100 for wood. Upon Downing defending Rowe, Spinney called him a rascal too, stating that he also owed him. After more words, Spinney is said to have laid hands on D., who knocked him down. Of course it is impossible to ascertain the truth at this time.

CAPT. HOBBS.—The statement in the Boston Journal of Saturday evening, Mch. 27th, purporting to be private intelligence from the frigate Merrimac, in relation to Capt. Hobbs of the ship Morning Glory, is entirely without foundation. The Merrimac was at Callao, and not at Valparaiso, by last advices.

Letters were received from Capt. Hobbs by the owners of the Morning Glory, dated Valparaiso, Feb. 15th, together with his accounts, the ship being ready for sea, and would sail for England immediately.

In relation to the shooting affair; some time in January he slightly wounded one of his men, in self defence. This man had previously stabbed the mate. On the 15th of February he reports the matter settled to his entire satisfaction, and that the man had recovered.

More than 500,000 Bottles

SOLD IN THE NEW ENGLAND STATES IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being last dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHECTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

From the N. H. Gazetteh

Kansas.

General John Calhoun, the candle-box man, has, at last, in the plentitude of his graciousness, condescended to examine the contents of his breeches pockets, and enlighten the gaping world with the result of his investigations. In another column will be found his letter, certifying to the election of a large majority,—two-thirds in one and nearly that in the other branch of the Kansas Legislature under the Lecompton Constitution. In view of the fact that he has at last resolved to do what is simply right, just and lawful in this matter, when the opposite course would probably have embroiled this country in the horrors of revolution and civil war, and ensured for him a swing by the neck from the branch of the nearest tree on his return to Kansas; in view of his notable condescension, help us, ye Powers, to be duly grateful! We have in vain sought for some reasonable excuse for his action, and we can account for it only on the ground that he has kept the matter within his control so that he might practice further fraud upon the people, not merely of Kansas, but of the entire Union. An honest and prompt count of the votes returned to him, would have satisfied the country, strengthened the administration, and cheered and united the Democracy throughout the North and West.—But by his shameless trick, his equivocation and delay, he has done the Administration more harm than Douglas, Walker, Wise, and the whole posse of anti-Lecompton Democrats. Had this wretch of a Calhoun been choked into submission at an earlier period, New Hampshire might have sent a Democrat to the Senate, where unless a different policy prevails, his vote in the course of a few years would be of some value. Connecticut might have been redeemed, and black republicanism shorn of much of its strength even in New England.—Had the certificates been granted, as they should have been, in the onset of this affair, before the Union and its imitators had exasperated the feelings of as staunch and true Democrats as ever drew breath, by their scurrilous slang and impotent 'reading out," Kansas would have been admitted without serious opposition from any other than black republican sources. But better late than never. It is now settled that justice will be done, and that the free state will have a control of the government of the new state from the hour of her admission. The argument which some of the opponents of the administration still cling to, that the Governor of Kansas will retain a veto power, and that in one branch of the Legislature the free state party will not have a two-thirds vote is very futile. The Kansas fashion is for the majority to read out all the minority, and read in their political friends. No one can doubt that three-fourths of the proslavery members would lose their seats by action of the bodies to which they are returned.

We regret, and have always regretted that the Administration took upon itself the endorsement of the Lecompton movement, though we believe it did so from the purest and most patriotic purposes, and from a deep conviction of constitutional obligation. Yet in the present plan of Kansas affairs, with the certainty that no practical evil can befal the people of Kansas, with the certainty that they can and will alter or abolish the Lecompton Constitution at pleasure, we see no reason why any one outside of the black republican organization, should fail to be the friend of the administration in its efforts to close up this silly and sickening squabble.

We fear that Calhoun has made his developements at too late a date to have much effect upon the chances of the question in Congress, but we hope the opposition of Democrats may be weakened, and that Kansas may be speedily compelled to take her rank among the sister states, and no longer play the part of a squalling, restless brat, to be nursed, rocked and dandled by the whole household, and still keep the domestic establishment in an uproar.

LECOMPTON THROUGH THE SENATE.—It will be seen from the Congressional proceedings of Tuesday, that the bill to admit Kansas with the Lecompton Constitution passed the Senate by eight majority. The fate of the bill in the House is still uncertain, the opponents of the bill insist that they will defeat it by a majority of seven, but we think the chances are rather in favor of its passage. If, however, every gassy member insists upon his right to bore the House and the country with a rehash of arguments and declamation for and against the measure, final action upon it will not be reached till next May. We hope we shall live long enough to see the —— thing disposed of!

At the burning of W. H. Parmenter & Co.'s store in Barnstead, N. H., on the 27th ult., there was a remarkable instance of cool courage. "The proprietors, with other citizens, were immediately on hand, and on going into the store and up the stairs, and seeing the entire attic in a blaze, Mr. P. returned and told his neighbors present to save the goods, as the store they could not. In the mean time some had commenced to stay the fire and others to remove the goods. Parmenter again went up, and seeing fire dropping upon the head of a couple of kegs of powder again retreated, and meeting Mr. Nathaniel T. Smart, cried out, 'for God's sake don't go up, as there is powder.' Mr. Smart pushed him aside and went into the chamber, extinguished the fire which had caught the paper stopple of one of the kegs with his thumb and finger, then tipped them up and brushed the fire from their heads and taking them under each arm walked deliberately down and out into the street, thus securing themselves against further danger from the powder."

STATE FAIR.—At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the State Agricultural Society, held at Concord last week, it was decided that the next Fair should be held in Dover, provided the necessary subscription should be raised to meet a portion of the expenses.

Maryland State Lotteries.

R. FRANCE & CO.....MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries every business day. It is hard out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets at One Dollar. In instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the hope of ever getting a penny back. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is usually large in comparison to the price of tickets—In every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Blind, is the only Lottery in Kentucky, and is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which pretend to be decided by the Maryland Drawings are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates, if he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Managers would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lottery of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing sent to all purchasers of tickets.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRANCE & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commission selected by the legislature, and sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day in the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Tenary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was a Diploma awarded to these Manufactures.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or keys, the lower one running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by a ⁄ of the coupler, the two manuals or keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two sets of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical instruments, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited at the payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, addressed to the subscribers, with the money, cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

TO THE MEMORY OF
CAPT. JOHN S. D. DENNETT,
[Who died at sea, near Key West, Oct. 8th, 1856.]
Requiescat in pace.

Ah death! ah death! thy cruel hand
Stays not to question noble worth,
But enters grim the peaceful band,
And desolates the homestead hearth;
Where rosy love is happiest seen,
Where social pleasure warms the heart,
Ah! there, how seeming dark thy mien,
To rend the ties of joy apart.

Ties not of adamantine power,
Nor like the oak of ancient years,
Whose strength of ages, in an hour,
Lies with the gentle sapling's tears;
But soft and tender, sweetly wove
Around the greenest genial days;
Alas! the only light of love
That still retains its wonted blaze.

That woke when the first infant blest
The anxious parents all in smiles,
That blossoms in a sister's breast
Remembrances of youthful wiles.
Perchance a brother's moistening eyes
Full fitten seek that fount of truth,
The earnest yearning bosom sighs
Through manhood's wrecks it is not youth.

It is not youth, long years have fled,
The pulse of life is warm and strong,
We gaze within their shadowy tread,
And weep o'er blight and crime and wrong.
It is not youth, we sour once more
Far from the river's turbid course,
And near the bubble of its roar
No care distracts that gentle source.

'Tis youth, sweet youth, how calm we feel,
Though eyes with tears of nature flow,
'Tis the heart's mountains that congeal
Through many an hour of frost and snow,
We breath once more in those sweet homes;
When heaven, in glory all arrayed,
Lay pillowed on this world of ours,
Nor glared between your ghastly shade.

The joys upon our native plain,
When wand'ring side by side in glee,
The pleasures on the mimic main,
And 'neath the shady homestead tree;
The partings— bitter burning pangs—
The smiles that blest the wand'rer back,
Now on the shrine of memory hangs,
Like sunbeams on the bowering rack.

These are the spells that sweetly still
She! a benign refulgent light;
The walks he trod, his every will,
His tone so cheerful—sweet delight!
Ah linger long blest pleasing strain,
Linger till time itself is o'er,
That voice will never wake again,
Save what fancy can restore.

Even where the torrid day beam poured
The yellow pest so shadowy fell,
Stretched his gaunt arms in wrath abroad,
And smote the life we loved so well,
Chill'd that high glance, unnerved the arm,
And froze the vital tide for aye,
The waves at even, hushed and calm,
Entombed the marble lifeless clay.

His nature like a meteor light,
Shede an exulting rapturous glow,
Above the meaner mortals flight
Where lofty spirits deign to go;
When tempests roared so calm and true,
When thunders roll'd and lightnings played,
Mark 'midst the blanching ghastly crew
The majesty his soul displayed.

His warmth 'twas still a fervid zeal,
Brave midst the brave, benignly great,
Still generous for a comrade's weal—
Oh many a comrade mourn'd his fate,
A friend, ah! we, who knew him best,
Where heart-strings in his weal was found;
We loved him; peaceful be his rest,
Lull'd in the Ocean's vast profound.

No monumental stone shall e'er
Droop o'er his dust the marble pale
His grave no buds of spring can bear,
Yet what, O what, will this avail,
If canonized deep in the soul
Of those he loved in greener day,
This, this would be the happiest goal,
Far sweeter than the marble's praise.

Still in your heart's affections wove
Till earth's material shadows flee,
Retain the gentle force of love
Enshrined in blissful memory.
For though no friendly foot may tread,
Nor tears of love bedew his grave,
It speaks the glory of the dead,
That sleeps beneath the mournful wave.

AN EPISODE IN CRITTENDEN'S SPEECH.—Mr. Crittenden took up a pamphlet and read various citations from southern speeches, to the effect that slavery could not go into Kansas—among them a quotation from a speech by Mr. Keitt. Mr. Green of Missouri here fancied he saw an opportunity to put in his oar. He rose with his usual air of overwhelming superiority, and asked:

"What is that book from which the Senator reads?"

Mr. Crittenden replied that it was a compilation on the slavery question.

Mr. Green, evidently thinking he should bring out the name of some notorious abolitionist, demanded the author's name. Mr. Crittenden adjusted his spectacles with studied deliberation, examined the title page carefully, then turned to the impatient and expectant senator from Missouri, and said with peculiar emphasis, "the author does not put his name on the title page; he merely states that he is a southern state rights democrat." The Senate laughed, and its laughter redoubled, as, after vainly endeavoring to find something to say, Mr. Green with the blankest of blank looks, slowly subsided into his seat. —N. Y. Tribune.

THE UNEMPLOYED.—A fact of some consequence, in connection with the applications for aid which have been so numerous this winter, came out in the Board of Aldermen of our city, at their session on Wednesday evening last, when a member of the Board of Overseers stated that he had within a few days gone into two different gangs of laborers and offered them work at 75 cents a day. Not a man accepted the offer.—Salem Gazette.

They were mostly Irish laborers.

CALHOUN'S NEW PROCLAMATION.—It is a noteworthy fact that Regent Calhoun's proclamation of the result of the election in Kansas, declares that "certificates of election will accordingly issue" to the persons named. This election took place in Kansas on the 4th of January. It is now the 25th of March, and yet not a single person chosen to office has received a certificate of election. Nor has Calhoun issued the certificates, even since he found it necessary to come to the conclusion he announces, and the inference most likely to be drawn is that the certificates will issue only after the Lecompton affair shall have been disposed of in Congress, and no more votes are to be influenced by such publications. The whole of the State officers were chosen by the free State men quite as fairly as this legislative majority which is now conceded, and yet we do not read that Calhoun intends to give them to the free-soil candidates. On the contrary it is confidently stated that he has actually given certificates of election to the pro-slavery candidates for Governor and Representative in Congress. Some new piece of rascality, not yet apparent, is veiled under this proclamation.—Portland Adv.

SALE OF SHIP SOVEREIGN OF THE SEAS.—This ship, of 2400 tons, built in East Boston by Mr. D. McKay, in 1852, was recently sold in London for $40,000, having just undergone repairs to the amount of $12,500. Messrs. Funk & Mencke, of New York, bought her from Mr. McKay on her first voyage, and paid $150,000 for her. Last price, deducting from it the amount expended on repairs, $27,500.

☞ Mrs. Sally Eaton, of North Reading, died on the 1st inst., at the very advanced age of 102 years, 4 months and 20 days. She left 5 children, the oldest of whom is 76 years of age, and the youngest 58. She also leaves 22 grand-children, and 9 of the fifth generation.

DEATH.—At the morning prayer meeting at Hallowell, on Tuesday 23d inst., where three or four hundred were present, and an opening hymn of praise had been sung, Mr. Bartholomew Nason, a worthy citizen, aged 70 years, who was present with his wife, instantly expired.

☞ The Newburyport Herald says that if there could be a contest to-day between Buchanan and Douglas, in which all the Democrats of the Free States could vote, Buchanan would not receive the support of one in six of those who voted for him in 1856.

We are informed to-day on reliable authority that the Mississippi river is now clear of ice and that navigation has been resumed as high up as St. Paul's. This event has occurred something like six weeks earlier than last year, and will be good news to the hundreds who are anxiously awaiting it.—Bee.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUPPRESS INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a pin dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, MARCH 30, 1858.

A "SOUNDING GENERALITY".—We find there are persons who believe that before the Lecompton constitution was passed in the U. S. Senate, an amendment was adopted giving the people of Kansas the power to alter their constitution at any time, notwithstanding the clause in the constitution itself which prohibits them from doing so before 1864. This is a mistake. The amendment reads:

That nothing in this act shall be construed to abridge or infringe any right of the people asserted in the Constitution of Kansas, at all times to alter, reform or abolish their form of government in such manner as they may may think proper, &c.

The Lowell News says the amendment is simply 'a tub thrown to the whale.' The whole right to alter is made dependent on what is asserted in the Lecompton constitution. That constitution asserts that the people may alter it on or after 1864.

CONGRESS.—The Senate was not in session on Saturday.

In the House, the report of the select committee on the Matteson case was considered. After some discussion, the report, which recommends that no further action is expedient on the resolution for expulsion, was agreed to, by a vote of 96 to 69.

A discussion then ensued in regard to the motives which influenced Mr. Douglas to oppose the Lecompton Constitution. Mr. Smith of Va., charged that it was done to secure a reelection, and that it had been so stated by the Illinois delegation. The statement was denied by the members from Illinois.

The House then went into committee, and debated the Lecompton swindle.

Mr. Lane, delegate from Oregon, after speaking in support of the admission of that Territory as a State of the Union, branched off on Kansas, and advocated the Lecompton Constitution.

Mr. Hall, of Mass., opposed the Lecompton Constitution, and, in the course of his remarks, defended the deeds and memory of the Pilgrim Fathers.

He said—We live in a formation period, and the policy of the country is about to be changed, and from the elements around us the party of fortune will spring. The elements, thus far, have been resistant, but they will become conservative and acquire power and strength. Such a party cannot have a taint of sectionalism about it, and from the necessity of its construction it seems impossible that it can become aggressive on any constitutional or covenanted right of any portion of the people of the United States. The dominion of the slave power is over, or drawing to a close; and, as it draws to its close, the star of hope, for the reorganization of this government, on its original pattern, will rise in the ascendant.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Herald correspondence.)—A Democratic caucus was held this evening, and between 60 and 70 members were present. Mr. Cochrane was called to the Chair, and Mr. Seward of Ga. was appointed Secretary. Mr. Stephens of Ga. stated the object of the meeting to be to confer together—the Lecompton and anti-Lecompton Democrats—and see if some arrangement could not be made to unite the discordant elements. He was ready to hear any suggestions from those gentlemen upon the Kansas difficulty. Mr. English of Ind. then offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee be appointed by the Chair, to consist of 10 Lecompton and 10 anti-Lecompton Democrats, whose duty it shall be to confer together and ascertain whether anything can be done to secure harmony and concert of action in reference to the question of admitting Kansas into the Union, and that said committee report the result of their deliberations to this caucus for its consideration on Tuesday evening next, at 8 o'clock, to which time the caucus will adjourn.

Mr. English said—He concurred in what Mr. Stephens had said in reference to the importance of promoting harmony in the Democratic family. He liked the conciliating spirit of his speech, and deeply regretted that such a fraternal spirit had not been earlier manifested.

This caucus, and the discussion of Douglas's motives in the House, show the weakness of Lecompton, quite clearly. The offer of a compromise shows that the slave power is desirous to win back the fugitives or rather rebels, whom it cannot crush out. Meantime, in the same letter, we read as follows:

There has been a Republican convention in Washington, within the last few days. There were about 40 leading men of that party, coming from most of the States of the North. The President and Secretary of the New York organization have taken an active part. Their purpose is to form a more perfect organization for future operations.

☞ A letter to the Philadelphia Journal, written on board the U. S. frigate Minnesota, says that six or seven of the crew have been killed or crippled for life, by falling through the hatchway of the fire-room, since that vessel left the United States.

MISSIONARY LIVINGSTON VERSUS SENATOR HAMMOND.—Mr. Hammond, the Senator from South Carolina, in his late speech says:

"They (the blacks) are elevated from the condition in which God first created them, by being made slaves. None of that race on the face of the globe can be compared with the slaves of the South."

Mr. Livingston asserts distinctly, that among the negro tribes with which he came in contact, in the interior of Africa, the average intellectual intelligence among these tribes was in his opinion equal to that of the laboring classes in England and Scotland.

STATE ISSUES.—The Democratic Standard of the 27th March contains a leader, doubtless from Mr. Burke, which says:

Our overwhelming defeat is, in our belief, mainly attributable to the conduct and course of the N. H. Patriot, the State Committee and their co-adjutors. Instead of planting themselves upon the issues tendered by the President, and also tendered negatively by the opposition, the N. H. Patriot and its co-adjutors denied and repudiated the issue, in substance espoused the policy of Douglas and the black republican party in reference to the Kansas question, and attempted to fight the battle upon the paltry and contemptible issue of State and County taxation and indebtedness.

The folly of this course was apparent to every sensible man. In the first place, the democrats, themselves, when in power, had initiated the indebtedness of the State. They had established the Asylum for the Insane, which was one of the causes of State indebtedness. They commenced the appropriations for the House of Reformation. And they expended a large sum for the Constitutional Convention. These facts alone were a sufficient answer to the clamor about State indebtedness. And with regard to Merrimack County, the democrats were themselves responsible for its taxation and expenditures. What folly, then, to fight a great political battle upon issues which could only be sustained by misrepresentation and falsehood, and the rottenness of which was sure to be exposed.

U. S. LAWS.—The Washington correspondent of the Boston Herald says:

The determination now is to give the printing of the laws and advertisements of the United States to the Democratic Standard, (Burke's paper,) and either the Union Democrat, at Manchester, or the Dover Gazette.

The New Hampshire Marshalship rests between Mr. Colby of Candia and Stephen W. Dearborn' Esq., of Exeter, with, it is thought by his friends, the chances slightly in favor of the latter.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 27.—One hundred of the students belonging to the College here, have been suspended till October next, for insubordination. They tarred the benches of the recitation room, and committed other exceptionable acts, because the Faculty refused to suspend the exercises on Thanksgiving day.

The College is in a bad way,—with unruly students, and a faculty lacking common sense.

☞ One seaman, named Thomas Brown, fell from aloft and was drowned, and another, named George Miller, died from exposure, for the want of proper clothing, on board ship J. A. Westervelt, Capt. Austin, which arrived at New York from Liverpool on Tuesday. Most of the crew were also frost-bitten for want of proper clothing. There were 167 passengers on board. Comment is unnecessary.

☞ Joseph Hook has been arrested in New York for killing Samuel J. Farnham, a printer, who drank a glass of gin in Hook's groggery, and then told him he had no money to pay for it; whereupon Hook knocked him down and kicked him.

ACCIDENT FROM SWALLOWING FALSE TEETH. A man in Swamscott, named Bartlett, swallowed, while asleep Friday night, a set of six false false teeth, gold plate attached, which lodged in his throat, and came very near causing his death. They were removed.

☞ Agents of the British government are in Baltimore, for the purpose of purchasing three million feet of ship timber, which will be cut from the mountainous regions of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

☞ A letter from Aspinwall, New Granada, states that Gen. Santa Anna left Carthagena on the 12th inst., for Havana, on his way to Mexico, under the protection of Spain. It was said that he could only raise the sum of $3000 on his property, at Turbaco, which is valued at a million or more.

The late Mr. Philip Thickness, father of Lord Audley, applied to his son for assistance. This being denied, he immediately hired a cobbler's stall directly opposite his lordship's house, and put up a sign board, on which was inscribed, in large letters, "Boots and Shoes mended in the best and cheapest manner, by Philip Thickness, father to Lord Audley." The consequence of this may be readily imagined; the board did not remain there many days.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Since the appointment of the Democratic Conference Committee, some predict a compromise and a reunion of the Democratic party.

The Americans are sanguine of defeating Lecompton, although Giddings and Leach refuse to vote for Crittenden's amendment if they are required to afterwards vote for the bill so amended.

The Senate to-day, after private business, resumed the discussion of the Minnesota bill.

Mr. Gooch of Massachusetts has the floor to-day and will make an argumentative anti-Lecompton speech.

Mr. Burlingame has the floor on Wednesday afternoon.

MEXICAN REVOLUTIONARY AGENT IN NEW YORK.—New York, March 27.—The Tribune is informed that an especial agent of Gen. Vidaurri has arrived in this city, from Monterey, with authority to procure a loan guaranteed by a mortgage of all the Custom House duties of the Northern frontier of Mexico. The money thus borrowed is to be employed in sending him arms and ammunitions of war, and in organizing an expedition of volunteers to take arms under him and aid his schemes in the interior of the Republic.

CHOATE VERSUS CHOATE.—The Declaration of Independence was a passionate and eloquent manifesto of the revolutionary war, made up of glittering and sounding generalities.—Rufus Choate's letter to the young Whigs of Maine, 1857.

The Declaration of Independence, a column more lasting than bronze or marble, a column gazed upon by us all in the July of every year, a monument which speaks of the glory of the great founders of the Republic in fitter terms than were ever graven on stone.—Lecture before the Boston Mercantile Library Association, March 11, 1858.

THE PRINCE OF WALES AND PRINCE ALFRED.—A London letter to the Northern Daily Express, in speaking of the royal family says:

Prince Alfred treats his senior, the Prince of Wales, in rather a brusque and off-handed way — off-handed sometimes with a will, for he thrashes him to the great distress of his papa, to whom the heir apparent is obliged to appeal for protection, against his bolder brother. Her Majesty is represented as rather amused with these pugnacious propensities of the second prince of her house. It is alleged that the Prince of Wales pays much more attention to intellectual subjects than his bellicose brother.

THE READING OUT PARTY.—The Bernardstown, Ky., Gazette, (Dem.), of a late date, contained the following clear article on reading out:

Let the friends of the Administration attempt reading out of the party those who will not bow down and worship the Lecompton swindle, and they had as well assign. If Lecompton has become the test of Democracy, the party is dead sure enough. Let us differ, if necessary, and do so without quarrelling. Douglas is right, as sure as the sun shines. Harney is right, and Wise is right. The South seems mad. Pass Lecompton, and all faith in Southern honor, at the North, is destroyed.

The Physical Degeneracy Question has taken a new turn. After showing how Americans have deteriorated in physical power, the London Times proves to its own satisfaction that Frenchmen also exhibit great physical decay. This touches a sensitive point in the Frenchman's feelings, and the journals retort that the French soldier has more physical endurance than the English. Drunkenness, they say, is a prevailing vice in England, and such habits always tend to physical deterioration. The French advices from Calcutta and Bombay present a terrible havoc of the British troops landed in those parts from the transports, by the grossest abuse of ardent spirits. Hundreds of wretched sots are weekly sent back to Suez.

TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT.—At the Temperance meeting at Francestown on Thursday, 17th inst., Daniel McCaine, Esq., of Francestown, was chosen chairman, and Rev. Isaac Willey of Goffstown, secretary.

Resolutions were discussed and adopted to re-organize anew in each town, to hold town and school district meetings—to circulate the pledge, especially among the young people of each neighborhood—to discontinue the use of liquors in medicines.

To carry out these objects a committee of one was appointed in each of the northern towns of that county, who should consult with the friends of the cause and call meetings. The committee are as follows: Retire Mitchell, Manchester; Phineas French, Bedford; Dr. A. F. Carr, Goffstown; Clark Crombie, New Boston; John R. Abbott, Antrim; Russell Tubbs, Deering; Rev. H. Brickett, Hillsboro; John Dodge, Esq., Bennington; Dea. A. Whittemore, Greenfield; Ephraim Weston, Hancock; Rev. C. Cutter, Francestown; Wm. H. Gove, Weare.

The committee propose to ascertain the following facts in each town: The number of drunkards,—number of young men who use intoxicating drinks—number of paupers made such by intemperance—the condition and character of the liquor agency in each town. Rev. C. W. Wallace and others addressed the meeting.

When a man unites with the church, he should not come saying, "I am so holy that I think I must go in among the saints;" but, "O brethren, I find I am so weak and wicked that I cannot stand alone; so, if you can help me, open the door and let me enter."—H. W. Beecher.

CLEARED OUT.—We understand that Eben A. Kimball, the proprietor of the lager beer saloon in Classic Hall, has "pulled up stakes" and left town. Perhaps the business didn't pay, and then perhaps he was hurried by the fact that the Marshal had a warrant out for his arrest on charge of maintaining a nuisance.—Lowell News.

☞ When certain persons abuse us, let us ask ourselves what description of characters it is that they admire; we shall often find this a very consolatory question.

LOCAL.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

MONDAY, March 29.

By the appointment of the Mayor of the City of Portsmouth,—John Bennett, Esq., Justice of the Peace and Quorum, acted as Coroner, and held an inquest on the body of Mrs. Sarah Ann Spinney, wife of Daniel H. Spinney. The jurors were Augustus Jenkins, Phinehas Nichols, and Horace Webster.

Samuel Spinney.—After tea on Sunday night, called on Mr. Roberts, a neighbor; staid till twilight. Coming out, saw a collection of people, eight or ten, between Mr. Roberts' and Mr. Nelson Downing's houses. They reported trouble at Downing's, and said he had been drinking. The trouble was said to be between my brother Daniel and Downing. Saw Downing come out of his house with a gun in his hand.—Some one said Downing has a gun and will shoot your brother. Mr. Perkins asked him what he was going to do with his gun. He answered I'm going to shoot Dan Spinney. Mr. Perkins went to him, took hold of the gun,—but Downing said by God he would have Daniel Spinney's meat. Witness took hold of Downing's arm, and tried to dissuade him from his purpose—but Downing repeated his threats many times, threatening to kill Dahiel Spinney or his own wife, for both had beat him.

Went near Mr. Perkins' house—and when near there Mr. Perkins warned Downing that with his gun he might kill some of the company.—No, said Downing, I'll hurt none of you but I'll have Daniel Spinney's meat.

Mr. Perkins went into his house.—Downing walked on very fast. Witness followed.

Near the Creek Bridge, met two boys; then said he would go back and not kill any body.—When we crossed the railroad, he began to renew his threats, and kept them up until he reached the main road. There we met a man and woman whom at first we thought were Daniel Spinney and wife, coming out from the city. Downing stepped out and began to level his gun.—I sung out, 'Dan, look out! Downing is going to shoot you! The man replied 'Tain't Dan. And the man and woman began to run.

We then went on to a place where some bars led into a field,—where Downing left the road and went to the woods, for some trifling purpose, and said 'Sam, I spose you're going in to tell Daniel—and when you come out, I'll go home with you!

I then stepped along in the road, as fast as I could toward my brother's house. I saw my brother and his wife standing in the gate. I called out to them, Flee into the house for Downing has a loaded gun and threatened to kill you! They did not move much, till witness came up, repeating the warnings.

By this time Mrs. Spinney was at the door. Mr. S. stepped within the gate, and a little on one side. Witness was also within the gate.

Daniel invited me in—but I declined, saying I would do better to stay outside, and get Downing away.

As we stood in this way, the gun went off. Daniel said,—he has shot me in the arm—and then turned and said, My God, he has shot Sarah dead.—I saw her on the ground, and took her up in my arms, set her on the step; saw that a shot had entered under the eye, and the blood was coming out—the other eye was open, as bright as ever. Think she made an effort to speak. Daniel then came to the step and said I am bleeding to death; that he had cut off the main artery of my arm—go for the doctor.

In answer to a question—I was looking toward the corner of the barn when the gun was fired,—saw the blaze,—heard the report—but did not see any person there.

Downing was very violent, repeated his threats many times.—He appeared to be somewhat under the influence of liquor, but did not stagger. From witness' knowledge of Downing's habits have no doubt he had been drinking.

Downing gave an account of where he had spent the day. He said he had been at William Dennett's, where he and another man had made thirteen lobster nets.

Drs. Curtis and Bennett examined the body; found some discolorations on shoulders and neck—wounds on the right side of cranium, near top of the head; two large wounds through the scalp; one smaller; two on the neck; and some minor wounds; but the main or principal wound was in the left eye, about four inches deep, inclining backward and downward. This wound, in witness' opinion, produced death. These wounds were in appearance gunshot wounds. The principal wound might occasion death by concussion of the nervous system. The eye was destroyed—probably more than one shot entered here.

Joseph Perkins. — Met Mrs. Downing and her children. I said, 'You have your family with you. She said, 'Yes, we have had trouble in our house. My husband has had a fight with Daniel Spinney at our house, in a dispute about Theodore Rowe.

Saw Downing come out of his house with his gun, and he went towards my house. On hearing that he had threatened to shoot Dan'l Spinney, I ran after him,—put my hand on his shoulder—he stopped—I asked him what was the trouble. He said he was trying to kill Dan'l Spinney. He said Dan'l S. came to his house, and began with him a dispute about Theod. Rowe, and knocked Downing down. I told him he'd better not shoot anybody. He told me if I meddled with him, he would use his revolver.

Then Sam'l Spinney came up, and as I thought that Downing would not fulfil his threats, I left him; after speaking to Sam'l S. again, I followed Downing a little further, and overtook him—he then cocked his gun. I said, you won't shoot us. No, said he, if you let me alone, I then told him to put the hammer down. I took hold of the gun. He then threatened to blow witness through, if he did not let him alone—and added, he would have Dan Spinney's blood before morning. I then told Sam'l Spinney I thought Downing would get over his passion—and I went home. I supposed that he had a revolver—but afterwards learned it was a bottle.

Downing did not seem to me to be intoxicated. He was in a violent passion, very angry with Daniel Spinney and wife, and with his own wife. Witness left his own house, half past 7; Downing went up the road (westerly) when he left me; Sam'l Spinney went with him. Downing repeated his threat to kill Daniel Spinney many times. I was with him about 25 minutes. The moon was shining bright.

Wm. G. Cole.—Live on Dennett street, next door to Nelson N. Downing. Mrs. Daniel Spinney came to my house, knocking on the window, about 7 o'clock. I went out and asked what was the matter; she said Nelson Downing was killing her husband. I told her I was taking care of my children. She offered to take care of my children, if I would go and help her husband. I left her in my house. I went into Mr. Downing's back door. Saw Spinney and Downing on the floor in the corner of the kitchen. Mrs. Downing was there I took hold of the first man I could, who proved to be Spinney and was on the top. With the help of Mrs. Downing, I parted the men, and I urged Spinney to leave as soon as possible. He said he was not afraid of Mr. D. I said I thought he would quiet the matter sooner if he should leave. Others came in, and Mrs. Spinney returned with Mr. and Mrs. Roberts. Mr. Spinney and wife then left.

Downing having been held, while we urged Spinney away, now desired to pursue Spinney. Both seemed to have some regard for what I said, though both were in a great passion.

I then left and went toward my home, but before I got in, Downing got out and ran up Dennett street.

I went into my house and found Spinney and wife there. He wiped the blood from his face.

Downing came back and went into his house. I went into D.'s house. He said he had been after Dan Spinney, but didn't find him. If I had I would have made him a corpse or he should have made me one.

While I was in D's house, Spinney and wife had left mine, for their home.

In the house, I spoke of rum as being the cause of the trouble, and Downing said he didn't know as it was the whole cause, but there were heating words.

This witness saw no blows struck, and did not see Downing have the gun. This witness thinks from Downing's appearance, he was crazed with rum and excitement.

Elisha G. Ferguson.—Heard an outcry, 7 o'clock on Sunday evening, in Dennett street, and saw Nelson N. Downing run from his house through a crowd of people, and soon saw him come back. D. said he went after Mr Spinney, but missed the road and could not find him. D. went into his back door—and in reply to Mr Cole, said he'd be damned if he didn't make a corpse of Spinney before morning — or Spinney should make one of him.

This witness saw Sam'l Spinney come from Mr Roberts's house, about 10 minutes past 7, and told him what the trouble was.

Thomas J. Spinney came by order of the Mayor and City Marshal, to see the body laid out,—and in doing so, this shot [showing it] dropped from her clothing, I think from her shawl; clothes much defaced, and covered with flesh and blood. This witnesss enumerated the wounds, the same as doctors' description.

Joseph L. Gove.—Nelson N. Downing came to my house about 9 o'clock, apparently in great distress. Said he wanted to see me. Asked if he could stay all night. I said, Seems to me, you're all bloody—where have you been? He answered, I've been into a little dirty scrape, and I want to stay here to-night. Now, said I, Mr. Downing, you'd better go home. No, said he, I want to stay here—I don't know but somebody is after me. I asked him where he had been; he gave me no answer.

Then I supposed he had been gambling, and the gamblers might be after him,—and I agreed to let him stay. When he went into his room, he carried his gun with him, which he brought to the house. He then said his mouth was very sore, and wished for water to wash it. It was very bloody, and stove inside badly. He then asked for spirit to wash it. It was washed with both.

Then he stepped to the bedroom door, and said, any man or person who steps into this door to night, will be a corpse.—He had his gun in his hand, and clapped his hand on his breast, where he said he had two revolvers, with which he would blow them through.

I left him—but in a few minutes returned, and as I opened the door, he sprang towards it, as I judged from the sound—and he said, who is it? I opened the door and went in; he was mostly undressed—I asked him whet the matter was; he said he had killed Daniel. He said, I've been here, and want to pay my bill. I answered, I have got no bill. I did not ask him anything. He put his hand in his pocket, and took out 50 cts., offering it. I told him I did not want anything. He insisted upon it, and said there had been much trouble. I told him to fix himself and told him to go home to his wife.—Why, said he, that is where all this trouble began. He went on and told his trouble and said that Daniel charged him with removing his brother Sam from the Navy Yard. He said he had discharged his gun at Daniel, and meant to kill him, if he hadn't.

I went back to my own room—shortly after several men came round the house, but as my wife was frightened, I did not answer, and they soon left.

I then went to his room and told him he must go away. Before going, he got me to take off his stocking, and he took out two bank bills, offering me $5 which I declined; but he left the 50 cts. Witness could see the bills by the moonlight. Downing took his gun and left, I think, not far from a quarter to 11. Downing had a bag of balls, which fell on the floor from the bed. He repeated the statement that he had killed Daniel, several times.

Inquest to be concluded this morning.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being last dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COSHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement. As I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

Morning Chronicle.

☞ A young man named Gray arrived a few days since at New Philadelphia, Ohio, from Iowa, with his sister, who was deranged, and whom he was taking to the asylum at Columbus. She was placed in the lock-up for safety, and during the night the building was destroyed by fire, and Miss Gray, two women, a girl and a young man perished in the flames.

☞ David Tenney, a prominent citizen of Palmer, Mass., died on Monday after an illness of only a few hours. His father dropped dead while moving some four years since; and one of his brothers fell dead at Worcester two years ago, while on his way to attend the funeral of another brother who died very suddenly.

GREAT HAUL OF ROCKFISH.—On Tuesday last, William E. Taylor, Esq., of this city, being at his Willoughby Point farm, observed an extraordinary large shoal of fish within the little bay which forms his fishing ground, and ordering the seine to be run out, succeeded in catching sixty-four rockfish of an enormous size, some of them weighing one hundred pounds! More might have been taken, but the seine was not in condition to repeat the haul at that time.—Norfolk (Va.) Herald.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford.☞ AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uprout disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they remove the fountains of life and vigor,—health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by those in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint: see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with liniments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has made life a curse; restore every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise, or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these PILLS to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again—the roses blossom on her cheek, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature. See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and much farther distant, that they are eating its life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the PILLS in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Yes, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day.

Have you the less serious symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sick Headache, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints all arise from the derangements which these PILLS rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly and under the counsel of a good Physician, if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old—they must burrow in the brutes, and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box, five boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every portion of civilized men, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Thousands, apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to send health and the enjoyments of life, by this powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Once it cut hold settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong, whisper to all but him Consumption. He tries every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He is taking the CHERRY PECTORAL now; it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the CHERRY PECTORAL an imperishable renown. But it does more than cure these and like ills, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The unnecessary colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Spasmodic, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which worries of the purest sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in the hope that the sick and suffering may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are sold: halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number to each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the book. Prizes vary from $40 to $10,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount of each prize to entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRANCE & CO. are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special act of the State Legislature, and drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to come after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages, will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

A PROCLAMATION

TO THE LADIES.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are passed and gone, and WHEREAS the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the proud and generous, THEREFORE, I, KNOWN HEREFORE, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that Dr. CHEESEMAN'S FEMALE PILLS are alone the certain panacea for the the troubles incident to female disorganization; they assuage painful and painful menstruation, assuaging palpitations of the heart, disturbed sleep, pain in the side, and causing health and happiness to reign in the place, especially to the married portion, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity.—AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mineral; therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and wholly unlike other medicines thrust upon the public, purporting to effect the object already detailed. THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS of Dr. CHEESEMAN will accomplish the desired object, when DISAPPOINTMENT has been expended under the common or quack PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to spread amongst them, to their own everlasting benefit—they knowing that said Proclamation in one case must be considered as a lie, and yet, that is to say the PILLS CAN NOT be taken when any female is in an INTERESTING SITUATION, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

Explicit directions, to be carefully read, accompany each box. Price $1. Sent by mail on enclosing $1 to Dr. CHEESEMAN, Cheeseman, Box No 4,581, Post Office, New York City. Sold by Druggists in every town in the United States.

Given under my hand and seal,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the reedy and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1600 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is same as the Church instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced workmen. We feel at liberty to promise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee satisfaction or perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine our instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their testimony in favor upon:

Chickering & Sons,	Hallett & Cumston,

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, will have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present to select and act as agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

THE WHIP-POOR-WILL.

GEO. P. MORRIS.

"The plaint of the wailing Whip-poor-Will,
Who mourns unseen, and ceaseless sings
Ever a note of wail and woe,
Till Morning spreads her rosy wings,
And earth and sky in her glances glow."
—Joseph Rodman Drake.

Why dost thou come at set of sun,
Those pensive words to say?
Why whip poor Will?—What has he done?
And who is Will, I pray?

Why come from yon leaf-shaded hill,
A suppliant at my door?—
Why ask of me to whip poor Will?
And is Will really poor?

If poverty's his crime, let mirth
From out his heart be driven:
That is the deadliest sin on earth,
And never is forgiven!

Art Will himself?—It must be so—
I learn it from thy moan,
For none can feel another's woe
As deeply as his own.

Yet wherefore strain thy tiny throat,
While other birds repose?
What means thy melancholy note?—
The mystery disclose.

Still "Whip-poor-Will?"—Art thou a sprite,
From unknown regions sent,
To wander in the gloom of night,
And ask for punishment?

Is thine a conscience sore beset
With guilt?—or, what is worse,
Hast thou to meet writs, duns and debt—
No money in thy purse?

If this be thy hard fate indeed,
Ah! well mays't thou repine:
The sympathy I give I need—
The poet's doom is thine!

Art thou a lover, Will?—Hast proved
The fairest can deceive?
Thine is the lot of all who've loved,
Since Adam wedded Eve.

Has trusted in a friend, and seen
No friend was he in need?
A common error—men still lean
Upon as frail a reed.

Hast thou, in seeking wealth or fame,
A crown of brambles won?
O'er all the earth 'tis just the same
With every mother's son!

Hast found the world a babel wide,
Where man to mammon stoops?
Where flourish arrogance and pride,
While modest merit droops?

What, none of these? Then, whence thy pain?
To guess it who's the skill?
Pray have the kindness to explain
Why I should whip poor Will?

Dost merely ask thy just desert?
What! not another word?—
Back to the woods again unhurt—
I will not harm thee, bird!

But use thee kindly—for my nerves,
Like thine have penance done;
Use every man as he deserves—
Who shall 'scape whipping?—None.

Farewell, poor Will—not valueless
This lesson by the given:
"Keep thine own counsel, and confess Thyself alone to heaven!"

BROTHER JONATHAN A BAD FARMER.—Last year there were received at New York from California upwards of thirty-four millions of dollars in gold. In contemplating this immense annual yield that California affords us, many of our people think that the United States is proportionably increasing in solid, material wealth. Is that the fact? Let us see. Last year the exports of the specie from Boston and New York to pay for foreign merchandize imported into the country, amounted to fifty-four millions and eight hundred thousand dollars, or nearly twenty-one millions more than the gold received from California. We know that there are those who contend that we do not send this gold out of the country without receiving a full equivalent in its place. We do not know about that. Suppose a man has a farm, and a sum of money besides. If he spends the income of his farm, and a portion of his money, in yearly substancial improvements of that farm, it may then be justly contended that if he is not adding to his material wealth, he is at least not growing poorer. But if he spends the income of his farm, and a portion of his money, in useless, foolish extravagances, without adding an improvement, it may then be safely alleged that he is growing poorer. Will our readers, judging from the character of our importations, tell us in which of these styles "Brother Jonathan" does his farming?—Lowell Citizen.

ENTHUSIASM.—Many people are prejudiced against enthusiasm; they confound it with fanaticism, which is a great mistake. Fanaticism is an exclusive passion, the object of which is an opinion; enthusiasm is connected with the harmony of the universe; it is the love of the beautiful, elevation of the soul, enjoyment of devotion, all united in one single feeling which combines grandeur and repose.—The sense of this word among the Greeks affords the noblest definition of it; enthusiasm signifies "God in us." In fact, when the existence of of man is expansive, it has in it something divine.

The benighted backwoodsmen will tell where to ford the stream by the sound of the running water. Deep water is always noiseless, while the shallow brook keeps up an incessant babbling.

THE BATH ORGAN.

This is a smart democratic paper, in Bath, Me. It contains the following items in its issue of March 23:

Wanted, a star to guide the democracy, after the cardinal principle of "popular sovereignty" is virtually stricken down by the success of the Lecompton scheme.

It is really amusing to see how readily some of our papers dispose of Judge Douglas. The truth is, ten thousand such sheets as now assail him, if all the democracy in them was boiled down to the most infinitesimal dose, would not afford so much real democratic strength as is contained in one sentence of his great report on Kansas. This is the real article, while those are filled with the mere rinse water from which democracy has been wrung out.

The prospect of Lecompton in the House is thought to be decidedy small. What the next move will be is not easily told.

Col. Forney says efforts will be made to make the revival of the slave trade a party test. "Is thy servant a dog, that he should do this thing?"

The Richmond, Va., Enquirer complains of the proscription of the administration in cutting off the heads of the best democrats in that region.

Mr. Senator Clay, of Alabama, has made a speech in which he denies that this is a democratic government, repudiates the idea of democracy altogether, and laments the tendency which he discovers to democratize all the departments of the government, including the federal judiciary.—Whatever name Mr. C. may employ, his idea of government differs very little from an elective or limited monarchy. Verily, the democratic party is in straightened circumstances, if its leaders are obliged to repudiate its name and lament the spread of its spirit. Such repudiation and lamentation may yet be incorporated in the party test—they will be if Mr. Clay's doctrine becomes popular, that "the Union owes its being to the institution of slavery."

SUICIDE OF A POET—The felon poet, William L. Hyde, died yesterday. At seven o'clock of the previous evening, he affectionately shook hands with his landlady, kissed her children, and said he was going off on the cars. He went to Michael Deo's coffee room; borrowed a dime, proceeded to Dr. Barne's drug store, bought two ounces of arsenic, saying to kill rats with. He returned to the coffee room, having removed the poison from the labelled paper, to a piece of newspaper.—On entering he jovially accosted his companions, told them he was about to take his last spree, and swallowed the drug.—He then drank and danced to a late hour. During the night he rose unheard and went out. About 4 o'clock in the morning he was heard groaning on the rear door-stone. He said he was dying, repeated this a few times, and was shortly a corpse. Deceased was of Lousiana, aged twenty-two. His parents were dead. He obtained a good education, and discovered genius and ability.—St. Louis Dem., 22d.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 70 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a pannacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 31, 1858.

MORAL SUASION.

Now, says Uncle Toby, we have the legitimate fruit of the rum traffic, and of the public opinion which supports it in Portsmouth. We have a woman shot down at her own door, and our sister's blood cries from the ground. Whether we heed the cry or not, God hears it, and will surely make inquisition for blood.

Nearly three years ago a law was passed for the suppression of intemperance—and the then Mayor of this city, with the City Marshal, used earnest but unsuccessful efforts to enforce it. The efforts were salutary, however, to the extent of keeping the evil in check. But there was formed, almost immediately, an organized and powerful opposition to the law. A great "statesman" mounted the rum plank, stumped the State, and plead like a lawyer against the law, and against common sense too. He did not get to be governor—but in this city, as every man knows, about 100 votes were obtained by a mixture of pro-rum and anti-school house issues.

It was well understood then, and has been well understood ever since, that the numerical majority of voting opinion here is in favor of the grog shops, in favor of free drinking, and against the men and women who would put it down. This is said in no desponding mood—but it is well to look at facts, to look them full in the face. We have seen some fruits each year. The 4th of July window-smashing in 1856; the killing of Flannigan in '57; and now of a woman in '58; are the proper fruits of that depraved and besotted public opinion, which has proved itself here to be stronger than a wholesome law.

But will not temperance men now take hold and execute the law? says a friend. Why should they execute this law, any more than the law against murder? They have no peculiar interest at stake. But it is for the interest and safety of the whole city—to suppress the rum traffic at once! Will they do it? or do they wait for a few more murders.

FROM KANSAS.—The following extract of a letter just received, and bearing date 8th March, from a prominent gentleman in Sumner, Kansas, will not be uninteresting to our readers:

"Politically, the people of Kansas expect the passage of the Lecompton Constitution, and are fully prepared for such a consummation of the three years' tyranny and usurpation of the general government. But any power whatever attempting to enforce the Lecompton instrument upon the people here, will meet with a decided resistance. No pro-slavery Legislature can sit and enact laws, not even long enough to elect John Calhoun, United States Senator. We have cried out long enough, and passed resolutions long enough. It is time to act if the Lecompton swindle passes.

The time may not be far distant when it will be necessary for the people to rise up in their elemetary capacity, and fight for their usurped liberties.

It has been clearly proven, before competent authority, that at the election on the 4th of January, a large majority of Free State men were elected to the State Legislature. And only by recognizing gross and glaring frauds can John Calhoun issue certificates of election to a pro-slavery majority.

Should the Lecompton pass, and the Free State officers and Legislature be declared elected, or a majority of them, then no time will be lost in changing the Constitution, which is manifestly odious to the whole people. I have no fears for the ultimate result. The pro-slavery leaders have nearly all left the county. The "Wood Pile" returns have out-faced their impudence even. As Sheriff Jones told me the other day, in Lecompton, "they had thrown their last die and it didn't win! The —— Yankees had got the country, and he and his friends were off for Arizona."

The same writer is interested in the speedy establishment of religious institutions in Sumner; and, according to his account, which is perfectly reliable, there is great encouragement for christians and christian ministers to enter that growing field of labor. The Methodists and Presbyterians have organized societies, and they want an enterprising and faithful Congregational minister to gather and organize a society of his own denomination.

SLIGHTLY PERSONAL.—Senator Green of Missouri, the advocate of the Border Ruffians, called Senator Cameron of Pa., on the floor of the Senate "a liar." The next day in attempting to apologize, he remarked that "he was said to have used language which was understood to be personal"—implying that he had no knowledge of it himself, and thereby leaving the impression that he must have been "a little elevated" at the time.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, on Monday, March 29, Mr. Fitzpatrick was chosen President of the Senate, by 28 votes. The Minnesota bill was taken up. After debate, Mr. Mason's amendment of Mr. Douglas's amendment that Minnesota have but one Representative in Congress, was negatived—nays 41, yeas 8.

Mr. Wilson's amendment was then put, viz: to give but one Representative now; that a census be forthwith taken, and additional representatives be allowed on the basis of the census; and was carried—yeas 22 nays 21. The following are the yeas: Biggs, Broderick, Brown, Cameron, Chandler, Clark, Collamer, Crittenden, Dixon, Doolittle, Durkee, Fessenden, Foster, Hale, Harlan, Houston, King, Pugh, Simmons, Wade, Wilson.

The House went into Committee on the Deficiency bill; but they debated the Lecompton swindle, as usual.

WASHINGTON MATTERS.—The following episode in the proceedings in the Senate, when the Kansas bill was passed, was not reported by telegraph. We copy from the Washington correspondence of the New York Evening Post:

Before the vote on the final passage was taken, Mr. Iverson, of Georgia, said he should vote for the bill; but in doing so he wished to protest against the doctrine that the people of Kansas could alter their constitution before 1864. He did not believe they could do any such thing under the Lecompton constitution. He did not vote for the amendment affirming the right of the people of Kansas to do so. He should have voted against it, if he had not disliked to record his name in company with "Black Republican" Senators! He had lost his interest in the passage of the measure admitting Kansas under the Lecompton constitution, since the manifesto of John Calhoun, declaring that he should issue certificates giving Leavenworth county to the Free State party, which would give the majority of the Legislature elected under Lecompton to the Free State party. He regarded this a usurpation on the part of Calhoun, who had no right to go behind the face of the returns, (Delaware Crossing precinct vote.) He regretted to be compelled to say that he understood, from reliable authority, that he had pursued this course under advice from Southern men. Its effect was to make the passage of this bill a barren victory for the South, as no one would doubt that the abolitionists could soon make that State too hot a place for the residence of decent Southern men.

Mr. Wade of Ohio, in response to this remarkable admission, asked the following questions: "I wish to ask the Senator from Georgia whether I understood him to say that Mr. Calhoun proposed to give his certificates of election on the advice of certain Southern members, or according to the truth of that vote? That struck me as a very extraordinary statement, and I should like to know whether I understood it correctly."

Mr. Iverson responded very satisfactorily, as follows: "I do not recognize the right of the Senator from Ohio to catechise me on the subject, and, therefore, I decline answering."

Mr. Wade said he would be very much gratified to learn to learn the fact, but he would not press the inquiry.

The correspondent of the New York Commercial, referring to the assertion of Mr. Iverson with regard to Calhoun's manifesto, says:

That is true, no doubt, although Mr. Mason disclaimed having had anything to do with the arrangement. No one supposes that Mr. Mason was in the scheme.—But it is believed that Mr. Calhoun issued the pronunciamento, as Senator Iverson calls it, at the recommendation of Mr. Buchanan, and with the assent of several Southern Senators—but not any one of the State rights Senators.

It is now alleged here that Mr. Calhoun's decision is a mere trick, and that he has no power to settle the question.—The matter will undergo a close scrutiny before the Kansas bill will come to a vote in the House.

TEMPERANCE IN GROTON.—A temperance society was organized, on Saturday evening last, at Groton Junction, and a large meeting was held, on Sunday evening, at the Union Church, which was addressed by Edwin Thompson of the State Temperance Committee and others. A committee was chosen to arrange for a mass convention to be held at the Baptist Church, Tuesday, March 30th, at which Dr. Chas. Jewett, Peter Sinclair, and others, will be present and speak. The Bee in giving a report of the meeting says there have been eight places in the vicinity where liquor has been sold freely, and the keepers of these places have all promised to stop selling.

THE SLAVE TRADE.—The scheme for reviving the slave trade introduced in the Louisiana Legislature, passed the House with little or no opposition, and was defeated in the Senate, after a stormy debate, only by a majority of two.

LARGE CARGO.—The Charleston Courier says that the Ship Agamemnon, Capt. Goodwin, cleared from that port on the 17th inst., for St. Petersburg, having on board a cargo of 2982 square bales of cotton, containing 1,286,999 pounds.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

SANDY HOOK, March 30—10:30 A. M. The screw steamship City of Baltimore, from Liverpool on the 17th inst., has just arrived.

Her dates are four days later than those by the Niagara at Halifax.

Birchard, Orsini and Pierre were guillotined. Count Walewski's dispatch was withdrawn at his own request.

Parliamentary proceedings were of little importance.

Rudio had been respited by the French government.

Affairs at Canton were quiet.

Sales of Cotton at Liverpool for last three days 9000 bales, nearly all to the trade. All qualities had declined 1-8d. and the market closed dull.

The steamer Ava, with the Calcutta mail and treasure, had been lost. The crew and passengers were all saved.

Breadstuffs—dull.

☞ Rev. Theodore Parker has been invited to deliver the Oration, and Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, the poem, before the united Athenean and Peucinian Societies of Bowdoin College, at the next Commencement. It is understood that Mr. Parker has accepted, but no answer has been received from Dr. Holmes.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Engine Company 31, while passing through Chatham street last evening, were attacked by a party of "dead rabbits" and badly beaten. One man was severely wounded that he cannot recover. The police who interfered were also attacked, beaten and driven off. No arrests were made.

The Washington correspondent of the Times says there was a caucus last night of twenty-two anti-Lecompton Democrats, who resolved to stand firmly by Crittenden's amendment. All the Republicans have accepted the amendment.

MAKING "EXERTIONS."—There was once a venerable old lady by the name of Hooker, who was very pious. On being requested to express her mind at a class-meeting, she said:—"My brethren and sisters, I have joined the Baptists, the Methodists, and was brought up a Congregationalist, and have tried to live up to them all, and if I don't escape the wrath to come, it will not be for want of exertions on my part."

VERY SICKLY.—One of the licensed agents for the sale of spirituous liquors in this city, recently retailed fourteen barrels in three weeks. There were several sudden deaths in that neighborhood, but whether occasioned by that medicine we have not learned.—Newburyport Herald.

EXCITING SCENE.—The ladies of Fredericksburgh, indicted for a riot for abating the groggeries, entered into bonds in $100 each for their appearance at Court. So large an array of crinoline created quite an excitement among the habitues of the old Court House, so it was immediately filled to suffocation. — Wooster (Ohio) Republican.

☞ The floor of an auction store, in Bangor, broke through on Saturday last, during a sale, and precipitated about two hundred men, women and children, into the cellar. No one was killed.

A MODEL CLOTHING ESTABLISHMENT.—Without doubt the most complete and extensive clothing house in the city of Boston is situated in Dock Square, on the corner of Elm street, owned and under the personal superintendence of Messrs Smith & Co. On entering the store, the visitor is greeted with the assurance, in letters of gold, that "our customers will be sure of having their money's worth;" and that this assurance will be kept, we need give our readers no better guarantee than the integrity and fair dealing which has characterised Mr. Smith's course during many years spent in the business. Customers, however unused they may be to making purchases of ready made clothing, may rest assured of as good a bargain as they would were they ever so well acquainted with the business. Every article is made as well, and got up in as good manner as the best custom work. No material is used but such as is of the most excellent quality; and none but skilful, careful and experienced hands are employed. Try them, and we feel assured you will not be disappointed. See their advertisement in to-day's paper.

DENTISTRY.—It always affords us pleasure to recognize and acknowledge the spirit of a true workman or artist in any branch of useful business. Drs. Cummings and Flagg, whose office is 25 Tremont st., Boston, are dentists who study and exercise their profession in such a spirit. They aim at nothing short of perfection in the important science they undertake to master, and pursue their aim with a steady, ardent, intelligent zeal. We are not using the words of ordinary newspaper commendation, ignorant whereof we speak; personal inspection and experience enable us to offer sincere testimony to the excellence of their treatment and workmanship.

We can conceive of nothing more complete in respect to structure, form, finish, & adaptation, than the artificial teeth they set, or the consideration and gentlemanly attention with which they operate in their general practice.

We understand that the Massachusetts Mechanic Association have awarded several premiums for their work, and we confidently reccommend it to the attention of our readers, in city or country, who need any services in this department of Surgery. —Boston Transcript, March 23.

CORONER'S INQUEST,

ON MRS. SARAH A. SPINNEY—concluded.

TUESDAY, March 30.

Solomon Seymour.—At about 20 minutes past 9, Sunday evening, coming out of the Temple, heard the statement of the shooting. Went home, living near Downing, but did not go to bed. At a time, as I suppose, between half past 11 o'clock and 12, heard noise of people running, and was called to help officer Foot and others. Found Nelson N. Downing in the privy, at the rear of his own house. Advised him to give himself up,—and at length he said,—Act like gentlemen, and I will. I'll go with brother Foot, if the rest of you stand back. I said, won't you go with me, Brother Seymour, (as he often calls me.) He persisted in saying he would go with brother Foot. Foot opened the door and entered. As the door was partly open, Saml. Rowe, and this witness took hold of Downing's hands. Downing then took hold of his gun, and said Old Nelson is not dead yet.—I asked him to give me the gun. No, said he, by —, I shan't give it up. I can take care of this. Then he said, boys stand back and I'll come out. Foot held him by the arm, as he came out. After he came out, I again asked him for the gun. He says No, let's go and carry it into the house.—Downing tried the back door. It was fast, and I told him no one was there,—and again asked him to give me the gun. He shook the door violently, —was much excited, angry, exhausted,—used a great deal of profane language, though that is natural to him.

Downing then went toward the gate, with Foot and Saml. Rowe,—and just before they got there, he gave me the gun. Then gave me out of his pockets, a silver cup, a powder horn, a glass bottle or flask from his left breast pocket, a shot bag, containing bullets and an instrument which I suppose was a patent saw set. Also a box of caps. The bottle or flask contained about a spoonful of liquor which I suppose from the smell to be gin.

Tried the gun, with the rod, and found it loaded. I should think about so much, (5 or 6 fingers.)—I remarked, I guess I'd better draw this charge. John H. Downing said, No, you'd better not. I assented, and did not draw it. I then gave the gun to him, and went after N. Downing and the officer.

On the bridge, Downing sat down, pulled off one stocking, took out some bank bills, and put them back again after some talk. Further on Downing called Seymour to his side, took his arm, and said I want to tell you about this. He then commenced to tell me about a man and his wife coming to his house. He said he did not want to fight,—but when a man and his wife come to my house, knock me down and beat me with a chair over the head, and jumped me in this style, by —— I can't stand it. Old Nelson could not stand it. He was apparently beaten so badly that I should scarcely have known him,—his face badly bruised, swelled, and bleeding. He said you may hang me, or do what you please—but if you hang old Nelson to-night, he will die an honest man.

At the jail I asked him for his pistol; he said he had had none, and I might search. I did search and found none, nor any other weapon. Before this, when he gave up the gun, I asked for the pistol; but he clapped his hand on his breast, and said, No: I can't spare it. Downing has seven or eight guns. The gun (which is in this case) is a single-barrelled gun, and a very long one.

James Keyhow.—On Sunday evening, a little before 8 o'clock, I was walking out on Islington Road, with a young lady, Miss Marden, and came near Frenchman's lane, about opposite the middle of it. As we were about turning to walk back, I heard some one call out, Look out, Daniel! If that is you, Dan, run, run,—he's going to shoot you! At the same time I saw Samuel Spinney hold Downing's arm; but Downing broke away, stepped three paces toward me, and was levelling his gun at me, when I called out, I'm not Daniel!

Downing then dropped the gun to his left side. I noticed the gun, as it was a very long one, the muzzle reaching above his head. It was a single barrel. Downing was two or three rods from me. The young woman ran down the road. I asked Downing what he was going to do with that gun. He laughed, and said he had no gun, but that it was a stick. Witness then saw Downing start off, in haste, and Samuel Spinney with him, going up the road. Witness went down the road.

Solomon Seymour brought in the gun and other things, and drew the charge in presence of the Coroner and Jury. It contained three balls, wad, and powder about twice the charger full,—all which are in possession of the Coroner. The cup was a prize cup, inscribed, "Presented to N. N. Downing, for the best shooting at a target, July 15, 1854. Veterans." The caps were nice English percussion caps. The horn contained good powder.

THE VERDICT.

State of New Hampshire. Rockingham ss.

An inquisition taken at Portsmouth, in said County, on the twenty-ninth and thirtieth days of March, A. D. 1858, before John Bennett, one of the Justices of the Peace and of the Quorum for said County, upon the view of the body of Sarah A. Spinney, there lying dead; by the oaths of Horace Webster, a Justice of the Peace for said County, and of Augustus Jenkins and Phinehas Nichols, all respectable persons, who being sworn and charged to inquire for the State when, how and by what means the said Sarah A. Spinney came to her death, upon their oath do say: That said Sarah A. Spinney died of felony between eight and half-past eight of the clock on the afternoon of Sunday, the twenty-eighth day of March, A. D. 1858; that said Sarah's death was caused while she was standing upon the front door step of her dwelling on White's Road, so called, in said Portsmouth, about six paces from her husband, Daniel H. Spinney, and her brothea-in-law, Samuel Spinney, by a leaden bullet then and there striking and destroying the left eye and penetrating the brain of her the said Sarah; that said bullet was shot and sent forth from a single-barrelled gun, loaded and charged with gunpowder and a large number of leaden bullets commonly called buck shot; and then and there discharged by one Nelson N. Downing, of said Portsmouth, at the distance of about twenty-six paces from said Sarah, with the felonious intent to kill said Daniel H. Spinney, who was standing between said Sarah and said Downing, and in or nearly in a line with them, and that the death of said Sarah was immediate.

And the Jurors upon their oaths aforesaid, do further say that said Sarah H. Spinney was also struck and wounded on the top of the head by three other bullets; and on the neck by three other bullets; and on the left shoulder by two other bullets, so as aforesaid discharged from said gun at one and the same time with the one before mentioned.

So the jurors aforesaid, upon their oaths aforesaid, do say that the said Nelson N. Downing, in manner and form aforesaid, the aforesaid Sarah H. Spinney, then and there of his malice aforethout, did kill and murder against the peace and dignity of the State.

In witness whereof the said Jurors have hereunto set their hands this thirtieth day of March A. D. 1858.

Signed HORACE WEBSTER, AUGUSTUS JENKINS, PHINEHAS NICHOLS. } Jurors.

THE VERDICT of the Coroner's Jury, it will be seen, is that of the murder of Mrs. Spinney by Nelson N. Downing. His examination will take place this forenoon, at 10 o'clock, as we learn. Both Downing and Spinney are badly beaten and bruised by their fight at the house of the former. The fight began in an altercation of which the public will probably never know the exact truth, as none but the contending men and their wives were present, besides Downing's small children.

Its origin, by both the conflicting statements of the two men, was somehow connected with the employment at the Navy Yard, which has been used as a political and pecuniary engine of favor and oppression, by some of the parties named.

This provoking mutual taunting on facts was peculiarly irritating to Downing, who appears to have been drinking just liquor enough to make his sense of honor very keen, but not enough to impede the use of his limbs; and the closing hours of the christian sabbath witnessed the terrible and durable hatred and vengeance with which he pursued the unseen victims for a mile and a half to their home, where the stealthy and steady aim of a practised marksman ministered the baptism of fire and blood to the mother, whose bereaved babes are scarcely more to be pitied than those of him by whose hand she fell.

The scene saddens, and we sicken as we think of envies, jealousies, heart-burnings, of harsh words and profane objurations, of misspent Sabbaths and mischievous drinks; of desolated hearths and crushed hopes. And we turn from these thoughts to beg of every friend of temperance, virtue, peace and propriety, to cultivate a better state of things by precept and example.

More than 500,000 Bottles

SOLD IN THE NEW ENGLAND STATES IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

PRONUNCIATION AND ORTHOGRAPHY.—How hard it is to teach an "old dog" new tricks. The "colonel," who is fifty-nine and a bachelor, says those who think that orthogtaphy has anything to do with pronunciation in this "enlightened age," should go to school. He states that a young lady called him a crotchety old fellow for persisting in speaking of her crotchet collar. "It is a croshay collar, I'd have you know," said she. "Thank you Miss," replied the colonel, "I suppose you meant then, that I was a croshacy old fellow; didn't you?" The "colonel" is positive that he had the advantage in the encounter.

The famously bombarded city of Sebastopol is being rapidly rebuilt. Not a few of the graves of the soldiers have been disturbed, and it would be impossible to prevent it without a large standing army, as there are in all one hundred and eighty-three burying grounds, which extended over the surface of one hundred and twenty-five versts. The amount of powder used by the Russians while the city was besieged, was estimated at 30,240,000 lbs.

It is difficult to say which is the greater defect in a parent—strictness and firmness in his family without feeling and affection, or feeling without strictness and firmness. Under the one bad system, the children are apt to become slaves or hypocrites; under the other, tyrants or rebels. But true love is always firm, and true firmness always love.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and, consequently these Pills are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Evidence of the statements from some eminent physicians of the effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. M. Overshiner, of New Orleans.

"Your Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effected in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of diseases."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Dill, of New York City.

"Not only are your PILLS admirably adapted to their purpose as a perfect PHYSIC, but I find their medical effects upon the liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more efficacious for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I strongly recommend them at least a trial, and I think is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Rust, of St. Louis.

"The PILLS you were kind enough to send me have been all could be my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the diseases of the human system, that they seem to act within them, alone, and have cured many cases of dyspepsia and derangement with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimented so much on them, that I feel almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"Your PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. In the bowel complaints of this city they have been an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Mrs. E. Stuart, who practices as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion, when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual in expelling worms, when other remedies failed. They are to me the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

"Your pills cannot be sold if your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the sick, and relieve them from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe continued costiveness in the first, but your PILLS affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Edward Bogt, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that. I have satisfied myself of late years in my practice, analogous with your statements of their efficacy. They stimulate the excretories, and carry off the impurities that generate in the blood, and purify it of them. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such results as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE — SICK HEADACHE — FOUL STOMACH — PILES — DROPSY — PLETHORA — PARALYSIS — FITS — &c.

From Dr. Edward Bogt, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you several complaints I have cured with your PILLS better than to say all that we ever said in such a purpose medicine. I place great dependence on an efficient cathartic in my daily contest with diseases, and I find in that your PILLS I can alway afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every ounce of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints. For COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has proved its capacity to meet the wants of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peasant to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it is constantly CURING PERSONS known to be the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the testimony of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know what is short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then it irrefutably proves that this medicine does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing for its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

Maryland State Lotteries.

R. FRANCE & CO.....MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $100,000 are held out in their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance are bogus, and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is usually large (as contrasted with the price of tickets)—In every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which pur port to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchasers in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lottery, which is managed by R. FRANCE & Co. as managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with the drawing is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. A fact or fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by the state aforesaid. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the ornamental plan, numbers on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $20,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

A PROCLAMATION TO THE LADIES.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are fast fading away, and WHEREAS the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the profound and learned. BE IT KNOWN THEREFORE, to all, whether MAIDS, WIVES, OR WIDOWS, that DR. CHEESEMAN'S FEMALE PILLS are sent forth as a sure remedy for the troubles incident to female disorganization; they ALONE correcting all painful menstruation, assuaging palpitations of the heart, disturbed sleep, pain in the side, and causing health and happiness to whole sex; more especially to the MARRIED PORTION, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity.—AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mineral's, therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and wholly unlike other medicines thrust upon the public, purporting to effect the objects already detailed. THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS of DR. CHEESEMAN will accomplish the desired object, when other means have been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to spread amongst their friends, to their own enduring benefit—always promising that said Proclamation in one case must be considered NULL AND VOID; that is to say the PILLS OUGHT NOT be taken when any female is in an INTERESTING SITUATION, other wise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

Explicit directions, to be carefully read, accompany each box. Price $1. Sent by mail on enclosing $1 to DR. CORNELIUS L. CHEESEMAN, Box No 4,681, Post Office, New York City. Sold by Druggists in every town in the United States.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.

No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass Charitable Mechanic Association, of the Franklin Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufactures.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear, and of a fine tone. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the first running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our instruments will be equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters are respectfully invited to visit our Room at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons, Hallet & Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,
Brown & Allen, A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes, Woodward & Brown,
Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited on the payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense to the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, will direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

THE WORLD'S AGE.

Who will say the world is dying?
Who will say our prime is past?
Sparks from Heaven within us lying,
Flash, and will flash to the last.
Fools! who fancy Christ mistaken;
Man a tool to buy and sell;
Earth a failure, God-forsaken,
Ante-room of Hell.

Still the race of hero-spirits
Pass the lamp from hand to hand;
Age from age the world inherits—
"Wife, and child, and fatherland."
Still the youthful hunter gathers
Fiery joy from wold and wood;
He will dare as dared his fathers,
Give him cause as good.

While a slave bewails his fetters;
While an orphan pleads in vain;
While an infant lisps his letters,
Heir of all the ages' gain;
While a lip grows ripe for kissing;
While a man from man is wrung;
Know, by every want and blessing,
That the world is young.

—Rev. Charles Kingsley.

ROCKPORT, MASS.—The town of Rockport, at its last annual meeting, re-elected its prosecuting committee, with instructions to prosecute all persons in the town known to be guilty of a violation of the Liquor Law of 1855, and appropriated the sum of $500 to be used by the committee in enforcing that law. Several prosecutions have already been instituted. On Wednesday, the 17th inst., John Holland was tried, at a Justice's Court, on three complaints, and discharged. After which the trial of Hudson E. Haskins, on eight complaints charging him with selling beer and ale, was commenced, and continued to the 24th inst., when adjudged guilty on five complaints, and discharged on the others. He appealed to the Common Pleas. On the same day John Tracy, Michael Downing, Honora Holland, Honora Downing and Patrick Tracy, were convicted and sent to the House of Correction. Mary Holland and Cornelius Holland were also convicted, and their cases continued to the 7th of July next, for sentence. They will probably not be further troubled unless they violate the law in the mean time.—Gloucester Telegraph.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT ABOLISHED.—The Legislature of Louisiana has passed a law abolishing capital punishment, and substituting hard labor for life in the place thereof.

THE NEW ENGLAND CANCER.—The Richmond South says:—"We sometimes think if the whole of Yankee land was cut out like a cancer, we should have a very quiet and prosperous career."

ANOTHER RUMOR.—The Wilmington, N. C., Herald says:—Edwin Forrest, the great tragedian, is reported to have abandoned the stage for the purpose of opening a wine and liquor store in Chicago.

The venerable Laurent Clon, who has been for forty-two years connected with the American Deaf and Dumb Asylum at Hartford, has retired, and the Directors have voted him half-pay for life.—Exch.

I take great pleasure in stating that during the time I have been acting as Commissioner of Patents, Samuel Cooper, Esq., of Boston, has been engaged as Solicitor, and has been in that capacity in constant correspondence and intercourse with the office; he has evinced a thorough acquaintance with the Patent Law, and with the rules and practice of the office, a close a tention to the interests of his clients, and a marked candor and courtesy that has rendered the transaction of business with him a pleasure. Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a pin dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

THURSDAY, APRIL 1, 1858.

OUR PARTY.—The New York Daily News says:

Let us look at the advantages to the party, of rotation in office. Every man in the neighborhood will be active, because there are changes to be made and offices to be filled, if we succeed in electing our ticket. Each man who aspires to office has his friends, and these friends will work. They wish to show themselves to be the most active, efficient and effective Democrats in the place. There would be no trouble in obtaining the necessary means to carry on a canvass with energy. Go to a man now and ask him to give or labor, and he will tell you it is of no use to give or to labor: Mr. A. will keep the post office, Mr. B. the mail agency, Mr. C. the clerkship, if we carry the election; and the patronage is used against us. * * * The drones keep the offices, pull the wires, until the people become disgusted and the enemy triumphs. To this there are, of course, honorable exceptions. Take the rotation principle and apply it generally, and the party would at once be independent of office-holding drones. The men who are active, liberal and effective in the party, would hold the offices. There would always be enough to keep the party alive, active and efficient. The combined forces of all the "isms" in the world could never defeat our party.

Put into plain English, and into a different form, this means that, once in power, any party, by this rotation management, could keep in power forever, without any regard to principles or measures. This shows, to our mind, that it is high time to make almost all officers hold their places by vote of the people, where they serve, and not by the gift of the slave power, or any other central power at Washington.

☞ Orsini and Pierri, two of the men who tried to blow up the French Emperor, were guillotined on a bitter cold Sunday morning, March 14, at 7 o'clock, under a guard of 5000 soldiers, who kept the populace at a long distance from the guillotine. They make short work of executions in Paris.

It was but five minutes past seven when the second head fell into the basket. A cold shudder ran among those whose attention was bxed upon what was passing upon the scaffold, and for an instant there was deep silence. It passed off, however, very soon. When all was over, men went to their work, and parties who had gone together to the spot from distant quarters of the town, hastened home to breakfast.—The morning was becoming clearer every moment. The troops began to move as if about to leave the ground. The guillotine was lowered and taken off; the crowds gradually thinned; some few groups still lingered about the spot; but the cold was bitter, and the snow began to fall, and in a few hours the place was deserted.

The number of deaths from the attempt for which these wretched men suffered, now amounts, it is said, to 14.

DeRudio, it is reported, is to be sent to London to give evidence against Bernard.

A GREAT FLEET.—This spring, as we see by the last news from England, the departure of the spring fleet of coal laden vessels from the Tyne, comprising between 1000 and 1500 sail detained in port on account of the easterly winds, took place on the 13th and 14th, and so great was the crowd of shipping that numerous casualties occurred. Among others, the American clipper Eddystone ran on the Sands while entering the harbor, and remained in a perilous position for some time; but she was ultimately got off, without much damage.

DEATH FROM INTEMPERANCE.—John McGrath, while walking along Church street, Boston, Tuesday evening about nine o'clock, fell to the sidewalk and suddenly expired. Coroner Cornell was called, but did not hold an inquest, as the deceased had evidently come to his death by intemperance. He was about forty years of age, and leaves a widow and one child.

☞ We have just received from the publishers, Messrs. McFarland & Jenks, of Concord, a very neat and useful little manual, for any legislator and politician in New Hampshire, entitled The New Hampshire Legislative Manual, for June Session, 1858; and containing complete lists of officers and votes at the late election.

☞ The people of Maine are to vote on the questions of prohibition? or license? on the first Monday of June, 7th day, by ballot! There are no Lecompton dodges in this voting. One single question, only one, is to be tried.

☞ The Petersburg Express records the marriage, in Dinwiddie county, Va., on the 17th inst., of Mr. John W. Sturdivant, in the 22d year of his age, to the amiable and well-to-do Miss Martha Oliver, aged 86 years.

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, March 30.

SENATE.—Nothing of interest took place during the morning hour, except the presentation, by Mr. Doolittle, of the joint resolution of the Wisconsin Legislature, in favor of the admission of Minnesota.

At 1 o'clock, Mr. Hale of New Hampshire moved that instead of the Minnesota bill being taken up, the Senate go into executive session on the appointment of the Marshal for the District of Columbia, saying it was a shame that the government wheels should be stopped.

No legislative business was transacted in the Senate to-day.

HOUSE.—Mr. Sandige of Louisiana spoke an hour in defence of Southern society and institutions.

Mr. Walbridge of Michigan made a speech in opposition to the Lecompton Constitution.

The House went into committee on the Deficiency Appropriation Bill.

The chairman, Mr. Bocock, said that twenty-eight gentlemen desire to express their views on the Kansas question, and as only two days were to elapse before the bill would be taken up, he thought it proper to state the fact, in order that members might govern themselves accordingly.

Mr. Clay of Ky. advocated the Lecompton Constitution. He regarded slavery as the foundation of all this difficulty, and in the course of his remarks, denied that his father was the author of the Missouri Compromise.

Mr. Underwood, of Ky., opposed the Kansas bill. He said no improper motives could be attributed to him, for he was a southern man by birth, a large slaveholder and in favor of the extension of slavery. He maintained that the Legislature had no power to subvert the territorial government, and that the people by an overwhelming majority opposed the Lecompton Constitution. Admit Kansas under it, and the public commotion will be deeper than any heretofore known. It will not be confined to Kansas, but will extend through the north and west, until every hamlet and every city has become a scene of excitement. Do justice to Kansas and let her people regulate their institutions in their own way—and peace will prevail.

☞ In Newburyport, as we learn from the Herald, in the Police Court, on Monday, Patrick McNulty and his wife Ellen, the notorious keepers of den No. 14 "Misery Row," Liberty st., were arraigned on a complaint for keeping a nuisance. Both parties are now under bonds for their appearance at the May term, for violations of the liquor law, and one or more members of the family are in the County House for the same offence. All attempts to check their illegal traffic have heretofore proved abortive. The evidence was conclusive as to its being a nuisance, but the parties endeavored to show they had no interest in the shop. They pleaded hard to be allowed to go unpunished, and agreed to move out of the building before sunset, and let rum alone for the future. The case was put off for one week, to test the sincerity of the parties, and if they perform their part of the contract it will not be further prosecuted.

☞ "Business before friends," is the old motto—and may be good enough for those who live to labor rather than by it, and aim to get money rather than enjoy it; but we prefer a new version: Business and friends, say we. We regard every man who deals with us, and deals fairly, as a friend; and we don't desire to have any dealings with any other sort of men. In this view, we rejoice in a host of friends—and such business relations, long continued, often result in uniting very closely, "man to his brother man," as we have often had pleasant convincing experience.

And among all our friends in business, with none have we had more pleasant experience than with our old friend Stephen R. Niles, long managing clerk for, and recently successor to, V. B. Palmer, in his extensive advertising agency, in Boston.—For nearly six years have we had varied and large business with this establishment; and so invariably liberal, courteous and gentlemanly has been Mr. Niles' conduct, that a letter from him has come to be regarded as a double missive—at once a business order, and more prized as private correspondence. To any who do not know him, we cordially commend him in his new enterprise,—all who are acquainted with him, need no guarantee for his efficiency and fair dealing.

ACCIDENT IN A CHURCH.—The floor of the new Catholic Church in Meriden, Ct., gave way Sunday forenoon, precipitating the congregation into the basement, twelve feet below, fatally injuring two persons and severely wounding a dozen others.

AN AVALANCHE OF LIBELS.—The renowned Fernando Wood will shortly institute against the New York Tribune, a suit for no less than seven hundred and fifty distinct libels.

☞ Clarissa Gove, who lately got out of the State Prison a second time, has been retaken near Manchester, and carried back.

3 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

NEW YORK, March 31.—The steamship Persia, from Liverpool 20th inst., at noon, arrived at 3 o'clock this morning. She brings 54 passengers.

On the 17th the Emperor and Empress visited the Opera for the first time since the attempted assassination.

There were rumors that the French navy would be put on a war footing.

London, Saturday.—The Times city article says: No material variation in the funds to-day, but they have been rather more firm. All the circumstances are in favor of a steady advance in every description of security, a result which would certainly be witnessed but for the increasing distrust of the course of the French government.

Marseilles, Friday night.—News brought by the Valet is Canton, Jan. 28. No reply has been made by the Emperor to the notification of the Allied Plenipotentiaries; forces will therefore ascend Pei Ho river with flotilla gun boats.

Four hundred French and one thousand English marines garrison Canton.

The rich people and leading merchants were returning to Canton.

The English were erecting strong barracks on the Island of Perim.

A further deficiency in the shipment of teas is reported.

CHILD BURNT TO DEATH.—In North Bridgewater, Mass., Tuesday, some children were playing in a pasture and set fire to the dry grass. The flames caught in the dress of a daughter of Mr. F.B. Washburne, between seven and eight years of age, and she was burnt in a shocking manner. She lingered till six o'clock this morning, when death put an end to her sufferings.

A NEW DODGE.—A dry goods dealer doing business in the "Island Ward," East Boston, has stepped out, leaving his creditors under the following mournful circumstances: He managed to sell out most of his stock in trade, during the last week or two, collecting all the debts due him, sold his household furniture at auction, and then informed his friends that a near relative of his family had died out West.

He tied a yard or so of black crape, on the door handle, closed up his store, and is now among the missing. The shop on being opened, presented a sad and solemn appearance to his creditors. The only consolation left them is found in the fact that he attended a prayer meeting the evening before he left the Island Ward, and it is hoped that his conscience may be awakened by the good seed sown on that occasion.—Herald.

At the last term of the Supreme Judicial Court, in the case of Rogers vs. Commonwealth, it was decided that when a fine is imposed under statute 1855, chapter 215, section 15, it is to be paid to the attorney who conducted the prosecution before the Justice of Peace, and not to the District Attorney who prosecuted the case in the Court of Common Pleas on appeal. This is a good decision for the advancement of the cause of temperance. Heretofore the District Attorney has claimed the fees on all appeal cases which have gone up to the Common Pleas. The counsel for the government not caring about shaking the bush for another to catch the bird, have declined to appear in those cases. But under this decision there will be no lack of counsel.—Newburyport Herald.

IN 'PROSPECT.'—We have added 'birth' announcements to our columns, but the Hartford Courant goes ahead of us and all other papers, for after announcing a birth in Waterbury, &c., it also adds this announcement:—"In Prospect, March 1st, a daughter to Geo. S. Sloper."—Exchange.

We are not surprised at the comment of our exchange; for to all those not aware of the fact that there is a town called Prospect, near Hartford, the above must have a funny look.—Cincinnati Gazette.

THE BODY OF A MURDERER FOUND.—Westfield, March 30.—The body of Stoubs, who murdered his wife and two children in this place, in December last, was found to-day in a pond known as Cowle's mill-pond, about a mile and a quarter from the village. A Coroner's inquest is now being holden. The body is very natural, and no doubt exists but that it is Stoubs.

BY WHAT AUTHORITY.—We understand that most of the licenses for the sale of spirituous and intoxicating liquors in Newburyport have expired, so that most of the liquors now are sold without even the semblance of law. As the Mayor is absent and will not return for two or three weeks, there is no remedy for the matter at present. Now that these licenses have expired, the sincerity of those persons on the board of Aldermen who claim to be temperance men will be put to the test, and the votes for new licenses will be carefully looked after.—Herald.

BEARS AT THE WHITE MOUNTAINS.—Two of the most experienced hunters in the mountain district, on Saturday last, killed two bears and caught one alive, in the forest in front of the Alpine House, Gorham N. H. The party wore snow shoes, and had trained dogs.

The warm weather of the past week induced the tame bear at the Alpine House to emerge from his winter quarters, and he came out of his den last Friday looking finely. He was nine weeks under the snow.—Boston Transcript.

REVIVAL INCIDENT.—A story is current in Boston to the effect that one of the city missionaries, a man of rare piety and entire consecration to the service of the Great Teacher, attended one of the morning prayer meetings, and being moved to speak, made a brief and touching address, full of the spirit of love, and devotion. His theological devotion tenets could not have been inferred from a word he uttered, but he was known to one of the more zealous brethren of a different fold, who immediately announced to the meeting that the last speaker was not a "Bible Christian," and proposed prayers for his conversion! If in that assembly there were many men whose lives and conversation give evidence of a more vital piety than is afforded by the career of the clergyman thus publicly pointed out as a fit subject for special prayer, then it was indeed a meeting of "the Saints."—Transcript.

MANY KINDS OF TONIC are advertised that we are assured will strengthen the hair and prevent its falling out, but none that we have seen used does all that it promises, save that of Prof. O. J. Wood. This we know is good from having tried it, and witnessed in several cases its truly beneficial effects. Dr. Wood was kind enough to send us a couple of bottles, and after finding that it prevented our hair from falling out, we presented a bottle to a friend who had been bald for at least thirty years; it has restored his hair entirely, and it is now as thick and glossy as when he was twenty-five. This we say in all sincerity, and we shall be glad to have our friends try it for themselves, as we believe it is just what it professes to be. For real worth, Wood's Hair Restorative is undoubtedly the best preparation now in use for restoring hair on bald heads, changing gray hairs to their original color, and for a cosmetic or cure for pimples, it is fast taking the place of other preparations. No toilet now-a-days is complete without it.

☞ If any one should ask us what in our opinion, arrived at by an impartial test, was the best and most honest compound remedy for preserving and beautifying the hair and restoring gray hair to its original color, and the locks to the bald-headed, we would without hesitation say Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative. See advertisement in another column.—Louisville Journal. Sold by all Druggists.

Fulton applied steam to the great practical uses of the age; Morse has brought Galvanism to be the daily servant of millions of men. Newton unravelled the mazes of the stars, and made their motions the mariner's guide on the trackless ocean. What these men have done in their departments, Dr. Ayer does in medicine. He turns the great discoveries in Science and Physics to use in the cure of disease, and makes the occult discoveries of the great chemists available for the wants of every day life. His medicines for the low prices at which they are sold, bring within the reach of every man the best wisdom and the best skill of modern times.—Wilmington, Del., Statesman.

POLICE COURT.

On Wednesday morning, a great crowd assembled at the Court House. Soon after, Justice Odell took his seat, and Nelson N. Downing was brought in and arraigned for the murder of Mrs. Sarah A. Spinney.

He plead Not Guilty,—but waived examination, and was committed for trial at the Supreme Judicial Court in Portsmouth, on the first Tuesday of October next: and the witnesses were duly recognized to appear at that time.

The appearance of the prisoner indicated severe injury and much suffering.

"BLOOD GUILTINESS."

☞ The following communication was handed in on Monday, from a respected and responsible source, — but has been crowded out till to-day. It will be read with painful interest, even now.

A precious human life—a youthful wife and mother has been destroyed—shot down at her own door—in the presence of her terrified family. Her life-blood stains the dwelling place of her bereaved and mourning children.

Who did it? The murderer's name is on every tongue. The brand fastens on that name, and on his innocent children. All men know the name of him doing it. But, under the mournful caption to the record of the crime, is, "Rum did it!"

This divides the guilt. Rum, that awful power of evil in all forms, is by the common consent of men chargeable with a portion of this bitter crime. But where got he the rum? who sold it? who is the rumseller? who put into the murderer's hands this deadly stimulant to his crime?

Whoever he was, he is a partner in this work of blood. Men justly charge him with helping shed this mother's blood upon her own door-step. He put the bottle to the assassin's lips, and this blood crieth out against him and all his house, and all aiders and abettors in his deadly business.

But the City Government upholds and protects him in his unhallowed and murder-working office. "Blood-guiltiness" is on them then. They might have prevented this murder by lawfully putting down the maddening cause of it. They were bound by oath to do it. The cries of outraged society call them to do it, but they will not do it, and some of this blood is on them. Had these scores of rum-dens been shut up, as those having our city in charge are solemly bound to do, the murderer's drink had not been sold;—the poor criminal had not been maddened to do the deed:—these motherless babes had not been now bewailing their bloody orphanage.*

But "the citizens will not do their part in upholding the authorities, if they try to execute the law," is the reply. This is assumed. They have never resolutely tried that,—but we fear there is some truth in it. Then the blood-guiltiness reaches to the citizens not helping those whom they have appointed to put the law in force. Those defending in our Courts, the defyers of the law; those who in the streets and at the polls befriend and uphold the rum-vending and drinking, out of which comes directly this murder—on them is an awful part of this "blood-guiltiness."

Every citizen that has tolerated, and been silent against this crime of crimes, partakes in the guilt of this horrible deed.

People of Portsmouth will you wash out this stain? Shall these three score rum dens, by their lawless sale of these dreadful drinks stand unmolested to testify to our guilt, and insensibility to it? Shall we sit still longer? Shall this blood be dried before our citizens assemble to bewail our guilt in this dread crime, and to exterminate these murder-breeding dens from among us! TEARS.

* Mrs. Spinney leaves four young children; one a babe of twelve months, which she composed to its cradle sleep just before leaving her home last evening.

That was truly a horrible murder, and it will be well for the city authorities of Portsmouth, and of all other cities, to mark the cause of it. No man can drink the liquors sold at the present day without the liability of immediate insanity and all the crimes to which voluntary insanity may lead. All who license another to sell the accursed stuff to be used as a beverage, or who drink it, or tempt another or furnish it to another to drink, should consider the facts in this case. What happens in Portsmouth may any day happen otherwhores. Three-quarters of all the murders come from rum; and when such a deed is done who'll ask—"Am I my brother's keeper?"
—Newburyport Herald.

The closing session of the "Mercantile Legislature" will be held at the Court House this evening.

Messrs. Editors:—We are not one of the doctors, and in our communication, in Monday's paper, we shrewdly suspect we used a word which terse men might play upon. "Forbidden" is the word. We don't suppose anybody said to the pastor of whom we spoke, "You shall not pray in these meetings."

Seeing we made a mistake in our English, we thought we would venture to enquire of the reverend gentlemen who signed the note in Tuesday's paper, if they did not give this pastor to understand that they could not labor with him in these meetings? And did they not accept the position of managers of the morning meetings, when they answered a note addressed by this pastor to the committee and themselves as managers, asking an opportunity to explain to the people why he united with them at the commencement of the meetings, and could do so no longer? For the truth's sake, we have written. Those iron words "wholly false" sharpened our pen this time—and wounded our FEET.

EXTRA CHRONICLE.

We have been unable, for the two days past, to supply the call for Monday's paper—and yesterday we had not papers of Tuesday, though they were called for.

To supply these deficiencies, we have printed an Extra, containing the report of the Coroner's inquest, verdict of the jury, and all other matter which we have published in regard to the murder.

This extra, price 2 cts., is for sale at the Chronicle Counting Room, and at J. P. Morse's periodical depot.

More than 500,000 Bottles
SOLD IN THE NEW ENGLAND STATES ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles being last dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the finiest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.
O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hinckinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.
Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAITLAND, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.
PROF. O. J. WOOD & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.
Yours &c., JAMES FRENCH.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and cured under these Pills are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their cases shown in practice:

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. V. Cowperthwait, of New Orleans.

"Your Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which health-without intolerable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Dell, of New York City.

"I can only use your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose—as the best cathartic for those cases of hepatic disease for which Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any other cathartic combined with them. I sincerely regret that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry S. Rentz, of St. Louis.

"Your Pills are the best we have found us. We have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the diseases of the human system, that they seem to work hands where other cathartics have failed, in cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally found them to be effectual in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem for the many superior qualities I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Mr. E. Stuart, who practises as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual in expelling the stomach and bowels of pin worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Pennie, Montreal, Canada.

"I have recently tried your Pills, and find them the cure of costiveness. If others of our humanity have found them as effectual as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it to the world, that the many who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the prolific parent of others that are worse, I believe sufficient to relieve in the first, but your Pills effect that organ and give it tone."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Rastus Bell, Philadelphia.

"You were right, doctor, in saying that your Pills purify the blood. They do it, and in the most effectual way. They are in my practice, and agree with your estimonials of their efficacy. They eliminate the corrupted, and carry off the impurities that degrade the system. They invigorate the system, stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"In a word, I believe you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—PILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS—FITS—&c.

From Dr. Edward Bond, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer your numerous complaints I have cured with your Pills, but I feel bound to say all that we ever find with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and have found in your Pills a medicine I can afford as the best we have. I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skillful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every dose of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints, for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. At time makes these facts wider and better known, its proprietor has received from the hut and cabin of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peasant to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, Cherry Pectoral is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence in what men of every station testify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the testimony of intelligent physicians, whose business it is to know what is best for the sick, if we can rely upon any thing, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. "Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the remarkable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been forced upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

Maryland State Lotteries.

R. FRANCE & CO.....MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every denomination is built out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar, and small capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is as much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize, as if dropped in the fire. Because of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance, the Capital Prize is proved forged for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which pay prizes, are decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates, if he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as fully protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call the attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lottery of Samuel Swan & Co. is authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can be misunderstood them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing published to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Tag Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

All communications strictly confidential. m18 1y

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRANCE & CO are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner appointed by the Governor, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. No particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can be misunderstood. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the Reed instruments, giving the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct Melodeons; or by the use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Keys, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church instrument, but with much more pleasing. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skillful workmen. We have to order, we will promise our customers an instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine for themselves the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we have to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will speak for themselves in regard to their merit:

Chickering & Sons, Hallett & Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,
Brown & Allen, A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes, Woodward & Brown,
Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing, can be accommodated. We have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were personally employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

REVOLUTIONS.

BY MATTHEW ARNOLD.

Before man parted for this earthly strand,
While yet upon the verge of heaven he stood,
God put a heap of letters in his hand,
And bade him make with them what word he could.

And man has turn'd them many times; made Greece,
Rome, England, France;—yes, nor in vain es-[say'd
Way after way, changes that never cease.
The letters have combin'd; something has made.

But ah! an inextinguishable sense [should,
Haunts him that he has not made what he
That he has still, though old, to recommence,
Since he has not yet found the word God would.

And empire after empire, at their height
Of sway, have felt this boding sense come on,
Have felt their large frames not constructed right,
And droop'd, and slowly died upon their throne.

One day then say'st there will at last appear
The word, the order, which God meant should [hear—be;
Ah, we shall know THAT well when it comes
The hand will quit man's heart, he will breathe free.

ADMINISTRATION OF MEDICINE.—Dr. O. W. Holmes, whose reputation as a physician runs neck and neck with his literary popularity; in his valedictory address to the medical graduates of Harvard University, delivered on the 10th inst., gives the following, we doubt not judicious advice to the medical students who were about to graduate:

"With regard to the exhibition of drugs as a part of your medical treatment, the golden rule is, be sparing. Many remedies you give would make a well person so ill that he would send for you at once, if he had taken one of your doses accidentally. It is not quite fair, to give such things to a sick man, unless it is clear that they will do more good than the very considerable harm you know they will cause. Be very gracious to children especially. I have seen old men shiver at the recollection of the rhubarb and jalap, of infancy. You may depend upon it that half the success of Homeopathy is due to the sweet peace it has brought into the nursery. Between the gurgling down of loathsome mixtures and the saccharine deliquescence of a minute globule, what tender mother could for a moment hesitate?"

We are sorry to think, that in their lack of charity, some persons could not credit the report we gave of the revival of religion in the Universalist Society, which we assure them was true in every particular; and the work goes forward in the most hopeful manner. Their social meeting, on Sunday morning, was so crowded that full a hundred persons were unable to obtain admission to the vestry, and the meeting adjourned to the church, which was well filled. The audience was pervaded, as have been previous meetings, with the revival spirit; and as one after another urged that they should live for a higher and better life—and as they related their experience, men and women were melted to tears.—Newburyport Herald.

FIRE AND MURDER.—Harrisburg, Pa., March 31.—Dr. Dewitt's Presbyterian Church in this city, together with four adjacent dwellings, was destroyed by fire last night.

It is reported that at the Commencement of the Delaware College, yesterday, at Newark, a young student named Roche was stabbed in the neck and killed, during an affray growing out of a burlesque exhibition imitating the addresses by the Sophomores. Young Roche belonged to Somerset, Maryland.

NOT SO VERY QUEER, AFTER ALL.—A modern writer says:—

It may seem strange, but it is a fact, that men generally are much more afraid of women, than women are of men. Brown remarks, that the fact is not "strange" at all; for in both cases the fear is proportioned to the danger. Candid, but ungallant.

A GOOD PRICE FOR A GOOD HORSE.—The Manchester Mirror states that Nathaniel Perkins of that city, has sold his bay gelding, "Buchanan," to Horace C. Davis of Boston, for $1000 cash. He was sold less than two years ago for $125. He can go in about 2:40; is one of the pleasantest, kindest horses in the world, and an honest, square trotter.

ONE OF WADE'S HITS.—When old Moses enticed a whole nation of slaves to run away, no doubt he was denounced by Pharaoh and the chivalry of Egypt as a furious Abolitionist; but there were doughfaces then as now. There were some who prefered slavery in Egypt to freedom in Cannan, and those he supposed would be called "National men"—not "Nothern men with Southern principles," but Israelites with Egyptian principles."

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remmitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that no other office of the kind at the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SORDID INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
¶ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

FRIDAY, APRIL 2, 1858.

KEEP TOGETHER.—"Democrats," says the Cleveland (Ohio) Plaindealer, "stand together! Don't let a temporary question divide you. Whether Lecompton or anti-Lecompton, you can still be democrats.—Don't read or be read out of the party. Differ, but not divide. Kansas will be admitted, either under the Lecompton Constitution or some anti-Lecompton Constitution, during the present session of Congress. There is no difference between the President, Senator Douglas, or anybody else, in regard to the propriety, yea the necessity, of all future conventions submitting the constitutions to the people before asking admission as a State. The democratic rule will be, submit them. About such a rule there will be no difference of opinion. We shall all be together on that subject.—The difficulty now is, the President does not propose to adopt the rule in the present Kansas case; whereas, Douglas and the mass of the Northern democracy go for enforcing it in all cases, now and forever."

There will be a tremendous North, then; the Republicans unanimously go for this rule—and if the mass of the Northern democracy go the same way, and the South Americans too, they will form a three-fold cord that cannot be broken.

☞ The Boston Journal says that a citizen of Winchester, has within a few days, had his mind so effected by the present religious excitement, that it has been found necessary to remove him to the Insane Asylum in Somerville.

One beneficial effect of the late religious excitement in New York, is said to be a moving of the consciences of the Alms House Governors, who have hitherto fared most sumptuously. It is now resolved to abolish the customary regalement of the Governers by wine, liquors and cigars, at the public institutions at the expense of the city. The bill for the last six months shows:—for brandy, $908; wines, $558; whiskey, $101; cigars, $580—in all, $2,147.

☞ There must be something in the Illinois state prison. Another prisoner, Thomas Downie, a Scotchman, has been defying his keepers, backing his arms and legs with a razor, declaring his intention to die by this slow torture, and threatening to brain with a stove leg any man who should enter his cell. At sundown he threatened to cut his throat, set fire to his cell and perish in the flames. The keepers threw a quantity of Cayenne pepper in his eyes, and thus blinded and thrown off his guard he was secured. He then threatened to starve himself, but at last accounts was penitent, and had concluded not to kill himself. Intemperance was his greatest temptation, and his only fault before his confinement.

☞ In New York, last week, a runaway horse dashed into a porter-house, (ale-shop) and after falling on and demolishing a sofa, "started toward the bar, but changing his course, rushed against a back window, and dashed through, smashing glass, sash, and everything in his way. He alighted on the flags below, having fallen the distance of about twenty feet, but was only slightly injured. The leap was considered marvelous;" but the horse only shewed his good sense—for there's vastly more danger in approaching a "bar," than in jumping from a sixth story, even.

☞ We learn from the Dover Enquirer that Mr. James Nutter, eldest son of Col. Richard Nutter of Farmington, was accidentally and instantly killed by the discharge of his gun on the fifth ult., in his father's house, in the room where the family were at the time—the charge cutting off the large vein under the right ear and passing up into his head. His gun was standing by his side, and it is supposed that a dog in jumping up to him placed one of his feet upon the cap, which caused it to explode. He was a young man aged about twenty-five, endowed with much physical strength, and had been married but a short time.

☞ The New York Journal of Commerce rebukes the national whigs for not coming up to the scratch on Lecompton. It says they have not hesitated to ask the administration for offices, but they now show a disposition to combine with the republicans against the administration they helped to elect. It hints pretty explicitly that these whigs are ungrateful dogs, to make the best of them.

☞ Rev. Charles Smith, of the Shawmut Avenue Orthodox Church, Boston, has requested his Society to reduce his salary from $2500 to $2000, he having recently come in possession of a fortune by the death of a relative.

CONGRESS.

On Wednesday, March, 31, the Senate where at work on the bill for admitting Minnesota into the Union. Several proposed amendments were voted down,—and one by Mr. Iverson, accepted: but as Mr. Iverson offered two, and the report is rather clumsy, we can't tell whether Minnesota, is to have one Representative or two.

HOUSE.—The House went into committee on the Deficiency Bill.

Mr. Stevenson of Kentucky spoke in favor of the immediate admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution.

Mr. Gillmer of North Carolina, urged in favor of the admission of Kansas without the Lecompton Constituion, leaving the people to fairly settle the question at issue. This would be satisfactory to them and to the country, and no principle would thereby be compromised.

Mr. Mills of South Carolina, advocated the Lecompton Constitution, saying that it was natural that the South should feel sensitive, as the question involved was whether more slave States, should or should not be admitted into the Union.

Mr. Burlingame, of Massachusetts, trampled the threat of Disunion scornfully and defiantly under his foot. He would strike hands with the fire-eaters to exterminate, the doughfaces who misrepresent the views of the North. He was prepared to vote for the Crittenden amendment.—The Douglas Democrats, Republicans and South Americans, have united on this for different reasons, but without pre-concert, which showed the honesty of their convictions. He appealed to the young men of the country, without distinction of party, to sustain the Douglas men who have kept their faith and remained firm, while others have trembled in the ptesence of power.

Mr. Parrott, claiming to be the Representative of the entire people of Kansas, said that without the enjoyment of the rights to which they were entitled, they had no means of redress for their wrongs. They were the victims of a merciless persecution. After a despotism had been imposed by foreign invasion and been maintained by the persistent arm of the government, the civil strife culminated in the Lecompton Constitution, which was designed to prolong and make permanent the vassalage of the people.

The Lecompton Convention was fraudulently constituted and the pretended submission of the Constitution was a cheat.

Mr. Groesbeck of Ohio, should not vote for the Senate bill, as by it the Constitution of Kansas could not be changed till 1864 without a revolution. The Lecompton Constitution did not express a popular will.

Mr. Tripp of Georgia, would vote for the bill, hoping by its passage to secure the peace of Kansas. With all due respect he thought the amendment of Messrs. Green and Pugh a contemptible piece of toggery. No Congressional declaration could vitiate the cause providing against the amendment of the Constitution till 1864. It would be a high-handed and insolent attempt at Federal interference and usurpation.

Then followed an exciting debate between the two wings of the democratic party, about reading out, in which Messrs. Hatch of New York, Marshall of Illinois, Hughes of Indiana, &c. took part.

Mr. Tappan, of New Hampshire, entered the protest of New Hampshire against what she considered the most stupendous fraud ever attempted to be perpetrated on any people.

Midnight.—The House is still in session, with little prospect of adjournment for some hours to come.

For the Chronicle.

CHURCH MEMBERS NOT RESPECTABLE.—The conversation was upon the violation of the prohibitory liquor law, and one said to a leading member of the Church, that the dealer might be prosecuted if they could get respectable evidence of the sale. The reply was, "respectable persons do not go there for liquor." This seems correct. What person of good morals, of self-respect, and who wished to set a good example for others, would go and patronize one who was engaged in the murderous traffic?

But after Thanksgiving and Christmas with scenes of drunkenness were past, the dealer was prosecuted, and a Church member was summoned for a witness. He testified that he had bought there. So we go. But on this we have a logical syllogism.

Respectable persons do not visit dram places. Some Church members visit dram places. Therefore some Church members are not respectable. UNCLE BENJAMIN.

ONE OF THE LEGISLATURES.—An editor writing from Frankfort, Ky., says that the Legislature of that State is composed of fine-looking, well-behaved men, and that among the whole number there are but five drunkards, and only some eight or ten fools—a smaller number than was counted in any previous General Assembly.

Jean Paul very wittily and truly remarks that female hearts and Spanish houses are very similar; having many doors, but few windows, and accordingly it is easier to get into them than to see into them.

"Please, sir, I don't think Mr. Dosim takes his physic reg'lar," said a doctor's boy to his employer. "Why so?" "Cause vy, he's getting vell so precious fast."

THE STRUGGLE FOR FREEDOM.

Just God! and shall we calmly rest,
The Christian's scorn—the heathen's mirth—
Content to live the lingering jest
And by word of a mocking earth?
Shall our own glorious land retain
The curse which Europe scorns to bear?
Shall our own brethren drag the chain
Which not e'en Russia's mantals wear?

Up now for Freedom! not in strife
Like that your sterner fathers saw—
The awful waste of human life—
The glory and the guilt of war;
But break the chain—the yoke remove,
And smite to earth oppression's rod,
With those mild arms of truth and love,
Made mighty through the living God!

Down let the shrine of Moloch sink,
And leave no traces where it stood;
Nor longer let its idol drink
His daily cup of human blood:
But rear another altar there,
To truth and love and mercy given,
And Freedom's gift and Freedom's prayer
Shall call an answer down from heaven.

[J. G. Whittier.

NO MORE MADEIRA.—A Funchal correspondent of the London Times says that it is not an open question whether any more Madeira wine will ever be produced. None has been made since 1851, and there are now only some 7,000 or 8,000 pipes upon the entire island. All recent attempts to manufacture this wine have utterly failed, and pumpkin vines now adorn the old grape arbors, once covered with abundant clusters of rich grapes.

☞ The North American Review for April, 1858, is before us, with a rich table of contents, ten articles: among them, The Brahminic Doctrine of a Future Life; the Rebellion in India; and Modern Researches in Africa, specially interesting to us. The literary notices of the North American Review are always valuable.

WASHINGTON, April 1—10:30 A. M.—(Correspondence of the Boston Journal.) The Republicans are sanguine of uniting the entire opposition to Lecompton, and carrying Crittenden's amendment, although the influence of Gov. Chase is brought to bear on the Ohio Republicans against it. The best feeling prevails among the opposition.

The House then adjourned, at an earlier hour than anticipated when the report closed last night.

The Washington correspondents of the Courier and Times state that the Republicans have obtained an important modification of Crittenden's substitute, which modification excludes recognition of the Lecompton Constitution. This, it is said will obviate the objections of certain Republicans.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah A. Spinney was attended at her late home, on White's Road, on Wednesday afternoon. The religious services were performed by Rev. Dr. Lamson, who read appropriate selections from the scriptures, and offered the following

REMARKS.

God moves in a mysterious way,
His wonders to perform;
He plants his footsteps in the sea,
And rides upon the storm.

Blind unbelief is sure to err,
And scan his work in vain.
God is his own interpreter,
And he will make it plain.

God is unsearchable, and his ways past finding out. The reasons of his conduct are far above out of our reach. Nor is it strange. He governs on the scale as vast as eternity and as broad as the universe.—Any one event is but a single point in a single figure of that vast tapestry which His providence is weaving—the relations of which cannot be known till the completed whole is seen. This calamity is a single event in a vast train of providences.

Death is always solemn. When its approaches are gradual, and softened by all the ministries of kindness and affection, it is solemn—the transition of a soul from time to eternity. But there is an awful added solemnity attending the death which has called us here this afternoon. Never have we, most of us, attended a funeral such as this. I need not repeat the painful scenes which have preceded and been its antecedents. They are fresh in every mind.

The event teaches us the fearful uncertainty of every earthly good. Had you looked in upon this home last Sabbath morning, you would have seen no token of the coming calamity. You would have seen father and mother and children in health, and with as unclouded an earthly prospect as was before any of our domestic circles. And yet on that morning they were to the all-seeing eye, within twelve hours of the saddest calamity that ever blasted the prospect and crushed the hopes of any home. A mother, affectionate and faithful, a wife true and loving, was to lie dead on her own door step—and the father wounded and narrowly escaping death, but a few feet from her on that very evening. Oh! how little knew they what was before them on the morning of that holy day. As little know we what is before us!

But why was this terrible scene needed? Why did Providence permit it? Oh! it was needed. The intense, emphatic voice of God in this event was needed to startle us from our criminal apathy in regard to that chiefest curse of our community, which is filling so many of our homes with poverty, and misery, and crime. We have slept over this curse too long. Its daily results have not aroused us. And God has permitted this shocking tragedy to come that we might be startled. Fellow citizens, shall not the condition of this stricken family appeal to us—will we slumber on over this event.

Terrible as the scene is, unspeakable as is the desolation of this home, and yet more of that other home, should it thoroughly arouse us to feel and act to remove the great cause, it might prove a rich blessing to us as a people. Sending misery into two homes, it might be the means of sending joy into a hundred homes.

But to the stricken husband and his now motherless children, what shall I say, what can I say? Vain are human helps, my friend. If ever one needed the help that cometh from above—the support of divine grace—you need them. May you seek and find them. May the life which has so narrowly escaped be consecrated to Him whose providence has shielded it in the hour of its peril.

The services were closed with Prayer.

Messrs. Editors:—Certain members of the clergy in this city, (which class, by the bye, was referred to by "Melchisedec" instead of "Feet," in your issue of Monday, the 29th,) having denied that they participated at all in forbidding the Pastor of one of our Christian Societies to join in the exercises of the morning prayer meetings, I would state that he was given to understand, that as he did not believe in the dogma of endless misery, they neither wanted him to attend the meetings, nor the use of his church to hold them in.

I will only add, that I contend merely for truth and JUSTICE.

Portsmouth, March 30.

☞ Seven-twelfths (in common and undivided) of the Jacob Sheafe Farm, bordering on Sagamore Creek and the Ocean, at the south part of this city was sold at auction by Geo. W. Towle, Esq., on Saturday last, for $7000. Edmund Davis, of North Andover, Mass., was the purchaser; and we understand he will probably buy the whole, and reside there. It is a very fine location.

DONATION VISIT.

Messrs. Editors:—Within the last few years we have heard much of surprise parties, and in several instances have had the pleasure of participating in them; but never knew, until last Monday evening, how very agreeable it was to be ourselves thus taken by surprise.

Our little door-bell has for the last few months so frequently notified us of the arrival of visiters, that even its quickened throbs did not lead us to suspect anything unusual this evening until our ordinary reception rooms became too strait for us. As group after group poured in upon us, we gladly threw open our whole house and were happy to find it soon filled by friends from all parts of the city.

To be thus agreeably surprised and enjoy an evening of social intercourse with warm-hearted friends, would of itself have been a rich treat. On this occasion our pleasures were greatly increased by the music of well attuned and harmonious voices; from Rev. Dr. Peabody, expressing in behalf of all present their appreciation of the services and their hearty co-operation in the labors of their City Messionary; and finally by the presentation to us, through Dea. Knowlton, of a box containing the pecuniary contributions of our guests. An attempt in reply, to express the gratitude of the recipient, followed by the singing of the Doxology, concluded the exercises of the evening.

After the company had retired the family enjoyed the luxury of many a pleasant surprise as one valuable package after another was examined or some new treasure was discovered in the various apartments of the house. Even our office, which having been previously closed and bolted, was not known to have been entered, was found to contain a barrel of Superfine flour with a box of extra soap. Indeed every article was highly valuable. Contributions were also sent in by persons who could not be present, making in all a very material addition to the purse, the wardrobe, the store room, the writing-desk, etc., of the happy recipients of their bounty.

The value of all this was greatly enhanced by those warm expressions of interest and gratitude, which meeting on all sides made us feel that far from laboring alone we were serving a community who could appreciate our toils, and whose approval, next to that of the God we mutually serve, was indeed our richest reward.

N. & R. B. MEDBERY.

Portsmouth, April 1.

MEETINGS THIS EVENING, &c.

Union Prayer Meeting in the North Church, from 8 to 9 o'clock this morning, to which all are invited.

Prayer and Conference meeting at the Vestry in the Temple, this evening at half past 7 o'clock.

There is to be a Communion Lecture at the Court Street Chapel,—to commence at half past 7 o'clock this evening.

There is to be a Prayer Meeting in the vestry of the Methodist Church, this evening, beginning at 7 1-2 o'clock.

Meeting for Prayer and Conference, in the Chapel of the Middle Street Church, this evening, at half past 7 o'clock.

☞ The funeral of Mr. Samuel Odiorne, on Thursday P. M., presented a solemn and imposing pageant. The procession of mourners formed in Kittery, and on crossing the Portsmouth Bridge was led by the fraternities of Free Masons, Odd Fellows, and Sons of Temperance, accompanied by the Portsmouth Cornet Band, playing funeral marches. Entering the Methodist Church in this city, where a congregation assembled, religious services were performed by Elders Payne and Knowlton, accompanied with appropriate music on the Organ by Mr. Pearson, and hymns by the choir. After which, the procession again formed and moved to the cemetery, where the impressive masonic funeral notes were celebrated, and the remains committed to their lowly resting-place.

CHAPIN'S ELOQUENCE.—Rev. Geo. Copway, the Indian preacher, in his Autobiography, speaking of Dr. Chapin's address before the World's Peace Convention, says: "When he sat down, not knowing what I was doing, I sprang to my feet and said, it was well worth coming four thousand miles to hear such an address! Then, turning to my English friend, who sat beside me, I said, 'Beat that if you can!' And it was not until I had sat down and had time to reflect, that I began to consider that I had said something which might not be deemed exactly courteous."

TOO SHARP FOR PROFIT.—A sharp and wealthy farmer of Macoupin Co., Ill., not many miles from Bridgton and Miles' station, has on hand 1500 bushels of choice wheat, the crop of 1856. Last year he refused $1.75 per bushel for it. He held on for $2. He has now contracted to deliver it at the railroad at 73 cents per bushel.

More than 500,000 Bottles

SOLD IN THE NEW ENGLAND STATES IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last year for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

THE LITTLE ONES.

A row of little faces by the bed—
A row of little hands upon the spread—
A row of little roguish eyes all closed—
A row of little naked feet exposed.

A gentle mother leads them in their praise,
Teaching their feet to tread in heavenly ways,
And takes this lull in childhood's tiny tide,
The little errors of the day to chide.

No lovelier sight this side of heaven is seen,
And angels hover o'er the group serene;
Instead of odor in a censer swung,
There floats the fragrance of an infant's tongue.

Then tumbling headlong into waiting beds,
Beneath the sheets they hide their timid heads;
Till slumber steals away their idle fears,
And like a peeping bud each face appears.

All dressed like angels in their gowns of white,
They're waited to the skies in dreams of night;
And heaven will sparkle in their eyes at morn,
And stolen graces all their way adorn.

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER.—While a worthy individual, of the march of intellect school, was "laying down the law," recently, to a knot of acquaintances in one of the streets of Cupar, he caught the eye of a carter hard by, who had been vainly endeavoring to raise a sack of potatoes upon his cart, and who, on the instant, thus appealed to the man of knowledge:—"Come awa', Mr.———; knowledge is power, ye ken—gi'e us a lift on us' this poke o' taties!"

A boy at school was asked: "What is the Germanic Diet?" "Sauerkraut, Bretzels, Schnapps, Blutwurst and Lager Bier," was the reply.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these PILLS are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Evidence of the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"Your PILLS are the cylinder of purges. They are excellent in all cases in which we purge. They are mild, safe, certain and effective in their action on the bowels, and make them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Dalt, of New York City.

"Not only are your PILLS admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find they benefited effects on the liver more decidedly than any I have tried. They have in many cases effected for the cure of bilious complaints that no other remedy I can mention. I sincerely believe that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Bour, of St. Louis.

"The PILLS you were kind enough to send me have been all used to my practice, and have established one thing more in my mind, namely, that they are peculiarly are they exercise the change of the human system, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with your PILLS, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally found them to be effectual in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. A. G. Stone, of Chicago.

"Your PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them invaluable in the cure of bilious and small bowel disorders, dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION — WORMS — SUPPRESSION.

From M. S. Stuart, who practices as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the commencement of excellent results, by means of the natural secretion, the place wholly or partially improved, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

"You speak cannot be said of your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. If others will give them a fair trial, they will find them effectual, as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the prolific source of others that are more dangerous. I believe costiveness to originate in the liver, but your PILLS effect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Lachlin Bell, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that. I have seen the effect of late years in my practice, perhaps with more decided effects of their efficacy. They stimulate the excretories, and carry off the impurities that stagnate in the blood, engendering disease. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE — SICK HEADACHE — FOUL STOMACH — PILES — DROPSY — FLETHORA — PARALYSIS — FITS — &c.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you other complaints I have cured with your PILLS better than by saying that I never have occasion to prescribe any other. I place great dependence on an efficient cathartic in my daily contest with diseases, and believing as I do that your PILLS afford us the best we have, I prefer them to all others."

☞ The Mass of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every agent of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the correct remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, and for the relief of consumptive sufferers, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As these matters these facts wider and better known, this medicine has gradually become the best pulmonary of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the hunter or pioneer to the palaces of European kings. Throughout the entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In other foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence in what men of every station certify it has done for them: if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous symptoms of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the accuracy of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then be it remembered that this medicine does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could have established and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, confirmed benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are scattered, tickets at $1. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is usually large in comparison to the price of tickets—In every instance where large prices are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which pur port to be decided by the Maryland Drawings are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vendor in Baltimore, you will receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates. If he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, and the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, and orders received before filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten will win a prize. Prizes are paid in full, 60 days, quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize is published in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten will win a prize. ADVENTURE ON A RAILWAY.

After I had taken my seat one morning, at Paddington, in an empty carriage, I was joined, just as the train was moving off, by a strange looking young man, with remarkably long flowing hair. He was, of course, a little hurried, but he seemed, besides, to be so disturbed and wild, that I was quite alarmed for fear of his not being right in his mind; nor did his subsequent conduct at all reassure me. Our train was an express, and he enquired, eagerly, at once, which was the first station whereat we were advertised to stop. I consulted my Bradshaw, and I furnished him with the required information. It was Reading.

The young man looked at his watch.—"Madam," said he, "I have but half an hour between me and, it may be, ruin. Excuse, therefore, my abruptness. You have, I perceive, a pair of scissors in your workbag. Oblige me, if you please, by cutting off all my hair." "Sir," said I, "it is impossible." "Madam," he urged, and a look of severe determination crossed his features, "I am a desperate man. Beware how you refuse me what I ask. Cut my hair off—short, close to the roots—immediately; and here is a newspaper to hold the ambrosial curls." I thought he was mad, of course; and believing it would be dangerous to thwart him, I cut off all his hair to the last lock.

"Now, Madam," said he, unlocking a small portmanteau, "you will further oblige me by looking out of the window, as I am about to change my clothes." "Of course I looked out of the window for a very considerable time, and when he observed, "Madam, I need no longer put you to any inconvenience," I did not recognize the young man in the least. Instead of his former rather gay costume, he was attired in a suit of black, and wore a gray wig and spectacles; he looked like a very respectable divine of the Church of England, of about 64 years of age; to complete that character, he held a volume of sermons in his hand, which—they appeared so to absorb him—might have been his own.

"I do not wish to threaten you, young lady," he resumed, "and I think, besides, that I can trust your kind face. Will you promise me not to reveal this metamorphosis until your journey's end?" "I will," said I, "most certainly." At Reading the guard and a person in plain clothes looked into our carriage. "You have the ticket, my love," said the young man, blandly, and looking at me as though he were my father. "Never mind, Sir; we don't want them," said the official, as he withdrew with his companion. "I shall now leave you, Madam," observed my fellow-traveller, as soon as the coast was clear; by your kind and courageous conduct you have saved my life, and perhaps even your own." In another minute he was gone, and the train was in motion.

Not till the next morning did I learn from the Times newspaper that the gentleman on whom I had operated as haircutter had committed a forgery to an enormous amount in London a few hours before I met him, and that he had been tracked into an express train from Paddington, but that although the telegraph had been put into motion and described him accurately—at Reading, when the train was searched, he was nowhere to be found.—Household Words.

SENATOR CLARK OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.—The Washington Globe says that during the protracted session of the Senate, forced by Senator Green last week, Senator Clark, having the floor, had a hard time of it. Having spoken from half past four to six o'clock, he said, "If it be the pleasure of the Senate to adjourn now, it would be very agreeable to me. I have had nothing to eat since eight o'clock, either bread or anything else." But the Senate would not adjourn, and he proceeded until a quarter past eight o'clock.

When, during an explanation by Mr. Green, having spoken over three hours and a half, he availed himself of the opportunity to indulge in that beverage which "cheers but not inebriates," with accompanying muffins and sandwiches, which gave his desk the social aspect of a cozy tea table; the Honorable Senator retained his right to the floor with a cup of hot tea in one hand and a huge sandwich in the other. The scene was novel; but at twelve hours' test had created an inexorable stomach. By the call of the yeas and nays, he was afforded ample time to finish his repast.

TOTAL ABSTINENCE from spirituous liquors, as a beverage, must become a practical part of life, if we wish good health.

The effects of rum are evil, only evil, and that continually—counteracting all healthy medical remedies, bringing in its train inflammation of the blood, indigestion, red eyes and nose, fetid breath, coughs, sores and swellings, with jaundice, dropsy, palsy, apoplexy and madness, till it wraps a winding sheet about its victim, and lays him in the "Urn of Death."

"Oh thou invisible spirit of rum!
Had we no other name for which to call thee,
We would call thee Devil!"

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

Not long since there was an explosion of an infernal machine in France, which was prepared to destroy the King. Four others have likewise been discovered. But the public quiet is not yet restored,—for it has been ascertained that eighteen of these were brought into France, and beneath the soil somewhere are yet hidden the thirteen, which may be sprung here or there, at any moment, and destruction follow in their train when no means of escape will be found. There have been introduced into our city infernal machines no less destructive—there was a fearful explosion of one last Sunday evening, and more than thirteen remain, with equally destructive powers. These machines are not hid beneath the soil, as in France, but are open to the sight of all.

There is no lack of law to sink these machines below the power to do evil. The community call upon those in power to do their duty, and save themselves from being in fact aiders and abettors in murders of the most horrid description, for which they are really and directly responsible.

CITY COUNCIL.

In the Board of Aldermen, on Thursday evening, the committee on Police recommended that the Truck Stand now on Market street and Market square, be removed to Bow street. Report accepted and ordinance ordered.

The committee on widening Penhallow street at corner of Bow street, recommended that it be done. The same committee, with the Mayor, was authorized to purchase the land and widen the same—at an expense not exceeding $75.

It was voted, that the Board of Aldermen go into the election of City Officers on the 16th inst. [By the amendment of the City Charter, made last June, the elections of Collector, Fire Engineers, Marshals, Health Officers, Street Commissioner, Sup. of Alms House, and all officers not elected by the people, devolves upon the Board of Aldermen. Heretofore they have been made in convention of the two branches.]

A notice was received from the Common Council, that a committee consisting of Messrs. Goodall, W. H. Dennett, and Fisher, was appointed to confer with the committee of the Board of Aldermen, on the subject of elections of remaining city officers. Aldermen Webster, Kenney and Marden a committee of conference.

The committee on alteration of High school partition, reported that it is inexpedient. Report laid on the table.

Some other business of minor importance was transacted.

CONGRESS.

Thursday, April 1

Kansas Bill passed in the House, with Crittenden's Amendment, by a majority of eight!

Mr. Stephens of Georgia, said that the hour of one o'clock having arrived, he moved that the House take up the Senate Kansas bill.

The bill was read once.

Mr. Giddings objected to a second reading.

Under the rule the question then recurred—Shall the bill be rejected?

Mr. Stephens demanded the yeas and nays, and they were taken. The bill was not rejected—yeas 95, nays 187.

The bill was then read a second time.

Mr. Stephens, of Georgia, would not now discuss the bill, having heard that a substitute was to be submitted. He gave way to.

Mr. Montgomery, of Pennsylvania, who offered the Crittenden substitute as amended by the anti-Lecompton Democratic Conference, proposing to admit Kansas into the Union, and to refer the Lecompton Constitution to a vote of the people. In the event of its rejection by them, a Convention to be called, to frame a new Constitution. It also allows one member of the House of Representatives until the next Federal Census.

Mr. Montgomery said he had no remarks to make; the substitute was its best interpreter. He had furnished copies to some members, and was ready to supply others.

Mr. Quitman, of Mississippi, offered a substitute, which is the same as the Senate bill, with the omission of the declaration clause, that the people shall have the right at all times to alter or amend the Constitution in such manner as they think proper, etc.

Mr. Humphrey Marshall, of Kentucky, wished to amend the original Senate bill by striking out the same clause which was proposed to be omitted in Mr. Quitman's substitute.

Mr. Stephens refused to yield the floor for that purpose, and demanded the previous question.

Mr. Marshall wanted Mr. Stephens' refusal to be borne in mind, and entered on the record.

The question was taken on the adoption of Mr. Quitman's substitute, which was negatived—yeas 72, nays 160.

Mr. Montgomery's substitute was then adopted—yeas 120, nays 112.

Yeas.—Messrs. Abbott, Adrian, Andrews, Bennett, Billinghurst, Bingham, Blair, Bliss, Brayton, Buffington, Burlingame, Burroughs, Campbell, Clark of Ct., Clark of N. Y., Clawson, C. B. Cochrane, Cockerill, Colfax, Comins, Covode, Cox, Crapin, Curtis, Damrell, Davis of Md., Davis of Ind., Davis of Mass., Davis of Iowa, Dawes, Dick, Dodd, Durfee, Eale, English, Farnsworth, Fenton, Foley, Foster, Giddings, Gilman, Gilmer, Gooch, Goodwin, Granger, Grosebeck, Grow, Hall of Mass., Harlan, Harris of Md., Harris of Ill., Haskin, Hickman, Hoard, Horton, Howard, Owen, Jones; Kellogg; Kelsey; Kilgore; Knapp; Kunkel of Pa. Lawrence; Leach; Letter; Lovejoy; McKibbin; Marshall of Ill. Marshall of Ky. Matteson; Montgomery; Morgan; Morrill; Morris of Pa. Morris of Ill. Morse of Me.; Morse of N. Y. Moot; Murray; Nichols; Olin; Palmer; Parker; Pendleton; Pettit; Pike; Potter Pottle Purviance Ricaud Ritchie Robbins Roberts Royce Shaw of Ill Sherman of Ohio Sherman of N. Y. Smith of Ill Spinner Stanton Stewart of Penn Tappan Tenyer Thompson Tompkins Underwood Wade Walbridge Waldron Walton Washburn of Wis. Washburn of Me. Washburn of Ill, Wilson Wood Hall of Ohio.

[The vote on the passage of the bill as amended by Mr. Montgomery's substitute, is precisely similar to the above.]

The announcement of the result was greeted with applause from the gentlemen's gallery.

Mr. Keitt of S. C. moved that it be cleared, and insisted on the enforcement of the rule.

Much confusion ensued.

The Speaker reminded the applauders that they were not in the gallery of a theatre, and said if the indecorum was repeated the galleries should be cleared.

A member—Except the ladies.

Another—Certainly.

The House then proceeded to vote on the Senate bill, as amended by the adoption of Mr. Montgomery's substitute, and it was passed—yeas 120, nays 112.

The House immediately adjourned.

Most of the speeches in Congress are now read from manuscript. As the publisher of the Congressional Globe does not allow members to revise their remarks, they are obliged to be more careful about what they say than they formerly were.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, APRIL 3, 1858.

Congress.—The proceedings of Thursday were interesting and important. The Senate, after considerable discussion and amendment, passed the army bill by a vote of 41 to 13. Two regiments besides the Texan regiment are to be raised, instead of four.

In the House, at one o'clock, according to previous announcement, Mr. Stephens of Ga. moved that the Senate Kansas bill be taken up. A motion was made to reject the bill. This was negatived, 95 to 137. An amendment, similar to that offered in the Senate by Mr. Crittenden, was then offered by Mr. Montgomery. This was adopted by the yea and nay vote of 120 to 112, and the Senate bill as amended was then passed by the same vote. Every member of the House was present and in his seat, except Mr. Caruthers of Mo., who was detained away by sickness.

A Washington dispatch of Thursday evening says:

Notwithstanding the result in the House to-day on the Kansas bill, the friends of Lecompton are still sanguine of ultimate success. They point to the fact of forty-two majority against its rejection as evidence of the disposition of the majority to admit Kansas in some shape under the Lecompton Constitution.

The Senate will to-morrow non-concur in the House amendment to the Kansas bill, and the democratic calculation is that the vote will be very close in the House on the question to recede from it, and a strong effort will be made with that view. Should they fail, the disagreement must go to a joint committee of conference, and on their report the question will be presented on the finality of the measure.

The Newburyport Herald says of this matter:

What the Senate will do about it, we cannot say, but we do not believe the House can be made to recede. We regard this action as decisive—Kansas must be and will be free; and if the South are ready to dissolve, now is the time for them to take their hats.

Naval.—The U. S. Bark Release, Lieut. Parker, arrived at Spezzia, Italy, after a very boisterous passage of thirty-four days from Boston.

On the 2d of Feb. lost their port quarter boat, and pitched away the flying-jib-boom.

On the 7th stove the starboard quarter boat, and hove overboard two guns of 27 cwt. each.

Passed the Straits of Gibralter the 21st Feb.

Officers and crew well.

Who Was He?—The Boston Courier says:—

A distinguished gentleman of the anti-slavery persuasion, some little time since, broached the idea of having an anti-slavery bible and an anti-slavery God.

The Courier will confer a favor by naming the "distinguished gentleman," and quoting the language or sentence in which he "broached the idea."

☞ The amendments made in the House of Representatives to Mr. Crittenden's substitute for the Kansas Lecompton bill, are neither long nor numerous, but very important—for they provide for a fair submission of the whole matter to the legal voters under the territorial laws.

The young German who lately shot his affianced bride at Theresa, Wisconsin, by arrangement between them, in consequence of the refusal of her parents to permit the union, intending afterwards to kill himself, but failing to do so, has had his trial, confessed the deed, and has been sentenced to State Prison for life.

☞ Rev. Horatio Merrill, of Portland, was installed as pastor of the Congregational church in Salisbury, N. H., on March 17th. Rev. J. B. Hadley, of Standish, has received a call from the Congregational church and society in Campton, N. H.

☞ The London Times says that the average duration of a ship-of-war in a seaworthy state, built of British oak, is only thirteen years of active service. It takes seventy acres of ground eighty years to produce the timber.

☞ Conrad Pleister, a brewer at St. Louis, made a wager that he could lift half a barrel of beer by his teeth, and while endeavoring to do so had his upper jaw broken, and it is expected that he will die of his injuries.

"Why did you not pocket some of those pears?" said one boy to another; "nobody was there to see."

"Yes, there was—I was there to see myself, and I don't ever want to see myself do a mean thing."

THE DOUBLE PLOT.

Three hungry travellers found a bag of gold;
One ran into town where bread was sold.

He thought, "I will poison the bread I buy,
And seize the treasure when my comrades die."

But they, too, thought, "When back his feet have hied,
We will destroy him, and the gold divide."

They killed him, and, partaking of the bread,
In a few moments all were lying dead.

O world! behold what ill thy goods have done;
The gold has poisoned two, and murdered one.

[Alger's "Poetry of the East."

The Basque.—Shall it go out of Fashion?—The dressmakers say that the basque is passing out of date—that is not so much worn now as formerly, and that it will soon be discarded in the highest circles.—We seize the first moment to enter our protest against this movement. We gave our hearts to the basque years ago. We made the surrender publicly, in these columns. We recognise the eternal fitness of things in which the idea of the basque finds its basis. The trunk and chest of a woman have a distinct honor, and perform a peculiar office, in the economy of her existence. They contain her heart, her breath, her life, and the fountains of other life.—It is fit, therefore, that this portion of the frame be dressed in itself, as it were; that it be honored as the seat and centre of life. The skirt is another thing entirely. The limbs are used only for locomotion, and they are simply to be ignored by graceful falls of materials from the waist.

Now we protest against this rubbing out of all distinctions. There is just as much propriety in attaching the hat to the neck of the dress, as there is in fastening the skirts to the waist; and the whole idea of the old-fashioned gown can only be carried out by making the bonnet and shoes a part of it. If we were to lose the basque, let us go the whole figure, fasten everything together, jump into the result, and see how pretty we shall look. Let the gentlemen imitate the ladies, and revive the early patterns, of breeching, which filled all the offices of clothing between the neck and heels. But such an operation as this would be impossible. The coat is a sacred vestment. It is to man what the basque should be to woman.

Perhaps we shall be accused of meddling with that which does not particularly concern us. Don't we have to pay for the dresses? Don't we have to set with them evenings? Does not every caress of wife, or sister, or cousin, or sweetheart, embrace this great question of basques or no basques? Does not the abandonment of the basque involve the abandonment of all those pleasant varieties of dress procurable by the simple change of skirts? It is none of our business? For whom are these dresses made, we should like to know?—Whose admiration are they intended to excite? What do ladies wear handsome dresses for, except for the purpose of pleasing "the brethren?

We, therefore, take this early occasion to declare that we shall hold ourselves bound to admire no woman who discards the basque, and adopts the idea of the meal-bag. We will not place our arm around the waist of any woman who may happen to be in danger of falling unless she wears a basque. We are determined to frown down this threatened change with all the power of a severely corrugated countenance. So, dressmakers, beware! Springfield Republican.

Federal Office Holders in Vermont. The Vermont papers are overhauling the "blue book" for 1857, and some curious disclosures have resulted. The Burlington Free Press says:

Among the attaches of the Custom House in this place, as given in the Blue Book, are:

Patrick Payne, boatman, pay		$240,
Thomas Payne,	" "	180,
Patrick Haye, porter,	"	100.

These, as we are informed by several Democrats who are in a position to know, are three unnaturalized Irishmen, who are in the employ of Judge Smalley, as his gardener, ostler, and laborer, respectively, who say that they did not know that they were officers of the government, have not rendered service or received pay as such, and have signed from time to time receipts for their salaries, without knowing what they were putting their marks to.

We believe that very few are aware that our townsman, John G. Saxe, added to his titles as Poet and Lecturer, that of Deputy Collector and Custom House Inspector; and some, we know, have been puzzled to conjecture at what time of the year he earns his salary of $600, as such.

The Pennsylvanian announces that "Senator Douglas can never more belong to the Democratic party. Grace and pardon will be extended to the rank and file which have been seduced." They may return, but "the head conspirator" never.

Dreadful Accident on Shipboard.—A letter received in Boston from Capt. Dale of the ship "Fleetwood," mentions the occurrence of an accident on the 12th of November last, while the ship was in lat. 36 north, longitude 53 56 west, which resulted in the death of Hiram Carpenter (ship's carpenter) and Oswin Hubbard, seaman. A fresh gale was blowing from the northeast, and the two men, while in the act of reefing the main topsail in company with twelve others, were precipitated to the lower rigging and into the sea. Hubbard was instantly killed by striking the monkey rail, and Carpenter was so much injured as to be unable to catch hold of the life buoy which was thrown out. Carpenter was forty years of age, and has relatives in Lempster and Hillsboro' N. H. Hubbard was twenty-two years of age, and came from Middletown, Conn.—Courier.

MERCANTILE LIBRARY ASSOC.

This Association has now entered upon its sixth year, having been organized in March 1853, and incorporated in June, 1855. From the commencement it has been steadily increasing in numbers, and growing in popularity and influence, among all classes of our citizens. Although other similar Societies have been for a time popular and successful, still, owing to either a want of a united feeling on the part of persons connected, or insufficient support from those able to advance the interests of such Associations in a pecuniary point of view, they have ceased to exist among us. The "Mercantile" seems to meet the wants of a larger class of young men, as a Library, Reading Room, and Lecturing Association, than all others we have ever had.

The first meeting of the Association, held five years since, was attended by about ten young men of this city, nearly all still active members. The number of members' names signed to the Constitution, is one hundred and ninety, while quite a number are proposed and will soon be elected—making the list of members about two hundred. Quite a large number who have at times been connected as active members, have changed their residence to other parts of the country, but are still considered members.

The Library now numbers one thousand five hundred and fifty volumes, said by competent judges to be as valuable a selection of its size, as can be found in this section of the country.

☞ During the past year one hundred dollars' worth of new books have been added, while liberal donations have been made by a number of gentlemen of this and other cities. Quite a large number of valuable Public Documents have been received from members of the Senate and House of Representatives at Washington.

The number of books issued to members during the past year, has been eleven hundred. About an equal proportion of standard and light reading has been called for, to meet the tastes of all.

The Reading Room has been well sustained by members, and others not connected with the Society; and although not remunerative to the society, it is thought to be of great importance to an institution of this kind. The number of subscribers during the past year has been one hundred. It is to be hoped that the list will be largely increased the coming year, as the selection of papers, both daily and weekly, is unsurpassed in any room to which terms are so low;—being but one dollar per year; and the room being central and accessible from 8 A. M. to 10 P. M. throughout the year.

Two popular courses of lectures have been sustained the past winter—one at the Temple; the other at the Hanover street Chapel, by Geo. W. Haven, Esq., (on Political Economy,) who very kindly offered his valuable services to advance the interests and increase the funds of the Association. And although neither course has paid a large sum to the treasury, they have been of great benefit to those members and others who attended them.

The funds of the Association have always, as fast as accumulated, been expended for books; so there is at any time but a small sum of money on hand, except to meet the current bills. The late Samuel Sheafe, Esq., who had always been a kind and generous friend to the Association, at his death donated it the sum of five hundred dollars—which has been invested safely, and the interest each year is to be appropriated for books.

A Mock Legislature has been held at the Court House, on Thursday evening each week, for the past nine weeks: and has excited a greater interest in the Association than any similar movement since its organization. Members have here had a fine opportunity to become acquainted with legislative proceedings, and also to air their eloquence in an extemporary manner. The gentleman from Gosport meets the gentleman from Coos on an equal footing; while the town of Errol, in the noble selection she made of a representative, stands foremost—if we except the three valiant champions from the spindle city. Bills have at this session been passed, which would rather upset the equilibrium of old fogyism; while the election of Warden of the State Prison, at the last session, would almost cause the special correspondent of the Boston Herald to change his politics.

The following gentlemen have acted as officers of the legislature:

Speaker, B. Frank Moses;
Clerk, James W. Tuckerman;
Assistant Clerk, Edwin P. Nowell;
Sergeant-at-Arms, E. Wash. Brown;
Door-Keeper, Robert Shillaber. H.

At the yearly election of officers on Friday evening, a very large vote being polled, the following gentlemen were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Edwin N. Mathes.
Vice President, James C. Brown.
Secretary, James W. Tuckerman.
Treasurer, Edwin P. Kimball.
Librarian, E. Washington Brown.
Directors.—Gershom F. Melcher, Chas. G. Pickering, Wingate N. Ilsley, Aurin M. Payson, Wm. Trask, D. W. Jones.
Reading-Room Com.—B. F. Moses, C. C. Harvey, N. P. Thacher.
Lyceum Committee.—Albert H. Hoyt, Amos S. Alexander, G. N. Carleton, Wm. P. Walker, N. L. Folsom.
Trustee.—Joshua W. Pierce.

The new President furnished a very pleasant entertainment to a large number of gentlemen, last evening.

McNULTY, THE MURDERER.

It seems by the Boston papers of Friday, that we have had among us for some time, the murderer McNulty, who killed police officer Hodsdon in Boston, last October.—He committed that murder Oct. 18.—It is worthy of remark here, that Capt. Walsh, of sch. Juno, was murdered here by some unknown person, on the 26th of the same month, about a week afterwards. Another remark may properly be added, viz. that while he was here, he must have been a resident in certain houses and shops, which are well known to be nothing but nuisances—and which, under a better public opinion to aid the laws, need not exist in this city. Had not the laws been cried down, these dens of thieves and murderers could not have been kept open till this time.

The Boston Advertiser gives the following condensed item on the arrest of McNulty.

The circumstances of the murder of Ezekiel W. Hodsdon, a police officer, which took place in East Boston on Sunday morning, the 18th of October last, are still fresh in memory. Two persons were implicated—Joyce and McNulty. The former has been in jail for many months awaiting trial for the offence, while the latter was pursued for many weeks without being discovered. On Wednesday evening, however, Mr. Coburn, Chief-of-Police, received a telegraphic despatch from W. W. Eastman, Warden of the New Hampshire State Prison, Concord, stating that he had arrested William McNulty, one of the alleged murderers of Hodson. Mr. Coburn instantly despatched his Deputy, Mr. Ham and Lieut. Porter of the Third Police District, to Concord. They returned yesterday afternoon. McNulty was identified by Lieut. Porter. He is undergoing a sentence of three years' imprisonment for breaking and entering at Dover, N. H., in company with three others. He has confessed that he fired the pistol which killed Hodsdon. The burglary in Dover was committed in the blacksmith shop of Chas. Twombly, on the 18th of January last. At the trial, McNulty gave the name of Wm. H. Brown, under which he was sentenced, in company with Arthur Hughes, James H. Jones and Charles Murray. Ever since his flight from East Boston, McNulty has passed most of his time in Portsmouth and Dover.

More than 500,000 Bottles
SOLD IN THE
NEW ENGLAND STATES
IN ONE YEAR.
THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being last dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

COCHOCTON, OHIO, Nov. 17, 1856.
O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Huckinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.
Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.
PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.
Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

NEVER BE HAUGHTY.—A humming bird met a butterfly, and, being pleased with the beauty of its person and glory of its wings, made an offer of perpetual friendship. "I can not think of it," was the reply, "as you once spurned me, and called me a drawling dolt." "Impossible," exclaimed the humming-bird; "I always entertained the highest respect for such beautiful creatures as you." "Perhaps you do now," said the other, "but when you insulted me I was a caterpillar. So let me give you a piece of advice—never insult the humble, as they may some day become your superiors."

END OF AN ATHLETE.—The wrestler Arpin, alias the terrible Savoyard, who has been in the habit of displaying his immense strength, has met his death in a very sudden manner at Nismes, where he was exhibiting before an assemblage of from 12,000 to 15,000 spectators. When wrestling he was thrown by his adversary, and came down with such violence that his back was broken, and he died almost instantly.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from vitiated blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these Pills are found to cure many various diseases.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, showing their effects in their practice:

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"Your Pills are the pleasant of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartics we possess. They are mild, but searching in their action, and in the superior effects they produce, which make them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

"My patients are never forward in reporting to their physicians an opinion, but I find their beneficial effects so decidedly marked in your Pills, that I feel bound to make an exception in their behalf. They have in my practice proved a valuable remedy for the cure of bilious complaints, and my patients have spoken of them with the utmost praise, which we have so long a parallel which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Rose, of St. Louis.

"The Pills you sent me have served me have been all and I may truly say, practice, and I have satisfied me that they are truly valuable in many dyspeptic conditions. So peculiarly are they adapted to the derangements of the digestive organs, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other medicines of acknowledged merit. Indeed, I have experimented so much with them, that I feel bound to be cautious in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best cathartics I have found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. They are gentle and sure, and very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Ms. E. Grant, who practises as a Physician and Midwife.

"I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent promoters of the natural secretions, when obstructed from any cause, and are very efficacious in clearing the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. A. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your Pills for the cure of costiveness. If others of our medicines have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it to the world. I find in them a mild aperient, from that combined with alterative and enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe costiveness to originate in the liver, but your Pills effect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — BREEN ULCER — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Crawford, of Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your Pills purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice, and agree with your statements of their efficacy. They eradicate the corrupt humors from the system, and purge from stagnate in the blood, engendering disease. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Should you think that you prepare an national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE — SICK HEADACHE — FOUL STOMACH — PILES — DROPSY — PLETHORA — PARALYSIS — FITS — &c.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR.: Rarely I cannot answer you good complaints I have used with your Pills better than to say all that are ever heard and a favorite medicine. I place great dependence on them in my family and practice, and find in disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilled hands, is dangerous in a public medicine. Its dreadful consequences should frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every connected it more his own eye, with the most accuracy and care. It is varied and selected by his from counterfeits, and can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for all the ills of the pulmonary apparatus, for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. At the time when its virtues were not so well known, this medicine has gradually become the best reliance of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American patriot to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, and in other lands, it is known as the most every hamlet it contains. Cherry Pectoral is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there be any depository in each town of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the genuine effections of the lungs yield to it if we can depend on the testimony of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure all those diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

Maryland State Lotteries.

E. FRANCE & CO. ..... MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with them and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $50,000 head their schemes—with tickets at one Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets it is much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—its other prizes are in proportion. Prizes from $50 to $500; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Louisville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as other lotteries.

All communications strictly confidential. m181y

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which E. France & Co. are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is their trustee, guarantees to the public that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland Lotteries, legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

The known powers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C. Address T. H. HUBBARD & CO.,
No 39 Fayette st., or box No. 40, Baltimore, Maryland.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, for persons of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every day in the month, and the result of all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the number of tickets in a prize, one must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $20 to $10,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Louisville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as other lotteries.

All communications strictly confidential. m181y

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which E. France & Co. are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is their trustee, guarantees to the public that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland Lotteries, legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

The known powers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass Charitable Mechanic Association, and of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the quality of tone equal to the best. Its action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the notes. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or rows of Keys, the lower containing an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two rows of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street.

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will produce a Melodeon or Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturers, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons, Hallet & Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,

George Hewes, Woodward & Brown,
Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent paid in part payment of the purchase money. In this matter it is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at less cost than the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

THE SHIPS SUNK AT SEBASTOPOL.—A letter from Constantinople of the 8th says:

The schooner Silver Key and the steamer General Knox, belonging to the American Wrecking Companies which undertook to raise the sunken vessels of war sunk in the harbor of Sebastopol, have returned and are advertised for sale. The attempt to raise the sunken vessels has failed; not one of them was recovered. The Black Sea teredo, so often attributed to the well calculated imagination of the Russian Admiralty, is a reality. It has eaten up the body of the Russian fleet, leaving only the outer shell. The wheel of the Twelve Apostles has been brought down as a specimen. Although it consisted of strong mahogany, two years and a half in the waters of Sebastopol have reduced its weight to almost nothing. No external change is visible beyond a few small holes, where the greedy miners sunk their shafts.

The most approved contrivances were tried by the two rival companies. The vessels were caulked and made seemingly water tight, but when it came to pumping out it was found that the timber was so rotten that water percolated everywhere through the galleries made by the teredo. To this in itself invincible, difficulty must be added the fact that most of the vessels had sunk from four to six fathoms into the mud. Even if the ships had been raised they would have been of no use. As they could not be raised, it was tried to blow them up, in order to clear the harbor, which is at this moment so blocked up that only a narrow channel, marked out by buoys, is left, through which small vessels can with difficulty wind their way.

The damage done to the timber is, however, so great that not even the attempt to blow the vessels up succeeded. As much as 5000 pounds of powder was tried with a two decker, but as the rotten timber had too little power of resistance, the result was that the weakest point gave way, and the explosion, tore out a small part in the side of the vessel, leaving the rest altogether untouched. The harbor must thus remain blocked up until by degrees the work of the teredo is done, and the ships fall to pieces.

According to the account brought down, 31 vessels were found sunk, which is much more than ever was known or supposed.

The companies have brought up sufficient anchors, cables, &c., to pay, at any rate, part of their expenses, and probably the Russian government will make up the difference.

ST. LOUIS, April 2.—Information has been received here that the steamer Sultan was burned to the water's edge, and sunk, 150 miles below the city, at 3 o'clock this morning, and that fifteen or twenty lives were lost. Among the lost were D. D. Moore, clerk of the boat; Henry Eli, pilot; Joseph Blackburn, watchman; the whole of the cabin crew, and the barkeeper, name unknown. Two lady and two gentlemen passengers are missing, and are supposed to be lost. Neither the names nor the particulars of the catastrophe have yet reached the city. The Sultan was bound to New Orleans with a full cargo of western produce, which, with the boat, is a total loss.

The Sultan was burned near St. Genevieve. The boat was valued at $25,000, and is insured for $17,000. Her cargo consisted of 1000 tons of flour, pork, lead and wheat. There was no insurance on the freight lost.

The New York Express says that only about one in ten of the passengers on the underground railroad, reported by the papers, are in reality fugitive slaves. Cunning negroes, under the protence, now travel about with "free rides," "free board," and without work.

The latter sentence may be true, in some instances; it would be strange were it true in many.—But the former sentence is not true, to any such extent as is stated. The New York Express is not first rate authority on such a subject.

SEVENTY YEARS A PREACHER.—The London Watchman records that the Rev. John Hickling, ninety-three years of age, and having been seventy years a preacher, on the 26th of February delivered a discourse of an hour and twenty minutes on "Early Methodism," and in its delivery, 'there was no deficiency of voice, memory or mental power, but the whole was connected, interesting and instructive."

☞ Since the suspension of business, it is estimated that the population of Lawrence has decreased some four or five thousand: and at present, notwithstanding the starting up of mills, the emigration is greater than ever before. Great numbers of the foreign born are going to California and Australia, and many of all classes are hastening to the West.

METAPHYSICS.—A Scotch Highlander said when asked for a definition—"When a man dinna know what another man says, and the other man dinna know what himself says, that's metaphysics!"

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remmitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a pin ill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

MONDAY, APRIL 5, 1858.

VARIETIES IN BOSTON.

Boston, Saturday, April 3.

Messrs. Editors:—"All fools day" was duly celebrated in this city, on Thursday last. Sundry coins with strings attached, pocket books secured to the pavement, deceitful bundles carefully enclosing some worthless article, and Munchausen stories, were all liberally used to "gull the fists." The announcement that a barrel of fresh water, from a spring lately discovered in the middle of the Atlantic ocean, was on exhibition at Long Wharf, attracted many visitors. Hundreds went to the Fair grounds to see "Tempus" race against time; as many more to the railroad station to get a glimpse at the Turk, then and there to arrive. Those who did not go into Faneuil Hall to see the great painting of the Governor and Council, of course visited Charlestown, where the Chinese junk was loading fee for the Emperor of China. It was really quite apropos that W. W. Clapp's local piece, "The Editor with $5000," was first given to the public at the Howard on the evening of April 1st.

The latest novelty we are now enjoying is the democratic institution of "free concerts," at the lager beer saloons. They are not termed free, because the performers take such freedoms with the noble art of music, but because the spectator is obliged to pay no admission fee. They are very attentive at these saloons—for you no sooner get seated than the bar tenders solicitously enquire what you'll have. Of course the audience would not be hoggish enough to buy nothing, and so graciously consent to become hoggish enough to swill down lager beer. At one saloon in Hanover street a walking match for 90 hours without sleep is coming off—or rather going on. Fifteen thousand persons have attended these saloons in one evening.

The papers contain full accounts of the revival in this city. We recently attended Father Mason's prayer meeting in what was once a dance hall, in North street.—The meetings have really had a most sanitary effect over that neighborhood. On Thursday evening we were at a meeting in Rev. Dr. Dadman's (Methodist) church in Hanover street. A young man then spoke, who the evening before had been converted. He said he had come in that former evening to make fun of the proceedings, but was convinced of his sin and repented. Many have been the instances where—

"Fools who came to scoff, remained to pray."

Two splendid vessels, newly constructed, have been lying at East Boston the past few weeks. One, the steamer Manjour, which was built for the Russian government, went to sea on Thursday. The other is a steam yacht for the Pacha of Egypt, of a beautiful model and strongly built of iron. Her name, which is in Egyptian characters on her stern, is the "Voyageur de la Mer." There is some defect in her machinery, which will detain her here a few weeks.

The contemplated removal of the Post-Office to Summer street excites no little commotion, especially among our business men. Meetings of merchants have been held and petitions circulated against any change f location. The buildings on the proposed site are now undergoing demolition.

Mrs. Haven's coffee-house, in School street, is to be immediately destroyed and a better erected on its site. This would be bad news for our Portsmouth friends if Mrs. H.'s establishment should suspend in the meanwhi.e; but a temporary saloon will undoubtedly be opened.

Are you old folks (and young ones, too) ready to give us an invitation to visit Home again, on the coming Fourth; and give us such a welcome as we received five years ago? We are all coming again, "one of these days."

Othello.

☞ Long John Wentworth says:

We think the Republicans will elect the next President of the United States, and Judge Douglas is bidding high for the nomination.

If Judge Douglas is the Republican nominee, we shall have to support him; and if all of his present supporters come over to the Republican ranks with him, there is no doubt about our success.

New Hampshire Legislature.—The Claremont Eagle nominates Hon. Frederick Smyth, of Manchester, for Speaker of the House; and says Mr. N. B. Bryant, of Concord, "will undoubtedly be the leader of the Republican party."

☞ Lola Montez says it is strange to see what pains men and women take to catch each other, and how little pains they take to hold on.

CONGRESS.

Friday, April 2.

The House Amendment to the Kansas Bill rejected in the Senate.—The Kansas bill, from the House, was taken up.

The amendments were read, whereupon Mr. Greene of Missouri said that, without further explanations, he would submit his motion to disagree with the House.

Mr. Bigler of Pa. considered the amendment as a clear violation of the Democratic principle, that Congress would not interfere with the right of the people of the Territories to govern themselves. Under that principle he had hoped to see the fraternal sight of two States, one slave and the other free, coming in together. He was against the amendment, because it sets aside what the people of Kansas have already done. The amendment provides, if the present constitution be voted down, the people of Kansas call a convention to frame a new one, on which the President may admit her by proclamation. She thus becomes a State before coming before Congress at all. What guarantee against abuse is there in this? Who knows if the Constitution that may be framed will be Republican in form, or may not contain inadmissable features. There were many very insidious features about this measure of the House, which pleases the public eye, but he trusted that we were near the close of the Kansas turmoil. The agitation of slavery was spreading like a Upas, poisoning the channels of intercourse between the great parties of the Union. He had hoped that the slavery feud would have been set at rest by Kansas coming into the Union under the Senate bill.

Mr. Douglas of Ill. had hoped, with the Senator from Pennsylvania, that the question would have been settled in accordance with those Democratic principles which had been the rule of his (Douglas's) life. He thought if the amendments were concurred in by the Senate, it would be the triumph of these principles, and bring peace and quiet. The Senators on the other side, urge as a reason for the admission of Kansas, that it will bring peace. Why not then admit her? We can do it in one hour, by assenting to this amendment. Concur with the House, and the action is final, and Kansas is in the Union with a right to make a constitution to suit herself. Let men of all parties and sections then unite in settling the contention. After replying to Mr. Bigler upon what was a violation of Democratic principles, Mr. Douglas referred to the President's message, alluding to Kansas and Nebraska, and asked if the President had abandoned the Democratic party?

The object of the reference of the Constitution to the people is simply to ascertain if it is an embodiment of their will, it it is their act and deed; and it is the duty of Congress to see that it is the embodiment of their will, before making it their fundamental law. The Senator from Pennsylvania had cited the case of Florida. Florida was no precedent, and proves nothing except to engraft on the action of the government the principle, that there is no need of a Constitution to be the will of the people. Such reasoning strikes at the root of all free governments—strikes the props from all parties, Democrats, Americans and Republicans. The House had amended the bill, which accomplishes two great points: one—that it settles this whole Kansas excitement; another, that it recognizes the right of the people of Kansas to frame their own institutions. Why, then, not all unite and vote for the amended bill, and thus settle the Kansas question. Vote for it, and the right of the people is recognized. Vote for it, and State rights and popular sovereignty is preserved. Vote for it, and there is peace in the country.

Mr. Pugh of Ohio, explained the reasons which would influence him to vote against the House amendment.

No other Senator offering remarks, Mr. Green's motion was adopted—yes 32, and 23.

Nays.—Messrs. Broderick, Cameron, Chandler, Clark, Collamer, Crittenden, Dixon, Doolittle, Douglas, Fessenden, Foote, Foster, Hale, Hamlin, Harlan, King, Seward, Simmons, Stuart, Trumbull, Wade, Wilson.

Absent.—Messrs, Bates, Davis, Durkee, Henderson, Reid, Sumner, Toombs.

The Senate was crowded, but not much excitement was manifested.

After several calls for the yeas and nays made to prevent Mr. Douglas from taking up the Minnesota bill, adjourned till Monday.

House.—The House went into Committee of the Whole on the Deficiency Appropriation Bill.

After debate, adj. to Monday.

☞ At Claremont, (says the Eagle,) on Monday, Daniel F. Maynard was arraigned on two complaints for violation of the law for the suppression of intemperance. To the first, which was for keeping for sale, he plead not guilty. The evidence to sustain this complaint was the testimony of the sheriff and two other persons, who made a search of Maynard's premises, according to the terms of the complaint and warrant, and found a small quantity of liquor of several kinds, jugs, demijohns, barrels, &c. The respondent was required to find sureties in the sum of $500, for his appearance at the next term Supreme Judicial Court in that County.—On the second complaint, that of being a common seller, the respondent waived an examination, and was required to recognize in the same sum for his appearance at the same Court

LIFE IN MADEIRA.

Some of our readers may remember Rev. Henry Wood, of Concord, who published some remarkable certificates five or six years ago; which certificates almost ruined the Congregational Journal, of which he was then the hired editor—and would have killed it outright, if Mr. Wood had not vacated the editorial chair.

In a year or two afterwards, Mr. Wood was appointed by President Peirce, Consul to Beirut, in Syria, where he discovered various wonders of antiquity—among others the remains of Babel, if we remember rightly. Next, coming home from the Holy Land, he goes into the holy office of chaplain in the navy; and now goes out as chaplain of the U. S. ship in which President Pierce and lady were passengers for Madeira.

This chaplain, under date of Jan. 21, at sea, writes to the New Hampshire Patriot as follows:

We left Madeira with a good deal of regret, indeed with something of melancholy, and that for various reasons. Funchal is a neat and picturesque city, and Madeira a charming island in climate, fruits and scenery. Besides this, we parted with Gen. Pierce, whose kind attentions and frank intercourse during the voyage had secured both affection and honor from the officers; and with Mrs. Pierce, whose delicate health made her an object of anxiety when we separated, as her courage, her self-possession, and her many admirable traits of character, had our sincere and universal respect, during the passage and upon the land.

Nor should I forget J. H. March, Esq., our noble-hearted Consul, who kept a free table at his elegant house, a mile or two out of the city, and an open house in the city, whose spacious and well furnished rooms were at the service of any of our company who chose to occupy them, whether by day or by night, by the week or the month. I never saw such princely living, elegant without luxuriousness, and most ample without intemperance and sensualism. He takes no care of his table; he knows nothing about it till he sits down to it, as he has some forty or fifty servants at his three distinct establishments, the head men of whom not only do his bidding, but do everything he needs without his bidding or even his knowledge; and were a dozen strangers to appear at dinner without notice, their presence would occasion no inconvenience, and all to be done would be for them to sit up to the table.

Mr. March has resided on the island for about thirty years, I believe, and been a large wine merchant and wine producer, in which business he has accumulated an ample fortune. In other times, as he told me, above 50,000 pipes were made annually on the island; but the last few years, since the appearance of the vine disease, only a few pipes, and the last year not above five, as he positively knew; and yet Madeira wine is abundant both in the United States and elsewhere! Think of this, ye wine-bibbers and sinners! Where is it made, of what is it made?

I ought to add that Mr. March, though he has the most perfect knowledge of wines, and some of the most delicate qualities of wines, of which he has varieties dating back to our revolutionary war, yet he practises the most perfect temperance, indeed absolute abstinence, never raising the glass to his lips, while he allows his guests to act their own pleasure.

As Mr. March is a native of Greenland, and our excellent Capt. Pearson of Portsmouth, with Gen. Pierce and lady, we had quite a little party strangely collected here on this distant island of fruits and flowers, from the cold, rocky old Granite State. It was altogether agreeable, as well as unexpected. I was glad to see the patriotic spirit and home attachment of Mr. March, who said he intended to return to the beautiful agricultural town in which he was born, and die where his fathers died, and be buried by their side.

☞ Augustus Walter of Brooklyn, on Wednesday, gave information that he had been engaged by Henry Miller to set fire to his (Miller's) house, in order to enable Miller to get $8000 insurance which he had on his furniture. There are five families in the house. Miller was arrested, ☞ Jeremiah H. Perley, son of the late Warren Perley, Esq., of Dunbarton, N. H., was killed by the Indians, about forty miles from Columbia, Cal., on the 10th of February last. He had been on an expedition to recover stolen property from them, and was ambushed on his return and killed, though not until he had made a gallant fight and killed two of the Indians.

☞ In South Andover on Saturday last, Miss Pamelia Wood, a lady of about 70 years, was lighting a match, when her clothes took fire, and she was so badly burned that she survived but a few hours.

☞ The New York Post states that Captain Rynders has procured the contract with government for Burton's old Theatre, for the United States Courts, at $16,000 per year.

During the last year there were thirty thousand Asiatics brought to Cuba. This importation must be treble that of the African slave trade.

TRIUMPHANT SUCCESS OF
Buchan's Hungarian Balsam of Life,
THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR Colds, Coughs, Asthma, and Consumption.

REMARKABLE CURE OF DISEASED LUNGS AT BELFAST, ME.

The following cure was reported by H. G. O Washburn, Esq., Agent for the Hungarian Balsam, at Belfast, Maine, who will give any further information respecting the case that may be desired:

D. F. BRADLEE—Dear Sir: Mr. Clark of Palmyra, Me., was taken sick about a year ago, with a bad cough, pain in the side and back, and troubled with general debility. He consulted several Doctors, who prescribed for him—but was finally TOLD THAT HE COULD NOT GET WELL. He stopped taking medicine, but continued to grow worse, until he was so weak that he could scarcely sit up. He saw a notice of the Hungarian Balsam, procured a bottle, and continued to take it according to the directions—and strange to say, in a few months he was a strong man, and, as he believes, permanently cured.

Yours, respectfully, H. G. O. WASHBURN.

IT is a well known and incontrovertable fact that the use of Tobacco is the promoting cause of many of the most severe to which the race of man is subject, as careful analysis and long and painful experience have clearly proven that it contains certain narcotic and poisonous properties most dangerous in their effects, which by entering into the blood deange the functions and operations of the Heart, causing many to suppose that organ to be seriously diseased.

TOBACCO affects also the entire nervous system, manifesting itself—as all who have ever used the noxious weed will testify—in Lassitude, Nervous Irritability, Water Brash, Dyspepsia, and many other disorders of a similar character.

THE TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES

are designed to counteract these baneful influences, and have proved entirely successful in a multitude of cases, and wherever used. Being harmless in themselves they exert a beneficial effect upon the system, restoring the taste which has become vitiated or destroyed by great indulgence, completely removing the irritation and accompanying tickling sensation of the Throat—which are always consequent upon abstaining from the use of Tobacco, and by giving a healthy tone to the Stomach, invigorate the whole system.

Persons who are irretrievably undermining their constitutions and shortening their lives, should use these Troches immediately and throw off the injurious and unpleasant habit of Tobacco Chewing.

These Troches or Lozenges are put up in a convenient and portable form at the low price of 50 Cents per Box. A liberal discount to the Trade.

Prepared solely by the undersigned, to whom all orders should be addressed.

More than 500,000 Bottles

SOLD IN THE
NEW ENGLAND STATES
IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these attrocities are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

COONSBORO, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.
O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Huckinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.
Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.
PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.
Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

THE RED PETTICOAT.

A SUGGESTION.

Yankee Doodle has, they say,
A tack for imitation;
See how eagerly he takes
To foreign innovation.
We make a wonderful ado
About our independence,
And yet at foreign shrines of taste
We dance a strict attendance.
A Raglan overcoat we wear—
No folly could be bigger—
A shirt upon a pole would cut
About as neat a figure!
Eugenie hoop, imperial form,
The Yankee ladies follow,
And in immensity of spread,
They whip the Empress hollow!
The latest novelty that comes
Was born across the channel;
The little Queen, to please the Scots,
Has kilted in red flannel.
And presto! to our happy shore
The wondrous tiding passes;
And Broadway's pave is chequered o'er
With bonnie Highland lasses.
Once in a while why can't we have
A truly Yankee notion:
Not such profound allegiance pay
To fashion 'cross the water?
What could be finer now than this,
(And mark ye too how dashing,)
A petticoat, red, white and blue,
With silver stars all flashing!
Then hang the Yankee colors out,
(But Scottish skirts, confound 'em!)
Our girls shall take the world by storm,
With the stars and stripes around 'em!

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of them, and consequently these PILLS are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Published are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. L. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"Your PILLS are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities are known to my brethren everywhere. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Dell, of New York City.

"Not only are your PILLS admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely believe that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the public."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Rootz, of St. Louis.

"The PILLS you were kind enough to send me have been all used to my patients, and have satisfied me that they are truly an improvement on cathartics, in positively all they adapted to the diseases of the human system, that they seem to work more than alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and liver complaint with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally found them to be efficacious in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. F. G. Cheeseman, of Chicago.

"Your PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent cure-all, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Mr. R. Dwart, who practices as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, will generally remove obstinate obstruction when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual in clearing the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Kimpton, Montreal, Canada.

"You much oblige me by sending me a box of your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. My health has been greatly improved by their use, as effectually as formerly, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although not enough to kill, is the prolific source of pain and misery, and has given rise to many of the diseases to which flesh is heir, by its tendency to originate in the first, but your PILLS affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Enskin Hall, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice in connection with your other preparations. They stimulate the excretories, and carry off the impurities that stagnate in the blood, engendering disease. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system, when they are languid."

"Such results as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—FUL DIGESTION—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS — FITS — &c.

From Dr. Edward Ford, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your PILLS better than to say all that can be cured by purgatives. I have used them in my practice with confidence as an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your PILLS afford us the best we have, I shall continue to use them."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every dose of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without fear of deception. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As time makes their facts wider and better known, this medicine has gradually become the best relief of the afflicted, from the long catalogue of the American present to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet, it contains. CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, will do in the worst cases of costiveness, we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the assurance of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know, in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, we feel irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of suffering, could have brought it into the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends wherever it went, and by benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

Maryland State Lotteries.

R. FRANCE & CO. ..... MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Tickets or Shares. The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 based their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison with the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and just drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, it you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to sell our individual certificates. If he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is managed in a fair and honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. They respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lottery of Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to the place where the money comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and result drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRANCE & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no prize comes to the named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and therefore simplification. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.
No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tone full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring he tones. The swell is arranged to give great strength.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the upper, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by the right hand or foot only. This combined with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house containing 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufactory, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to call and examine our Stock and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons,	Hallett & Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co.,	Wm. P. Emerson,
Brown & Allen,	A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes,	Woodward & Brown,
	Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS TO RENT.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. This makes the hiring a partial note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of one year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, will receive prompt attention. They will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

DUTY.—Messrs. Editors:—We read in the Sacred Volume that our Saviour often imposed on his new converts some immediate duty as a test of sincerity; bidding one to sell all he had and give to the poor, and others to leave their families and business to serve his cause. He also said, 'By their fruits ye shall know them,' and, 'Not every one that saith unto me Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom, but he that doeth the will of my father.'

Such has ever since been the mode in which Divine Providence has acted; when any man begins to see the truth and to hope in Christ, directly there stands before him some duty or sacrifice, testing his sincerity, and calling to him to do as well as feel. So it has been when a general interest in religion has prevailed in a community, some public duty is providentially presented to the new band of converts, saying, "By their fruits ye shall know them," separating by its stern test the sheep from the goats; the true soldiers of Christ from those who only cried Lord, Lord, because others did. So it is now. While all Christian hearts are rejoicing in the religious interest among us, and while the churches count by scores their welcome converts, suddenly the voice of God calls to us in the awful event of last week, bidding us act! The long series of crimes caused by the dramshops in our midst have found a climax now: our sister's blood cries to us from the ground. Something must be done. Now is the time to prove the faith of hundreds; Christ calls his new army to the field; aye, and it will come! There are scores of young hearts among us eager to prove their armor in his cause; they only want some one to range them in rank and file, to direct them what to do. Who will take the head? Let some leader step forth, now, before the impression of this awful event dies away, before the zeal of many becomes cool by delay; let some strong hand raise the banner, and he will find many who will answer to its signal, beside. A CONSCRIPT.

MARRIAGE OF A PASTOR IN HIS OWN CHURCH.—The Northampton correspondent of the Springfield Republican reports the marriage of Rev. Mr. Silsbee of the Unitarian church, to Miss Maria Woodward, daughter of the late Dr. Woodward, of that town. The services were in the church, performed by Rev. Rufus Ellis of Boston, a former pastor. The writer says:

The church was very beautifully decorated with bowers and everyreens, provided and arranged by the members of the Sunday school. The center vase, in which were twelve callas, a large number of tea roses, and other white flowers, mingled with the rich green of the laurel, with a fall wreath of colored flowers at its base, was exceedingly beautiful, and the side vases were very pretty. Brides are said to be always beautiful, but the bride of "our church," in her white dress and veil, with no ornaments save a few real and fragrant orange flowers, was to us more than beautiful, for she is beloved by all who know her. It was altogether a scene of deep interest and beauty—a picture worth the pencil of poet or painter, impressed upon our memory forever.

TEACHER STABBED BY A PUPIL.—Mr. Brawner, a teacher by occupation, was fatally stabbed on Monday evening, by one of his students, only twelve years old.—While the boys were at play during recess, Mr. Brawner heard the little boy making use of profane language; he addressed the boy—William Collins—and asked him what he said. The lad repeated the oath, whereupon the teacher said to him, "William, come into the house and I will settle with you." The lad walked to the school room, and while on the way, report says that a larger boy said to William, "if he attempts to whip you stick your knife in him." Mr. Brawner struck him once or twice with a switch; William returned the blow, and made his escape by running off. Mr. B. ran after him some distance, and on his return was observed to fall several times. He died from a stab received in the left breast, before reaching the school house.—West Point (Ga.) Citizen.

THE LEVIATHAN.—A London letter writer says:—"I have just returned from a visit to the Leviathan. She is moored directly opposite where she was built. There is no machinery in her yet; in fact she is a mere skeleton. From inquiries on board I could not learn when she would be finished. I do not think it possible to get her ready for sea before August, and to have her ready by that time will require night and day labor incessantly. There are very few men at work on her now."

EFFECT OF THE REVIVAL.—Some of the organ grinders in New York are now playing "Old Hundred."

From Hon. Chas. Mason, Commissioner of Patents.
U. S. PATENT OFFICE, Feb 23, 1855
I take great pleasure in stating that during the time I have been acting as Commissioner of Patents, Samuel Cooper, Esq., of Boston, has been engaged as Solicitor, and has been in that capacity in constant correspondence and intercourse with the office; he has evinced a thorough acquaintance with the Patent Law, and with the rules and practice of the office, a close attention to the interests of his clients, and a marked candor and courtesy that has rendered the transaction of business with him a pleasure. I have no hesitation in stating that I regard him as one of the very best agents for the transaction of business with this office with whom I am acquainted.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUE INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

TUESDAY, APRIL 6, 1858.

THE BLACK REPUBLICAN DEFEAT.

The Newark Evening Journal of April 2, heads a leader with these words:

"The Kansas Bill amended in the House—Great Defeat of the Black Republicans!"

The leader goes on and describes the voting in the House of Representatives, and closes thus:

The skies grow brighter and clearer around us. The wicked and treacherous spirit of abolitionism yesterday received a deadly rebuke, and whether the Black Republican party recedes from its present position or boldly advances in the course of conservatism which it has now adopted, it cannot materially damage the effect of this national victory. Revolutions never go backward. The people of the country cannot be deceived as to the merits of the question at issue, and the weakness of our opponents cannot be hidden in the booming of their cannon and the forced applause of their leaders at this Waterloo victory.

As the smoke of the battle subsides, it will be discovered that the National party is not essentially damaged, that this Administration stands unshaken in its position and that the cause of national conservatism has achieved a triumphant victory over sectionalism and disunionists.

If these two paragraphs are true, then we behold this remarkable spectacle, viz. that the whole Administration party in the House, 112, voted AGAINST this triumphant victory over the Black Republicans,—while every republican, the Douglas Democrats, and several Americans, 120 in all, voted for their own defeat!

Every body knows that the Republicans, alone, were a minority in the House. Their vote of 95, to reject the Senate bill, shows their strength and their compactness. But the vote of the united opponents of the Lecompton swindle, 120, shows how the freemen of the country detest this measure.

The same paper says:

The Montgomery Crittenden substitute is a very fair bill, and we are not sure that the Administration party can do any better in case of the final failure of the Senate bill, than to adopt it and agree to its passage.

Well: this will do. We shall see whether they do it,—and with how good a grace.

THE JAFFA OUTRAGE AND MURDER.—The New York Observer states that the perpetrators of the horrible outrage and murder in the family of Mr. Dickson, at Jaffa, in Syria, have been arrested and condemned to death. The American Consul-General in Egypt, Mr. DeLeon, by his promptness and energy, effected the measures which resulted in the seizure of the guilty wretches, and it is hoped that their condign punishment may strike a wholesome terror in the Arab population. Fourteen murders have been perpetrated within two years in the vicinity of Jaffa and Jerusalem, on persons of different nations, and no notice has been taken of them by the government. Our Consul's energy is therefore greatly to be commended. The Dickson agricultural enterprise is broken up, and his son-in-law Steinbeck writes that with the first opportunity the survivors expect to return to America.

THE PENNSYLVANIAN, Mr. Buchanan's home organ, announces that "Senator Douglas can never more belong to the Democratic party. Grace and pardon will be extended to the rank and file which have been seduced." Louis Napoleon could respite the poor or deluded servant of Orsini, but not "the head conspirator."—George III. could forgive the American rebels, excepting the ring-leaders! If we mistake not the signs of the times, says the Newburyport Herald, the men who have supported Lecompton will be the first to need the clemency and mercy of their opponents. When the people shall speak through the ballot-box, we shall have their verdict on the conspiracy and treason, not against a party, but against liberty.

NO DEFENCE REQUIRED.—The Hon. Eli Thayer, in his last speech, thus enumerated some of the things he should never attempt to defend:—The Falls of Niagara, the White Mountains of New Hampshire, the Atlantic Ocean, Plymouth Rock, Bunker Hill, and the History of Massachusetts. He added:—"Any many may assail either or all of them with perfect impunity, so far as I am concerned."

☞ It is stated that the largest room that was ever constructed, is that in which the tobacco stores are kept at the London docks. The room is said to cover nearly six acres, being, of course, under one roof! It is a curious circumstance that this enormous apartment should be devoted to an article of mere luxury.

A VIGILANCE COMMITTEE TRIED FOR MURDER AND ACQUITTED.—Fifty-four citizens of Darlington District, North Carolina, were tried on Wednesday week for the murder of Caleb Freeman and Abraham Windham, near Carterville, in that State. One of the Windhams kept a liquor store, frequented principally by negroes, and had been notified to discontinue his nefarious traffic, but refusing to do so, a Vigilance Committee was formed, which proceeded to his place with the avowed intention of destroying his liquor. They found the shop garrisoned by some friends of Windham, and the party on approaching were fired upon from the house, and one of their number wounded. An assault followed which resulted in Freeman, who first fired on the Vigilants, being shot dead, and Windham killed by a blow with a club just as he had stabbed one of the assailing party. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty in both cases.

MARRIAGE OF A VENERABLE COUPLE.—We learn that Mr. Joseph Stratton and Mrs. —— Kendall were married on Thursday evening in Union Hall, Athol, by Rev. Mr. Burt. This was the second marriage of the bridegroom, who is 78 years of age—the third marriage of the bride, whose age is 74 years. It was generally known in the village that the interesting ceremony was to take place, and many citizens were present, each paying ten cents for admission to the hall.

THE COMING SUMMER.—It is said that the Earl of Rosse, one of the first astronomers in Europe, has told a gentleman in England that he anticipates one of the most intensely hot summers this year that has ever been known, and he advises farmers to build sheds for their cattle, by way of protection against the extreme heat.

LYNCH LAW AT PARIS, KY.—Robert J. Griffin, who was arrested at Paris, Ky., a few days ago, and confined in the Bourbon county jail, to await trial on a charge of having been engaged in setting fire to barns in that vicinity, was taken out of jail at two o'clock on Monday morning by a mob, and hung by the neck until he was dead.

☞ The wife of Henry Peck died in Providence on Tuesday, having been made insane by religious excitement about ten days before; and Mr. Peck himself is in the insane hospital from the same cause, without signs of recovery.

FAMILY SUPPLIES.—The Transcript says that a store-keeper not a hundred milesfrom Boston, recently received from a respectable family the following order for a few articles in his line:

Two ounces of tinker of rubard
Two pounds cotton battens.
Won pound of good brown shugger.

TELEGRAPH COMBINATIONS.—The Washington Union of the 3d contains the following communication:

WASHINGTON, April 2.

To the Editor of the Union:—It is widely circulated in the telegraphic news from Washington, that on the thirty-first (31st) ultimo, Senator Bigler presented the memorial of Amos Kendall and others interested in the Morse telegraph lines, asking protection against competing telegraph lines. The memorial asks for no such ridiculous thing, but it shows a combination of parties in the United States with parties out of the United States, whose aim is to destroy all competition in telegraphing, as well in the United States as across the ocean, and it asks Congress so to regulate the foreign telegraphic intercourse of the country as to promote and preserve competition in the business. The object of the memorial is therefore substantially the reverse of what it is represented to be.

By publishing this communication you will oblige AMOS KENDALL.

RUMOR CONTRADICTED.—New York, Apr. 4.—There is no truth in the report that the President contemplates sending a bellicose message to the Senate in reference to the Spanish affairs.

Another Murder.—A boy named McCarthy, an employee in the Tribune Office, was shot last night, in North William street, and was probably fatally injured.—The attack is said to have been unprovoked. The assassin has not been secured.

COMFORT FOR LAGER BEER DRINKERS.—Lager beer is healthful—the physicians say so; and more, it has been so proved.—Lately, in one of the lager beer manufactories near New York, about sunset, a gentleman fond of the article indulged himself with a look through the premises, and came upon a large vat, in which he found the proprietor of the concern enjoying a bath.

"For heaven's sake, sir, what are you doing in there!"

"I ish makin' myself vell," said the bather, "I ish very bad mit de scratches; and de doctor, he say hope ish goot for der scratches, and so I puts mineself in every day dis tree week, and der scratches is not so pad. In mine goontry ve knows peer ish goot for der skin; and it don't hurt te peer, shust as goot for drink."

Enjoy the little you have while the fool is hunting for more.

REV. THEODORE PARKER.—Some days ago we republished the verbatim report of a prayer, publicly offered in a revival prayer meeting, for various things to happen to Theodore Parker. Now we see in several Boston papers reports of a sermon by Mr. Parker, on Revivals, delivered on Sunday, April 4. We copy an extract or two from the Traveller's report:

The subject, he stated, was too extensive for a single discourse, and he should therefore speak of false revivals, and leave the delineation of true revivals till next Sabbath morning. He spoke of the different ideas of religion which prevailed: Abraham's drawing his knife on his son the patriarch thought an act of religion; the Jews destroyed the Canaanites as an act of religion; the Jews likewise stoned a man to death for gathering sticks on the Sabbath; they crucified Christ as an act of religion; and in describing the crucifixion, Mr. Parker represented the attendant priest as the one who passed by on the either side when the poor man described in the parable fell among thieves, and represented the priest as saying:—So I did, but I was in a great hurry to go to Jerusalem, to get to a prayer meeting [suppressed merriment.]

In March, 1858, people came together for prayer and conference, with exciting speeches, fanatical prayers, many of them seeming besides themselves, listening to exciting accounts of similar meetings in other places, calling upon each other to beware of hell. One obnoxious minister is set up to be prayed at with the petition, "Riddle that target" [merriment]; another is waited upon in his study Saturday afternoon, so that he shall not be able to finish his sermon, which, however, he had fortunately completed five days before. And this was what was called a revival of religion.

True revival, it was argued by Mr. Parker, was not in creeds or excitement, but in right feeling, right thinking, right doing. What good was it to become a church member, without being a better husband, a better wife, a better friend, a better minister—better in everything. The fact was, church members were not increasing in proportion to the increase of population; there were sixteen negro slaves to thirteen church members; the belief in ecclesiastical theology is fading out; we begin to see the Lord is not so bad as men paint him, and we are applying to religion that common sense which we would apply to all other things in life. Men can no longer be reasoned into the idea of a God who damns babies because they are not baptized. But circumstances have favored the clergy in their efforts to increase their congregations. They possess the machinery and have set the revival in motion. The manner of getting up a revival is well known to those in the business. They preach, they exhort, they stimulate, they advertise freely, so much so that Park street church has become the Oak Hall of Ecclesiastical operations. [Merriment.] The panic in State street, which ruined ware-houses, is filling meeting-houses to-day. The newspapers, which last year published the proceedings of a scandalous trial, this year are publishing revivals. The attempt was tried a year ago in better times, but failed. To these meetings come unsettled men, who want a mental master and find one, and, ceasing to think, cease to doubt, and are at rest. So others in different states of mind become the converts of circumstances, and their peculiar mental condition joined to the effects of the revival machinery.

True piety is not a delirium. It does not expose the inmost sanctuary of man's conscience, which is too sacred for any eye but that of the Divine One. Those revivalists who seek only to make church members do not add one ounce of humanity to the city, but deaden the piety and morality of the people. A real revival of religion was never more needed than at the present time.

Religion, it was further argued by Mr. Parker, was fullness, not mutilation, was an increase of the sources of happiness, not a decrease, joy not moroseness; and after enlarging upon this idea, he brought his sermon to a conclusion, and dismissed his large audience with a parting blessing.

SUPPOSED MURDER.—A Mutilated Body Found among Railroad Freight.—A few days ago, a barrel, supposed to contain whiskey, was sent over the Central Railroad and arrived at New York on the 30th ult., per Hudson River Railroad, directed to W. B. Jennings. No. 185 Leonard street. No such person could be found, and there was no such number in the above street.—There was no suspicion concerning the contents of the barrel until Friday, when the head got knocked out, accidentally, at the depot. Instead of whiskey, the barrel, to the great astonishment of all present, contained the dead body of a man pickled. The head and legs had been cut off, to convenience the packing. Deceased was about 35 years of age, full faced, with black hair, clipped short. It is supposed that he was murdered. The barrel was put on the railroad at some station west of Niagara Falls.—N. Y. Papers of Saturday.

☞ Bradley's railroad car manufactory, in Worcester, Mass., is to resume operations next week, after several months of idleness.

A thrifty wife wonders why men can't do something useful—mighta's they as well amuse themselves smoking hams as cigars? Guess they might. Then why don't they?

The object of all ambition should be, to be happy at home. If we are not happy at home we cannot be elsewhere.

"Life is short," and that portion of it which one human being devotes to injure another, will pay but a poor dividend.

☞ Rev. H. D. Moore (by request) delivered an address to the Firemen of Portland, on Sunday evening last, at Union church. Pews in the body of the house were reserved for Firemen.

MEETINGS THIS EVENING, &c.

Union Prayer Meeting in the Middle street Church, from 8 to 9 o'clock this morning, to which all are invited.

Prayer and Conference meeting at the Vestry in the Temple, this evening at half past 7 o'clock.

A Prayer Meeting is to be held in the Old South Church, this evening,—and is to be the last meeting of the kind held there by the Free Will Baptist Society, as they are to dedicate their new House of Worship on Fast Day.

Prayer Meeting in the vestry of the Methodist Church, this evening, beginning at 7 1-2 o'clock.

☞ Twenty-one converts were baptized at Noble's Island, at noon on Sunday.—Rev. Dr. Lamson (Baptist) immersed 11; Rev. Mr. Perkins (Freewill Baptist) 7;—Rev. Mr. Holmes (Christian) 2; and Rev. Mr. Hall (Methodist) 1. The attendance of spectators was very large—larger than on any similar previous occasion.

☞ The Advent Chapel, on Hanover street, being too small for the congregation, is to be lengthened so as to contain sixteen additional pews. The work is to commence immediately.

☞ About forty laborers were taken upon the Navy Yard on Monday.

☞ Fifty citizens of New Market, among the most worthy and respected, have signed and published (in the News Letter) a call for a Temperance meeting in their Town Hall, on Fast Day at 2 o'clock, P. M.—to take "immediate action" to drive out the "ruinous traffic in ardent spirits."

WASHINGTON, April 4.—It has been ascertained from authentic sources, that there has been no acceptance, either conditional or unconditional, of volunteers for Utah, or other service, under the bill now pending before Congress.

The current rumor that the President designs a reconstruction of the Cabinet, is without foundation. The members composing it, are known to be harmonious on the general policy of the administration, and friendly in all their relations.

Gen. Persifer F. Smith has been ordered to Utah, as well as Gen. Harney. The chief command of the army will devolve on the former.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(Correspondence of the Boston Journal.)—Mr. Sumner is at the Capitol this morning.

In the House, Mr. Quitman reported that the Military Committee agreed to the Senate bill for two regiments of volunteers.

Mr. Hughes wished four regiments.

Mr. Quitman urged the passage of the Senate bill, which will probably pass the Senate.

The Kansas bill is expected in the House to-day, when a committee of conference may be chosen.

During the vote on the Army bill, Mr. Quitman stated that it was perhaps desirable that the President should have power to call out four regiments, after which numerous Democrats changed their votes, but the Senate bill was agreed to. Ayes 113, nays 102. The House is now voting on a motion to reconsider.

BARON MUNCHAUSEN.—Miss Brewster, (daughter of Sir David,) in her "Letters from Cannes and Nice," says:—"Baron Munchausen is at Nice! My father met him at a picnic, and heard from him the history of his celebrated namesake. One of his ancestors had a chaplain who was famous for 'drawing a long bow;' he told, in fact, the most false and extravagant stories. His patron, the baron of those days, wrote a book out-Herroding Herod, being a collection of still more marvellous adventures, for the purpose of shaming the priest, for which laudable design he was punished, by having his own name held up to posterity as the story-teller par excellence." This shows that it is very dangerous to lie, even in jest. The Munchausens are a Hanoverian family.

☞ Rev. Daniel P. Pike baptized ninety-seven persons at Newburyport on Sunday afternoon, between 2 o'clock and half past four. This settles the great question which we used to hear raised, whether the 3,000 converts on the Day of Pentecost, could possibly be baptised in one day by immersion, either by the twelve or the seventy.

☞ Our little army will march upon Salt Lake, the Mormon stronghold, about May 20. The health of the troops is said to be good, and reinforcements are arriving at Fort Leavenworth.

Many a person thinks he is honest because he has never cheated. Instead of that, he is only honest because he has never been tempted. What the world calls "innate goodnesss" is very often a full stomach, and what it terms vice is quite as frequently an empty bread-basket.

Why is the letter S like a sewing machine? Because it makes needles, needless.

Many who worship money like an idol, buy nothing with it but repentance.

LUMBER TRADE.—It appears that an enormous amount of lumber has been hauled out and prepared for market during the past few weeks; and as the people in the lumber region are suffering from a tightness in the money market, it is presumed that all the lumber on hand will be put into market at almost any price.—Middletown, Penn., Journal.

THE DIFFERENCE.—In Turkey girls are sold for $100 a piece; here girls sell turkeys for a dollar a head—thus turning the tables on the Moslems.

More than 500,000 Bottles

SOLD IN THE
NEW ENGLAND STATES
IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being just dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hutchinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

YOURS &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

IMMORTELLES.

NIGHT.

Look how the floor of heaven
Is thick inlaid with patines of bright gold;
There's not the smallest orb which thou behold'st,
But in his motion like an angel sings,
Still quiring to the young-ey'd cherubim.
—[Shakspeare.

THE SEA.

It is the Sea, it is the Sea,
In all its vague immensity,
Fading and darkening in the distance!
Silent, majestical, and slow,
The white ships haunt it to and fro,
With all their ghostly sails unfurled,
As phantoms from another world
Haunt the dim confines of Existence!
—[Longfellow.

GRIEF.

All of us have cause
To wail the dimming of our shining star;
But none can cause their harms by wailing them.
—[Shakspeare.

FLOWERS.

'Neath cloistered boughs each floral bell that swingeth,
And softs its perfume to the passing air,
Makes Sabbath in the fields, and ever ringeth
A call to prayer!
Floral apostles! That in dewy splendor
Weep without sin and blush without a crime,
O, may I deeply learn and ne'er surrender
Your love sublime!
Fosthumous glories! angel-like collection!
Uprais'd from seed or bulb interred in earth,
Ye are to me a type of resurrection
And second birth.
Were I, O God! in churchless lands remaining,
Far from all teachers and from all divines,
My soul would find, in flowers of thy ordaining,
Priests, sermons, shrines!
—[Horace Smith.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from a disordered state of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these PILLS are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"YOUR PILLS are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but wonderfully searching and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Dell, of New York City.

"Not only are your PILLS admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects up to the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Rev. Henry J. Brown, of Brooklyn, Conn.

"The PILLS you sent me I had enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the disease of the human system, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use, for years. Indeed I have generally found them to be effectual in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"YOUR PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in high esteem as one of the best cathartics I have found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their unparalleled merits render them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Mr. E. Stuart, who practises as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed. They are also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitude who suffer from this complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe costiveness to originate in the liver, but your PILLS affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Elwood Bond, Philadelphia.

"YOU were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice, and agree with your statements of their efficacy. They eliminate the corrupties, and cure the impurities that stagnate in the blood, engendering disease. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system."

"I feel it my duty as you prepare so a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—PILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS — FITS — &c.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your PILLS better than to say all that are ever treated with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an efficacious cathartic in my daily contact with disease, and believing as I do that your PILLS afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every ounce of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. At a time when so many spurious articles are known, this medicine has gradually become the best reliance of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peasant to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence as what men of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the testimony of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of diseases for which it is recommended, and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior compositions have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too well known to be forgotten.

Maryland State Lotteries.

R. FRANCE & CO.....MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every indescrimant is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $50,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRANCE & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present to attend to drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combinations. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published in the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are fast fading away, and WHEREAS the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the profound and learned. BE IT KNOWN THEREFORE, to all, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that DR. CHEESE MAN'S FEMALE PILLS are alone the certain panacea for the troubles incident to female disorganization; they ALONE correcting all painful menstruation, assuaging palpitations of the heart, insure rosy health in all its phases, giving health and happiness to whole sex; more especially to the MARRIED PORTION, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity.—AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mineral's, therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and wholly unlike other medicines thrust upon the public, purporting to effect the objects already detailed. THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS of DR. CHEESEMAN will accomplish the desired object, when persons are recommended and persuaded under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to spread from house to house, to their overwhelming benefit—always promising that said Proclamation in one case must be considered NULL and VOID; that is to say the PILLS WHY NOT be taken when any female is in an INTERESTING SITUATION, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and equal like the voice. Action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring or jarring. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we propose one of the finest instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufactory, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following:

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons, Hallet & Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,
Brown & Allen, A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes, Woodward & Brown,
Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, addressed to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on set instruments.

THE LITTLE MOLES.

BY CHARLES MACKAY.

When grasping tyranny offends,
Or angry bigots frown;
When rulers plot, for selfish ends,
To keep the people down;
When statesmen form unholy tongues
To drive the world to war;
When knaves in palaces intrigue
For ribbons or a star;
We raise our heads, survey their deeds,
And cheerfully reply,
Dig, little moles, grub underground,
There's sunshine in the sky.

When canting hypocrites combine
To curb a freemans thought,
And hold all doctrines undivine
That hold their canting naught;
When round the narrow pale they plod,
And scornfully assume
That all without are cursed of God,
And justify the doom:
We think of God's eternal love,
And strong in hope reply,
Grub, little moles, grub under ground,
There's sunshine in the sky.

When greedy authors wield the pen
To please the vulgar town,
Depict great thieves as injured men,
And heroes of renown—
Pander to prejudice unclean,
Apologize for crime,
And daub the vices of the mean
With flattery like slime:
For Milton's craft or Shakspeare's tongue,
We blush, but yet reply—
Grub, little moles, grub under ground,
There's sunshine in the sky.

When men complain of human kind,
In misanthrophic mood,
And thinking evil things, grow blind
To presence of the good;
When walled in pr judices strong,
They urge that evermore
The world is fated to go wrong
For going wrong before,—
We feel the truth they cannot feel,
And smile as we reply,
Grub, little moles, grub under ground,
There's sunshine in the sky.

"MISTAKEN SOULS."—A Repentant Dry Goods Merchant.—Among the recent conversions was that of Mr. ———, a large dry goods dealer; after his conversion he went to a neighboring minister and told him there were so many tricks in the trade that he was convinced that no man could be honest and obtain a living by the sale of dry goods. "Then," said the minister, "I suppose you intend to give up your business, and go into something else." "Oh, no," replied the hopeful convert, "I shall attend only to the purchase of the goods, and leave all the selling to my clerks!"

A Charitable Sister.—A young lady fond of the pomps and vanities of the world had a beautiful set of jewelry. She became converted. In relating her experience she said, "When I had found the Lord, I was convinced that if I continued to wear this jewelry, I should go to hell; and so I took it all off, and gave it to my sister.—New York Evening Post.

ACCOMMODATING.—Babies are very useful at times. The other day at Chicago, a crowd was in the Marshal's office, where that good-natured official was selling wood to the poor. "Stand back, all of you, and let the woman with a baby have a chance!" The crowd complied; and again and again, woman after woman, each with a babe in her arms, kept pressing forward to the desk. The Marshal took it coolly for a while, but finally the infant began to assume a familiar look, and an examination was had, when it turned out that the mother was lending her baby to her acquaintances, to secure them the immunities which she herself enjoyed.

THE ST. LOUIS WIFE MURDERER.—George H. Lamb, the confessed murderer of his wife, Sarah S. Stafford, formerly taught school in Newark, Ohio, where he was first married in June, 1846. Eleven months afterwards, his wife left him. In three years he obtained a divorce, and in seven years was married to the deceased, Sarah S. Stafford. He first saw her some two years previously, when, with her parents, she emigrated to the west from the State of Maine. The sequel of his history is already well known. He soon preferred another, and therefore sought and effected the death of his lawful wife. She was aged twenty years, and appears to have been sincerely attached to him. The prisoner first confessed, he states, through terror of a threatened mob, but subsequently adhered to his confessions, and still does so, for the sake of his conscience and his peace with his Maker.—Traveller.

SUDDEN DEATH.—The Worcester Spy states that Mr. Edmund T. Hall, of Holden, formerly of Sutton, was found dead on Saturday near the residence of his son, where he has of late resided. He was seventy-five years of age, and doubtless died of the heart disease. He had been on a fishing excursion, and his faithful dog was keeping watch over him.

Mr. Samuel Wright, a farmer who resides in Washington county, Pa., has 18 children, 111 grand children, and 174 great grand children. His wife, too, is still living.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 7, 1858.

RIOTOUS SCENE AT A BAPTISM.—A number of persons from the Fourth Baptist Church in Providence were baptized at Thurber's Pond on Sunday. Among them was Miss Carroll, a convert from the Catholic to the Protestant faith. Some three thousand people, half of whom were Irish, assembled to witness the rite, and it is stated by the Providence Journal that when Miss Carroll entered the water, she was saluted with cries of "kill her," "drown her," and the like, the crowd being with difficulty kept behind a rope which was drawn to keep them from the shore. After the ceremony, the carriage which conveyed Miss Carroll to her residence was followed by a large crowd of Irish. The presence of the police, however, prevented any further disturbance.

And these poor miserable ignorant creatures probably thought they were doing God service.—Their conduct is an admirable caricature of sectarian bitterness in any of its numerous forms,—a great affair in the eyes of the actors,—but ludicrous to the lookers on.

The Madison (Fla.) Messenger has reliable information that Billy Bowlegs has surrendered his sword, and is now at Tampa with his whole party, waiting the consummation of arrangements now being made, to be transferred to the West.

Uncle Toby would suggest that Billy Bowlegs's sword be sent to Washington, where the handle should be hung up in the War Department as a trophy, and the blade be made into scissors for the corps editorial. All the old editors have been cutting out paragraphs about him for a good number of years,—and if Billy is to step off the stage and furnish no more items, they ought to have something for a keepsake.

ANOTHER TORPEDO EXPLOSION IN CINCINNATI.—On Friday last, Mr. Prior Lee, the engineer of the Cincinnati Type Foundry, while cleaning out some rubbish from the machinery room, was very seriously injured by the explosion of a topedo which had been placed there for murder, and was accidentally disturbed by his hand. His left hand was blown off, his abdomen was badly cut, and his face and clothes were much burned. Only one or two of the smallest pieces of the "infernal machine" struck him. The "machine" consisted of a piece of large sized gas-pipe, filled with iron slugs, and powder. There is no clue to the author of the villainy.

☞ The Election in Connecticut on Monday, is said to have resulted in re-electing the Republican Governor by a majority of about 5000. His majority last year was small. There was an American ticket nominated, but the American nominee for Governor voted the Democratic ticket.

☞ The Phrenological Journal,—and the Water Cure Journal, for April, both published by Fowler & Wells, New York, are received per mail. The Phrenological contains portraits of Oliver Cromwell, Henry C. Carey, and Freeman Hunt, with biographical notices.—The Water Cure, among other things, contains a beautiful story, entitled Abbie.

A SIGHT.—About noon yesterday, some twenty slaves on their way South, passed from the Baltimore depot across this city, in front of the Capitol, and down Maryland avenue.—The slaves were on foot, followed by two drivers in a buggy.—Washington Republic, 26th.

Hail Columbia!

The modern wonders of Spiritualism are almost miraculous, if we may credit half we are told by respectable and truthful people. The last exhibition of these phenomena is reported at the south-end after this manner: A married lady recently deceased, who was accustomed to sing some favorite airs, accompanying with her voice a musical instrument. A few days since, as the husband sat in his parlor playing the same instrument and singing, the voice of the departed came in, as was the custom in life, and kept up that part to the end. This is said to have been repeated several times, and in the presence of several witnesses.—Newburyport Herald.

STEAMER BURNT.—LOSS OF LIFE.—St. Louis, April 5.—There are names of 9 persons known to be lost by the burning of the steamer Sultan. Three cabin boys, three firemen, and four deck passengers, names unknown, are also ascertained to have been lost. About 30 of the persons on board are yet to be heard from, among whom are several cabin passengers.

Whoever speaks upon those subjects which he is aware will tend to make another uneasy in company, is an ill-bred person.

"The flowers of love and hope we gather here, Shall yet bloom for us in the home of God."

LIFE AND PROPERTY.

Both these things are quite unsafe in Washington. The murder of the Irish waiter by a slave-driving gentleman who went from the South to California and came back a Representative, was defended by almost a party vote. Then the outrage on Sumner was palliated there and elsewhere, by the slave-drivers, and by their slaves, both white and black.

Both Houses of Congress on Monday debated a bill to stop the murders, robberies &c., now so common there.

In the Senate, Mr. Brown, of Miss., brought up his Police Bill for the protection of lives and property in the city of Washington. The bill provides for a patrol force of 100 men, and numerous stringent regulations.

Accompanying the bill is a report from the Committee on the District of Columbia which expresses, in the strongest terms, the state of bloodshed and riot in the city, and throws on Congress the responsibility of maintaining order.

A discussion ensued, in which Mr. Seward described the condition of affairs in Washington as a Reign of Terror.

Mr. Douglas, of Ill., said that we all know that no man's life is safe in the city, even on the the most public (Pennsylvania) Avenue. There must be a reform, or you will leave the community to a worse alternative, which no one can regard without shuddering.

Mr. Fessenden, of Me., attributed, in part, the rowdyism to the bad example of men in very high places, and partly to the incompetence of the criminal judge.

Mr. Wilson, of Massachusetts, would vote for the bill. He made some severe comments on the condition of affairs, and said that the state of things now is the legitimate fruit of the action of Judge Crawford two years since, when a man was murdered by a member of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Iverson, of Ga., complained that Congress had to feed and clothe the citizens of Washington. The only remedy, he said, for the ruffianism, was to make the city a military station for 300 or 400 troops.

Mr. Houston, of Texas, hoped he would never see, nor the youngest child ever see, the day when a military guard would be patrolling Washington. We want no Prætorian guards—no Janissaries.

Mr. Crittenden admitted the necessity of action, but would not vote for the bill until the hands of the President and Secretary of the Interior were taken off.

A lengthened discussion followed, as to the proper officer in whom to vest the appointments in chief.

Mr. Hale, and other Republicans, stipulated that the appointments should be independent of politics. He expressed his apprehension that the appointments would be made as partizan rewards, and did not like the section authorizing the President to call out temporarily 200 men, who he said could be used for party and election purposes.

Mr. Green and Mr. Brown denied this.

Finally Mr. Crittenden moved that the appointment be vested in the Chief Judge of the District Court. Lost.

Mr. Wilson moved to strike out section 5, which gives the President discretion to call out 200 extra men on an emergency. This motion was withdrawn, but was afterwards renewed by Mr. Benjamin, voted on and lost. Subsequently it was again made by Mr. Stuart, and the clause stricken out by a vote of 24 against 21.

Mr. Brown moved that the expense of the force be $75,000.

Mr. Iverson proposed as an amendment that the city be assessed half the amount. Lost.

A motion by Mr. Fessenden, providing that $10,000 be allowed for secret service, was carried.

Mr. Johnson, of Ark., moved that the bill, as amended, be sent back to the Committee, to report at the earliest opportunity whether the District should not be retroceded to Maryland, reserving the public buildings.

Mr. Hale moved to strike out that reservation. Both motions lost.

Mr. Crittenden moved that the bill be in force only one year from its passage.

Mr. Seward suggested two.

Mr. Hale suggested three, as before that time we should have a new President. Motion lost.

The bill was then passed by 34 yeas to 9 nays.

Mr. Douglas, of Ill., reported a bill for the admission of Oregon. Adjourned.

In the House, Mr. Goode of Va., reported a bill for the better protection of life and property in Washington, providing for a strong police force, and appropriating $100,000 to carry the act into effect. He urged the immediate passage of the bill, in view of the fact that violence, robberies and murders were of daily occurrence.

Mr. Colfax, of Ind., asked whether Mr. Goode could give a give a guarantee that it will not be a partisan police. He wanted no more such. There had been one already.

Mr. Goode wanted no politics nor religion mixed in this important question.

Mr. Washburn, of Ill., thought that Washington should pay its own police expenses.

Mr. Leiter of Ohio urged a postponement.

Mr. Goode wanted to know how many murders will be perpetrated meantime.

Mr. Leiter replied—No more than one and a half per day. Such has been the average.

Mr. Giddings of Ohio said the greatest performance of the auxiliary guard was to catch negroes and surprise them at church. For one, he was opposed to passing a bill for the protection of Slavery and kidnapping in this city.

Mr. Kilgore of Md. had a compromise on which all could agree. Remove the capital, he said, to Indiana, and the people there would protect themselves without calling on the Government.

Mr. Morris of Ill. moved to lay the subject on the table. Negatived, only 32 members voting in the affirmative.

The bill was then referred to the Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union, and will be considered after the Deficiency Bill is disposed of.

The House then adjourned.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Col. Benton's health has materially failed within the past few days. He speaks of his life drawing to a close, converses cheerfully with his friends on public affairs, and says that the only great measure in which the administration has been successful, is the demonstration of the practicability, at all seasons of the year, of the Central route to the Pacific.

The Senate has not yet notified the House of its adverse action on the Montgomery substitute. The notice is expected to-morrow. In the event of the failure of the Kansas bill under present circumstances, an effort will be made to couple Kansas with Minnesota, making the admission of one dependent upon that of the other.

NEW YORK, April 6.—(Washington correspondence.)—The appointment of Persifer Smith as first in command of the Utah expedition, has exasperated Gen. Harney. The War Department was besieged by Harney's friends to-day, who wish him appointed to a separate command elsewhere. There is great excitement, and the Cabinet have had a meeting on the subject.

Mr. Colt, it is understood, has made a contract with the War Department for $100,000 worth of his arms.

Messrs. Foley and English authorize the contradiction of any reported change on their part in favor of Lecompton.

A bill is soon to be introduced into Congress providing for the raising of five additional regiments of regulars. The War Department has already been offered ten regiments of volunteers.

(Boston Journal correspondence.)—It is expected that Mr. Stephens of Ga. will make a great Lecompton speech to-day, when the bill comes back from the Senate.

The united opposition hope confidently to adhere to Montgomery's amendment, thus non-concurring with the Senate, and refusing a Committee of Conference.

NEW YORK, April 5.—A young man, said to be a news reporter, was arrested to-day, on a charge of having assisted two slaves to escape, while he was residing in Cincinnati a year ago. He is to be taken to that city for trial.

The steamer Osprey, of the Providence line, after completing her repairs, was this afternoon floated off the Screw Dock, and towed to her berth.

The steamer Atlanta, recently ashore on Boddy Island, was this afternoon taken on the Screw Dock for repairs. She is to be recaulked, newly coppered, and have her engine thoroughly repaired.

FROM KANSAS.—St. Louis, April 5.—The Western mail is very irregular, and Leavenworth papers from the 6th to 20th ult., have not been received.

In the Constitutional Convention on the 30th ult., the committee appointed to frame a schedule, reported one. It provides that the Constitution be submitted to a vote of the people, on the third Tuesday in May, and that an election for members of the the Legislature, Judges and State officers shall be held at the same time.

It also provides that all laws now in force not repugnant to this Constitution shall remain in full force until they expire by their own limitation. The Bill of Rights is identical with the Topeka Bill. A remonstrance to Congress against the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution was read, and a copy ordered to be immediately forwarded to Washington.

DREADFUL RAILROAD ACCIDENT. — On Friday last, Rev. T. B. Hudson, Professor of Mathematics in Oberlin College, Ohio, was run over by two trains of cars, at Olmstead, and crushed, literally, to pieces. He was going to Berea, by a train of the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad Company, and got off at Olmstead for some unknown purpose. The cars started suddenly, and in attempting to get on board, he fell under the wheels, and though not killed, was so disabled as to be unable to move himself from his dangerous position. Shortly after, a train on the Cleveland and Toledo road came along, and the engineer saw the wounded man lying on the track, and saw him make a motion with his hand, but it was too late to stop the train.

☞ Steamer Indian, arrived at Portland, brings Liverpool dates to March 24. Cotton advanced 1-8 to 1-4 of a penny.—Breadstuffs dull and declining.

The U. S. steam frigate Niagara arrived at Plymouth on the 23d, with her machinery slightly damaged, having encountered a succession of southerly gales. The British frigate Agamemnon had commenced taking in the Atlantic Telegraph cable, and fifty miles have been placed on board.

In the British House of Commons, leave was granted to bring in a bill to legalize marriage with a deceased wife's sister, by forty-three majority.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., April 5. — The dwelling house of Daniel Comstock in Leroy, was burned on Sunday night, and himself and four children, all under ten years of age, perished in the flames.

CINCINNATI, April 6.—At the municipal election, the anti-Lecompton ticket was elected by majorites ranging from 2200 to 3000. Thirteen of the seventeen councilmen are anti-Lecompton.

How Murder leaks out.—The Boston Journal says:

It seems that one of the fellows convicted with McNulty in the burglaries at Dover, Jas. H. Benson, (sentenced under the name of Jones) was formerly an apprentice with Messrs. Parker & Palmer at Clinton. Some time ago he committed a theft, and was detected and went to Portsmouth, and the next that was heard of him he was in Dover jail. His mother, who lives in Charlestown, sent for Col. Palmer (of the above firm) to see what could be done to save her son. Col. Palmer interested himself for him, and in the course of his intercourse with the mother and other friends he heard that Benson had told that McNulty had confessed to him that he was the murderer of Hodsdon. This confession was made, as it seems, not after they were confined together in jail, as has been stated, but while they were engaged in their burglarious operations in Dover.

These two fellows were doubtless round our streets in the evenings, and no doubt spent several days in some well known dens of theives here. They had, no doubt, a part in robbing Mr. Gerrish's fruit store, in entering some other stores, and the stable in Kittery where they stole their horse. That they escaped detection while here, is no wonder, when we consider that our police are few in number and only half paid, and that a corrupt and besotted public opinion has held back the only law that goes near the root of the evil.

Had the authorities of this city, and the people who made these authorities, sanctioned and aided the search cases here a year ago,—instead of opposing and fighting against them—these murderers and robbers could not have been here for weeks—their dens would have been broken up.

A lax police system—and a lax moral tone in any community,—are sure to invite such rascals. It we wish for such company, all we have to do is to keep on encouraging the places where they go, and the people with whom they associate.

For the Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—I read with interest the article over the signature "Tears," in last Thursday's Chronicle, as I have everything connected with the awful tragedy of Sabbath evening. I agree with the sentiment of the author that the responsibility should be divided; yet I can but feel that there is an influence and a responsibility which was not alluded to by "Tears," far greater than every other—and that is, the present position of our churches upon the subject of temperance.

Have we any good ground to hope for a permanent change in the public sentiment of this community, while the standard of our churches is so low that there are individuals remaining in good and regular standing as church members, who use wines at their social gatherings, and visit the grog-shops and bar-rooms for their daily drams, and lease their buildings for tippling shops?—while some of our clergymen and church members believe that the Sabbath is too holy a day for temperance meetings, and that some of our meeting-houses should not be opened at any time for such meetings, and while they regard the cause of temperance as something separate from religion, to be left to an association outside the churches? Can a stream flow higher than its fountain? Ought we to expect the moral sentiment of a community to be above its religion? Is not the public sentiment of a community always what their religion makes it?

I have long since come to the conclusion that so long as this state of things exists in the churches, it is vain to hope for any permanent change in the community upon this question. But could we see a change in this respect, and would our clergymen place temperance where the apostle Paul placed it, between righteousness and judgment to come, and reason with their hearers after his manner, how soon would our community experience a reformation, the fruits of which would be seen in creating a public sentiment that would close the tippling shops and gambling saloons of this city, remove nine-tenths of the poverty and crime, the ignorance and wretchedness, that now prevail, and make it certain that the terrible calamity of a week ago will be the last of the kind with which Portsmouth should ever be visited. The Firemen's Fund.—By the following correspondence, it will be seen that this Fund is gradually gathering to an amount which will ere long enable the trustees to guarantee "relief" to any member of the Fire Department who may be disabled or made sick when on duty. This is no more than justice to one of the most important interests in our midst.

Portsmouth, April 6, 1858.

Josiah G. Hadley, Esq., Chief Engineer, Dear Sir:—Enclosed pleased find a check for forty dollars, as a donation to the Firemen's Fund, from the Home Insurance Company of New York—tendering their highest regards to the firemen, with wishes for their health and prosperity.

Yours very respectfully,
John S. Harvey,
Agent Home Insurance Co. of N. Y.

Portsmouth, April 7th, 1858.

Dear Sir:—Your letter enclosing a check for forty dollars, as a donation to the Firemen's Fund, from the Home Insurance Company of New York, has been received by me. Allow me in behalf of the Firemen's Relief Association, to express my thanks for this liberal donation, which shall be applied to the purposes for which it was intended.

Deaths in Portsmouth.—The record of mortality in this city, for March, embraces eleven deaths.

Males four—aged 2 years, 17, 60, 69.

Females, seven—aged 8 mos., 2 years, 18, 44, 48, 62, 86.

Heavy Burglary in New York.—About the middle of February, a house in East 29th street, New York City, was entered by means of nippers applied to the door-key. The burglars visited the room of the owner, Mr. E. Mills, who slept with a revolver under his pillow, and also the room of Mr. Mills' brother, who was likewise "prepared" for thieves, but they were so noiseless in their operations that they succeeded in robbing the bureaus of money, jewels, and valuable papers, to the amount of $30,000. The wine closet was also broken into, and several bottles of liquors were tasted of. The police were informed of these transactions, but they were unsuccessful in their hunt for the thieves. Mr. Mills advertised that he should "appreciate the generosity of the possessors," if they would return his papers, which were worth some $25,000 to him, but were valueless to any one else. The papers were returned, but no other portion of the property has yet been recovered.

A Long and Cold Winter Ahead.—Some German papers have been endeavoring to prove that the distance between the earth and the sun is increasing annually, arguing from it that the increasing humidity of some summers, and the loss of fertility by the earth are to be attributed to this circumstance. In the course of six thousand years from this time, they assume, the distance will be so great that only an eighth part of the warmth we now enjoy from the sun will be communicated to the earth, and it will then be covered with eternal ice!

A favorite Remedy.—We believe no medicine has ever effected so many cures as the Oxygenated Bitters. In cases of Dyspepsia and General Debility, restoring health and cheerfulness, when all other remedies have failed. x.
